

TABOADELLA

1255

The Amorim family have been involved in wine since 1870, when they first negotiated sales of cork to the Caves do Vinho do Porto, in Vila Nova de Gaia. Today they are one of the most renowned family groups in Portugal with businesses in many countries and with many different lines of activity. Since 1999, the fourth generation of the family is now involved in wine through the hands of Luisa Amorim, working in renowned Quintas where wines and vineyards have ancestral roots of cultural importance in the Douro, at Quinta Nova de Nossa Senhora do Carmo and now in the Dão, at the Taboadella estate, creating wines of extraordinary quality, with a sense of place.
