ANNOUNCEMENT

Lately, we've faced issues with our current online booking system, which has been difficult to navigate, resulting in customer dissatisfaction. To address this, we've researched alternative options and found one that we believe will be more user-friendly for both customers and our team. Throughout July, we will be testing the new system and aim to launch it by the end of July or by August 1st. Meanwhile, we appreciate your patience as check-ins/outs may take slightly longer than usual.

FEAR FREE TIP OF THE MONTH

Lost Pet Prevention Month:

July is known for fun and BBQ's, but this also bring fireworks and while fireworks are pretty to look at, they terrify our four-legged companions. Many pets go missing during this time due to the loud noises and bright flashes that can cause them to panic and run away. To help ensure the safety of your furry friends, it's important to take some preventative measures.

- Ensure your pet has proper identification, such as a collar with an ID tag and a microchip. This can greatly increase the chances of being reunited if they do get lost.
- Create a safe space at home where your pet can retreat during firework displays. This could be a room with their favorite toys, a cozy bed, and some soothing background noise like a fan or soft music to help drown out the sounds of fireworks.
- Consider taking your pet for a long walk earlier in the day to tire them out. A tired pet is less likely to be anxious and more likely to sleep through the noise.
- Consult your vet about anxiety-relief options. There are various products, from calming treats to anxiety wraps, that can help keep your pet calm during stressful situations.

By taking these precautions, you can help make sure that Independence Day is as enjoyable for your pets as it is for you. Remember, a little preparation goes a long way in keeping our beloved animals safe and sound.
