Musick Racing Team Race Team of the Year

The Musick Racing & Repair Team is heading into year two as a team in 2023, but owner Brett Musick and his father have been staples of the ATV motocross scene for over two decades. The team looked to make some waves in their “rookie” campaign this past season, and they did just that when they signed young rising-star pro Brandon Hoag. The fourth-year pro came as a perfect addition to the team, whose owner, Brett Musick, is one of the fastest athletes in ATV racing in his own right.

The brand new Musick Racing & Repair Team proved to be everything that Brandon Hoag needed to show the best version of himself this past season. After nearly winning the opener, Brandon put together a season unlike ever before to clinch third place in the AMA ATV Pro Class season-ending points standings at the finale.

The Musick Racing & Repair Team had high hopes for the 2022 season, but thanks to hard work, dedication, and a talented group of individuals handpicked by the Musick crew – the results were historic.
