CREATIVE MINORITY FILMS ANNOUNCES THE RELEASE OF "HE'S FOR THE STREETS" ON TUBI A GRIPPING TALE OF POWER, PASSION, AND BETRAYAL

Los Angeles, CA – March 26, 2023 – Creative Minority Films is proud to announce the release of their latest film, He's For The Streets, now available for streaming on Tubi. This intense and dramatic story, created and written by Alexis Robbie, takes viewers on a rollercoaster journey of love, ambition, and revenge.

He's For The Streets tells the story of a successful man who seemingly has it all—wealth, influence, and charm. But his life takes a dramatic turn when he crosses paths with a woman who, after being scorned, is determined to bring him to his knees. In a world where loyalty is a rare commodity, this film explores the devastating consequences of betrayal and the lengths people will go to reclaim their power.

The film features powerful performances by an incredible cast, including Dawn Raven, Jessica Caesar, and Justin P. Williams, who bring the characters' complex emotions and motivations to life. Directed by the talented duo Alexis Robbie and Michael Sterling, He's For The Streets was filmed during the fall of 2022, capturing the raw intensity and drama that the screenplay demands.

"We're thrilled to bring this story to audiences through Tubi," said Alexis Robbie, creator, and co-director of He's For The Streets. "It's a story that resonates with so many people—the themes of power, loss, and retribution are universal, and we believe viewers will be captivated by the journey these characters take."

He's For The Streets is now available for streaming on Tubi. Don't miss out on this gripping tale of love and betrayal.
