Collective Opportunity Network to Navigate and Explore the Common Target

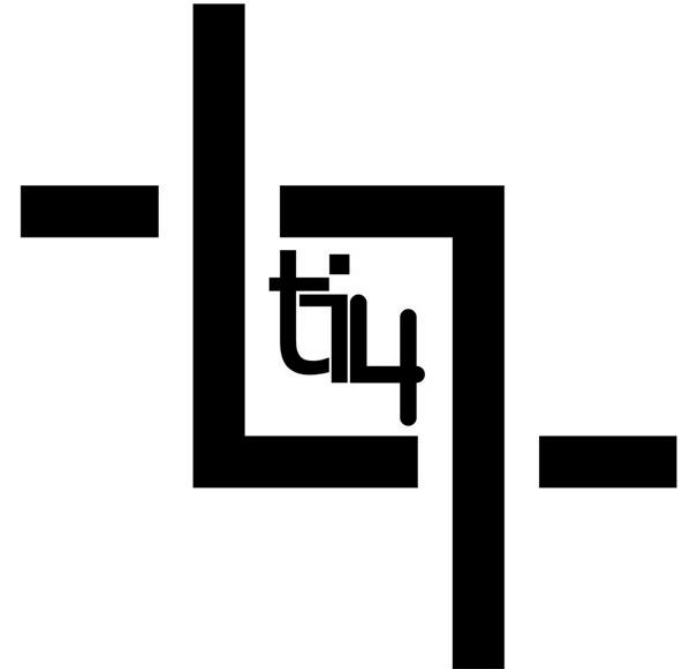

The Industry Four "CONNECT" Program represents one of our flagship initiatives, aligning with our corporate social responsibility objectives to empower future professionals and drive positive societal impact through education and industry collaboration.

Excellence in education prepares young people for personal and professional empowerment, positively impacting national economies. Aligned with this objective, we are deeply passionate about serving the industry and society in the field of education. To achieve this, we regularly undertake diverse initiatives, including our Consulting & Learning Services and CSR programs. CONNECT - An Industry and Institution Interaction Program is one of our key initiatives that fulfills our corporate social responsibility objectives.

To achieve our mission, we invite industries and institutions to join our industry-academy interaction program, popularly known as CONNECT (Collective Opportunity Network to Navigate and Explore the Common Target). Through this program, we organize interactive workshops and conduct training sessions for industry and government organizations' staff to raise awareness about the Fourth to Forthcoming Industrial Revolution. We also engage with educational institutions' students to prepare them for the corporate professional world.

Our ti4 CONNECT Program operates across two distinct Collective Opportunity Network areas. One area is tailored for industrial organizations, while the other is aligned with government and educational institutions.

As part of our Corporate Social Responsibility commitment, we invest in the growth and development of the next generation of professionals and leaders through our CONNECT Program. This program offers a unique opportunity for your staff/students to develop knowledge and insight into the Fourth Industrial Revolution by engaging with industry experts, thought leaders, and practitioners.
