

AFFIDAVIT

I, MARK MOGILINSKI being first duly sworn under oath depose and state that the foregoing is true and correct and made upon my personal knowledge and I am competent to testify thereto.

- 1.) My name is Mark Mogilinski, age 54, of Hoffman Estates, IL 60192. Occupation: Auto detailer. Being in business for more than 30 years, I am an expert in auto detailing and snowplowing.
- 2.) M.J.M. Auto Polishing is a full service auto detailing shop. We also do snowplowing when the car cleaning business slows in winter months.
- 3.) The temperatures during the time period were 26-28 degrees. This would make detailing a car, inside and out, next to impossible without the water changing to ice when freezing is 32 degrees. The idea that anyone would even attempt this is ludicrous!
- 4.) Read any of the product labels and they will tell you not to expose them to extreme heat or cold as it renders the products useless.
- 5.) To try and wash spots from cloth interiors in frigid weather would only cause the spot to get much larger, not come clean. Not only would the seats never dry, the carpet would remain wet, causing extreme humidity and eventually get moldy. The windows would steam up, the electric controls for radio, antenna, electric windows/door locks etc could get damaged from that kind of moisture and condensation. The speedometer would frost over. The interior would have to be completely dry immediately after washing to avoid problems.
- 6.) Washing the exterior of a car in frigid temps is also very detrimental, especially on the cheaper cars. Leaving the car overnight and then going to open the door in the morning can cause those plastic handles to break right off or break a key in the lock. Common sense here.
