

MLA Citations: Notes

What are MLA Citations?

- MLA stands for “Modern Language Association”
- A citation is usually used in english essay writing when either quoting or paraphrasing something from a written, published work.
- Basically a reference
- It can be in text or on a work cited page (or both!)

How do you write an MLA Citation?

- An in-text citation is usually after a direct quote and it will include the author’s last name and the page number in parentheses
 - Example: “This would be a quote” (Johnson 54).
 - It has to be in this format, if you make a change then it is not MLA format.

What are some resources?

MLA In-Text Citations: The Basics - the basics from owl purdue

EasyBib: Free Bibliography Generator - MLA, APA, Chicago citation styles - A generator that will make citations for you when you enter in necessary information