What is Astrocartography?

Astrocartography also called, astrogeography, is one of several methods of locational astrology, which purports to identify varying life conditions through differences in location.

Developed and popularized by American astrologer Jim Lewis (1941-1995),[1] astrocartography is a locational astrology system that focuses on elements of the natal chart, by identifying these factors on a world "Astro*Carto*Graphy Map." Lewis' Astro*Carto*Graphy maps show all locations on the earth where planets were "angular" (rising, setting, on the zenith or nadir) at the moment of an event like a person's birth. An "angular" planet is one that is conjunct one of these four angles (Ascendant, Descendant, MC or IC). These locations are displayed in the form of lines on the Astro*Carto*Graphy world map.

This simple astrocartography reading is intended to provide additional information to help you understand the energetic and celestial influences encompassing a certain location.

Location and Celestial Influences

The place you are interested in is Ocala, Florida.

The celestial influence at this location specifically for you based on your place of birth, time and date is: Neptune/MC Line  $\neq$  MC 56 km.

Understanding Astrocartography

Astro maps show lines which at the time of birth were strongly influenced by a planet. Should you come into contact with these power zones, parts of your personality can be more intensively activated.

A stay at such localities is not necessarily required to activate these energies. People as well as spiritual and cultural influences which emanate from these geographical regions form an energetic link.

The strongest influence is directly on one of these lines. However, the orb of influence extends to a distance of at least 250 km (150 miles) from the line.

Power zones also exist where planetary lines cross. The energies involved influence each other. This is also true for lines which are close together. The energies of a crossing can be felt - although in a weaker form - throughout the world along the same line of latitude.

Even in zones where there is no apparent line, an influential connection may still exist. There could be an aspect to a main axis, or the region may be located on a line of latitude where planetary line cross and exert a somewhat diminished effect.

Transits and other astrological time events can intensify the effect of these lines and should be taken into account.

Your Influences: Neptune/MC Line 4 MC 56 km

The effects of the Neptune/MC line are diverse and complex. With Neptune things are not always immediately clear. There are two sides to Neptune, positive and negative. Neptune can be illusive and magical. Its influences are very feeling and sensitive; spiritual and compassionate. You will find Neptune's energy dreamy in nature, but can also involve escapism and the inability to deal with reality. But don't let that scare you at all.

Working with Neptune requires patience to see what is actually going on. Take your time to get transparency before making a move to a place with Neptunian influences. No need to rush with Neptune the effects last a while. It is a fantasy type energy and can also be an incredible dream come true.

This beautiful spiritual energy could bring about the changes you have been waiting for. Here is what you might expect. This influence could lead to a change in your established career, social status, position, and pre-existing goals.

Traditional values and achievement give way to ideals that go far beyond the purely personal. Status and reputation lose their meaning. You may even resign from work, consider retirement, and or become a recluse. Under this energetic influence you are tired of being part of this consumer-driven society.

You strive for higher spiritual ideals. You are interested in mysticism and spirituality. You might even become involved in different spiritual groups, explore alternative healing methods, or see yourself as an emissary of a far-reaching ideology. You will seek inner truths. You become more sentimental, looking for deeper experiential understanding. You may decide to become involved in working for hospitals, rehabilitation, welfare, or charity organizations. You may decide it is better to put this subtle energy of this region to a mutual benefit and use.

However, if you work as a high-profile artist, musician, or entertainer, or work in the film, theatre, or entertainment industry, this placement could be to your advantage. This Neptunian influence could bring about bright and fascinating worlds of illusions.

This is a good place for your collective dreams and desires.
