

CHARLES SAUVÉ
15 Mars 1908 ~ La Rochelle, Manitoba

In conclusion I say that if we want to respect Real, his hand-work, his cause, his conduct, if we want to follow the examples he gave us then we will certainly honor him. In respecting him, we give respect to our cause. In respecting our cause we follow the path he gave us. In following the path he gave us, our hearts like him, will see peace and charity rule amongst us. By practicing real charity, one with the other, we will be obliged to respect and love each other. Let us each find the means to help one another to bring to fruition the task that we must complete as people. Thus to respect and conserve our national cause we must unite as one and defend our rights with heart and courage. By acting in this manner we will soon see all the good that will result: Work hard always for justice, and in all things, in honor of God and for His great glory.

Framed Dimensions 48" x 32"