THREAT LEVEL: LOW

THREAT ASSESSMENT

01

Subject is assessed as low immediate threat with no confirmed capacity for sustained lethal engagement.

While not a direct combatant, subject maintains proximity to high-level command structures, providing potential access to sensitive information and operational oversight. Risk is primarily indirect, dependent on continued association with senior political and military figures.

PSYCHOLOGICAL PROFILE

02

Subject exhibits compliant and observant behavioural patterns consistent with administrative roles within central command environments. Demonstrates a tendency toward deference to authority, with limited evidence of independent decision-making under pressure.

Behaviour suggests reliance on structured environments and established hierarchies, with minimal indication of initiative beyond assigned responsibilities. Subject appears risk-averse, favouring stability and alignment with dominant figures.

SERVICE HISTORY

03

Records indicate continued service within the Citadel in an administrative capacity. Subject has maintained consistent proximity to senior leadership, with responsibilities likely involving communication handling, documentation, and internal coordination.

No verified participation in active combat operations.

SPECIALIST CAPABILITIES

04

- > Administrative coordination
- > Information handling and routing
- > Internal communication support

NOTE: Subject should not be considered a frontline threat. Monitoring recommended due to proximity to high-value individuals and potential exposure to sensitive information.

THREAT LEVEL: LOW

01

Subject is assessed as a low-level threat with no demonstrated capacity for sustained combat engagement or operational influence. Lacks formal military capability and has no verified participation in active combat scenarios.

Threat is derived solely from familial association with the Whitfield line, providing indirect access to political and social structures. Subject does not currently demonstrate the ability to utilise this position effectively.

No immediate risk to battlefield or strategic operations.

PSYCHOLOGICAL PROFILE

02

Subject exhibits behavioural patterns consistent with prolonged reliance on inherited status and wealth. Displays a lack of discipline, direction, and personal accountability.

Evidence suggests disengagement from responsibility and avoidance of structured environments, reinforced by failure to complete FLAME Academy training.

Subject does not demonstrate strong interpersonal influence, leadership traits, or persuasive capability. Underlying profile indicates dependency on identity rather than personal merit.

03

Records indicate brief enrolment in FLAME Academy, with subject failing to complete training requirements. No verified operational deployment or combat experience.

Subsequent activity places subject within Phoenix Central social districts, with no evidence of structured employment or formal role within military or political systems.

No contributions to active operations recorded.

SPECIALIST CAPABILITIES

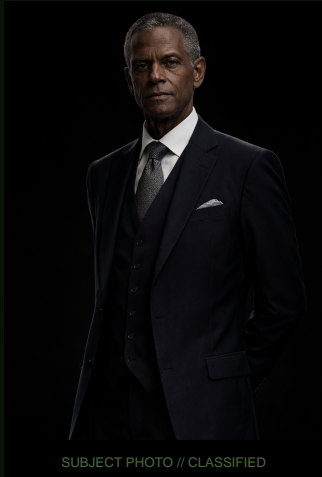

04

None confirmed.

NOTE: Subject should not be considered a direct threat. Monitoring recommended due to familial connection to high-value individuals.

PARLIAMENT COUNCILLORS

THREAT LEVEL: MODERATE

THREAT ASSESSMENT

01

Subject is assessed as a moderate-level threat due to sustained political influence within the Parliamentary structure of Phoenix City. While lacking direct combat capability, subject maintains significant control over financial policy, legislative direction, and internal chamber dynamics.

Subject's alignment with the Whitfield regime, combined with active resistance to opposing political forces, increases his strategic value within governance structures.

Threat is derived from institutional power and ability to shape outcomes within Parliament.

PSYCHOLOGICAL PROFILE

02

Subject exhibits calm, composed behavioural patterns consistent with long-term political service. Displays strong adherence to personal principles centred on justice, order, and institutional integrity.

Demonstrates clear opposition to corruption, with particular hostility toward figures perceived to undermine Parliamentary stability. Behaviour indicates a firm ideological alignment with the Whitfield leadership, driven by belief in their legitimacy rather than personal gain.

Subject maintains a measured presence. Authority is conveyed through restraint, consistency, and moral conviction rather than force.

SERVICE HISTORY

03

Subject originates from Wandswind Province and has established a long-standing presence within the Parliamentary system of Phoenix City.

Currently serves as Chancellor of Parliament, overseeing financial matters and contributing to legislative control within the chamber.

Records indicate consistent support of Whitfield governance and active involvement in maintaining Parliamentary order during periods of political strain.

SPECIALIST CAPABILITIES

04

- > Financial oversight and policy control
- > Legislative influence within Parliamentary chamber
- > Political stability enforcement
- > Strategic allocation of resources
- > High-level governance coordination

NOTE: Subject should not be considered a direct combat threat. Influence is confined to political structures, though impact on broader operations may be significant through resource and policy control.

SUBJECT DOSSIER: MINISTER CHASTAIN

DESIGNATION: MINISTER / LEGAL ADVISOR

STATUS

JAMES ADAMS

PARLIAMENT COUNCILLORS

THREAT LEVEL: LOW

THREAT ASSESSMENT

01

Subject is assessed as a low-level direct threat with no combat capability.

However, subject maintains consistent proximity to high-level decision-making through legal and political advisory roles. Influence is exercised through interpretation of law, defence of policy, and facilitation of political protection for senior figures.

Threat is indirect, derived from subject's ability to shield and legitimise actions taken by higher-level actors within the governing structure.

PSYCHOLOGICAL PROFILE

02

Subject exhibits opportunistic and adaptive behavioural patterns consistent with survival-driven decision-making. Displays strong alignment with authority figures, particularly those offering protection and advancement.

Background suggests formative exposure to unstable environments, contributing to prioritisation of security and personal advancement over ideological consistency.

Subject demonstrates a willingness to justify or defend questionable actions when aligned with personal or professional benefit. No evidence of independent ideological conviction. Loyalty appears conditional and rooted in self-preservation.

03

Originating from Suln Province, Krashnov, subject was raised in a lower socio-economic environment before relocating to Phoenix City.

Initial employment within a legal firm led to gradual advancement through demonstrated competence in legal defence and procedural manipulation.

Subject was identified and recruited by Lionel Brady during Brady's early political rise, subsequently serving as his personal legal advisor. Currently holds ministerial position within Parliament while continuing to provide legal protection and strategic support to the Chancellor.

SPECIALIST CAPABILITIES

04

- > Legal defence and procedural manipulation
- > Political shielding and justification
- > Advisory support within governance structures
- > Institutional navigation and influence
- > Crisis containment through legal framing

NOTE: Subject should not be considered a direct threat. Monitoring recommended due to proximity to high-value individuals and capacity to enable or obscure high-level actions.
