1. Commission Disclaimer regarding Loan Offering

Minted Provisions is not a lender. We do not provide loans directly. We operate solely as an affiliate of lenders and may receive commissions as a result of lending transactions facilitated through our platform. Any loan or financial product obtained through our affiliate lenders is subject to their terms, conditions, and approval criteria.

Our role is to connect individuals with lending options that suit their needs, but we do not make any lending decisions or offer financial advice. It's important to carefully review all terms and conditions provided by the lender before committing to any loan agreement.

We encourage users to conduct thorough research and consider their financial situation before applying for any loan.

2. Disclaimer Regarding Insurance Offering

Minted Provisions inc. is a licensed insurance agency (NPN: 21156103) authorized to offer policies from multiple insurance carriers. While we provide access to a range of insurance products, it's important to note that we are not a carrier or insurer ourselves. We act as intermediaries, facilitating the purchase of insurance policies on behalf of our clients.

Any insurance coverage obtained through Minted Provisions is underwritten by the respective insurance carriers and is subject to their terms, conditions, and approval criteria. We strive to provide personalized insurance solutions tailored to your needs, leveraging our expertise and relationships with various carriers.

However, we do not assume the risk associated with insurance coverage, nor do we directly provide insurance benefits.

For specific details about your insurance policy, including coverage limitations and exclusions, please refer to your policy documents or contact the issuing insurance carrier directly.

3. Commission Disclaimer regarding Insurance Offering

Minted Provisions Inc. is a licensed insurance agency. We are authorized to sell insurance policies to consumers in accordance with state regulations. We may receive commissions from insurance carriers for policies sold through our agency.

These commissions are earned as a result of facilitating the sale of insurance products to consumers.

It's important to note that the commissions we receive do not affect the premiums you pay for your insurance coverage. Our priority is to provide you with tailored insurance solutions that meet your needs and offer value and peace of mind.
