Notes for Johann Georg Mast:

Past and Present of Washtenaw County, Michigan by Samuel W. Beakes, Chicago: The S.J. Clarke Publishing Co., 1906:

George Mast. The writer knows of no calling that has been dignified and graced in modern poetry more than that which is practical life is generally most prosaic. Longfellow and Schiller especially have thrown a veil of romance and heroism about the towering form of the blacksmith, that while it stands out in all its muscular strength, is lent an awe-inspiring majesty. He whose name is above has been connected for many years with this calling, and is now retired from active labor, residing in Chelsea. He was born in Wurtemberg, Germany, December 19, 1830, and is a son of John and Margaret (Mast) Mast, natives of the same place in which their son was born. Our subject's father was a farmer by calling, and by prudent, provident ways they amassed a competency, and were exempt from the hardships of labor in their later years.

Our subject's parents passed away in the Fatherland. They were devoted members of the Lutheran Church, and were people whose purity of morals and simplicity of life made a pleasing example for their son. They had a family of six children, only two of whom came to America, they being George, and his sister, Pauline, now Mrs. Ottmer, of Jackson. Our subject's career has been closely connected with life in America, the greater part of his manhood years being here spent.

George Mast received the educational advantages for which the Fatherland is so noted among nations. He lived at home until nineteen years of age, and then crossed the ocean for America, landing in New York City, and thence proceeding to Detroit, where after a stay of a few days he left for Ann Arbor, and thence moved to Dexter, where he engaged in the blacksmiths' trade with Asa Bailey, and worked with him for one and a half years, when he came to Chelsea and finished his trade with Newton Robinson, with whom he worked for about four years, when his health failed him and he gave up his business and removed to Jackson, remaining there two years. Our subject came to Chelsea in 1850. After this rest and the recuperation of his health, Mr. Mast went to work at Freedom, this county, remaining there for two years, and then located in Dexter, where he worked for three years, after which he returned to Chelsea, first working alone at his trade, and later entering into partnership with his former employers, Balcher and Philip Christner. Later Philip sold out and some years later our subject bought Balcher's interest in the shop, and carried on the business from 1868 until he was burnt out in 1888, when he retired from active business.

The original of our sketch is the owner of some fine village property. He first rented a dwelling on Main Street, and then bought a house on Middle Street. Later he built the fine dwelling wherein he now lives, erecting it in 1880, at a cost of $1,600, which does not include the value of the lot. In 1864 our subject was married to Miss Louisa Artz, of Germany, the daughter of John Artz. Three children have come to these parents; they are Lizzie, Minnie and George.

Mr. Mast affiliates with the Democratic Party, believing in the power of that body to legislate for the masses. He belongs to the German Labor party, and he with his family are members of the Lutheran Church, of which he is Secretary. Our subject is a self-made man, and is one who is respected by all, having attained a high position in the regard of all classes of people in Chelsea.

Notes for Charles Edward Oehmke, Jr.:

Former Kalamazoo Township Police Officer dies in Tucson, Arizona. Charles Richard ("Dick", "Charlie", "Chuck", "Hunkers") Oehmke was born on April 14, 1947 in Kalamazoo, Michigan, the son of Charles Edward Oehmke Jr. and Barbara Jane (Mast) Oehmke. Chuck passed away suddenly and unexpectedly in a hospital in Tucson, Arizona, on January 4, 2004 after having had a stroke, followed by a brief, but taxing illness. Dick grew up on Bronx Avenue on the eastside of Kalamazoo, and attended Kalamazoo Public Schools, graduating from Kalamazoo Central High School in 1965. He was a Vietnam-era veteran in the U.S. Naval Reserve from 1965-1973, and served his active duty as a Radar man aboard the USS Shangri La (CVA-38). He served in the Suez Canal Crisis, and left the Naval Reserve in 1973 at the rank of OS-1 (E-6). He later graduated from Kalamazoo Valley Community College with a degree in Law Enforcement and pursued Criminal Justice studies while attending Michigan State University, Northwestern University, and Nazareth College. He dedicated his entire career to law enforcement, starting as a Kalamazoo County Police Reserve Officer in February of 1971, and then attending the Kalamazoo Valley Law Enforcement Police Academy, and following graduation, he went to work for the Kalamazoo Township Police Department. He held the rank of Sergeant with that department when he departed in 1981 for Tucson, Arizona under a lateral transfer program. In Tucson, he became a police officer with the City of Tucson Police Department, where he had many assignments during his career. "Charlie" as his fellow officers called him there, worked as a patrol officer, a detective in the Aggravated Assault and Homicide Units, and a pilot in the Tucson Police Air Support Unit. His last assignment was as a Detective assigned as the Criminal Forensics Computer Expert for the Department, a position that he held at the time of his death. He was recognized nationally in his field, and worked with and assisted many other national and state police organizations in computer forensics. He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Police Tucson Lodge #1, the Airplane Owner's and Pilots Assn (AOPA), American Legion, VFW, and many national and international professional police organizations.
