Notes for Ernest Eugene Talmon-l'armee:

Louisville, Feb. 11, 1997 – When Jean and Eugene Larmee were married, they didn't agonize over making a commitment. Couples didn't do that then; commitment came with the territory. Sixty years later they'll still exchanging valentines. Their secret wouldn't take up much space on a Hallmark card, but it's got some poetry to it. "Everybody was poor back then," said Eugene Larmee, 82, "but we didn't know it. We just stuck it out." They grew up in Stearns, Kentucky, a coal-company town near the Tennessee border. "Stearns was a fancy town back then, with a lot of elegant things," Jean Larmee, 79, said. "There wasn't enough flat ground around there to play a game of marbles," Eugene Larmee said.

They met in school and began dating when she was 14 and he was 17. Neither can remember a proposal; they dated so long their marriage was always somewhere between expected and a foregone conclusion. The wedding was in September 1936 in her house. He was making 18 cents an hour at the time and got a raise to 30 cents an hour. They honeymooned at Lake Cumberland, where he won 40 cents on the slot machines. "Money," he said, "what was money?". For all that, he had managed to save $400 from his regular job and from cutting firewood and hauling water. They paid about $120 for a solid-maple bedroom suite: bed, dresser and chair. They lived in a company-owned house, paying $11 a month. Their water, pumped from the company-owned water company, was $1 a month. They paid $1.50 a month for doctor's care and medical insurance. Eugene Larmee worked on the big steam engines on the company-owned railroad. "I stayed home, kept the house and read a lot," Jean Larmee said. The Stearns company would pay in cash but always held back two weeks' pay. Employees who needed food or clothing in that period could take scrip company-issued paper money good only in company-owned stores. In 1952, with Stearns beginning to fall on hard times, the Larmee's moved to Louisville. He found work at Cochran Foil Co., later owned by Anaconda, then ARCO. They bought a small, solid, brick home in South Louisville for $13,000, a small fortune at the time. He worked six days a week as a die maker, for $2 an hour. She stayed home to care for their two sons.

He retired in 1980, began devoting time to fishing, golf and woodcrafts. Wonderful wooden spinning wheels, tops, whistles, candleholders, picture frames, mantel clocks, cradles and carved ducks poured from his workshop. He gives most away, some through church to Bosnian refugees. In the early spring he starts plants in his basement; in the summer he fusses over a fine vegetable garden. She turns out dozens of lovely quilts for family and friends. Her secret to lasting 60 years together? "He stayed out in the garage a lot," she said, laughing. Their life story is plain and simple, yet remarkable. They appreciated what they had, never asked for much, stuck it out. They still use the maple bedroom suite they bought in 1936. It's covered by a thick quilt she made for him somewhere along the way.

Beverly Ryan Larmee, 71, of Simpsonville, Kentucky, passed away October 9, 2018, at Baptist Health Louisville, following a lengthy illness. She was born on November 13, 1946, in Ashland, Kentucky, to the late James Joseph Ryan and Carolyn Craven Ryan. She is survived by her loving husband of nearly 50 years, Raymond Louis Larmee, her two daughters, Meghan Rae Larmee (John) Hall and Margaret Kendall Larmee, and her granddaughter, Victoria Rae ("Tori") Hall.

Bev graduated from Holy Family High School, attended Ashland Community College and the University of Kentucky, where she met the love of her life. Together Bev and Ray personally renovated homes in Louisville and Middletown before settling on historic property in Shelby County. Bev directed every aspect of renovating their historic home, and spearheaded the effort to have her homestead recognized and listed on the National Register of Historic Places. In her career as a secretary, Bev worked at the University of Kentucky College of Law and the University of Louisville. Always supportive of her husband's career and sharing his entrepreneurial spirit, in 1982 Bev co-founded Larmee Equipment & Supply Company, working diligently both on site and behind the scenes to ensure the success of the business. Bev loved to travel, both within the United States and abroad. Extremely proud of her Irish heritage, she especially loved visiting Ireland, and had a special fondness for Italy as well. An avid gardener, excellent cook and supremely gracious hostess, Bev welcomed everyone with joy and a smile. She was a passionate University of Kentucky sports fan, faithfully attending every UK home football game from the very opening of Commonwealth Stadium, where tailgating friends became part of her family. She was proud to be a University of Kentucky Fellow.

Above all, Bev was a devoted wife and mother who supported her husband and daughters in all their endeavors, always putting the needs of her family above her own. Bev was the backbone of her extended family, the one who cared for aging parents, remembered every birthday and hosted every gathering. She will be sorely missed by her family and friends.

Additional survivors include her brother, James Joseph (Patsy) Ryan of Ashland, her sister, Catherine Ryan (Kenneth) Meng of Lexington, and many beloved nieces, nephews and cousins, as well as her devoted canine companions Daisy, Millie and Lila.
