After graduating from Goucher College with honors in chemistry she married Warren Hubbard Evans and relocated to the Washington, DC area where they raised their children. He attended Princeton University, graduating in the Class of 1956. Warren's career in medical science which followed was largely decided by the untimely passing of one of his Princeton roommates who died suddenly of leukemia while at Princeton. The choice to pursue a career in medical research led Warren to obtain a Masters degree in Medical Science and a Ph.D. in biochemistry from Harvard Medical School. He then spent 30 years in dedicated medical research at the National Cancer Institute at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland, focusing on granulocytic leukemia. He published more than forty papers in scientific journals and obtained a patent for his work on the isolation and purification of a granulocyte maturation factor from human blood.

In 1990 Warren retired to the Hellam Hills in Hellam Township, York County, where he oversaw the building of the solar homestead which he and his family greatly enjoyed. Very active in community affairs, he served on the Hellam Township Planning Commission, where he helped to develop environmentally protective ordinances and a progressive comprehensive plan. One of his proudest achievements was his role in launching the Horn Farm Center for Agricultural Education, a non-profit organization in York County that features incubator farms for aspiring young farmers and focuses on sustainably grown local food sources for the community. Warren was President of the Center's Board for six years and influential in securing a permanent conservation easement on the 187-acre farm property. Warren enjoyed historical research, especially pertaining to the Revolutionary War period; camping across the country; hiking on his woodland property; reading on all sorts of subjects, and all the numerous activities and accomplishments of his sons and grandchildren. He participated in digs with his archaeologist wife, June, with whom he also collaborated in numerous community activities.

Notes for Anna Maria Nipple:

Anna Mary Meiser, 77, of Mount Pleasant Mills (Meiserville), moved on to be in the presence of our Lord on Friday, Jan. 13, 2017. In her transition, she was surrounded by her loving family in her home concluding a courageous battle with cancer. She leaves behind a legacy of love, faith, and enduring strength that will be forever cherished by all who were fortunate enough to know her. She is survived by her loving husband of 56 years, Harold S. Meiser, originally of Seven Stars. Whether at home, work, church, or in the community, her warm and welcoming presence was often subdued but radiated with dignity, laughter, and grace. Home and family remained the core of her life as she enjoyed cooking for family gatherings as she proudly watched her living legacy grow and thrive. Most importantly, she is remembered as a woman of deep faith with the heart of a Christian servant as she used her many talents to leave an indelible mark on the world.

Born on July 22, 1939, she was the eldest child of Orpha G. (Snyder) Nipple, of Mount Pleasant Mills and the late Raymond W. Nipple. She was eventually joined by four siblings, her late sister Connie R. Harnum, her late brother Robert N. Nipple, brother Ronald H. Nipple and wife Connie of Liverpool, and brother Ralph R. Nipple and wife Shirley of Liverpool. From the time of her youth she completed chores on the family farm, and discovered her life-long passions for music, gardening, cooking and sewing. She graduated from Middleburg Joint High School in 1956. She began work at Hayes Stahl Lumber in 1955 as an administrative assistant and remained in that role for 33 years. Not long after marriage on June 11, 1960, she and her husband Harold purchased Meiserville Milling Company where they passionately served the local farming community until their retirement just a few short years ago. Along the way, she found time to provide auditing services for Chapman Township.

Anna Mary was a lifelong member of St. Paul (Leininger's) Lutheran Church where she took a special pride in providing 60 years of beautiful music on the organ and piano. She also spent time as choir director and spent 50 years as a member of the ELCA of Women. The echoes of her keyboard and dedicated service will forever remain amongst the stained glass and well-worn pews. A talented seamstress with a keen eye for precision and detail, her skillful hands produced beautiful works of art ranging from formal gowns to tailored suits. She humbly passed along her skills and knowledge as a 4-H sewing leader for more than two decades, as well as, serving and supporting the 4-H Foundation.

As her mortal life was fading, she reflected upon her greatest pride and enduring accomplishment, her family. She and Harold raised four kind, caring, and talented women as a reflection of their faith and commitment to living life with humility and with conviction. In time, they welcomed four sons-in-law who they loved and cared for as their own, and seven grandchildren whom they adored with special pride and purpose.

In addition to her husband and mother, Anna Mary is survived by her four daughters and sons-in-law, Susan R. and Craig Womer, of Mount Pleasant Mills, Reva M. and Michael Herrold, of Selinsgrove, Luci A. and John Hartman, of Turbotville, and Linda K. and Michael Wagner, of Harleysville; seven grandchildren, Kelvin M. Womer and fiancé Patricia Arbogast, and Brent S. Womer and wife Rose, all of Mount Pleasant Mills, Evonne M. Workman and husband Michael, of Waldorf, Md., Brianna M. Herrold, of Selinsgrove, Christopher J. and Rachel Hartman, of Turbotville, and Joanna L. Wagner, of Harleysville; a brother-in-law, Don Harnum, of Pinehurst, N.C.; sister-in-law, Donna Nipple, of Liverpool; and nieces and nephews.

Friends and family are invited to the visitation from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 20, and from 10 to 10:45 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 21, followed by the funeral at 11, at St. Thomas Independent Brethren in Christ Church, 1070 St. Thomas Road, Mount Pleasant Mills, with the Rev. Dr. Donald B. Green officiating. Burial will be in St. Paul (Leininger's) Lutheran Cemetery, Mount Pleasant Mills. Box 382, Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania 17870, or to SUN Home Hospice, 61 N. Duke St., Northumberland, Pennsylvania 17857. The George P. More About Charles Bailey and Margaret Kibbler:

Marriage: 14 Dec 1923

Children of Charles Bailey and Margaret Kibbler are:

- 4403 i. Carolyn Jane⁸ Bailey, born 22 May 1930 in Baltimore Co, Maryland; died 02 Feb 2006 in St. Louis Park, Hennepin Co, Minnesota. She married Dominick Joseph Argento 06 Sep 1954; born 27 Oct 1927 in York, York Co, Pennsylvania; died 20 Feb 2018 in Minneapolis, Hennepin Co, Minnesota.

Notes for Carolyn Jane Bailey:

Carolyn Bailey Argento, born in Baltimore on May 22, 1930, to the Rev. C. Carroll Bailey and Mrs. Margaret Bailey, died February 2, 2006, after a long hospitalization and a valorous struggle with an indeterminate neurological illness. She grew up in York, PA, where her father was pastor at the Church of St. Paul, EUB, and her pianist-mother served as accompanist for artists of the Chautauqua Circuit. Carolyn's inherited gifts were early evident and, at age 15, she was the youngest pupil ever to receive a personal scholarship from one of the Peabody Conservatory's principal voice teachers. While still an undergraduate, her professional career was developing through performances in recital, oratorio and opera in Baltimore, Washington DC, and New York. At Peabody, she met a fellow-student, Dominick Argento from York, Pennsylvania, and married him September 6, 1954.

Carolyn was awarded a fellowship in opera by the Eastman School of Music where her husband was pursuing doctoral studies. Howard Hanson, director of the School, selected her to be the soloist in his 1957 Festival of American Music where she premiered her husband's Ode to the West Wind, a 30-minute concerto for soprano and orchestra. After moving to Minneapolis in 1958 where Argento began to teach theory, composition, and opera history at the University of Minnesota, she premiered many of Dominick's works; most notably The Mask of Night, commissioned by the Minneapolis Civic Orchestra. She performed the leading role in The Masque of Venus and Adonis at the Guthrie Theater in the inaugural production by Center Opera Company (now the Minnesota Opera) and later the role of Pamina in The Magic Flute. She became soloist for several church choirs, for Frederic Hilary's Minneapolis Madrigal Singers, and George Houle's University Baroque Ensemble. During their fifty-one years of marriage, she and her husband usually spent the three months of summer and often the entire year in Florence, a city she happily regarded as a second home. Her many friends remember the gracious welcome she always extended to Minnesota travelers visiting Florence and to international musicians visiting the Twin Cities. Individual memorials preferred to the Carolyn Bailey Argento Graduate Fellowship, School of Music. Checks may be made out to and mailed to the University of Minnesota Foundation (Carolyn B. Argento Fellowship on the memorandum line), C-M 9407, PO Box 70870, St. Paul, Minnesota 55270-9407.

Notes for Dominick Joseph Argento:

Dominick Argento, considered to be America's preeminent composer of lyric opera, was born in York, Pennsylvania in 1927. At the Peabody Conservatory, where he earned his Bachelor's and Master's degrees, his teachers included Nicholas Nabokov, Henry Cowell, and Hugo Weisgall. Argento received his Ph.D. from the Eastman School of Music, where he studied with Alan Hovhaness and Howard Hanson. Fulbright and Guggenheim Fellowships allowed him to study in Italy with Luigi Dallapiccola and to complete his first opera, Colonel Jonathan the Saint. Following his Fulbright, Argento became music director of Hilltop Opera in Baltimore, and taught theory and composition at the Eastman School. In 1958, he joined the faculty of the Department of Music at the University of Minnesota, where he taught until 1997 and later held the rank of Professor Emeritus.

Although Argento's instrumental works have received consistent praise, the great majority of his music was written for voices, whether in operatic, choral, or solo context. This emphasis on the human voice is a facet of the powerful dramatic impulse that drove nearly all of his music, both instrumental and vocal. Music critic Heidi Waleson described Argento's work as "richly melodic... [his] pieces are built with wit and passion, and always with the dramatic shape and color that make them theater. They speak to the heart."

During his years at Eastman, Argento composed his opera, The Boor (1957); John Rockwell of The New York Times, writing of a 1985 production, stated that "[i]t taps deep currents of sentiment and passion." Following his arrival in Minnesota, the composer accepted a number of commissions from significant organizations in his adopted state. Among these were the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra, who commissioned his suite Royal Invitation (1964); and the Civic Orchestra of Minneapolis, who commissioned Variations for Orchestra [The Mask of Night] (1965). Argento's close association with Sir Tyrone Guthrie and Douglas Campbell, directors of the Minnesota Theatre Company, led to his composing incidental music for several Guthrie productions, as well as a ballad opera, The Shoemaker's Holiday (1967).

The 1970s and 1980s saw the composer working increasingly in the song cycle form, while still writing operas and orchestral music. Among his major song cycles are Letters from Composers (1968); To Be Sung Upon the Water (1973); From the Diary of Virginia Woolf (1975); the choral I Hate and I Love (1982); The Andree Expedition (1983); and Casa Guidi (1983). Later song cycles include A Few Words About Chekhov for mezzo-soprano, baritone, and piano, which was given its premiere in 1996 by Frederica von Stade, Håkan Hagegård, and pianist Martin Katz at the Ordway Theater in St. Paul; Walden Pond (mixed chorus, harp, and three cellos), commissioned and premiered by the Dale Warland Singers in 1996; and Miss Manners on Music (1998), set to texts by the noted advice columnist Judith Martin.

Beyond finding great success in the US, nearly all of Argento's operas have also been performed in Europe, beginning with Postcard from Morocco. Among these are The Voyage of Edgar Allan Poe (1976), Miss Havisham's Wedding Night (1981), and Casanova's Homecoming (1984). Robert Jacobson of Opera News described the latter work as "a masterpiece." The Aspern Papers was given its premiere by Dallas Opera in November 1988 to great acclaim, was telecast on the PBS series "Great Performances," and was again presented, to critical praise, by the Washington Opera in 1990. The opera was also presented in Germany and in Sweden; as well as at London's Barbican Centre in 1998.

Argento's final opera, The Dream of Valentino, examined fame and the immigrant experience, set in the early days of Hollywood. Washington Opera gave the work its premiere under the baton of Christopher Keene in January 1994, followed by its co-commissioning company, Dallas Opera, in 1995. The production featured special multi-media sets by John Conklin and costumes by the couturier Valentino. Writing of the premiere, Peter G. Davis of New York magazine stated, "What a pleasure to encounter a real opera composer, one who has studied and learned from his predecessors, loves the form, understands its conventions, has mastered them, and then lets his imagination take wing." The Dream of Valentino received its European premiere in February 1999 in Kassel, Germany.

Among other honors and awards, Dominick Argento received the Pulitzer Prize for Music in 1975 for his song cycle From the Diary of Virginia Woolf. He was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters in 1979, and in 1997 was honored with the title of Composer Laureate to the Minnesota Orchestra, a lifetime appointment. In honor of his 85th birthday, the University of Maryland presented a special career retrospective that included Miss Havisham's Fire, Postcard from Morocco, and Miss Manners on Music, as well as other recitals and lectures. Minnesota Governor Mark Dayton officially declared August 8, 2016, to be Dominick Argento Day in the state of Minnesota, recognizing Argento as a master composer, revered educator and beloved Minnesotan.

Pulitzer Prize-winning composer Dominick Argento died on Wednesday Feb. 20, 2019 in Minneapolis, Minnesota, after a short illness; his death was announced by his family. He was 91. Argento was best known for his lyrical and astringent music for the human voice – he wrote 13 operas, as well as song cycles and choral works. As he told the late Mary Ann Feldman in a 2002 interview, "My interest is people. I am committed to working with characters, feelings and emotions."

Argento was born on Oct. 27, 1927 in York, Pennsylvania, to Sicilian immigrants who ran a restaurant and inn. He began studying music seriously in high school and, after a stint in the army as a cartographer, he enrolled in the Peabody School of Music in Baltimore. There, he studied with Henry Cowell and Hugo Weisgall, and earned both bachelor's and master's degrees in composition. His Ph.D. was from the Eastman School of Music, where he studied with Alan Hovhaness and Howard Hanson. The recipient of Fulbright and Guggenheim fellowships, Argento studied in Italy with Luigi Dallapiccola.

In 1954, Argento married soprano Carolyn Bailey, who premiered many of his vocal works. "I learned to love the voice by loving the singer," he told Feldman. Four years later, the couple moved to Minneapolis, where Argento taught composition and music theory at the University of Minnesota, where his students included composers Libby Larsen and Stephen Paulus, who went on to be highly regarded in the field. In 1997, Argento retired and was named professor emeritus at the university — and later that same year, he became composer laureate of the Minnesota Orchestra.

"I do think of myself as a Minnesota composer," Argento told the Star Tribune of Minneapolis in 2017, as he described his "love affair with my community here." August 8, 2016 was designated Dominick Argento Day in the state of Minnesota by then-Governor Mark Dayton, recognizing him as "a master composer, revered educator and beloved Minnesotan." Much of his work was premiered at artistic institutions in the frigid Twin Cities: the Minnesota Opera, the Minnesota Orchestra, the Guthrie Theatre, the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra and the Walker Art Center. His career was well underway throughout the '60s, but it was his 1971 surrealist chamber opera, Postcard from Morocco, that cemented Argento's reputation as one of the leading composers of his generation; after its premiere in Minneapolis, the opera was staged around the world.

Argento's operas were often based on literary works or themes: The Voyage of Edgar Allan Poe, about the author's tragic final days; Miss Havisham's Wedding Night, based on a Dickens character from Great Expectations; Casanova's Homecoming, a comic-opera set-in Venice, which had a well-reviewed run at the New York City Opera; and The Aspern Papers, drawn from a Henry James novella and written for star mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade. Argento's final opera, The Dream of Valentino, set in the early days of Hollywood, premiered at the Kennedy Center in 1994.

Some of his earliest compositions were settings of poetry: e.e. cummings, Shelley, Wordsworth. But the Pulitzer Prize he was awarded in 1975, for an eight-song cycle written for English mezzo-soprano Dame Janet Baker, used some lesser-known material as its foundation: entries collected in From the Diary of Virginia Woolf to explore the emotions and thoughts of the famously troubled novelist. A look at his other song cycles illustrates the composer's enduring interest in the literary arts: The André Expedition, was based on journal entries for a failed attempt at reaching the North Pole by balloon, written for famed baritone Håken Hagegård; A Few Words about Chekhov, pulled from an essay by the playwright's wife, actress Olga Knipper; and Casa Guidi, was based in part on the letters of poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning. The recording of the latter, featuring Frederica von Stade and the Minnesota Orchestra, received the 2004 Grammy Award for Best Classical Contemporary Composition.

Argento took full advantage of Minnesota's choral tradition, working with two conductors in particular: Philip Brunelle and Dale Warland. Following the death of his wife in 2006, Argento was distraught, but Brunelle convinced the composer to write a piece in her memory. The result, Evensong: Of Love and Angels, for soloists, reader, chorus and orchestra, premiered at the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C. in 2008. He retired from composing in his late eighties, due to hearing problems. He told the Star Tribune in 2017 that he missed his work terribly: "At the age of 85," he said, "I felt I'd gotten to the point where I knew how to write."

In his book Catalogue Raisonné as Memoir: A Composer's Life, Argento likened the creative process to raising a child. "A parent inculcates ideas, develops tastes, provides guidance," he wrote, "and in effect molds the child from birth through its early years. But the child soon develops its own ideas, cultivates its own tastes, resists external guidance, and ultimately becomes its own master, often with unanticipated results. My compositions, like children, have surprised me that way."

Though he originally hoped to accept a position on the East or West Coast, American musician-composer Dominick Argento began his career in 1958 at the University of Minnesota, where he taught composition and theory. He spent the next sixty years as Minnesota's resident composer, crafting works for nearly every Minnesota performing group and gaining international acclaim.

Born in York, Pennsylvania, on October 27, 1927, to Sicilian immigrants, Dominick Argento demonstrated an early interest in music. He regularly visited his local public library and read biographies and writings of famous musicians, such as George Gershwin, Igor Stravinsky, and Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov. He taught himself music theory and analysis and began taking piano lessons at sixteen—a relatively late age for a budding young musician. He progressed rapidly, though, and hoped to become a professional pianist when he entered college several years later. Drafted into the Army in 1945, Argento served in North Africa as a cryptographer. In 1947 he entered Peabody Conservatory, in Baltimore, on the GI bill.

At Peabody Argento's harmony teacher, Nicolas Nabokov, suggested that he focus on composition rather than piano performance. Awed that Nabokov was a close friend of Stravinsky, Argento agreed and continued his studies with Nabokov. A few years later, Nabokov encouraged Argento to apply for a Fulbright grant to study in Florence, Italy. He received it in 1951.

As Argento was completing his undergraduate studies at Peabody, he needed a soprano singer to perform in his senior recital of original works. A friend told him about a talented young soprano, Carolyn Bailey, from Argento's own hometown of York. She sang his song cycle Songs about Spring, and he accompanied her on piano. Three years later, in 1954, they married, and for many years she would sing the premiere of everything he composed for soprano and advise him on vocal matters.

After earning his bachelor of music degree in 1951, Argento returned to Peabody for his master of music degree, completing it in 1954. For his PhD work, he studied at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York, and completed his degree there in 1957. Throughout his years at Peabody and Eastman and during time abroad, he studied with a prominent list of mid-twentieth-century contemporary composers, including Henry Cowell, Richard Rodgers, Alan Hovhaness, Howard Hanson, and Luigi Dallapiccola. After an academic year in Florence, this time on a Guggenheim Fellowship, Argento and Carolyn returned to the US jobless. In September of 1958, Argento received a call from the University of Minnesota; someone at Eastman had recommended him for an open music theory teaching position. He loaded his car that day and arrived in Minneapolis in the mid-afternoon on the first day of classes.

Argento moved to a metropolitan area with a vibrant arts scene. He shared in his memoir that "I used to joke that we didn't really unpack our bags those first couple of years in Minnesota, hoping and praying that a position would materialize on the East or West Coast, certain that remaining in Minneapolis would be artistic suicide for a promising young composer. Gradually that fear evaporated. In time it became clear that the community was very supportive of the arts." Argento recognized the high artistic quality of the Minneapolis Symphony (later called the Minnesota Orchestra) conducted by Antal Doráti, the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, and the Civic Orchestra of Minneapolis. The Walker Art Center hosted many modern music events and would soon help sponsor a small opera company (later the Minnesota Opera).

In 1963, Sir Tyrone Guthrie established a theater (the Guthrie Theater), and Argento composed music for early productions. Additional supporters of Argento's works included the Schubert Club, the Dale Warland Singers, the Fargo–Moorhead Symphony, Philip Brunelle's Plymouth Music Series (later VocalEssence), and many individuals. He recognized by his fourth year at the university that Minneapolis would be his home for the rest of his life. If other schools offered him positions, he resolved, he would turn them down—a resolution he kept.

Most of Argento's compositions—primarily song cycles and operas—feature the human voice. When he composed vocal works, he noted that the words must come first in his process, believing that "The very tone, texture, color and speed of the music are dependent on the text." His operas received national and international acclaim and included Postcard from Morocco (1971), The Voyage of Edgar Allan Poe (1976), Casanova's Homecoming (1984), and The Dream of Valentino (1993). Among numerous awards, he earned the Pulitzer Prize in 1975 for his song cycle From the Diary of Virginia Woolf and, in 2004, a Grammy Award for his song cycle Casa Guidi.

A longtime resident of Alexandria, he was born in 1920 in Pearl Harbor at the U.S. Naval Station, where his father had been assigned during World War I. He graduated from Kent School and the U.S. Naval Academy, where he played lacrosse and rowed crew. Diehl, with whom she shared 70 years of marriage before Austin's passing on February 20, 2005. Born August 23, 1912 in Loganville, Gladys was the daughter of the late William H. and Alice (Hovis) Sprenkel. She graduated from William Penn High School in 1930 where she was the personal editor of the year book and later served on the class reunion committee. With an ambition to be a private secretary, she went to Thompsons Business College and graduated in 1931. Immediately upon graduation she became the private secretary for Royce Kohr's General Insurance Office until 1935.

"Nana", as known to her family, met Austin when they were babies, (their colic cure came from the same bottle of medicine). They grew up together attending the same nursery and confirmation classes at church and attended the same grade and high schools. They were married June 14, 1934. Collecting antiques was their favorite hobby and they loved sharing stories about all of their treasures. God, family, and friends were very important to Gladys. At 101, she became the first "Country Meadows Angel" welcoming new residents to their new home. She cherished her beloved family and enjoyed cooking family dinners as long as she was able. She was also a member of Aldersgate United Methodist church.

Mrs. Diehl is survived by a daughter, Joann Spangler of York; two granddaughters, Krista Stambaugh and her husband, Jim of York, and Karla Gannett and her husband, Glenn of Seattle, Washington; four great-grandchildren, Erika North and her husband, Joseph of Ft. Drum, New York, Erin Ring and her husband, Kyle of West Chester, Austin Gannett and his wife, Amy of Kinston, North Carolina, and Kamille Gannett of Seattle, Washington; and a great-great-granddaughter, Alexis North. In addition to her husband and parents, Gladys was preceded in death by four brothers.

A Celebration of Life tribute service will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, January 20, 2017 at Heffner Funeral Chapel & Crematory, Inc., 1551 Kenneth Road, York, with The Reverend Dr. Dennis Hamsher of Country Meadows, officiating. Visitation will be held from 1-2 p.m. prior to the service. Burial will be private at the convenience of the family in Pleasant Hill Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, contributions can be made to Caring Hospice, Inc., 101 Good Dr., 1st Floor, Lancaster, Pennsylvania 17603. Notes for William Franklin Goodling:

"Democracy is measured not by its leaders doing extraordinary things, but by its citizens doing ordinary things extraordinarily well." - John Gardner

Bill Goodling shares educator and writer John Gardner's philosophy of governing. As a legislator, he fulfilled his pledge to put "people before politics," which his constituent service and legislative record make clear. Samuel Taylor Coleridge's words, "common sense in an uncommon degree is what the world calls wisdom," epitomize Bill Goodling's down-to-earth style. "Congressman Bill," as he will always be known, continues to put people before politics. This philosophy helped the thirteen-term Representative effectively serve the residents of Adams, Cumberland, and York Counties in south central Pennsylvania's 19th Congressional District for twenty-six years. Goodling's common-sense approach to serving in the U.S. House of Representatives came naturally.

He was born December 5, 1927, in Loganville, Pennsylvania, a small southern York County town in which his ancestors had settled nearly a century before. His childhood was marked by hard work and community service. He and his five brothers and sisters were expected to help with work on the family fruit farm as well as in the community at large. Bill worked in the family's orchards before and after school each day. The first six grades of Goodling's education were conducted in a one-room school house that is only a few miles from his current home in Seven Valleys, PA. Goodling graduated from York High School in 1945, then joined the Army and was stationed in Japan until 1948. Soon after, he began classes at the University of Maryland, and received a bachelor of science degree in 1953. He later earned his master's degree in education at Western Maryland College at the same time he taught, counseled and coached football, baseball, and basketball in the Southeastern School District in York County, PA.

After becoming principal of West York Area High School, in 1957 Bill married Hilda Wright of Shrewsbury, Pennsylvania. While continuing to pursue doctoral studies at Penn State University, Goodling found time to coach American Legion baseball, serve as School Board President of the Dallastown Area School District, and was active in the Boy Scouts of America, local health organizations, and the Loganville Methodist Church. In 1967, Goodling became Superintendent of Schools of the Spring Grove Area School District.

In 1974, Goodling was urged to seek the Republican nomination for the 19th District Congressional seat. He beat six opponents in the primary and went on to win the general election with 51 percent of the vote. From that narrow victory, Goodling went on to become one of the most popular legislators in south central Pennsylvania history. He served thirteen straight terms, the longest tenure of any 19th District representative this century. He typically captured more than 70 percent of the vote and even ran unopposed in several general elections.

Goodling served on the Committee on Education and Labor from his arrival in Congress, becoming Ranking Minority Member in 1990. After the Republican takeover in the 1994 elections, the Republican Conference elected him Chairman of the Committee. As Chairman of the renamed House Committee on Education and the Workforce, Goodling relentlessly reexamined the proper federal role in both education and in the workplace. Over the years, his philosophy has been guided by two overriding principles: empowerment of America through local decisions and development of quality solutions. Ultimately, he believes the solutions to our problems are local, so control must be local and Federal action must be limited to those things it can do effectively and efficiently. In addition to demanding more local control, while in Congress Goodling undertook a massive effort to consolidate duplicative federal programs and eliminate wasteful spending. During his tenure over 150 federal education and job training programs were consolidated, eliminated or repealed. Goodling served as a Member of the House Committee on International Relations, and the Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights. Goodling returned to the Committee in 1991 after taking time out to serve first, as a member of the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, and then the House Committee on Budget for the maximum six-year term.

Since his retirement, Goodling has taken a new role as Senior Advisor to Sagamore Associates, the Washington, DC-based, nationally respected federal affairs consulting subsidiary of the Indiana law firm of Baker & Daniels. Goodling's goal is to continue work on the issues to which he has devoted his career. At Sagamore Associates, he works with experts on national issues to enhance education at all levels, create meaningful job training opportunities, and tackle the challenges of our health care system.

Bill and Hilda Goodling have two children, Todd and Jennifer. Todd is an attorney and an architect, and Jennifer, a one-time professional tennis player, now teaches the sport. In his spare time, Congressman Goodling enjoys raising thoroughbred horses and is an active sports enthusiast. He also works to promote the efforts of the William F. Goodling Family Literacy Institute at the Pennsylvania State University and the William F. Goodling Advanced Skills Center in York, PA.

He has received Honorary Doctorate Degrees from: Shippensburg University, Gettysburg College, and York College.

William Franklin Goodling, (son of George Atlee Goodling), a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Loganville, York County, Pa., December 5, 1927; graduated from William Penn High School, York, Pa., 1945; B.S., University of Maryland, 1953; M.Ed., Western Maryland College, 1957; doctoral studies at the Pennsylvania State University, 1958-1963; held various teaching and administrative positions throughout the State of Pennsylvania; served in the United States Army, 1946-1948; elected as a Republican to the Ninety-fourth and to the twelve succeeding Congresses (January 3, 1975-January 3, 2001); chairman, Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities (One Hundred Fourth Congress); chairman, Committee on Education and the Workforce (One Hundred Fifth and One Hundred Sixth Congresses); was not a candidate for reelection to the One Hundred Seventh Congress.

Sept. 22, 2017 - When Ralph Hess was a teenager, his mother died. And his father suffered from debilitating depression. The person who helped the young Hess was Bill Goodling, an educator and coach in the South Eastern School District. Goodling showed up at Hess' home multiple times and even showed him how to cook. "If you needed him, he was there," said Hess, now 77. Hess thinks Goodling took that approach to all aspects of his life, from classrooms to Congress.

Goodling, who served 26 years as York County's Republican congressman, died Sunday. He was 89. His work in Congress often revolved around his lifelong interest in education, at all levels. Goodling succeeded his father, George, in 1975 to take his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. The Republican faced few serious opponents over the years, winning 13 consecutive terms. He retired in 2001. Born in Loganville on Dec. 5, 1927, Goodling graduated from William Penn Senior High School in York in 1945. He served two years in the U.S. Army and earned degrees from the University of Maryland and Western Maryland College. He undertook doctoral studies at Penn State. He worked in the South Eastern and West York school districts, and he was superintendent of the Spring Grove Area School District.

The year that Goodling ran for the U.S. House was a brutal one for Republicans nationwide. In August 1974, facing impeachment because of the Watergate scandal, President Richard M. Nixon resigned from office. Democrats made big gains in Congress the following November. But Goodling, running as a Republican, won election to Congress, winning with a 5,000-vote margin. Goodling owed that 1974 victory, at least in part, to the good reputation of service he and his father earned over many years, said Todd Platts, who filled that House seat in 2001, when Goodling stepped down. As a freshman in high school, Platts had volunteered for Goodling's 1976 re-election campaign. He considered Goodling a role model. Years later, when Platts was a state representative, he often saw Goodling at events such as Eagle Scout ceremonies. "He understood that ... you need to remain connected to the people you represent," Platts said. Goodling and Platts both made a point of turning down money from outside political action committees.

Seven Valleys - Former teacher, coach, guidance counselor, principal, school superintendent, horse breeder and U.S. Congressman William F. 'Bill' Goodling passed away Sunday evening September 17, 2017. Bill was born in his paternal grandparent's home and general store in the square of Loganville on December 5, 1927 and was the last born child of the Hon. George A. Goodling (1896-1982) and Annetta J. Glatfelter (1897-1954). Bill attended the two-room Loganville school house through the eighth grade and graduated from William Penn High School in 1945. After a one-year matriculation at York College, Bill enlisted in the Army and was part of the Occupation Forces in Japan. At the conclusion of his military service, Bill attended the University of Maryland graduating in 1953.

Upon graduation, Bill taught, was guidance counselor and coached sports at Kennard Dale High School while completing his Master's degree at Western Maryland College. After five years in the Kennard Dale school system, Bill became Principal of West York High School while continuing his Doctoral Studies at Penn State University. In addition, he served as President of the Dallastown Area School Board and supervised student teachers in western Pennsylvania as part of his Doctoral studies at Penn State. After ten years with the West York School District, Bill became Superintendent of Schools for the Spring Grove Area School District for seven years.

After twenty-two years in public education as a hands-on educator, Bill decided to make a career change and he ran for the U.S. 19th Congressional Seat being vacated by his father. Winning election in 1974 to the 94th United States Congress, Bill went on to serve thirteen terms (26-years), serving as Chairman of the Education and Workforce Committee for the last six years of his service in the House. He also served on the Foreign Relations Committee and Small Business Committees. Bill retired from the U.S. House of Representatives in 2001 returning to his farm in Seven Valleys, to breed thoroughbred horses, founding and chairing the Goodling Family Literacy Research Institute at Penn State University, founding and chairing the Goodling Workforce Skills Center at Penn State York, establishing the Goodling Teacher Scholarship Fund, singing in the Loganville Emmanuel United Methodist Church choir and becoming a vocal fan of the Central York High School Boys Volleyball team.

Bill could accurately be described as a classic Compassionate Conservative. He brought a unique expertise to the U.S. Congress from his career as an educator and administrator and was recognized by his congressional peers for his expertise and leadership in that area. His legislative accomplishments, particularly in the field of education were fueled by his passionate belief in the power of the public education system. Known as the 'Father of Even Start' it was the program he cared about the most and his signature legislative achievement. The Even Start Program provided federal funding to families requiring access to training and support to create a literate home environment and enhance the academic achievement of their children. The idea for the program was based on Bill's own experience in York schools where he saw the inability of kids learning to read harmed by an intergenerational weakness because their parents couldn't read and thus couldn't help their children to do so. The concept of the program was to help teach both parent and child to break that cycle of illiteracy. Bill's tireless leadership was also instrumental in improving and shepherding through passage in the House of Representatives the following significant national pieces of legislation: the Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Program Act, the Vocational Education Act, the Post-Secondary Education Act and the Adult Education Act. Bill was also a tireless champion for the School Lunch and Child Nutrition Act.

Politically, Bill was a leader known for his ability to work across the partisan divide to forge political consensus. Bill was seen as a person who would work across the aisle with both Republicans and Democrats alike and was much more interested in getting things done than in what was politically expedient. On a personal level, Bill exemplified the citizen legislator as he never preferred to be in Washington D.C. for long. Bill would get anxious to head back home to York, often making the trip back by car in the middle of the legislative work week to events back in his home district and then turning around at the crack of dawn to get back to Washington D.C. for the next day's business.

In 1957, after being introduced to the big sister of one of his Kennard Dale High School students, Bill married the former Hilda Mae Wright. Hilda was a farm girl from Hopewell Township, York County, the daughter of Margaret McGinnis Wright and James Wright. Together, Bill and Hilda, also a passionate educator, forged and navigated a fifty-year marriage partnership ending with Hilda's death in 2008. Bill is survived by his son Todd; daughter and unparalleled care-giver, Jenni; son-in-law, Christian Engdahl; big sister and big brother, Nancy J. Hershner and Richard A. Goodling. Bill was preceded in death by two beloved sisters and a brother, Isabel D. Goodling, Patti L. Levis and Robert M. Goodling.

A memorial service, open to the public, honoring the life and public service of Bill Goodling will be held on Friday September 29 at 7 p.m. at the Codorus Church of the Brethren. The church is located at 1129 Dunkard Valley Road Dallastown, PA 17313. A brief social will be held in the church's Fellowship Hall following the memorial service. Notes for Clair Alvin Thomas, Sr.:

Clair Alvin Thomas 1898-1960

My father told me the funniest of stories, and the more you think about it the funnier it can get and you can just add to it and just laugh nonstop.....

Clair as a young boy would go with his family to his grandmother's farm for a visit. My dad told me he was very young and this one time while visiting up at the farm as a young boy this is what happened.

It was very early in the morning and no one was up to take dad out to the outhouse and my dad had to use the bathroom, well this is (was) an old farm house, there was no modern facilities,... apparently if you had to go before day break or the start of the day, there was a bucket or pot for you to use.

Now because this was an old farm house, there used to be holes in the up stair room floor boards, to let the heat rise from downstairs and heat up the upstairs rooms. Apparently the room my dad was in was over the kitchen and Grandma would be up early to cook breakfast.

Now my dad was very young, and apparently forgot about the bucket to use if he had to go.... well dad had to go alright but he saw this hole and thought what a better place to go in..... and so dad weeded down the hole where it just so happened the kitchen was.

Now when dad told me this story, all I could think of was grandma cooking breakfast and it starting to rain (so to speak) on her parade. When I asked dad if Grandma was cooking or in the kitchen at the time, he said he couldn't remember, so like I said the more you think about this the funnier it can get.

Marriage Notes for Sylvia Bortner and Pomeroy Nichols:

The First Avenue Methodist church, St. Petersburg, Florida, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Sylvia Alicia Bortner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rayman W. Bortner, and Dr. Pomeroy Nichols, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy Nichols of Wilmington. The wedding took place Saturday afternoon, July 5, 1947. Dr. O. B. Cole officiated at the ceremony, performed before a altar banked with palms, candelabra and white flowers. The aisle cloth was of white and pews were marked with white ribbons and flowers. A musical prelude to the wedding ceremony, given by Richard Lehmann, organist and Mrs. Walter Hoppe, harpist, included "Because" "I Love You Truly," and "Leibestraum." Mrs. Hoppe played "Clair de Lune" on muted harp during the ceremony and traditional wedding marches were played by Mr. Lehmann.

The bride given in marriage by her uncle, Robert L. Hope, wore the wedding gown of her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Wade Hampton Gray of Baltimore. Of heavy ivory satin, it was fashioned with basque waist, sweetheart neckline and yoke of ruffled Alençon lace. The gown closed down the back with a row of tiny covered buttons and leg-o-mutton sleeves ended in points over the wrists. Her full skirt ended in a train of heavy lace and a long veil of net trimmed with lace had a large heart at the end of the train. The veil was held in place with a beaded crown in heart design. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white roses, lilies of the valley and small spray orchids, centered with white orchids and showered with sweetheart roses. Maid-of-honor, Miss Irma Jane Martin of Baltimore, classmate of the bride at the University of Maryland, was gowned in powder blue tissue taffeta. Her dress was styled with a V-neckline, with small rolled collar and tiny covered buttons closing the blouse. She wore matching mitts, which came to points over the wrist and carried bouquet of blue tinted gardenias. Miss Catherine M. Dailey, also of Baltimore, was Miss Bortner's bridesmaid. She wore a canary yellow dress of tissue taffeta, fashioned similarly to that of Miss Martin and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses. Earl Cranston Williams, Jr., cousin of the bride, served as best man and ushers were Robert L. Hope, Jr., Charles Y. Lane and John M. Fielding. Mrs. Robert Linwood Hope, aunt of the bride, wore a printed silk of salmon pink with black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids. Mrs. Nichols, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in white crepe. She wore white accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the green room of the Yacht club. The bride's table, covered with a cutwork cloth, was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a bell, and was lighted with antique silver candelabra. Out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Hooper, Dr. J. Barefoot, Dr. Joseph W. Hooper, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy Nichols Wilmington and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cranston Williams, Jr., College Park, Maryland. After a wedding trip in North Carolina, the couple will reside in Wilmington until Dr. Nichols enters the army this summer.

Notes for Raymond Steiger Trayer:

Raymond Trayer died peacefully at Hospice of Lancaster County in Mt. Joy on January 25, 2012, a month after his 95th birthday when he told stories and enjoyed cake and ice cream. Born in Harrisburg to the late Clarence and Myrtle SteigerTrayer of Mercersburg, Ray went to the Fourth Reformed Church and was an Eagle Scout. His two older brothers Leroy and Wilbur died in 1988 and 1996. Ray, a Quaker since 1946, was a member of the Lancaster Society of Friends. He graduated Phi Beta Kappa from F&M in 1940 and married Dorothy Coldren of Lancaster on June 21, 1941. During World War II, Ray, a conscientious objector, served in a NH mental hospital and at CPS camps in NY, NC and IA. Afterwards, he and Dottie were houseparents at the Milton Hershey School. Both were at Pendle Hill several times, he as gardener and Dottie as secretary to Anna Brinton.

From 1946-51, at Black Mountain College in North Carolina, Ray taught and managed the college farm. In 1951 he took over farm operations for Earlham College and was a faculty member. He developed a herringbone milking system for Chore Boy. Ray and Dottie and their five children moved to Hershey in 1960 where Ray was account supervisor and manager for the PA Farmers Assoc. until he retired in 1978. In 1971 a rare disease ended his 30-year marriage to Dottie.

Ray and a friend of Dottie's, Lorie Matter of Manheim, met and married in 1972. They led a European farm tour in 1979 and enjoyed reading, traveling, and attending Elder Hostels. In 1994 they moved to Homestead Village. Ray volunteered at Landis Valley Museum and Meals on Wheels. His passion for farming never waned and he drove to the family farm near Hershey to help out well into his 90s. After 31 years of marriage, Lorie died in 2004.

In time, he and longtime friend Berta Hardy became loving companions until her death. Despite losses that weighed heavily on him, he was an inspiration to all who knew him—living independently until a fall the end of October led to a series of complications. Known for his daily bike rides, his mind was active; his memory and game-playing skills sharp. He loved concerts, sudoku, Phillies games and a daily dish of ice cream. A lifelong pacifist, most Saturdays since 2003 found him standing in a silent peace vigil on the Lancaster courthouse steps.

Ray is survived by his five children, Susan Kummer, John (Alex), Timothy and Charles Trayer, and Deborah Perry, Lorie's children – Catherine Gumlock and John Matter—and their families. His 14 grand-children and 6 great grand-children gave him much joy.

A memorial service will be held at 11 am March 31 at Lancaster Friends Meeting (110 Tulane Terrace behind Wheatland Shopping Center). In lieu of flowers, contributions in Ray's memory may be made to: the Quaker Heritage and Peace Resource Centers at Wilmington College

Marriage Notes for Rosella Smith and Lawrence Hare:

Dec. 16, 1921 - When Miss Rosella Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, of Springfield township, and Lawrence Hare, of Tolna, were married at Glen Rock recently, they turned the joke on a gang, who wanted to play it on them according to the following: As is customary when a wedding takes place, a large crowd of people gathered in front of the Zion's Lutheran parsonage, at Glen Rock, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. L.F.M. Myers, pastor of the Glen Rock-Hamestown Lutheran charge, to do first honors to the bride and groom such as tie tin cans on the auto which contained the wedding party and also give them a shower of rice. The gang was fooled in both as the young couple went into the parsonage the back way and came out the same way and made their escape before the gang could get to them. That they were disappointed is stating it mildly.

Jacobus - Milton Ronald Kibler was surrounded by his family when he was called home to Jesus on August 24th, 2020. Milton was the beloved husband of Donna Maye (Stine) Kibler for 63 beautiful years. Milton, known fondly to those who loved him as Milt or "Big", was born on March 27th, 1937 and was the son of the late Milton B. and Ellen V. (Fleming) Kibler.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by his three children, Vickie J. Kibler of Jacobus, Milton Todd Kibler and wife Wendy (Miller) of California, Maryland, and Brian C. Milton started working for Hardings at the age of 15 and continued for 48 years, retiring at the age of 64 as layout foreman. Milton was an avid fisherman and hunter, who would share that passion with friends and family as often as possible. As a teenager he played football, basketball and baseball; then in his later years rooted on his favorite teams as he watched them on television. He loved the old west and enjoyed watching anything that depicted the old west on television as well. Milton had many friends in his community. Those who knew him loved and respected his compassion, his kindness and his experience. He enjoyed traveling with his wife across the country, or too far off places, as well as family vacations. He enjoyed spending time outside watching the birds or doing yardwork. Most of all however, Milton loved his wife and family. Any opportunity to talk to, spend time with, or lovingly tease his family was what mattered most to him. His smile and laughter was contagious and our world shines less brightly in his absence.

There will be a private burial on Friday, August 28th with a celebration of life for friends in the community announced at a later date. Notes for Wade Michael Winemiller:

Nov 6, 2019 – Pottsville, Pennsylvania – Two York County men accused of attacking a game warden and taking his gun in Schuylkill County last year have been acquitted of the most serious charges. Wade Winemiller, 58, of Wrightsville, and Thomas Kelly Jr., 58, of Stewartstown, were recently found not guilty of felony aggravated assault and disarming a law enforcement officer. They were convicted of lesser charges including resisting arrest, harassment and disorderly conduct, according to court records.

Police said the game warden was investigating a complaint of a hunting violation in Norwegian Township on Dec. 1 when he encountered the two men on ATVs. A fight broke out between the three and the game warden was disarmed after firing a round from his service weapon. Winemiller and Kelly then fled on their ATVs. Police said the pair was not dressed in hunting clothes. The game warden was treated at a hospital for injuries he sustained in the fight.

Dec 17, 2019 - One of two men — Wade Michael Winemiller, 58, of Wrightsville — accused of attacking a Pennsylvania deputy game warden and taking his gun was sentenced to serve two to 23 months in Schuylkill County Prison in a ruling by President Judge William E. Baldwin Monday. Winemiller and Thomas Earl Kelly Jr., 58, of Shiremanstown had been charged with aggravated assault, simple assault, robbery/theft, criminal conspiracy, disarming a law enforcement officer, harassment and disorderly conduct. The sentencing for Kelly has been continued, with no date yet set.

The encounter between the three men occurred at 9:20 a.m. Dec. 1, 2018, which was the first Saturday of the state's two-week firearm season for white-tailed deer. The co-op area is called The Grand property, located near Arnots Addition and Peach Mountain Road. Game Commission "co-op" properties are privately owned tracts turned over to game commission management by the landowner. All-terrain vehicle riding is prohibited on co-op properties. Winemiller and Kelly were riding ATVs and had entered the co-op lands via a path when they encountered Fidler. The co-op land is posted with the prohibition against ATV riding.

According to Fidler's testimony, when he stepped into the path, the two men ignored his shouted orders to stop and dismount from their ATVs. In a statement made to Pennsylvania State Police after the encounter, Winemiller said that Fidler was the aggressor, spraying them with pepper spray "as soon as they came around the corner." The robbery charge was dismissed at the magistrate level.

After a trial in October, both Winemiller and Kelly were acquitted of the most serious charges — but convicted of simple assault, resisting arrest and harassment. Baldwin sentenced Winemiller to two to 23 months for simple assault and two to 23 months on resisting arrest, to run concurrently. The harassment charge merges with the simple assault charge. The standard sentencing guideline on the assault and resisting arrest charges is one month to 12 months, but First Assistant District Attorney Mike Stine asked Baldwin to sentence Winemiller under the guidelines for aggravated assault, despite the jury's findings. Stine referred to a victim impact statement from deputy warden David P. Fidler, stating that the incident "had a lasting impact, he continues to suffer, and really did think he was going to be killed."

Winemiller's attorney, Jeff Markosky, asked for a probation sentence, pointing out that Winemiller has no prior record and the incident was "the only time he's been in trouble his entire life." He added that he didn't think using the aggravated assault range guideline was appropriate. Prior to sentencing, three people who have each known Winemiller for more than 30 years testified on his behalf, describing him as a "laid-back" and "easygoing" man who was not a violent person. He often helped others, and his main hobbies are riding motorcycles, dirt bikes and ATVs, they said. Winemiller also spoke, asking for leniency in sentencing.

"I want to apologize for what happened on the mountain, it happened so quick," he said. "It's the first time I ever had anything like this happen — I have a home and a very good job that I'd like to keep, and I'll make restitution for whatever is needed." Baldwin replied that "if you and Mr. Kelly had just stopped, you would have paid a fine." He added that he would apply the aggravated range, because the victim experienced significant injury mentally and physically. After the ruling, Stine said he felt the sentence was appropriate, "given the fact that this (deputy game warden) is a difficult job, and they are often working in isolated areas."

Dot's family included many nephews, nieces, and friends, who just loved "Aunt Dot", Sonny and Dot were married for 47 years. They made their home in Marietta, where Dot worked at Wyeth Labs. She gave up her job to care for her sister, a cancer patient 24 hours a day and then took care of her 94-year-old father-in-law until her turned 100.

Dot and Sonny moved to Mount Joy and retired on Ivy Drive and were always helping others. Making countless trips to visit nursing homes, baking pecan pies for the Marietta Historical Society, and helping the Zion UCC with the sauerkraut dinners were just a few of her favorite activities. She was always busy! That was Aunt Dot. After Sonny passed, Dot moved to Longwood Manor where she spent four great years. She was active in all of the programs at Longwood and she spent countless hours with her cats, Maggie and Muffin. She married George Edgar Feigley 10 May 1958. He was born 23 Jun 1940, and died 13 Apr 2009 in Harrisburg, Dauphin Co, Pennsylvania.

Notes for George Edgar Feigley:

George Feigley was born on June 23, 1940 and passed away on Monday, April 13, 2009. George was a resident of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania; was an American church leader. He has been described as a sex cult leader. Feigley served over 32 years in prison for sex crimes against children, from 1975 to 2008. In 1971, Feigley founded an organization he called the Neo American Church (not be confused with the more notable and unrelated Neo-American Church, a psychedelic religion founded by Arthur Kleps in the mid-1960s) and the associated Neo American School. The church and school were located in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. We hold that the changes called creation and procreation are divine and that human sexuality is to humans the most available expression of that function of divinity... Sexual activity is the greatest act a human can do.

Church doctrine emphasized the transcendent or mystical power of orgasm. According to police reports, it also advocated the use of children for sexual gratification. While leading the cult, Feigley authored several publications under the pseudonym G.G. Stoctay. These included a book entitled The Sale of Lillian, which described the sexual abuse of a 10-year-old girl, and contained graphic illustrations of such abuse.

The charismatic Feigley, who called himself "The Light of the World", gathered a small group of followers, mostly women, into his church. As of 1983, the group, which at one point had numbered over twenty persons, included about ten adults, one or two of whom were men (five children of group members were then living in foster homes where they had been placed by the state).

Feigley led the church in freedom for only about five years, as he was arrested in 1975 on multiple counts of statutory rape, indecent assault, and corrupting the morals of minors. He was found guilty of statutory rape of two teenage girls and was sentenced to 10 years to 20 years in prison. His wife was found guilty of corrupting the morals of minors. I require total devotion to my desires. You may not have a will nor desire of your own which do not project my wishes. I expect this complete commitment from my wives, my concubines and my children... Make yourselves my delight... May my peace abide with you. - George Feigley, Letter from prison: Notwithstanding his imprisonment, some of Feigley's followers remained loyal, roaming to follow him as he was moved from prison to prison or when he was a fugitive.

In 1976, Feigley scaled a prison wall at SCI- Rockview and fled to West Virginia. While he was on the lam he hid at a farm near Thornton, West Virginia, which he and his followers referred to as the "Aaron Farm". He was apprehended in 1978, but escaped from the Taylor County Jail in Grafton less than a month later while awaiting extradition back to Pennsylvania. He was assisted in this escape by fellow prisoner James Lee Gilbert, who joined the cult after engineering the escape. After his second escape he was free for two months before he was recaptured, hiding on another farm near Sneedville, Tennessee. In 1981, plans for Feigley to escape from SCI- Graterford by helicopter were uncovered. In response Feigley was transferred to Western Penitentiary.

His women followers visited him regularly at the State Correctional Institution at Huntingdon, Pennsylvania. The organization continued to operate; a 1983 raid on Feigley's home found young children playing with sex toys and boxes of child pornography. Feigley's wife and others pleaded guilty to corruption of minors and were sentenced to prison. In 1983, James Lee Gilbert and another of Feigley's followers, Laura Seligman, died in circumstances that led authorities to believe they were intending to break Feigley out of prison. (They drowned in a sewer line close to Western Penitentiary where Feigley was then held.)

In 1994, while still in prison, Feigley was convicted of instructing his wife and another man over a prison phone to rape a 14-year-old girl. Feigley was found guilty of conspiracy to commit involuntary deviate sexual intercourse and sentenced. Because of problems with the search warrants, Feigley's wife and the girl's mother were able to plead guilty and receive probation.

In 1996, while imprisoned, Feigley co-founded the prisoners' advocacy website and nonprofit organization prisoners.com, along with his wife Sandra. He contributed to the website to the extent possible while he was in prison. The organization was purported to be "the voice of the imprisoned" and criticized the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections for alleged abuses. It also provided information useful to prisoners and their loved ones. The website also featured biographies of and works of art by prisoners, and health essays by Feigley under the pseudonym "Professor Stoctay". However, in addition to this advocacy for prisoners, the site was also used to publish some of Feigley's rationalizations for his crimes. As of April 2019, the website is defunct.

Feigley became eligible for parole in 1990, but parole was denied then and at each subsequent annual review. Having served the full time for all his convictions, Feigley was released from prison on August 15, 2008, to some consternation. His convictions were not covered under Pennsylvania's Megan's Laws (his 1976 conviction preceded Megan's Law, and conspiracy to commit involuntary deviate sexual intercourse — his 1994 charge — isn't covered under the law), so he was not required to register as a sex offender, nor was he on parole as he had served his sentences in full. His return home was met with a crowd of protestors. A neighbor circulated a petition to prevent Feigley's return to his home. Feigley, who left prison in poor health, died on April 13, 2009.
