On behalf of the United Nations Foundation's Nets Go! campaign, I would like to thank you for your leadership in organizing 'Fashion Nets Go! 2011' on April 25th—World Malaria Day at Samsung d'light. Your leadership helped to engage 200 attendees and other Korean people in the global efforts to end malaria deaths in Africa by 2015, a goal set by the UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon in 2008.

Malaria, a disease spread by a single mosquito bite, is a leading cause of death in Africa; and sleeping under long-lasting, insecticide-treated nets can prevent the spread of malaria by up to 90 percent. With your artistic talent and broad social connections, we were able to spread the message about the importance of bed-net distribution in preventing malaria transmission.
