

Colorado law prohibits home owners' associations from publishing members' personal information including telephone numbers and electronic mail addresses. However, if an association member has given written consent to the disclosure, the association may publish this information to other members and residents. Crowley Ranch Reserve would like to have an open communication between its members and residents. We are therefore asking you to give us written consent to publish your telephone number(s) and e-mail address on our private website.

By signing this form, you are consenting to us publishing your telephone number(s) and e-mail address. Please sign below, date, provide any updated information, and return to the Secretary:
