Why is a piece of the host placed into the chalice?

The rite you are describing is called "commingling" and dates back to at least the eighth century and, indeed, has its origin in a rite that is even more ancient. In the Eucharistic prayer, bread and wine are consecrated and become the Body and Blood of Christ. According to the ancient tradition of the Church, the bread used for the Eucharist is unleavened. It is generally baked into small round forms called "hosts." The word "host" is taken from the Latin word hostia which means "victim." We are reminded that Jesus Christ is the paschal victim the Lamb of God slain for us whose sacrifice is re-presented in our Eucharistic celebration.

The priest (or bishop) breaks off a small fraction of the larger host used at that particular Mass and places it into the chalice saying quietly (inaudibly) as he does so: "May this mingling of the body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ bring eternal life to us who receive it." Just as the fraction of the host the paschal Lamb of God symbolizes the death of the Lord, so the commingling rite symbolizes the Lord's resurrection.
