Show Title:

How To Survive A Zombie Apocalypse

A zombie outbreak is happening across the nation. Follow along as our group of survivors scramble for safety. Watch as they flee across the field forming alliances while "On the Run" and engage in "Basic Combat" against the threat. The zombies prove too strong and infect 2 of our survivors as they exit the city. Upon exiting and "Starting Over", the remaining survivors see signs of hope. However, the zombies continue to invade and turn 2 more survivors until there is only one brave soul left. She leads a solo attack for survival against the horde. She is briefly joined by her fallen companions before they fully turn into the undead. Our story seems to end with a triumphant stand by our lone survivor as she shouts the affirmation of "We are survivors, and we will rise again!" But have they gotten to her after all?...

Exploring the relationship between humanity and technology, humans are caught inside the digital web. Tensions rise between control and freedom, illustrating how dependence on machines begins to strip away individuality ultimately causing a total shutdown.

During the reboot, there is a discovery of human expression, creativity, and responsibility within the framework of technology. The final movement celebrates balance—humanity not enslaved by technology, but empowered to use it wisely.
