The Total Team Development Experience

“TTD is a truly unique experience in a sea of normalcy when it comes to the summer camp space. I have found that TTD attacks each player’s mind and body while in a team environment. This is important and unique. It is easy to think an athlete is improving while training solo or “on an island” when an athlete is getting real time feedback from his/her teammate’s they are compelled to improve quicker and in a realistic fashion. While doing so they are managing their mental state; dealing with highs, lows while engaging with their teammates. Self development is great but to have opportunity to do it with one’s teammates makes it real and usable.”

- Jared Waimon, 2023 USA Hockey World Junior Assistant Coach

“I really enjoyed being part of TTD this past summer. The kids were having a blast, working hard, and eager to learn. The camp is a great opportunity for individuals, and teams, to come together in the summer to sharpen their skills and to start to shape their team identify and culture. It’s a great camp because the kids are working on skill development within a team.”

- Jeff Giuliano, Assistant Coach, University of New Hampshire Men’s Hockey

“This camp is the gold standard for summer training and development. Every school that participates will improve its players and their team culture through the TTD experience. I’ve seen it in action and I love being a part of it.”

- Matt Greason, Head Coach, Mens’ Ice Hockey Trinity College

“Skill coach was unreal. Great experience all around, including Doc Emery.”
