Theresa Curtis is a devoted Christian leader, educator, volunteer, and community servant whose life reflects a sincere commitment to faith, service, and helping others. Guided by her desire to reflect the image of Christ in her daily walk, she has dedicated herself to ministry, community engagement, and supporting those in need.

Mrs. Curtis serves faithfully at her church in dual leadership roles as Superintendent of Sunday School and Director of Christian Education. Through these positions, she provides spiritual guidance, leadership, and educational opportunities that help strengthen the faith and biblical understanding of church members across generations.

In addition to her church service, Mrs. Curtis volunteers with hospice patients through Kaiser Permanente Medical Center in Downey, California. Her compassionate presence and willingness to serve individuals and families during some of life's most difficult moments exemplify her commitment to ministry beyond the church walls.

Professionally, Mrs. Curtis retired from the Los Angeles County Department of Public Social Services after 32 years of dedicated service. Throughout her career, she worked to support individuals and families throughout Los Angeles County, demonstrating professionalism, compassion, and a commitment to public service.

Mrs. Curtis is also an active member of Our Authors Study Club, Inc. (OASC), where she has served in leadership roles including Membership Chair and currently serves as Chaplain. Through her service to OASC, she has helped strengthen membership engagement while providing spiritual encouragement and support to fellow members. Theresa Curtis's life is a testament to faith in action. Through her leadership, volunteerism, public service, and ministry, she continues to inspire others by demonstrating the values of compassion, dedication, service, and Christian love.
