Al,

Thanks for attending our last meet up, I appreciate it. Here is the endorsement letter you requested, its identical to the last one as I am simply not that creative to come up with a new one.

As may or may not know, the Log Cabin Republicans is the only Republican organization dedicated to representing the interests of gay and lesbian Americans and their allies. The 30-year old organization has state and local chapters nationwide and a full-time office in Washington, DC. We are conservative, moderate and libertarian Republicans, including LGBT Americans and our straight allies. We are united by the belief that inclusion wins, and that the GOP is stronger when it does not alienate LGBT people or their friends and family through antigay rhetoric and policies.

We are small business owners, entrepreneurs, shareholders and employees who believe in free markets, low taxes and the power of the private sector to create prosperity and grow our economy. We are men and women who are committed to protecting our families, including our children. We believe in personal responsibility, which translates into soberly entering into marriage, adopting children in need of homes, protecting ourselves through responsible exercise of our second amendment rights, preparing ourselves for retirement that is not dependent on government support, and standing against harassment in our schools.

I have been a member of the organization since the 1990's and have always voted Republican (the last Democrat I voted for was Henry Jackson). The one thing I have encountered (and almost all of our members have as well) is that over the years it has always been easier to come out to other Republicans as a gay man than to come out to another gay person as a Republican or conservative. The LGBT community as you know is very Democrat, very progressive and sadly very intolerant of diverse viewpoints like ours. It's estimated that nationwide the LGBT is at least 2.5 to 3 percent of our population and 25-30 percent of the LGBT votes Republican. That is about a million votes.

To paraphrase Ronald Reagan, "The person who agrees with you 80 percent of the time is a friend and an ally-not a 20 percent traitor" and I know from hearing you speak and reading about your positions that you and LCRW agree far more than we disagree. The Republican Party does not have large bench of candidates across the state like the Democrats so we need to have a united front if we are to win the Secretary of State's race and increase our seats in the legislature

Because of that Log Cabin Republicans of Washington (LCRW) wants to endorse you in the August primary. I will be honest, we do not have funds to make a financial contribution to your race (or your fellow candidate). We do not place any conditions on our endorsement, you may add it to your website or flyers, to your Facebook page or social media. Or you can do nothing with it.

Thank you for your time, if you have questions, my phone number is 206.226.XXXX, this is my email and I am on Facebook.
