Itinerary for Everyone

Your Goddess Hostess and Guide: Donna Virgilio, Psychic at www.glamourgan.uk and author of Goddess Scopes. USA

Day 1:

Transportation provided from Bristol Airport to your Bed and Breakfast in Glastonbury Goddesses (participants are called Goddesses from here forward) will be picked up by a private coach and delivered to their accommodations. After checking into your accommodation, you will have the day and evening free to explore Glastonbury.

Dinner Reservations will be made for our first supper

Day 2:

The Tor: Goddesses will meet and walk the Tor. The Tor is a symbol of the Mother and is our first stop. It is a place where the veil is thin between the worlds. It was an Islet for centuries, as the floodwaters took a long time to recede. In ancient times, it was called the Island of Glass and connected to the mainland by only a narrow strip of land at low tide.

The Tor, St. Michael's Tower

The Tor is an axis point where many energetic ley lines cross. Legend says, it is considered a soul portal, a place for spirits to transition between the worlds, a powerful vortex of natural and spiritual power.

It is called the world center and believed to have an opening within it believed to be an earthly paradise. This is considered a very sacred Goddess site and powerful spirit place. The site is associated with the Goddess, Fairies, Nature Spirits, King Arthur and ET's.

Chalice Well: The Chalice Well is one of Britain's most ancient wells, nestled between The Tor and Chalice Hill. Donna will lead you through the beautiful gardens and orchards. A living sanctuary, Goddesses can experience the quiet healing of this sacred place. For over 2,000 years people have gathered from around the world to drink the water to find solace, peace and inspiration. You may collect Chalice water to drink or for your spiritual bathing practice.

Chalice Well Peace Gardens

White Springs: We will use the sacred well house for private ceremony and meditation. The interior of the reservoirs is dimly lit with a series of shrines to the female and male deities such as the Lady of Avalon and the Stag. Inside the white springs is a large sacred pool and just above the waters is a wall that is believed to be an entry to the otherworld. Its waters are believed to provide healing and help release energy blocks that keep us from expressing our true selves.

Lunch: Suggestions and a list of local restaurants will be provided and Goddesses can eat wherever they choose. Of course, it is more fun to eat together.

Free Time:

Evening at the Glastonbury Goddess Temple: Visit the Goddess Temple founded by Kathy Jones in 2002. This temple is the first Goddess Temple to be officially registered as a Place of Worship in Britain.

A Priestess of Avalon will provide and talk about the temple, Goddesses and a meditation where we will meet the Lady of Avalon. This is private for our Goddess Group.

Glastonbury Goddess Temple

Day 3:

Free Day Enjoy and experience a free day in Glastonbury!

Glastonbury Magdalene and High Street

Many optional activities you can include on your free day are: visit The Abbey (grave of King Arthur and Guinevere), walk a labyrinth at St. John's Church, visit Bridie's mound, Dion Fortunes grave, shop metaphysical shops, chocolate lovers shops, local museum, restaurants and more.

Dinner at our Favorite Italian Restaurant GiGi's

Day 4:

Stonehenge Inner Circle (Private Entry): Goddesses meet at the Hotel at 4:30am. Our Private Goddess Coach will pick us up and take us to a very special private entry into Stonehenge's inner circle. At sunrise, a private ceremony will be conducted with the group in the center of the stones. Stonehenge is one of the most famous sites in the world, Stonehenge is composed of earthworks surrounding a circular setting of large standing stones.

Stonehenge is built at the precise point where six ley lines intersect. These lines are believed by many to have magnetic and spiritual power. Stonehenge still functions as an accurate celestial calendar.

Avebury Stone Circle: Enjoy a guided walk through in Avebury. Avebury is considered to be older than Stonehenge and much larger. You are free to wonder among 100 stones, ditches, mounds and curious patterns. A visit to Avebury is a very personal and spiritual event.

Avebury Stones

Lunch: The Goddesses will retire for lunch at the Red Lion in Avebury

Silbury Hill: This pyramid shaped hill is about 130 feet high mound of chalk. More than 4,000 years old it is considered the largest man-made object in prehistoric Europe.

Silbury Hill is one of England's mysterious ancient and religious landscapes. Legend says that the hill hid a gold statue in its center.

Silbury Hill

West Kennet Long Barrow: This mound one of many prehistoric monuments that are part of the Avebury complex of Neolithic sites. It is one of the most impressive and well preserved burial chambers in Britain. It lines up with the rising sun on the summer solstice.

West Kennet Long Barrows

Folklore and Legend: The mound is traditionally visited by a white spectral figure accompanied by a white red-eared hound at sunrise on midsummer's day. There is a slim possibility that this tradition is a folk memory of a ritual event or at least a time thought to have been significant in the use of the barrow.

Free Evening: Our private coach will return to Glastonbury by 16:30 or 4:30pm. and the evening is free to spend any way you wish.

Day 5:

Journey to Tintagel-Cornwall and Merlin's Cave: For a magical day out in Cornwall, we will take our coach to the Tintagel Castle. The castle sits high on the rugged North Cornwall Coast. You will see it's fascinating ruins and gorgeous coast. Legend says this is the birthplace of King Arthur and you can see the nearby Merlin's Cave. Tintagel is one of the most popular attractions in the UK.

The castle has a long association with legends related to King Arthur. This began in the twelfth century when Geoffrey of Monmouth described Tintagel as the place of Arthur's conception in his fictionalized account of British history, the Historia Regum Britanniae. Geoffrey told the story that Arthur's father, King Uther Pendragon, was disguised by Merlin's sorcery to look like Gorlois, Duke of Cornwall, the husband of Igraine, Arthur's mother.

Visitors to Tintagel Castle can now see the sleeping face of Merlin, one of the most important characters in Arthurian legend, carved into the rocks on the beach

St. Nectan's Glen Rocky Valley and Waterfall: Walk through the tea gardens and see this 60-ft. waterfall reputed to be in the top ten of the most spiritual sites in the country.

St. Nectan was a hermit who gave his name to the glen and waterfall. Although, according to some sources the name is a Christianized form of the Cornish water god - Nectan.

The keive itself, was seen as a potent Pagan symbol of Gaia and has been a place of reverence since before Christ. St. Nectan was said to have lived here and reputedly lies buried under the stones of the basin.

Day 6: August 9, Friday

Journey to Bath: Goddesses will meet and travel to Bath by bus. Bath is a city in the ceremonial county of Somerset. Romans built baths and a temple on the surrounding hills of Bath in the valley of the River Avon around hot springs, which are the only naturally occurring ones in the UK.

Roman Baths

A private ceremony and private bath at the spa will be arranged to honor the Goddess Minerva and Spiritual Bathing. The four main features are: the Sacred Spring, the Roman Temple, The Roman Bath House and the Museum. It is one of the 7 Natural Wonders of the West Country. An audio guide is available.

Goddess Sulis Minerva

The gilt bronze head of the Goddess Sulis Minerva is one of the best known objects from Roman Britain. Its discovery in 1727 was an early indication that the Roman site at Bath was not a typical settlement. Gilt bronze sculptures are rare finds from Roman Britain as only two other fragments are known.

The head is probably from the cult statue of the deity which would have stood within her Temple beside the Sacred Spring. From there she may have looked out across the Temple courtyard to the site of the great altar, the site of sacrifice, which stood at the heart of that sacred space. The statue may well be an original object from the foundation of the site in the later first century AD, which means that it was probably well over three hundred years old when it met its demise.

Grand Pump Room

Lunch at the Pump: Regarded as the social heart of Bath for more than two centuries, the Pump Room is a striking neo-classical salon where hot Spa water is drawn for drinking. The Pump Room is very elegant and sophisticated for fine dining.

The Grand Pump Room in the Abbey Church Yard, Bath, Somerset, England is a historic building.

The main block, built of Bath stone, was begun in 1789 by Thomas Baldwin. He resigned in 1791 and John Palmer continued the scheme from 1793. It was finally finished in 1799. The facade of the building features Corinthian half columns, perhaps an influence from the Temple at Bassae.

Situated next to main street entrance to the Roman Baths, visitors can sample the waters from the warm spring which fills the Roman Baths. The restaurant, is popular to sample the afternoon tea and freshly prepared meals. Music in the restaurant is provided by the Pump Room Trio—the longest established resident ensemble in Europe or by a pianist.

Cross Bath

The Cross Bath is an intimate open-air thermal bath with its own changing facilities. The Cross Bath is a separate building and provides an alternative to the more extensive spa facilities in the New Royal Bath.

Where the Cross Bath now stands, the Celts revered their goddess Sulis, in whose honor the Romans named their spa town, Aquae Sulis. The Cross Spring is now recognized as an official sacred site. As you relax in the oval Cross Bath, you can watch the natural thermal waters cascade from a specially commissioned poolside fountain. The Cross

Bath provides an opportunity to experience Bath's natural thermal waters in a very special setting.

As the Cross Bath is a historic, stand-alone building separate from the main spa, it does not have the facilities to offer spa treatments. We have this private Thermal pool for 1 ½ hours to soak away the aches and pains of walking. Here we will honour with ceremony the Goddess Sulis Minvera.

Dinner Reservations will be made for our last supper
