I enjoy landscapes - flowers - birds - pareidolia and creating mirror images from natural objects and scenes. Carla Hunt - Beauty in the Okanagan My focus is on wildlife and landscape photography with the goal of bringing Beauty in the Okanagan to the people.

“When I come across a scene that I want to photograph, I try to see in my “mind’s eye” what the final image will look like. I often try to convey a specific mood or feeling and hopefully my images evoke a response in the viewer. Also, I try to make images of things the viewer may not be fortunate enough to see in their lifetime or to take the simple things we often walk by without seeing the beauty in and showcasing that beauty.”

Larry Adamache - Larryadamache.com I’m a retired engineer living in Coldstream, British Columbia, Canada. Photography is my current hobby. I’ve been doing photography seriously on and off for the last 30 years. I started out with film – doing my own color film processing, digitizing, editing and printing. I switched to digital as soon as it was available. Many of my images have been shown in public galleries and juried exhibitions and have been used by various government agencies and nonprofits in their publications.

Tor Nenzen - Nenzen Photo I enjoy all aspects of photography but I’m drawn to sports and events. I’m shy to shoot people, but at these venues people expect photographers so it feels comfortable to blend in with the crowds. Minimalist and saturated images make me happiest.
