She married Michael Kunkel Aft. 1804 in Fawn Twp, York Co, Pennsylvania, son of Johann Kunkel and Elisabeth Klinefelter. He was born 12 Feb 1784 in Springfield, York Co, Pennsylvania, and died 07 Aug 1846 in Jackson Twp, Crawford Co, Ohio.

Notes for Michael Kunkel:

The Birth and Baptismal Records of Shuster's Union Church indicate that the sponsors of Michael were his aunt and uncle, Michael and Justina Kunkel. The 1810 Census Index lists a Michael Kunkle living in Hopewell Township of York County. It shows both he and his wife's age as between 26 and 45, and two sons under the age of ten. This would indicate that he and Elizabeth had two sons in addition to Henry, who was not born until 1814. (M252, roll 57, p.170).

York County Deed Book 3B, page 435 shows that on 28 February 1817, Michael Kunkle of Hopewell Township and his wife Katharine sold to Peter Sentz for $3,000 a tract of 167 acres and 94 perches in Hopewell Township. It was the same tract purchased 24 March 1810 from Conrad Miller. Deed Book 3F, page 146, shows that on 6 April 1821, Michael Kunkel of Shrewsbury Township and wife Catharine granted to Peter Ehrman in trust for the grantor's minor issue Michael, Elizabeth and Samuel: (a) 10 acres 32 perches, (b) 10 acres 73 perches and (c) 1 acre 5 perches, all in York Township, sold to Michael and Catharine on 16 February 1821 by the estate of Michael Riley.

Michael Kunkle moved to Richland County, Ohio, in about 1825; perhaps earlier as he is not listed in the 1820 Pennsylvania Census Index. There he purchased a tract of unimproved land and through his efforts and well directed energies the same was soon transformed into a splendid piece of real estate.

A York County, Pennsylvania deed (Deed Book 3K, page 154) notes that Michael Kunkel of Richland County, Ohio, legatee of Henry Kunkel, executed a release to the decedent's executors. Later, on 22 October 1832 (Deed Book 3N, page 105), Michael Kunkle of Richland County, Ohio, executed a power of attorney to George Heise to collect sums due from the estate of Michael Klinefelter.

His death occurred in Crawford County in 1846, when he was past 70 years of age. His personal property was valued at $97.47 by an inventory performed on December 30, 1846. His most valuable possession was "one black mare" inventoried at $35. Next were a cow and a bureau at $6 each. A gaggle of geese was itemized at ten cents each. His estate was recorded and filed on June 22, 1847 and listed him as late of Jackson Township, Crawford County, Ohio. Grain and meat valued at $60.32 was let off for the support of Cathrine Kunkle, his widow, and Polly Dianah and Rebeca, his minor children.

Michael and Cathrine Kunkle were active members of the Lutheran Church and their lives were ever in harmony with the faith which they thus professed. Although the place of his burial has yet to be found, since his will listed him as from Jackson Township, it would appear that he must have been interred somewhere in that area. Jackson Township, Crawford County, borders Richland County. Thus the cemetery may be somewhere in the vicinity of Crestline, Ohio.

Notes for Charlotte R. Smith:
August 7, 1916 - Rebelling against his cruelty, Mrs. Charles C. Diehl, 527 South Mackenzie Street, on Saturday evening August 5, 1916 about 8 o'clock, stabbed her husband in the shoulder with a butcher knife, after a domestic quarrel in which he had choked her until her neck was black and blue. The knife, which had been picked up from a sink bench, severed the pneumo-gastric nerve and a number of superficial arteries. Death resulted almost instantly. Dr. H. D. Baird was summoned, but upon his arrival Diehl was beyond human aid.

After learning the facts from Mrs. Diehl, he notified Coroner Plus Jones, who in turn informed Night Sergeant of Police Nathan D. Engle that a murder had been committed, Mrs. Diehl was taken into custody by Roundsman Wilton Billet and Motorcycle Officer Carson Linebaugh ad is now in Jail awaiting' a hearing before Mayor E. S. Hugetugler on a charge of murder. Diehl was about 45 years old and his wife is 36. District Attorney Harvey Gross, who had been in Harrisburg since Saturday, returned home last evening and is co-operating with the police in the Investigation.

At the inquest held yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in his office, 124 North Duke Street, by the coroner, Dr. Pius Jones, the jury rendered a verdict that Diehl "came to his death by a wound inflicted by his wife with a butcher knife and was due to a family quarrel." At the direction of the district attorney who had been telegraphed to Saturday night his office was represented at the inquest by the assistant district attorney, J. Thurman Atkins, the stenographer, Nelson Miller, and Detective Charles S. White. That Diehl had threatened to kill his wife when he made the attack upon her was one of the points favorable to the woman brought out at the inquest.

The jury, which had been empaneled from the group of spectators who had assembled in the vicinity of the Diehl home after the new of the murder had spread, was composed of the following: A. G. Ferguson, 125 East South Street; John E. Foller, 417 South Duke Street; Peter B. Allwine,547 Mackenzie Street; Daniel F. Spies, 416 South Queen Street; Charles Heffner, 517 Mackenzie Street, and E. M. Amsbaugh, 615 Mackenzie Street.
The jury viewed the body of the dead man at the home Saturday night. It was later removed to the undertaking establishment of C. A. Strack's Sons. George and Princess streets, where an autopsy was conducted by the coroner and Dr. Baird. which revealed that the pneumo-gastric nerve and a number of superficial arteries had been severed.

August 7, 1916 - According to Mr. Diehl's story told to the police and at the inquest she and her husband were alone in the house at the time of the quarrel. The daughter, Helen. 12 years old, at her father's desire, had been sent to a picture show. Diehl, who is a pipe fitter at the York Manufacturing Company, had the afternoon off and had been drinking most of the time. He had gone a number of times for beer and Mrs. Diehl took him to task for spending his money for drink. Diehl, who became angered at her remarks, accused her of intimacy with other men, a charge which he is said to have frequently made while intoxicated, although having no foundation in fact. Diehl was sitting on a chair near the table, and suddenly without warning jumped up and seized his wife and threw her to the floor. Then choking her with both hands. Mrs. Diehl declares, he exclaimed, "I am going to kill you." She managed to break away from her husband and regain her feet. Diehl. however, again seized her and as he did so she picked up the butcher knife which lay upon the sink bench and plunged It into his left shoulder. As she withdrew the blade, Diehl fell to the floor and at the fight of the blood and his motionless form It suddenly dawned upon her that she may have killed him. Locking the kitchen door, she ran to the home of l.er sister, Mrs. U. K. Hildebrand, 514 South Queen Street, and told her what had occurred.

Mrs. Hildebrand dispatched a boy for Dr. Baird and then the two women returned to the Diehl home and awaited his arrival. When the doctor arrived, he found that he could be of no service and that Diehl had died almost instantly. He notified Coroner Jones, who in turn informed the police.
Upon receiving the message Night Sergeant Engle dispatched Roundsman Billet and Motorcycle Officer Linebaugh to make an Investigation. To the officers she frankly admitted the responsibility for the deed. In response to the inquiry of Roundsman Billet she said: "I did it, but God knows I did not mean to kill him. You know how this man has abused me and how I have shielded him on account of our daughter."

The woman was taken to police headquarters and there repeated the story of the tragedy in the presence of Mayor E. S. Hugentugler, his clerk, Grove Enders. Night Sergeant Engle, Roundsman Billet and Motorcycle Officer Linebaugh. At the direction of the mayor an information was then made before him by Roundsman Billet charging Mrs. Diehl with murder. Motorcycle Officer Linebaugh read the warrant to her after which she was committed to jail for a hearing.

At the jail she requested the roundsman to have her sister, Mrs. Hildebrand, take care of her daughter. The knife with which the murder was committed is about 14 inches long. The wound inflicted was about an inch deep and an inch and one-half long. The knife was turned over to the police ad is now in their possession.

Diehl did not have a good reputation among his neighbors who frequently complained to the police of his abuse of his wife. The neighbors on both sides of the Diehl residence were away from home Saturday and were, therefore, not witnesses of the tragedy. The police have had frequent complaints of his conduct and he has been arrested twice. The first arrest was Nov, 14, 1915, when he was arrested by Roundsman Billet upon complaint of his brother, whom he called upon while drunk after midnight and got him out of bed. He was committed to Jail for 30 days, but was later released upon the payment of the fine. On Feb. 27, 1916, he was arrested by House Officer Gerber for drunkenness and abusing his wife. The wife on that occasion defended herself by hitting him over the head with a poker. He was committed to jail for 15 days in default of the payment of a fine of $15. He was released on March 12 upon the payment of the fine. Upon numerous other occasions the police were called upon, but at the request of Mrs. Diehl her husband was not arrested.

Diehl leaves besides the widow and the daughter, the following brothers: Milton Diehl, Felton; Edward B. Diehl, 37 North Hartley Street; Daniel J. Diehl, 712 Prospect Street; Clarence Diehl, Chicago, and Webster Diehl, King City, Missouri.

The body of the murdered man at the direction of the relatives was prepared for burial by C. A. Strack's Sons and the funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from their funeral parlors. George and Princess Streets.

August 10, 1916 - The release on bail for the next quarter sessions court of Mrs. Charles C. Diehl, 527 Mackenzie Street, the woman who, last Saturday evening August 5, 1916, stabbed and killed her husband by plunging a butcher knife into his shoulder after he had choked her and threatened her life will be asked today. At the close of the hearing held late yesterday afternoon before Mayor R. S. Hugentugler Mrs. Diehl was held for the next quarter sessions court, which will be held in two weeks, on a charge of murder. District Attorney Harvey Gross slated that although murder Is ordinarily not a bailable offense, by agreement court can fix the bail and he signified his willingness to go with the mayor and Mrs. Dieht's attorney. K. W. Altland, before the court this morning and arrange for her release from Jail on hall.

Attorney Altland wanted the mayor to discharge the case of murder, declaring no Jury will convict the woman who had only done what she had a right to do, or she would herself have been killed. The district attorney agreed that there was much truth in Attorney Altland's statement, but, he said, the death of a human being cannot be disposed of without greater consideration, that, in fact. It requires thorough and rigid investigation. He said that he had heard it reported that certain persons had made statements to the effect that Diehl was perfectly sober at 6 o'clock on the evening of the murder. He invited any persons in the audience who knew such to be the fact to speak oat. There was no response. He then asked if a Miss Himes was present. A man in the crowd of spectators answered, no, and said that it was true that Diehl had spoken to Miss Himes that evening, but at the time he was carryinga “growler" of beer.

Although the hearing had been scheduled for 4 o'clock it was three-quarters of an hour later before It was started, the district attorney having been delayed. The police court room,in which the hearing was held was crowded, amajority of the spectators being women. Mrs. Diehl, who was brought from the Jail in an automobile by Motorcycle Officer Linebaugh, occupied a seat beside her attorney and her father. Andrew Smith. She was attired in a black swirt and white waist and wore a black straw hat. Her demeanor and appearanceimpressed one in her favor.

Fifteen witnesses gave their testimony, and it was uniformly commented upon that in no instance was it unfavorable to Mrs. Diehl. At one point in the hearing the district attorney stated that it had been initiated in some quarters that Mrs. Diehl might have been responsible herself for the black and blue marks. By closely questioning the sister, Mrs. F. K. Hildebrand, 514 South Queen Street. it was proved that the mark were there when Mrs. Diehl came running to her home and before she was actually aware that she had killed her husband. The 12-year-old daughter, Helen, proved a remarkably intelligent witness. She told a straightforward story with telling effect. When asked of she had been told by her mother when she visited her Tuesday at the jail what she was to say at the hearing the girl replied that her mother had told her to tell what she knows - to tell the truth.

Mrs. Hildebrand, and Helen Diehl, those who testified at the hearing were: Roundsman Wilton Billet, Dr. H. B. Baird,C H. Wilt, Jr., 531 Mackenzie Street; Mr. and Mrs. J. Keesey, rear 521 Mackenzie Street; J. E Foller, 417 South Duke Street; Andrew Smith,514 South Queen Street; Charles Heffner, 615 Mackenzie Street; Motor Cycle Officer Carson Linebaugh,458 West Philadelphia Street; Amon Young, 118 Pleasant Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lindsey, 529 Mackenzie Street, and George Beaverson, 317 Girard Avenue. In addition, these persons had been subpoenaed but were not required to testify: Mrs. Mary Hildebrand, 514 South Queen Street; Mrs. Samuel Stackhouse, 533 Mackenzie Street; Mr. and Mrs. Boeckel, 523 Mackenzie Street; Patrolman George Horn, 6612 South Duke Street, and Mrs. Samuel Winestine, 545 Mackenzie Street.

The first witness was Roundsman Billet, who is the prosecutor. He related how after police headquarters had been notified about 8:40 o'clock on Saturday night Aug. 5, he and Motorcycle Officer Linebaugh went to the Diehl home. He described how they found the body of the murdered man lying upon the floor. When he inquired who had done it, he was informed Mrs. Diehl was in the next room. When he questioned her, she replied, "I did it. I didn't mean to hurt him." She called the attention of the officer to her neck which was black and blue as the result of Diehl's attempt to choke her. She told him how her husband had thrown her to the floor and when he had her there said he was going to kill her. The Lord had given her strength, she said, and she got upon her feet again and when her husband attacked her the second time, she seized the butcher knife from the sink bench and plunged it in his left shoulder. In reply to the questions of the district attorney, the roundsman stated that upon his arrival the doctor had already been at the house and pronounced Diehl dead. Upon examination he found there was a gash in the shoulder that his thumb would go in. Mrs. Diehl told him that only she and her husband were in the house at the time of the quarrel, the little girl having gone to the picture show. In reply to the officer's questions, Mrs. Diehl had told him that her husband had been rushing the growler during the afternoon.

The roundsman was not cross-examined by Attorney Altland and Dr. Baird next took the witness stand. He stated he was called shortly after 3 o'clock by young Wilt. When he arrived at the Diehl home, the doctor stated, the boy met him in the alley. Entering the house he found the dead body lying on the floor and upon inquiring how it had happened Mrs. Diehl came into the kitchen and said in a family quarrel. Diehl had been stabbed in the left super clavicular space. The wound was about an inch wide. He did not probe it then but at the autopsy he and Coroner Jones found it was 1-1/2 inches deep. The cause of death was the severing of the pneumo-gastric or left vagus nerve, which is the main supply to the heart, lungs and stomach. Dr. Baird stated there have been cases where under similar conditions people have lived for a time, but usually death is immediate.

According to the testimony of the doctor, Mrs. Diehl related the same story of the murder to him as she later told Roundsman Billet. She told him, Dr. Baird said, that after picking up the knife, she bad warned her husband that if he came after her,she would use it. In reply to the question as to whether Diehl had been drinking Dr. Baird said it would be difficult for him to say as he paid no attention to that and in the autopsy only the wound had been examined to learn the cause of death.

Charles H. Wilt, Jr., who lives three doors away from the Diehls, told how Mrs. Diehl went after her sister, Mrs. Hildebrand and brought her back to look if Diehl was dead. Mrs. Diehl, he said, started to cry at the alley way. After they had gone into the house, he heard Mrs. Hildebrand ask Mrs. Diehl why she did not get a doctor. He made inquiry if the wished him to go and they said yes and he went for Dr. Baird.

Mrs. Hildebrand, an older sister of Mrs. Diehl, related how Mrs. Diehl came to her house and told her she believed she had killed her husband. The witness stated that her sister was crying. She told her she had not intended to kill him, but he was going to kill her. Mrs. Hildebrand substantiated the statement by Roundsman Billet as to what her sister had told him regarding the quarrel und he identified the butcher knife which was produced.

Mayor Hugentuglger inquired regarding the family relations of the Diehls. They mere alright when he was not drinking said Mrs. Hildebrand. When he was drinking he accused her of intimacy with other men, which was not true. "Did he ever beat her before?" inquired the district attorney. "He did, replied Mrs. Hildebrand, "I saw the marks, but she never complained. I went to their home at times and found them quarreling." Mr. Smith, the father of Mrs. Diehl. testified that he had visited the Diehl home on the night of the murder. Diehl was eating supper then and there was no quarreling. There was a growler of beer in the house which Diehl had bought. Although you could not notice it. Diehl had been drinking. "He wanted me to drink." declared Smith, "and I took a little.' Mrs. Diehl did not drink any." Asked regarding Diehls drinking habits. Smith declared he would drink anything. Diehl did not abuse his wife, when he was around. Smith said, because they were good friends.

Little Helen Diehl testified that her father had been drinking during the afternoon. She thought it smelled like whiskey. There was beer in a half gallon Jar and she noticed he went up and down the alley three or four times. In reply to the question, she said her father and mother had frequent quarrels and that he often choked her mother, but she did not know of him beating her. When asked if she had seen her mother in jail, she said she had and that her mother had told her to tell all she knew and tell the truth. That she had several times heard her father make threats against her mother's life was one of the statements of the girl. Mrs. Lindsey stated that she saw Diehl in the afternoon and that h appeared to be intoxicated. He frequently got intoxicated and abused his wife, although she never complained.

Young Wilt was recalled to the stand and questioned by the district attorney as to whether it would have been possible for Mrs. Diehl to have placed, the black and blue marks upon her neck. He declared that if she had he would have seen her do it. Mrs. Hildebrand was also recalled and stated the marks were on her sister's neck when she. came after her. "That explodes that theory," the district attorney then declared. George Beaverson, who is a fellow lodge member, related a conversation he had had about a week ago in which Diehl had intimated an intention to commit suicide. The testimony of the other witnesses was all more or less a repetition of that which has been given. But few of the witnesses were questioned by Attorney Altland, who after the testimony was completed asked for the discharge of the prisoner. He said the defendant is charged with the highest crime murder but the testimony shows no premeditation or malice. Everything indicates she acted in self-defense.

"I can prove she was justified," he said "and under no circumstance could she have acted otherwise. The truth predominates in this case. It shows he choked her, and according to the first law of nature she defended herself, because there was no one there to defend her. She struck a vital spot. She did what the law said she has a right to do. She is not guilty of murder. If she had not killed him, he would have killed her."

District Attorney Gross said although investigation would have to be made and the casa should be referred to the grand jury. "Our sympathies go out to the one accused of murder." he said, "and I am willing to say that she can never be convicted of murder in the first degree." He stated that he is willing to go with the mayor and Attorney Altland to the court to have Mrs. Diehl released on bail and that a prominent citizen has expressed a willingness to go on the woman's bond. There may be something unforeseen turn up, he said, and the people do not expect hasty action in a matter of this kind. The mayor then, agreed to hold Mrs. Diehl pending the action of the court and she was removed to jail.

The funeral of the murdered man was held yesterday morning with services in the undertaking parlors of Charles A. Struck and Sons, George and Princess Streets. Between 7 p. m. Tuesday and 10 a.

m. yesterday, 2,000 persons viewed his body. His wife, lodged in the county Jail, had been given permission by Mayor E. S. Hugentugler to attend the funeral, but declined the privilege.

During the services persons congregated on the pavement in the locality to witness the removal of the body to the hearse. Fairly 100 relatives and friends attended the funeral. The Rev. Dr. George W. Enders, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, South George Street, conducted the services, which began at 10 o'clock. The floral tributes were numerous. They included a handsome Mat bouquet of lilies from the employees of the pipe fitting department of the plant of the York Manufacturing, company, where Diehl was employed. Other designs were those of immediate friends and relatives.

The pallbearers were four members of Court Custer. No. 236, Foresters of America, who acted for Court Woodland. No. 88, of Philadelphia, of which Diehl had been a member. They were Curvin Ruth, Albert Zortman, Howard Leber and Edward Spangler. Burial was made In Prospect Hill cemetery.

Notes for Titus A. Neff:

Less than two weeks after the death of his daughter, Titus A. Neff, 621 West Broadway, Red Lion, dropped dead last evening, Jan. 21, 1926, shortly after 6 o'clock, while a passenger on a trolley car enroute to his home. A heart attack, similar to that which caused his daughter's death was responsible for the death of the father. Mr. Neff, a farm implement dealer, was returning to his home from the State Farm Products show in Harrisburg. He was 64-year-old. Mr. Neff upon reaching the local P.R.R. station, arriving from Harrisburg on a train that was late, hastily made his way by running to Continental square, where he succeeded in boarding the Windsor car. Mr. Neff fell back upon his seat, dead. At the intersection of Georg B and Maple Streets, Conductor Charles Quickel called to the motorman, James Brillinger, who stopped the car. Police headquarters was notified and they in turn called Coroner L.U. Zech, who immediately responded and signed the death certificate. He found that death resulted from an acute cardiac dilatation, brought on by over exertion. The body was placed in the office of Dr. E.O. Gladfelter, 452 South George Street, and the car was ordered to complete its journey. The hold up caused a half hour delay along the Windsor line.

The family was immediately notified by the coroner of the death and Undertakers Zarfoss and Burg were notified. They removed the body to their morgue in Red Lion. Mr. Neff had been in poor health for some time. His daughter, Flo Olga Neff, died on Sunday, Jan. 10. She was buried Wednesday, Jan. 13. in the Red Lion cemetery.

He married Mary Alice Jacoby 23 Feb 1899 in York Co, Pennsylvania. She was born 1872 in Pennsylvania, and died 23 Jan 1960 in York Co, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Jacob Yost Herbst:
While carrying bags filled with newly threshed wheat from a barn to his automobile on his farm beyond North York this afternoon, Jacob Yost Herbst, 38 West 11th Avenue, North York, dropped dead July 12, 1933. Exertion caused by carrying the heavy weight is believed by the coroner, Dr. L.U. Zech, to have superinduced a fatal cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Herst, who was 62 years old, was helping this morning in threshing operations in the barn on his farm, which is tenanted by Allan May. He ate a hearty meal at noon and before the other helpers finished their dinner Mr. Herbst went to the barn to load some of the grain in bags into his automobile. When Richard Dewey, hireling, went to the barn about 1 o'clock he found the body of Mr. Herbst. Beside the body was a bag of the grain, which, it is believed, he was carrying when he was fatally stricken. Dr. Charles H. May, of North York, corroborated the diagnosis of the coroner.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mary Ellie Herbst, one daughter, Adeline, at home; two brothers, Charles Y. Herbst, of this city, and David Herbst, od Mt. Wolf, and five sisters, Mrs. Charles Jacoby, Mrs. Daniel Kohr, Mrs. Daniel Hildebrand, Mrs. Allen Kohr and Mrs. James McDowell, all of York, R.D. 1.

659. Charles Slaten[8] Hernly (Mary Ann[7] Hoffocker, Catherine[6] Koller, Catherine[5] Diehl, Johann Karl (Charles)[4], Adam Charles[3], Johann Adam[2], Hans Georg[1]) was born 23 Sep 1857 in New Castle, Henry Co, Indiana, and died 18 Apr 1914 in New Castle, Henry Co, Indiana. He married Elizabeth (Lizzie) Thornburgh 23 Dec 1880 in Henry Co, Indiana. She was born 31 Jan 1859 in New Castle, Henry Co, Indiana, and died 19 May 1953 in New Castle, Henry Co, Indiana.

Notes for Charles Slaten Hernly:

Death ended the eventful career of Charles S. Hernly, of New Castle, well-known politician and promoter, who had figured in national, state and county politics, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon April 18, 1914, following an illness dating from the first of the year. His condition for three weeks prior to his death was of critical nature and the end was expected at any time. Mr. Hernly was defeated at the recent Republican primary election for the judgeship of the Henry circuit court by Fred C. Gause, of New Castle and this fact may have been the cause of his recent illness, as he had his heart set on the office.

Charles S. Hernly was born September 28, 1856, on a farm north of New Castle. When a lad of ten- or twelve-years Mr. Hernly met with a physical misfortune which resulted ultimately in the amputation of his left leg, near the hip. This handicap was, to a greater or lesser extent, responsible for his career. At an early age he became a very earnest student in the public schools. He diligently applied himself in the county or district schools, and, coming to New Castle, he completed his education and took advantage of the opportunities afforded by the Spiceland Academy, under the able teachings of Clarkson Davis.

In time Mr. Hernly became a teacher himself and followed that profession until 1876; when he entered the law office of Brown & Polk and began a study of law. He remained with this firm for several years, and in 1879 he was admitted to the bar of the Henry circuit court, at a time when the Robert L. Polk was presiding as judge. Mr. Hernly immediately thereafter entered into a partner with S.H. Brown, of New Castle, who is still a member of the bar association, although not an active member. Politically, Mr. Hernly was a Republican, and his energetic demeanor and practices drew him into the political arena, for which he was well fitted. For a number of years he was precinct committeeman, from which he was advanced in the ranks to clerk of the Henry circuit court, and later to the exaulted position of chairman of the Indiana Republican Central Committee in 1898 and again in 1900. No campaigns were so systematically fought as these, for the chairman had ideas of his own, and he put them into execution. His large personal acquaintance was another thing which added greatly to his success, and his strong personality was another thing in his favor.

On December 28, 1880, Hernly and Miss Elizabeth Thornburgh, daughter of the late and Lydia Thornburgh, were united in marriage. Besides his wife, two children, Frost and Mary V. Hernly, survive. Deceased was a member of the Masonic fraternities, a member of the Elks, Knights of Pythias and Red Men lodges. The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the Hernly home with Rev. Frank Hood, of Columbus, Indiana, in charge.

Newspaper April 21, 1921 - Father of Boy Drowned in River Meets Death, Plunges to Ground from Scaffolding while at Work:
Frank A. Rieman, father of Alva Rieman who was drowned in the San Joaquin River last year, was killed almost instantly yesterday, shortly after 12 o'clock, when he fell from a tank house on the F.J. Haber ranch sustaining a broken neck among other fatal injuries.
Rieman was one of the best-known building contractors in Fresno prior to a serious illness which attacked him five years ago. Since that time he has worked as a carpenter on various jobs about the county. It was while working on the construction of a tank house on the Haber ranch near Mendota yesterday that he received his fatal injuries.
According to an eye witness Rieman was working on a scaffold 40 feet above the ground. The board upon which he stood, while nailing on siding, slipped and Rieman went hurling to the ground below. He was rushed to Fresno by Mr. Haber and Frank Duncan who were standing nearby. When brought to the emergency hospital, he was pronounced dead by Dr. P.A. Tobin. A postmortem examination showed that he died almost instantly.
Rieman was 57 years old and a native of Indiana. He had lived in Fresno for the past 14 years. Up to five years ago he had engaged in the building contracting business but was forced to give it up when a serious illness overtook him. He was the Fresno county sales manager of the Oliver Oil Gas Burner Company.
Surviving him is his widow, Mrs. F.A. Rieman, a sister Mrs. C.H. Banks, a brother L.R. Rieman and two children C.W. Rieman and Avis Rieman.
Tragedy first entered the Rieman home ten months ago when Alva, the 18-year-old son of the deceased, was caught in the swift eddis of the San Joaquin river at Riverview and drowned, despite futile efforts on the part of his chum and others to save him. The youth was an expert swimmer. As he was sinking his brother Clarence valiantly attempted to rescue him but failed. No trace was ever found of the body though searching parties headed by the father, who was killed yesterday, and Sheriff W.F. Jones, scoured the banks of the river for several weeks in hope that the water would give up its toll.

Notes for Harry Samuel Ehrhart:

Hanover - Harry S. Ehrhart, one of Hanover most widely known and best beloved citizens, died suddenly at his home, 108 Stock Street, at 11.30 o'clock this morning Nov. 18, 1938 as the result of a heart condition with which he had been afflicted for a number of years. Although his health failed some time ago and for a while illness confined him to his home, Mr. Ehrhart recovered somewhat and in recent months was able to engage in some activities. He was down town on Tuesday and enjoyed an automobile ride on Wednesday of this week, and last evening had planned to attend the concert of the Hanover Civic Orchestra, at which his niece, Mrs. Gertrude Ehrhart Farley, soprano, was a soloist. Feeling ill after having dressed for the concert, Mr. Ehrhart remained at home. His condition became worse and his death followed this morning.

Mr. Ehrhart, who passed his sixty-sixth birthday one week ago today, was well known as a wholesale grocer, having engaged in that business for approximately forty years. He was one of Hanover's most public-spirited citizens, lending his untiring efforts to every worthy cause that he could serve. Mr. Ehrhart was largely instrumental in founding the Hanover Public Library. He was a leader in the organization of the Hanover Library Association, and was one of the organizers of the Hanover lodge of Elks, of which he was a past exalted ruler. He had also formerly been prominent in the Arcadian Social club, and was interested In Boy Scout activities. Among his contributions to the success of community events were his service as president of the general committee for the Hanover Centennial celebration in 1915 and as a member of the decorating committee for the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration in 1932. The organization of the library along up-to-date and professional lines is traceable directly to Mr. Ehrhart's unceasing interest in the institution. He made himself acquainted with modern library methods and visited librarians in this section frequently to keep informed of activities in other communities. He also was a frequent visitor to the offices of the library commission in Harrisburg in his constant quest for information on the subject.

Foresight was the hallmark of his work for and with the library. His interest in the institution, close associates recalled today, was manifested before the library itself existed In Hanover. He stressed the importance of organizing a library properly and building it into an institution of which the community could be proud. The excellent library which now serves Hanover attests to the success of his theories and his efforts. Organization work was begun neatly two year before the library was established in 1911. Mr. Ehrhart has served as president of the association that had been founded for the purpose of promoting the library, and served as a member of the governing board and also as its secretary for the time of the

Mr. Ehrhart was an avid yet discriminating reader, an accomplished linguist, a lover of nature and a patron and participant in all phases of cultural life. He was a master of the German, French and Esperanto languages. His interest in the last-named language, favored by many as an international tongue, dated back many years. He corresponded with Esperantist abroad and read many books published in the Esperanto language. He attended several congresses of Esperanto follower. He also read and spoke fluently in German and French. In nature, his interest centered upon birds, flowers, trees and reptiles. Mr. Ehrhart was an enthusiastic golfer, having played regularly at the Hanover Country Club until his health began to falter. He was a charter member and one of the organizers of the Country Club.

Mr. Ehrhart was born in Glen Rock, the son of the late Daniel D. and Martha (Frey) Ehrhart. He was educated in the Hanover public schools and graduated from Gettysburg College. Soon after completing his schooling, Mr. Ehrhart became affiliated with the Ehrhart-Conrad of which he was vice president and manager. He also was president of the John C. Lower Company, Gettysburg wholesale grocers, and associated with the Pen-Mar Grocery Company, which firm has store in a number of communities.

In memory of Glenn Gerald Krout (written by his Aunt Minnie Stump):

In a little tomb, we have laid to rest
Our little boy whom God loved best.
Not very long he adorned the home,
Just six months and God said come.
There is much in heaven for an angel fair,
So God has taken our loved one there.
Where he resides with God in mansions fair,
Where by and by we will meet him there.
Yes we will know him there, in endless time,
His hair is red the same as mine.
Flowers we keep upon his grave,
And teardrops fall when we hear his name.
He was sweeter far than any flower,
Now he dwells with God in a Heavenly bower.
So we will pray on until sometime when God calls us home to meet little Glenn.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a beautiful white slipper satin gown made with a sweetheart neckline and leg-o-mutton sleeves, which end in points over her hands. The skirt ends in a long train in which are inserts of white lace. Her finger-tip tulle veil will fall from a halo embroidered in seed pearls. Her only attendant will be the matron of honor, Mrs. Sherman Frey. She will wear a frock of aqua taffeta made the same style as the bride's. On her hair she will wear a band of aqua flowers finished with a shoulder-length aqua tulle veil. Her flowers will be a bouquet of Talisman roses. For the best man Mr. Ness will have his brother, Carlton Ness. The ushers will be William E. Ruby, brother of the bride, and George Pepo.

Mrs. H. Danner Chronister will preside at the organ, and Pauline McClain Ruby, an aunt of the bride, as soloist, will give a short recital before the ceremony. The altar will be decorated with palms and baskets of gladioli in various shades. The bride's mother will wear a blue velvet dress with a hat to match and a shoulder bouquet of Talisman roses. Marriage Notes for Mabel Flinchbaugh and Arthur Bathurst:

York - Miss Mabel Flinchbaugh, but fifteen years old, was married to Arthur Bathurst, a youth of seventeen years, at the home of the bride on Prospect Street, last evening April 17, 1904. Rev. Ayres, pastor of the Second United Brethren church, performed the ceremony in the quaint old parlor of the brick mansion of Prospect Street, which is known far and wide as Baltzer Spangler's house. This old house in which two young hearts have just been united, was the first brick structure built in York. Its builder, Baltzer Spangler, was among the first settlers to apply for lots after Penn surveyors had laid out the town and in 1748, though building material was scarce! Spangler, who was a man of means built this old mansion and for many years it was the finest in the county.

In the Colonial days, during the Revolution and for a number of years after America had attained its independence, Spangler conducted the house as an inn. In addition to being an innkeeper, he was also a burgess and a justice of the peace and he frequently performed marriage ceremonies so that numerous weddings occurred in the old house, the inn becoming a popular resort for the rural swains and sweethearts who would journey to Yorktown to be married.

After the house had seen service as an inn it was used by Spangler's descendants as a residence and many of the marriages in the Spangler family took place there. The house is now occupied, by Mrs. Ida Flinchbaugh, the mother of the child bride. Mrs. Bathurst not only claims the distinction of being the youngest of the brides of the ancient colonial mansion, but she is the last, for the Flinchbaughs will shortly vacate the house which is to be demolished because of its dilapidated condition.

Eileen was the beloved wife of the late William R. Snyder, Sr. who passed on September 9, 2019, and is forever whole with his" blue eyes" by his side. These two lovebirds in Christ shared over 58 years of marriage together and now will share eternal life with our Lord and Savior - Hallelujah!

Eileen was a homemaker most of her life until she started working at the Dallastown School District for the janitorial department, for 22 years, before retiring. She enjoyed among most things, spending valuable times with her husband, children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. She loved us all so very much, and her smile and loving way will always live on. Her journey over the last several years was a rough one, but she always tried to "keep on the sunny side" for all of us. She was a longtime and faithful servant to the Lord, worshiping at the Red Lion Bible Church.

Eileen was the daughter of the late Charles E. and Dorothy L. (Shaffer) Wolf. She was one of six children, Charles, Charlotte, Audrey, Joan, and Pearl and had many nieces and nephews. Eileen and William had seven children, William Jr and wife Jessica of Marietta, Matthew W. and wife Suzette of Red Lion, Mark A. and wife Ann of Middletown, Virginia C. Snyder-Arnold of Windsor, Jason R. and wife Tammy of Windsor, Lee E. of Airville, Rose M. and husband William of Thomasville. Eileen's seventeen grandchildren and her nine great grandchildren were always such great joy for her, hearing their laughter, hugs and kisses were her favorite. She always made you feel that you were loved so deeply with her bear hugs.

Viewing will be on Saturday, August 22nd, from 9:30 am to 11:30 am at Burg Funeral Home, Inc., 134 W. Broadway, Red Lion. A Service of Honor and Praise for Eileen will begin at 11:30 am at the funeral home, with her pastor, Rev. Steven A. Schmuck, officiating. Burial will follow at Bethlehem Stonepile Cemetery. Please follow the requirement for Covid-19, by wearing a mask and observing the social distancing to the best of your ability. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be offered, in memory of Eileen, to: Red Lion Bible Church, 105 Springvale Road, Red Lion, Pennsylvania 17356. Our mother always loved for who you were and accepted who you were not, she was a wonderful presence while she was here and now that she has gone on to her heavenly home, the night will be a lot brighter. Always and forever loved, Eileen.

Notes for Anne Marie Boyd:

Franklin and Marshall College - Four years after Ann Boyd Barshinger W'43 permanently endowed the Ann Boyd Barshinger Scholarship Fund, the results are clear; investing in bright students of modest means is a gift that keeps giving. Mrs. Barshinger established the fund in 2010 with a $4 million gift, providing financial aid to students from central Pennsylvania, the first of whom graduated in 2014. Mrs. Barshinger's generosity empowers talented students to elevate their lives and, in the process, has strengthened the College's fabric. Barshinger Scholars play football and rugby, achieve dean's list honors, participate in student government, and are quoted in The New York Times. They are artists, psychology majors and future business leaders.

Mrs. Barshinger and the late Richard Barshinger's legacy at Franklin & Marshall also includes leadership in funding the Ann & Richard Barshinger Life Sciences & Philosophy Building and the Barshinger Center for Musical Arts. In addition, Mrs. Barshinger supported the creation of an ecumenical College chaplain position, a spiritual resources for all Franklin & Marshall Students. And she has made it a point to provide ongoing care to her scholars, noting, "It is a very enriching experience to know that, in giving to financial aid, I'm helping support the future of talented young students who are our neighbors and friends."

Archie Charles[9] Kohr (Leah Yost[8] Herbst, Charles[7], Julia Ann[6] Diehl, Charles[5], Johann Karl (Charles)[4], Adam Charles[3], Johann Adam[2], Hans Georg[1]) was born 02 Jun 1893 in York Co, Pennsylvania, and died 25 Oct 1960 in York, York Co, Pennsylvania. Reiber Aft. 1931. She was born 16 Dec 1909 in York Co, Pennsylvania, and died 28 Apr 1997 in York, York Co, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Archie Charles Kohr:

Kohr Ice Cream

There are actually three companies with the Kohr name selling custard along the Jersey Shore. Two of them reside on the Seaside Heights boardwalk: Original Kohr's and Kohr's Frozen Custard Inc. They sell three main products: hard ice cream, soft-serve and frozen yogurt. (All but the yogurt use a family recipe.) A third company, Kohr Brothers, based in Charlottesville, Virginia, operates 40 shops in 10 states, 11 at the Jersey Shore. They sell strictly soft-serve custard, using their family recipe.

Climb up all three family trees and you reach a dairy farm in York County, Pennsylvania, at the turn of the last century. Here lived four Kohr brothers: Archie, Morgan, Clair and Elton. According to Jane N. Kohr, executive vice president of Kohr Brothers, life changed forever for all four when Archie Kohr, the eldest and a schoolteacher, bought a commercial ice cream maker from a local company and whipped up a batch so unpalatable that he redesigned the machine. "He was a bit of tinkerer," said Mrs. Kohr, whose husband, Randolph, president of Kohr Brothers, is Archie's son by his second marriage. "Inventions run in the family. That's just the way these men are."

In time, Archie struck gold. His new machine spewed forth a stream of soft ice cream. His recipe is still proprietary, but the company will allow that his secret ingredient was whole eggs. In France and England, a custard is not a custard without milk or cream, sugar, flavorings and egg yolks. While eggs impart a richer flavor, most American ice creams omit them entirely because they are costly and require special handling in production. Mr. Kohr probably didn't know it, but he was following an example set by Thomas Jefferson, who brought this so-called "French-style" ice cream to the Americas.

Encouraged by relatives, goes the Kohr Brothers story, Archie and his brothers hauled their apparatus by train to Coney Island in 1919, assembled ingredients from local merchants, backed the machine into an alley and started selling. In a weekend they sold more than 18,000 nickel cones. "They were completely unprepared for what happened," said Mrs. Kohr. "The police had to be called in to control the crowds." Though the boardwalk teemed with other ice cream vendors, people flocked to the Kohrs.

The rest was history. Sort of. According to Kohr Brothers, Archie went on to buy the patent for the original machine, to patent his own device and to design still more variations. With his brothers' help, they say, Archie racked up 48 stores along the East Coast from Boston to Florida, effectively bringing soft-serve custard to the world.

Not so, say the Seaside and Point Pleasant Kohrs. They say it was Elton D. Kohr, the youngest brother, who actually concocted the recipe, designed and patented the critical ice cream maker, and brought his brothers into the business. Elton's grandson Greg Kohr, of Original Kohr's at Seaside Heights, said his grandfather severed ties with his brothers at some point, opened his own stands in Seaside Heights, Asbury Park, Atlantic City, Point Pleasant and Seaside Heights, and sold custard at state fairs when the summer season dried up. Elton's descendants still fire up barrel-sized ice cream makers or "batch machines", which they say Elton invented, though usually to make hard ice cream. "I have documents from my grandfather's business that have his name on the patent," said Greg Kohr, 42.

Kohr Brothers contends that Elton, the youngest of the family, would have been too young to pull off such a string of accomplishments in the time before frozen custard made its Coney Island debut in 1919.

Archie Kohr died in 1960 at age 68. His family, and the families of his other two brothers, remain active in the Kohr Brothers enterprise to this day. In the mid-1990's, the chain stood at six stores before shareholders began aggressively marketing the frozen custard concept.

They expect to have as many as 600 stores in the nation in the next five years. Ocean City is their biggest hub on the Jersey Shore, with four stores along the boardwalk. But Kohr Brothers shops can be found in such land-locked places as the Deptford and Bridgewater Commons malls. Several years ago, said Jane Kohr, Kohr Brothers agreed to allow Elton's heirs to keep the classic blue lettering that spells out the name KOHR'S on their stands.

As for Elton, he lived into his 80's and worked the stands he owned with his family. Kohr grew up napping among cone boxes as infants, playing in empty ones as toddlers and learning to stack them as teenagers. Family members recall Elton slicing California oranges for the family's signature drink: ice and freshly squeezed orange juice, whipped to a frothy head. "He was a mild-mannered man," said one Kohr relative. "You couldn't find a better man." He died a decade ago, said Greg Kohr, but as long as he was able, he would dress in jacket and tie, leave his home in Asbury Park and head to the boardwalk to taste each of the family concoctions. Not to cloud his palate, he used a different spoon for each taste.

At Elston's behest, on his death, the business called Kohr's was further split between the families of his son, Elton Jr., and his daughter, Miriam. Ms. Kohr, now 76, operates three Kohr's Frozen Custard locations: two at Seaside Heights and one on the Point Pleasant boardwalk, with the help of her husband and her grandson, Bruce Kohr.

Betty Kohr, 70, wife of Elton Jr., runs three Original Kohr's on the Seaside Heights boardwalk with her son Greg Kohr, 42.

Three companies, three different yet similar names. Got it?

The six stands are all that remain of Elton's custard legacy. Though somewhat less glitzy than the Kohr Brothers franchises, they are in their own way triumphs of regional Pop Art: stark white against the Jersey sky, their facades glow with that stylized blue logo and images of squeezed oranges, fountain drinks and cones filled with creamy swirls. And there is something equally artistic about the ice cream itself: twists shot through with ribbons of color. When a Kohr's employee hands off a cone, first-time customers are likely to sigh. Or, as one mother was heard telling a child in a stroller one weekday: "Look, how pretty!"

Should you order a triple scoop of the "hand-dipped," (hard) variety -- banana fudge nut, butter pecan and chocolate-chip mint, say -- and ask for it in a cup at Original Kohr's, you'll get your goodies in a green-and-white paper cup that dates the dynasty from 1919. Meanwhile, just a few steps away, Kohr's Frozen Custard proclaims that it's been in business "Since 1923," the date, said family members, when Elton came to Seaside. Such discrepancies may be spotted by diehard fans, but they surely don't mull them over for long.

No one goes to the beach to contemplate history.

Customers swear by the Kohr product they know best. And the pleasure they take in recalling the ice cream seems forever bound to time and place. "Any time anyone talks about the shore, they go, 'You know Kohr's? You ever had a Kohr's?' " said Bruce Kohr, Elton's great-grandson. "And everyone else'll say, 'I had an ice cream there! I had an ice cream there!' "

Bruce Kohr typically works 16-hour days behind the counter at Kohr's Frozen Custard. Even at age 24, he has met countless customers who feel privileged to share their shore stories with a Kohr, any Kohr. One by one they stand before the light of the custard palace, place their orders, and summon their memories.

"I used to work here once," they say. "We used to come here when we were little," they tell their children. And when the order comes, they shell out cash, snatch some napkins, and say goodbye. They take their cones and disappear into the boardwalk night.

\+ 2659 i. Julia Victoria[10] Miller, born 28 Apr 1947 in York, York Co, Pennsylvania.

1395. Elizabeth Louella[9] McDowell (Ella Yost[8] Herbst, Charles[7], Julia Ann[6] Diehl, Charles[5], Johann Karl (Charles)[4], Adam Charles[3], Johann Adam[2], Hans Georg[1]) was born 13 Dec 1908 in York, York Co, Pennsylvania, and died 08 Jan 2005 in York, York Co, Pennsylvania. She married Arthur Gordon Zeigler 15 Jun 1939. He was born 06 Apr 1908 in York Co, Pennsylvania, and died 28 May 1957 in York, York Co, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Elizabeth Louella McDowell:

Celebration of Elizabeth Louella McDowell Zeigler's Life: On December 13, 1908, a daughter was born to James G. and Ellen (Herbst) McDowell, in a weather-beaten house, on a small farm outside of Dallastown. This second daughter, Elizabeth Louella McDowell Zeigler, lived her entire life within a short distance of her birthplace, and had the privilege of passing away, Saturday, January 8, 2005, in the same house she was born in (her daughter's home). Elizabeth (Mam-maw) was surrounded the last few days of life by her two children - daughter MaryAnne ZeiglerKern (with husband Merle), and son Raymond Zeigler (with wife Christine) who live within a short distance from each other. Her 10 grandchildren and spouses came everyday to lovingly share her homegoing with love, tears, laughter, prayers, singing of hymns, and reminiscing, reminiscing, reminiscing!

Elizabeth had four siblings, three of whom preceded her in death: Julia McDowell, Mary Leader and James McDowell, Jr. A beloved sister, Ruth Bailey (and husband Jim) who lives in Vienna, West Virginia, is the last living member of the immediate James and Ellen McDowell family.

A young graduate of Dallastown High School, Elizabeth attended Millersville Teachers School, and graduated eventually from there. A teacher for 46 years, found her opening rural one-room school houses, stoking the early-morning fires on cold, snowy mornings, and fetching water in buckets from nearby springs for: Raab's School, Ore Valley School and Kohler's School at 'Red Front.' Elizabeth was one of the first teachers to open the York Township Consolidated School at Spry, and years later was a first teacher to open the nowpresent Ore Valley Elementary building. In both elementary schools she was a fourth-grade teacher only. Retiring with 35 years of public-school teaching, 'Mrs. Zeigler' went on to teach 11 more years in various private Christian Schools in York and Perry Counties. In 1938, Elizabeth and Arthur G. Zeigler (from Manchester, Pennsylvania) were married and built a house on 3 acres adjoining her brother's and parent's farms. The couple continued to work day jobs and set up a turkey farm. In 1956 Arthur died suddenly, leaving the widow and two children to continue the turkey business. In addition Elizabeth had a large flourishing garden, which found her placing her 'excess' produce at the edge of her lawn, on crates, for passerby's to purchase.

Not only does Elizabeth leave two children and their spouses, ten grandchildren and eight spouses, she is leaving a living legacy to 28 great-grandchildren and more to come this year! 11 nieces and nephews, and numerous grand-nieces and nephews.

There will be a viewing today from 7 to 9 p.m. at Burg Funeral Home, Inc., 134 W. Broadway, Red Lion. A member of Shiloh God's Missionary Church for many years, her pastor Nathan Shaffer will conduct the Homecoming Celebration Service at New Fairview Church of the Brethren, 1873 New Fairview Church Road, York on Wednesday at 10 a.m. with a viewing from 9 to 10 a.m. prior to the service. 1455. Elizabeth Lehr[9] Brillhart (David Herbst[8], Mary Alice[7] Herbst, Julia Ann[6] Diehl, Charles[5], Johann Karl (Charles)[4], Adam Charles[3], Johann Adam[2], Hans Georg[1]) was born 06 Aug 1923 in Bethlehem, Northampton Co, Pennsylvania, and died 2014 in Mill Valley, Marin Co, California. She married (1) Philip Little III. He was born 22 Aug 1912 in Minneapolis, Hennepin Co, Minnesota, and died 21 May 2007 in San Francesco Co, California. She married (2) Alden Eaton Hine 10 Apr 1948. He was born 06 May 1920 in Shart Hiill, Essex Co, New Jersey, and died 05 Jan 1976 in Dade Co, Florida.

Notes for Elizabeth Lehr Brillhart:

The legacy of Elizabeth Brillhart Little, who died in her Mill Valley home at the age of 91, is best described through the memories of those who knew her as a person of compassion, grace, wit, and courageous social and political views. Little, born in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, was the twin daughter of a farmer from a Dunkard family, all of whom spoke Pennsylvania Dutch. He later became president of both a bank and a publishing company. During World War II, Little graduated from Skidmore College with a degree in physical education. She then moved to New York City and was hired as a physical therapist at Knickerbocker Hospital – where one of her patients was Joe DiMaggio.

While living in Minneapolis with her first husband in the mid-1950s, Little witnessed the prevalent trend of building bomb shelters due to widespread anxiety about a nuclear attack by the USSR. Deciding instead to "change the climate of opinion so war wouldn't happen," she became an advocate of the newly-formed United Nations – lecturing in local classrooms and expressing her views in publications as diverse as Playboy and Russia's Life magazine.

Little began joining in Vietnam protests in 1965 – well before widespread public sentiment turned against the war – and continued to march after her family moved a year later to Mill Valley, California. In 1972, Little spearheaded a campaign with local merchants to fly both the U.S. and United Nations flags on Veterans Day as a salute to international brotherhood. And in 1974, she wrote a study unit about the United Nations that was endorsed by the National Council of Social Studies' head of education.

Little's fascination with the subject of attitudes – how they form and what makes them change – led her to collect newspaper articles on this and related subjects through the decades. "It's an unceasing passion," she admitted, "abetted by my Pennsylvania Dutch background that makes me very stubborn and persistent." This collection formed the basis of a book Little published in 2009 titled "In the Eye of the Beholder: The Dynamics of Attitudes."

Pre-deceased by her second husband Philip Little III in 2007, Little is survived by her five children: Andrea (Marvin Pugh); Meredith; Martha (Toby Sticpewich); Timothy (K.C.); and Jay (Laurie Hunt). Survivors also include five grandchildren: Selene (who describes her grandmother as "relentlessly tolerant"), Rory, Alvey, Cooper and Isabel.

Notes for Philip Little III:

With the dignity and spirit that marked his 92 years of life, Philip Little III died May 21, 2005. Born August 22, 1912 in Minneapolis, Minnesota, Mr. Little was educated at Groton, Connecticut, and Loomis, Connecticut, and graduated with a B.A. from Union College (Schenectady, New York) in 1935. A lifelong penchant for design and architecture manifested itself early on: while a student at Groton, he snuck out from the infirmary while recuperating from an illness so as to watch the construction of an intriguing building. His punishment - a diet of bread and water. Mr. Little later put his talents to good use by inventing, designing and building furniture, art pieces, ingenious time-saving home devices and even a house for his family in Wayzata, Minnesota, where he lived until 1966. A manufacturer's representative by profession, Mr. Little specialized in department store display systems. When a career opportunity subsequently beckoned, his entire family - including a reluctant cocker spaniel - migrated to Northern California in a Chevrolet van and a Ralph Nader-maligned Corvair convertible. They settled in Mill Valley, where Mr. Little amassed the clientele and expertise to become Vice President of Kjaer Equipment Co. until his retirement in 1985.

An avid sportsman, Mr. Little earned varsity letters while in college in ice hockey, football and track. He also enjoyed archery, tennis and duck hunting, and was an excellent skier well into his 70s - while encouraging and teaching his large family to ski. An accomplished photographer with a rare eye for composition, Mr. Little excelled at golf, playing in the 1934 National Amateur Championship at Brookline, MA, and later joining the Meadow Club in Fairfax, California. He became a fixture at the Ascher Clinic, a gym and sports rehabilitation facility in Larkspur, California, where fellow members recall that "Phil always had a smile on his face." Among the other special qualities for which Mr. Little will be remembered are his irrepressible wit, the twinkle in his eye, and his unflagging love and support for close friends and family. He contributed steadily and generously to many charities, including Habitat for Humanity, UNICEF, the School of Lost Borders and Sunnyhill Children's Garden.

Mr. Little is survived by his wife of 47 years Elizabeth Little; five children from his second marriage: Andrea Hine, Meredith Little, Martha Little, Timothy Little and James Little; four children from his first marriage: Philip Little IV, Ric Little, Julia Gunnels and Constant Hine; seven grandchildren; and a brother, Tom Little. A private family memorial service will be held. Contributions can be sent to Hospice of Marin or Habitat for Humanity.

Marriage Notes for Mary Hernly and Everett McCullough:

A notable marriage of last evening was that of Miss Mary Victoria Hernley, the daughter of Mrs. Charles B. Hernley and Everett McCullough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McCullough of East Kruzan Street, which was celebrated at eight o'clock last evening June 10, 1915, at the home of the bride's mother, in Newcastle. The guests included the members of both families and the young friends of both the bride and bridegroom. The early summer idea characterized the floral appointments and decorations, the colors chosen by the bride being pink and white. The large front parlor which was used as the ceremony room, was artistically decorated with masses of palms and large ferns and great clusters of pink and white roses, arranged to resemble a rose garden. At the ceremony hour the pianist, Mrs. J.D. Jennings, accompanied by the violinist, Don Milligan, of Dayton, Ohio, played "Barcarolle" from the "Tales of Hoffman,'" which was changed to the Lohengrin "Wedding March" as the minister entered. He was followed by the bridegroom and his best man, Leonard Mace, of Terre Haute, the two bridesmaids, Helen and Eunice McCullough, sisters of the groom, and the maid of honor, Miss Katherine Hunt, w1ao walked alone, and lastly the bride, who took her place before the floral altar, where the services were read by the Rev. Dr. Brown, a retired Methodist minister of Newcastle. The bride looked lovely In a white taffeta gown veiled in French lace, the bodice being trimmed with duchess lace and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. Miss Katherine Hunt wore a dainty frock of white lace over pink, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white flowers. The bridesmaids were in gowns of white and pink silk, combined with white lace and they carried colonial bouquets of pink and white flowers.

Following the ceremony there was an informal reception and refreshments were served. During the congratulations, the pianist, Mrs. Jennings, accompanied by Don Milligan played other favorite bridal airs. Including Shuberts “Serenade” and selection from “Faust.” The early summer decorations were carried out in the dining room, where the table was arranged with a plateau of pink and white roses and at the places were colonial candlesticks, tied with pink and white tulle, and set with pink and white candles. The ices were in form of lady slippers and the cakes were in pink and white. The many beautiful bridal gifts wore displayed in the living room and consisted of every thing useful or decorative for a home. The bride’s going-away gown was a dark green silk poplin suit with a tan hat and white fox furs. On their return from their wedding . . . 2847 ii. Linda Jane Gerkensmeyer, born 08 Sep 1945 in Detroit, Wayne Co, Michigan.

Notes for Linda Jane Gerkensmeyer:

Oct. 1, 1988, Tampa - At 13, Jan's finally has what she has longed for a mother. And Linda Gerkensmeyer at 43 has what she always wanted, a daughter. For 3 years, Janis has shared a cottage with 11 other girls at The Children's Home, a residential treatment facility for children, many of whom have been neglected, abandoned or abused. Now she has her own ivory-colored bedroom in Gerkensmeyer's homey duplex. And she has a black-and-white puppy named Sparky, the first pet she has ever owned.

In December, if all goes well, the strawberry-bond teen-ager will be the first child at The Children's Home to be adopted by a single parent. To protect her privacy, the home's officials asked that Janis' last name and details of her past not be published in this article. Wearing the latest style - faded black jeans, a pink-striped shirt, bubble-gum-pink socks and navy tennis shoes - Janis beams when she looks at the woman she affectionately calls "Mom." "I thought they would never find me a family. Three years - I was waiting three years," she says smiling at Gerkensmeyer. "They kept telling me, 'We want to find you the perfect family.'" She says that when Steven Lyhne, the home's special-needs adoption coordinator, first told her about Gerkensmeyer, she nearly cried. "I was so excited. I said, 'Wow.' couldn't believe it," she says.

Gerkensmeyer first learned about The Children's Home by reading an article about Janis in The Tampa Tribune in May 1987. In the story, Jan s said she wanted "a family - people that are nice and don't spank kids and do activities together like skating and soccer and swimming." Gerkensmeyer, who had tried before to adopt a child, but was turned down because she was single or too old, attended meeting of potential parents mentioned in the article. There, she heard more about Janis, who liked music and ballet, chocolate-chip ice cream and drawing palm trees. Children's Home workers screened Gerkensmeyer and conducted a home study on her. Shortly after that, she began visiting Janis. On Halloween, she took Janis home to show her where she lived, then she invited her to Thanksgiving dinner.

Alter a period of weekly visits, Janis started staying over at Gerkensmeyer's house. Lyhne, who introduced the two, says that previously only married couples were permitted to adopt a child from the home, which has placed more than 6,000 children since it was founded in Tampa in 1892. But "some kids work out better in single-parent homes," he says, explaining that they might feel less competition there than in two-parent homes. In addition, he says, so many families now only have one parent that he sees no reason why more adoptable children are not placed ln single-parent homes. Janis and Gerkensmeyer seem to agree. The two are all smiles together when they talk about their shopping trips, their visit to Disney World and a recent vacation to Michigan to meet Gerkensmeyer's family.

Her new mom taught her to lee skate, Janis says proudly. But she doesn't give her everything she wants, and she isn't afraid to discipline her - something both mom and daughter can tease about.
Asked what she likes best about her new family, Janis immediately answers, "freedom." She says It is wonderful not to share a bedroom with 11 other girls. And she still is getting used to the fact that she doesn't have to ask permission to go to the bathroom or get a drink of water, which were rules at the Children's Home. But most wonderful of all, she says, is her new puppy, an adorable, feisty blend of cocker spaniel and Dalmatian. "Mom asked me why I talked about Sparky so much," Janis says. "I told her, 'You have to understand, I never had a pet before.' " Placing a child is along, careful process, says Lyhne, explaining that he paints a very realistic picture of the child before the family makes any decisions so that there are no surprises later.

Children adopted from the home, and their new families stay involved in counseling there as long as they need it, which helps everyone adjust to the new situation, Lyhne says. Nearly 70 residents, all of them termed "special-needs children," are at the home.

Some will return to their families, but Lyhne says 1O to 12 of them, ages 9 to 13, are eligible for adoption, and he is looking for parents for them. In the past year and a half, he has placed seven children with families. "It may be a difficult road," he says, "but most people agree that adopting a special-needs child is the most satisfying thing they have ever done."
