State regulators estimate that over the decades, life insurers have failed to pay well over $1 billion in death benefits to beneficiaries because standard language in life insurance policy make it clear that it is up to the beneficiaries to notify the insurer and file a claim when an insured person has died. To prevent you from becoming part of that statistic and to make sure your loved ones receive the benefits you intend to leave them, we've developed this Emergency Response System. This system is designed to ensure that in the case of your passing, someone in addition to your beneficiaries/contingent beneficiaries knows you have life insurance policy as part of your financial planning so that your policy will not go unnoticed and your death benefits will not go unclaimed.

Please provide the names and phone numbers of the people you trust most and know will have your family's best interests at heart when the worst happens. We will contact them to inform them of the steps they need to take and who they need to contact in case of an emergency.
