(PRESS RELEASE)

Dallas, Texas – 8/22/2023 – The Real Tax Bosses of Texas, a bold and drama-packed new reality series, has officially wrapped filming of its highly anticipated pilot episode. Helmed by Showrunner and Director Alexis Robbie, the series is now being shopped to major networks and streaming platforms, promising to bring a fresh and captivating perspective to audiences nationwide.

About the Series

The Real Tax Bosses of Texas follows the lives of a group of fierce and successful Black women who have made their mark as tax professionals and business moguls in the Lone Star State. These dynamic women are not just navigating the complexities of the tax industry; they are also juggling multiple business ventures, luxurious lifestyles, and the inevitable drama that comes with strong personalities and high-stakes careers.

With a blend of intense personal conflicts, professional challenges, and the unique dynamics of their friendships and rivalries, The Real Tax Bosses of Texas offers viewers an unfiltered look at what it truly means to be a powerful woman in today's competitive world. The series combines the best elements of reality TV drama, business intrigue, and the glamorous lifestyle genre, making it a must-watch for fans of shows like The Real Housewives, Basketball Wives, and Selling Sunset.

Next Steps

Following the successful completion of the pilot episode, the production team is now actively shopping The Real Tax Bosses of Texas to major networks and streaming services. Early feedback from industry insiders suggests that the series has the potential to become a breakout hit, offering a unique blend of business savvy and reality TV drama that is sure to resonate with a broad audience.

“We are thrilled with the outcome of the pilot and can't wait to bring the full series to life,” said Alexis Robbie, the show's creator, showrunner, and director. “This show is about more than just the tax industry—it's about the strength, resilience, and ambition of these incredible women, and we believe it will inspire and entertain viewers across the country.”
