Notes for Heinrich (Henry Krauss) Krause:

After completing his apprenticeship as a bark tanner, with his father, Valentine Krause of Tretturt, he packed his knapsack and set out on foot traveling as a journeyman tanner through Germany. After about three years of such travel he returned home to Treffurt and announced his intention of migrating to America.

In 1844 he left his home town Treffurt on the he Werra Kreize, Muielhausen, Thierenga, Prussia. Upon his arriving in the US he worked his way westward and arriving at a German settlement in Liverpool, Ohio. He wrote his father of the possibilities in this country and his father, Valentine Krause and family followed in 1846 and settled in Liverpool, Ohio, where he did a little tanning combined with farming. He died at the age of 84 years and 5 months. His wife, Anne Marie (nee Oedewald) preceded him in death by 10 months.

Heinrich Krause, learning that at Ann Arbor, Michigan, there were many Germans, likewise several tanneries, concluded to journey thence. Arriving there he worked for a Mr. Mann (a German tanner). After working for Mr. Mann for about two years he formed a partnership with Christoph Kusterer, a brewer by trade. After a brief partnership Kusterer sold his interests to Abraham Hirth, a brother-in-law of Henry Krause. After another brief interval Henry Krause bought out Abraham Hirth and became sole propertier.

Henry Krause continued the tanning business throughout the war and the panic of 1873, which was wide spread and caused a severe blow to the tanning industry, so that father Henry Krause, upon the advice of an old friend, concluded to add the manufacture of boots to tanning. Gustav Adolph Krause, then 22 years of age, was delegated to go East and purchase such machinery and leather as was necessary to start the boot business. This was the in the spring of 1876, the centennial year. Ann Arbor celebrated and Henry Krause outfit put up two floats to be driven through the streets of Ann Arbor, one representing the tannery, with men at work on the beam, the other boot factory, with shoe machinery and men and girls at work. This was repeated in Grand Rapids by the Hirth Krause Company at the 75th celebration of Grand Rapids, in somewhat more unique manner. They received 2nd prize. One float was drawn by a yoke of oxen, with a small log cabin and Indian tepee representing early settlers and another float represented a tannery building with hides going in the front and emerging as leather; another float represented a shoe factory building, with leather entering the front and shoes emerging in the rear.

Henry Krause's Tannery (Published In: Ann Arbor Observer, September 1994)

Author: Grace Shackman

In the late nineteenth century, Henry Krause was one of the city's biggest taxpayers. The leather-making factory he built on Second Street stood into the 21st century and his name lives on in Krause Street nearby. But his real claim to fame is that his Ann Arbor tannery was the forerunner of Hush Puppies shoes.

Krause was born in Treffurth, Prussia, in 1820, to a family who had been tanners for two centuries. He learned the trade from his father and traveled over the greater part of Germany on foot as a Handwerkebursche—a journeyman—before immigrating to America at age twenty-four. Krause worked briefly in New York and in Liverpool, Ohio, before coming to Ann Arbor in 1845. With its large German population and several tanneries, Ann Arbor was a natural choice for an immigrant with his skills.

Krause's first Ann Arbor job was with Emanuel Mann, who also had been born in Germany and learned tanning from his father. The next year Krause went to work for another German tanner, C. Kusterer, whom he soon bought out. In 1850 he moved the business to Second Street between Liberty and William, where he built a wood frame tannery next to a tributary of Allen Creek.

A source of water was essential for a tannery. Tanners soaked hides in water to clean them, then in a solution of water and lime to loosen the hair, and finally in water and tannin to preserve and soften the leather. The tannin came from oak bark, and in addition to water for soaking, early tanneries used water to power the mills that ground the bark.

Krause prospered, and in 1868 replaced his wooden tannery with a brick one, 30 by 120 feet. A separate storehouse held 225 cords of oak bark, and a third building housed a steam engine for grinding

it. By now, Krause was selling leather throughout the state, principally for harnesses. His factory used 7,000 hides a year and its annual sales were about $45,000.

Three other nearby tanneries competed with Krause. The Weil Brothers' tannery was on the southwest corner of First and Huron, on land that was once the home of Elisha Rumsey, Ann Arbor's co-founder. The five Weil brothers, Jacob, Solomon, Moses, Leopold, and Marcus, were the nucleus of Ann Arbor's earliest Jewish community, but they moved on to bigger cities in the 1870's. Jacob Heinzmann, another German immigrant, set up a tannery in 1851 on the corner of William and Third, on the same Allen Creek tributary as Krause's. (Its site is now a parking lot for the Argus Building.) On the other side of the tributary, also on Third but closer to Liberty, Christian Duttenhofer, a former Weil Brothers' employee, started his own tannery in the 1860's. Duttenhofer's was probably a smaller operation, since the address was also his home.

Krause also built up a retail operation. In 1849 he built the first brick building on the block of Main Street south of Washington, adding to it in 1861. (In the nineteenth century, most businesses were still clustered around the courthouse to the north.) Besides selling his leather there, he made shoes and boots.

Krause married Catherine Hirth in 1846, just a year after he arrived in Ann Arbor. As his business prospered, they were able to move to a seventeen-room house on the corner of Third and Liberty, now the location of St. Paul's. (They used the house as a parsonage and school before razing it in 1929 to make room for the church.) The Krause property ran well north of their home down to Washington and west to what is today a U-M parking lot.

In 1881 the Krause tannery was incorporated with $40,000 in capital and was subsequently outfitted with new equipment. But by then, Krause and Heinzmann were the only tanners left in town. Local tanners were probably beginning to feel the competition of large industrial tanners with lower prices and national distribution. Wildlife in Michigan was also becoming scarce, and both Krause and Heinzmann included in their ads offers to buy pelts. Krause's ad claimed that he paid "more for hides and pelts, furs and tallow than any other man in the state." He also began selling other brands besides his own custom-made shoes.

Krause was a respected tanner. In 1850, early in his career, he won a first place at the Michigan State Fair. The Ann Arbor Register Weekly said of Krause at the time of his death in 1893, "As a tanner of superior leather he had a wide reputation," adding, "Although meeting with financial reverses in later years his integrity was unquestioned."

The City Directory hints at the rest of the story. Krause seems to have given up control of the company in the 1881 incorporation, apparently the price he paid for the capital to finance the tannery's final renovation. Beginning that year, others are named as the company's officers, while Krause is identified only as the plant superintendent. The Krause tannery disappears entirely from the directory in 1888. In the 1890 directory, Henry Krause is listed as a clerk for Samuel Krause, his son, at the Main Street store.

The store closed a few years later, ending the Krause family's fifty years in the leather business in Ann Arbor. But by then, another of Henry and Catherine's sons (they had seven children) was flourishing in western Michigan. In 1883, G. Adolph Krause, known as G. A., had bought a leather shop in Grand Rapids in partnership with his mother's brother, Fred Hirth, also a tanner. In 1901 the Hirth-Krause Company, as it was then known, moved to Rockford, a small community close to Grand Rapids, and expanded their tanning and manufacturing. G. A.'s sons, Victor and Otto, and his grandson Adolph continued in the firm. Today the company is Wolverine World Wide, Inc., the world's largest tanner of pigskin and the makers of Hush Puppies, the shoes with the sad-eyed basset hound trademark. Henry Krause's 1850 award from the Michigan State Fair is prominently reproduced in the company's official history.

Meanwhile, the Krause tannery building in Ann Arbor continued to be used as a factory, first to manufacture brass goods, then car accessories, vapor lamps, and windshields. In 1925 the newly formed King Seeley Company moved in to begin manufacture of gas gauges, using the tannery building but adding a modern factory in front of it. Purchased by Chrysler in 1968, it became GT products in 1982, manufacturer of diesel governors and fuel vapor valves, and ended its life as Eaton Corporation. The tannery building was razed in 2005 to make room for an adaptive reuse condo project in the newer factory building.

History of Washtenaw County, Michigan. By Chas. C. Chapman & Co. Chicago: Chas. C. Chapman & Co., 1881. Page 941:

Henry Krause - In 1850 Mr. Krause built a frame tannery on the corner of Second and Williams Streets, and commenced to manufacture leather for the market. In 1868 his business had grown to such proportions as to make necessary the erection of a larger and more substantial building. He then built a large tannery of brick, with an engine house connected with it, the cost of which was $15,000. The tannery proper is 30x 20 feet in size, and two-stories high, while the engine room covers a piece of ground some 18x30 feet. A large storage house for bark is near the main building and holds annually some 225 cords of oak bark. The tannery is fitted up with all the modern machinery, is run by steam, and furnishes labor for 12 men. About 50 vats and tanks and 4 leaches are used in the manufacture of the leather, which finds a ready sale throughout the State. The annual sales of Mr. Krause amount to about $45,000. All kinds of leather are manufactured, but principally that used for harness.

Henry Krause, proprietor of tannery, and dealer in boots and shoes, Ann Arbor, was born in Prussia in 1820. He received a liberal education, and in 1844 came to Michigan, in 1845 settling at Ann Arbor. While living in Germany he learned the tanner's trade, and in 1846 he established the first tannery in Ann Arbor, and soon became prosperous beyond his most sanguine expectations. In 1868 he built the large tannery, a description of which will be found in another part of this volume. Mr. Krause married Catherine Hirth, a daughter of George Hirth, by whom he has 9 children.

The Wolverine Company of Rockford and the Krause Family

The beginning of the Krause family's involvement in the leather tanning business. Valentin Krause returned from fighting in the Napoleonic Wars to become a tanner in his home, Thierenga, Prussia. His son, Henry, who was born in 1820, served his apprenticeship in his father's tannery. When 21 years old he emigrated to Ann Arbor, Michigan. Henry and his brother-in-law established a tannery there. In 1850 he won the first prize for Superior Upper Leather at the Michigan State Fair. A shoe store was added to their operations and in 1866 a boot factory was built.

G. A. Krause, second son of Henry, learned the leather and shoe business during this time period. Like his father, he was ambitious and in 1883, with his uncle, F. Hirth, they struck out on their own and formed a partnership in Grand Rapids. The company bought and sold leather and hides and wholesaled shoes.

In 1903, after twenty years, a shoe factory was built in Rockford on the banks of the Rogue River. O. A. Krause, the eldest son of G. A. was at the helm. Victor Krause, brother of O. A. joined the company in 1908. His training was in tanning and the next year a tannery was built. Their slogan was, "Wolverine Shoes ... From Hide to you." At this time the manufacturing company was known as Michigan Shoemakers with the name "Wolverine" selected for brand identification.

In the early years research was begun in tanning Shell Cordovan horsehide, a tough long-wearing leather. This leather was also used for gloves. Concentrating on the Shell Horsehide leather, the company was able to grow even during the depression. One of the innovative ways - they used large quantities of bacon rind which resulted in producing Suede Pigskin leather. They prepackaged bacon in the early thirties.

The coming of the tractor had effect on tanners of horsehide leather - fewer horses, less horsehide. They then turned to "green" (unsmoked) pigskins. Hundreds of thousands of pigs were killed each year, only a fraction of the pigskin became leather. This was partly due to the difficulty in removing the skin without damaging it, the skinning process had to be done at the packing plants. Wolverine's tannery research spent seven years in solving this problem. Resulting in a machine to do the skinning. They worked with meat packers making sure the machine would fit into methods used in packing plants. The result a quality shoe leather that is also soft and supple.

Employees of the company stay with the company. One of the reasons, in 1921 a plan paid a cash bonus from the profits to employees. Except for two years during the depression, profit-sharing bonuses have been paid to employees.

The Hirth-Krause leather company sold leather supplies at their Grand Rapids store in the late 1800s. All around the same time in the late 1800s, the Hirth-Krause Company in Grand Rapids had their “tannery row” at 16 to 18 Ionia Street. The Hirth-Krause leather company sold leather supplies (see image of the catalogue). G.A. Hirth and his uncle, Frederick Hirth, founded the business in 1883. The Frederick Hirth House can still be seen at 230 College Street in Grand Rapids and the G.A. Krause house can be viewed at 401 Crescent Street in Grand Rapids.

G.A. and wife Henrietta came to Rockford in 1924, and when G.A. died in 1941 his daughter Henrietta VanWiltensberg moved into the family home. The shoe factory in Rockford had opened in 1902 and 1903.

Notes for Theodor Daeuble:

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania - Considerable curiosity was aroused yesterday by the appearance of a notice in one of the papers stating that Theadore Daeuble had recovered money he lost on Nov. 20, 1891. It transpires that Mr. Daeuble is a bookbinder, whose home is at Avalon Station. And whose place of business is at 97 Avery Street, Allegheny. His son-in-law says that Mr. Daeuble was riding in a Pleasant Calley car last September, when he lost a pocketbook, $1,600 in bills and gold. He advertised for it, but without success until last week. On Thursday last a strange man called at Daeuble's house and left a package. When the package was opened it contained the missing pocketbook and money intact. Daeuble inserted an advertisement to that effect so that the unknown would know that the money reached the right man.

Notes for Christoph Kusterer:

Grand Rapids and Kent County, Michigan, Volume 2. By Ernest B. Fisher, Chicago: Robert O. Law Company, 1918.

Christoph Kusterer.—Each individual is called upon to work out his destiny according to his own ideas. Some make a success of their life efforts, while others fail; but it is usually found that the men who attain the most are those who concentrate along a given line of endeavor and direct all their energies toward its successful prosecution. In the case of the late Christoph Kusterer, his record shows that he was a man who thoroughly understood his business and was never afraid of the hard work connected with it. As a result, he built up one of Grand Rapids' large industries and left his family not only wealth, but the heritage of a good name and the memory of a kind husband and father. For years he was one of the substantial men of Grand Rapids and the city benefitted by his connection with it, for he was a practical business man who believed in action rather than words. Mr. Kusterer was born May 24, 1824, in Wurtttemberg, Germany, where his father owned a large estate in the Black Forest, and his education was secured in the nearby town of Freudenstadt, where he also learned the art of brewing.

At the age of twenty-two years, having been exempted from military duty, he came to the United States and immediately settled at Ann Arbor, Michigan, where he engaged in the tanning business. There he was married, April 12, 1847, to Maria Dorothea Dauble, and in the following September disposed of his interests in the tannery and came to Grand Rapids. Here he bought a one-half interest in the Pannel Brewery, which was located on what is now known as the corner of Lyon Street and Bond Avenue, and he subsequently bought out Mr. Pannel's interest. In 1850 he built the City Brewery, at the corner of Bridge and Ionia streets, the site where the Grand Rapids Brewing Company is now located, and this was conducted until 1881, when the Kusterer Brewing Company was formed, with Charles F. Kusterer as president and manager. In 1892 this was consolidated with other plants and the Grand Rapids Brewing Company was formed, the other companies being the Tusch Brothers Brewery, the Veit & Rathman Brewery, the Union Brewery of George W. Brandt & Company and the Adolph Goetz Brewery, the brewery of Frey Brothers being subsequently purchased at the administrator's sale. The officers were Charles F. Kusterer, president; Jacob Veit, vice-president; F. A. Tusch, secretary, and C. E. Kusterer, treasurer, and the capital at incorporation was $500,000, which was later increased to $1,000,000. In 1895 a new plant was erected on the same property. The present officials of the company are: G. A. Kusterer, president; F. A. Veit, vice-president and superintendent, and J. F. Cramer, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Kusterer lost his life on the ill-fated "Alpena," while making a business trip to Chicago, and at his death left a widow and eight children. Mr. Kusterer, in all his associations, with friends, business associates and competitors, and the public at large, impressed through a pleasing personality, and was widely respected and esteemed. He was interested in all that pertained to substantial progress in his adopted city, in all the cultural activities and material advancement that have made notable recent years, and, as far as lay within his power, exerted his influence in these directions. The family home for over fifty years was situated at the corner of Ionia avenue and Michigan street, where the present fine Armory is now located.

The Hydraulic Company's charter was drawn by Solomon L. Withey, who became a member of the company, and its first meeting was held, June 20, 1849, at which time its organization was completed by the election of officers. Canton Smith was its first president, and its stock books were opened for subscription, June 22, 1849. Having reached the limit of its supply, while the demand was steadily increasing, the company began to look about for more water. This they obtained from springs a little south of Wealthy Street and east of Jefferson, laying logs from that locality to Fulton Street, and thence toward the river. They then had a fairly adequate supply for the residents along their lines, and that portion of the then business part of the town west of Division and south of Pearl Street. But the city continued to grow, while the springs did not, and more water must be had. The company went still further south and gathered the outflow from several springs on what was then called the "Penney eighty." About 1854 Christopher Kusterer and John Mangold began the use of a large spring between Michigan and Hastings, a little east of Ottawa street, as a source of water supply for domestic use. Previously, at a very early day, a portion of the stream from that spring had been carried down Michigan Street to a watering trough in front of the old Bridge Street House, and this for years made an excellent watering place for horses. In the summer of 1855 the council gave permission to the proprietors of the Bridge Street House and Western Hotel to lay pipes from the spring mentioned for their own use. Kusterer and Mangold, under a franchise obtained in 1859 from the council, after having constructed a reservoir in which they collected the waters from this and other contiguous springs, laid pump logs down Michigan street and through Kent alley to Lyon street; also to and along by the buildings on the west side of old Canal street, as far south as Huron, and down old Canal street to near Pearl, giving to the residents thus reached a fair supply of excellent water for domestic use. Neither they nor the Hydraulic Company had sufficient pressure to carry water much above the second floors of buildings even on the lower levels. Only wooden pipes or logs were used until 1857, when upon the first paving of Monroe Street, the Hydraulic Company laid a small iron main down that thoroughfare.

In 1864, Amos Roberts, Warren P. Mills, James Lyman and Joseph Penney became stockholders in the Grand Rapids Hydraulic Company. The total stock subscription, Oct. 29 of that year, was $24,800. In 1870 the water rights of the Kusterer & Mangold Company were by mutual arrangement merged in those of the Hydraulic Company. In 1872 the company undertook the construction of a deep reservoir upon ground purchased of Mr. Penney toward the southeastern part of the city, in the hope of greatly increasing its supply. This was a large brick curb with a cast-iron shoe at the bottom, sunk to a depth of about thirty feet.

History:

The first brewer in Grand Rapids, Michigan was an Englishman, John Pannell, who came to town in 1836 and built a small brewery over a stream at the bottom of Prospect Hill on the east side of Kent Street. His modest output - "a barrel or two at a brewing" - of English hop beer gradually increased, and by 1844, thanks to rising demand, his brewery was doing quite well. That same year, Christoph Kusterer, a brewer trained in Germany, established a brewery on the west side of the river and shortly thereafter went into partnership with Pannell.

Christoph Kusterer was a prominent figure in the local German-American community. A founding member of the German Evangelical Lutheran Church of Immanuel in 1857, he was the captain of the Grand Rapids Rifles, a German-American militia unit. He also served as a parade marshal for the "Grand German Jollification," an event which celebrated Prussia's victory over France in 1871. Kusterer's life came to a tragic end in October 1880 when he, along with all others on board, went down with the steamer 'Alpena' in a violent Lake Michigan storm. His brewing business, however, was carried on by his sons and grandsons, and the Kusterer name remained linked to the brewing of larger beer in Grand Rapids well into the twentieth century.

The Kusterer's and other German-American brewers stressed the health-fullness of their product and advertised it as a "family drink," especially when compared with whiskey. Their claims may have had some merit, as early Grand Rapids historian Albert Baxter pointed out: "And just here is a coincidence. Ague and fever - the old-fashioned, bone shaking kind - prevailed very largely when t hose German beer makers came. In 1847 chills and shaking ague were terrors of malarially afflicted people, and sallow faces and feeble frames were familiar sights. In the eight years following came two experiences - a great growth in the habit of drinking lager beer, and the almost complete dying out of the shaking ague. It is not the province of the historian to moralize upon these facts, not to attempt an explanation, but only to chronicle the coincidence."

The Kusterer-Pennall partnership lasted until about 1849, when Christoph Kusterer bought out his associate and set about building a brewery on the southeast corner of East Bridge (now Michigan) and Ionia. The Kusterer family brewed lager beer at that site from 1850 until 1917. The Michigan Brewing Company took over the facility in 1935, for five years then sold to Peter Fox Brewing Company.

With the buyout of Pennall in 1849, Christoph Kusterer was the only brewer in Grand Rapids, but competition wasn't long in coming. First to challenge Kusterer's exclusive position were the Christ brothers - Gottlieb, Gustav, & Christian - German immigrants who arrived in Grand Rapids by 1849. While Gustav & Christian found work in Kusterer's brewery, Gottlieb became the proprietor of the Bridge Street House tavern. In June 1850, just a month after the citizens of Grand Rapids voted to approve the charter that would turn their village into a city, the Common Council granted Gottlieb the City of Grand Rapids' first tavern-keeper's license.

Sometime later, the Christ brothers built a large brewery on Ottawa between Bridge and Hastings. They were a leader among the beer making houses until the business was wiped out by the disastrous "Great Fire" of July 13, 1873. The Kusterer and Christ breweries found a ready market for their German-style lager beer among the German immigrants who settled on the west side of Grand Rapids immediately north and south of Bridge Street before the Civil War. Other brewers likewise appeared on the scene to try their hands at satisfying local thirsts, with varying degrees of success. In 1856, German immigrant Peter Weirich built the Michigan Brewery at Bridge and Indiana on the city's west side. Three years later, one J. H. Roberts launched a short-lived brewery operation at the corner of Fountain and Ransom.

In 1862, during the Civil War, George Brandt, who had been a brew master for Christoph Kusterer since 1856, decided to strike out on his own. Joining forces with Christopher Killinger and Fred Mayer, he established the Union Brewery at 87 (formerly 192 before 1874) South Division. By 1865 neither Killinger or Mayer remained in the business. George Brandt stayed on, increasing the value of the brewery's total annual output to about $60,000 by 1887.

The Frey brothers - Charles, Christian and Frederick - established the Coldbrook Brewery on 72 Coldbrook Street in 1874. The following year John Adrion and Andrew Greil set up the Valley City Brewery on Page between Tile and Plainfield; a short time later the city directory listed the owners of the establishment as John Adrion and Peter Kautenberger. On January 1, 1876, Jacob Veit and Paul Rathman founded the Eagle Brewery on the city's west side at the corner of First and Stocking.

A year later, Adolph Goetz, former brew master at the Kusterer brewery, and Kossuth W. Tusch built the Cincinnati Brewery at 208 Grandville Avenue and began advertising their lager beer as "equal to Cincinnati beer!" which according to claims made by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, enjoyed a national reputation for high quality. In January of 1879 Goetz sold his interest in the Cincinnati Brewery to Kossuth's brother Frederick and left for Colorado where he hoped to setup his own brewing business. His stay out west was brief, however, and he returned to Grand Rapids to become Kusterer's brew master once again.

All of the German brewers concentrated their efforts on the production of lager beer, a light, dry carbonated beverage with a distinct taste of hops that is aged in storage from six weeks to six months before use. Lager beer was the favorite brew of German, Austrian and Dutch consumers. English and Irish beer drinkers, on the other hand, preferred ale and porter, malt beverages that are darker, heavier and usually more bitter than lager beer.

Seeking a way to counter the threat of outside competition and needing additional capital for expansion, the individual Grand Rapids brewers, like other industrialists of the time, ultimately came to recognize the advantages of joining forces. In December 1892, six Grand Rapids breweries - the Kusterer Brewing Company, Tusch Brothers, George W. Brandt and Company, Veit and Rathman, Adolph Goetz, and the Frey Brothers - consolidated their individual operations to form the Grand Rapids Brewing Company. January 1, 1893 they merged into 'The Grand Rapids Brewing Company' w/ Charles F. Kusterer president, Jacob Viet vice-president, Frederick A. Tusch secretary, CE Kusterer treasurer & Adolph Goetz brew master at SE corner of E. Bridge & Ionia Street; Grand Rapids, Kent Co, Michigan.

History of Kent County, Michigan, Chicago – Charles C. Chapman & Company, 1881. Page 934:

The Kusterer Brewing Company.—This business was founded in 1847, by Christopher Kusterer, with a capital of $800, when he brewed the small amount of four barrels at a time, doing his own brewing and delivering, since when the business has increased to its present large proportions. Mr. Kusterer operated the business until the fall of 1880, when he took passage on the "Alpine", which was lost with all on board. The business was then purchased by the present company, whose officers are as follows: Philip Kusterer, President; Adolph Lietelt, Vice-President; Charles Kusterer, Secretary and Treasurer. The brewery at the present time consists of a substantial main building, three stories in height, 50x100 feet in size, in connection with which are two icehouses, one 60x60 and the other 25x100, capable of storing over 1,500 tons. The cellars are the largest in the city, and have a storage capacity of 3,500 barrels. The product of this brewery will average 10,000 barrels annually. The company has lately put in a large mash tub, made by Kattentidt, of Chicago, Illinois, with a capacity of 125 barrels. The firm gives employment to 25 men, and the water used in making the beer is obtained from pure springs.

History of Kent County, Michigan, Chicago – Charles C. Chapman & Company, 1881. Page 1062:

Christopher Kusterer (deceased) was a son of Jacob Kusterer, of Gumpelscheuer, Wurtemberg, Germany. He spent his boyhood in his native place, attending the public schools. After having been confirmed in the Lutheran faith, in which he was baptized and brought up, he was apprenticed to a brewer of Freudenstadt (a town 18 miles from his home), in his fourteenth year, to learn the brewer's trade. He spent seven years at that place, and when 21 years of age returned home, in obedience to the laws of his country, to run the risk of being chosen as a soldier. Not being drafted, however, he resolved to come to America, and arrived at New York in 1845. He first located at Ann Arbor, Michigan, and was employed in Mr. Kern's brewery for two years. He then removed to Grand Rapids, and became established in the brewing business. A few years later he purchased property on the corner of Ionia and East Bridge streets, and erected a large and substantial brewery. In the fall of 1880 he took passage at Grand Haven on the ill-fated "Alpena," and with the entire crew and passengers found a watery grave in the deep of Lake Michigan. After Mr. Kusterer's death a stock company was formed under the name of the "Kusterer Brewing Co.," which purchased the stock and trade of Mrs. Kusterer, and now operate the business. Mr. Kusterer was a man of the strictest business principles and firm integrity. He was Democratic in politics, and owned a large interest in the Star Flour Mills. He married Mary D. Dauble, of Ann Arbor. Mr. Kusterer was a faithful and loving husband, a kind father, and a man whose loss was mourned by all.

August 14, 1879 - A fire in Kusterer's brewery at Grand Rapids, Michigan, on the 6th inst., destroyed a large stock of grain and liquors. Loss $120,000.

Dec. 18, 1880 - Christopher Kusterer, of Grand Rapids, who was one of the victims of the Alpena disaster, held an accident insurance policy for $5,000, and that sum has been paid in full to his widow.

Grand Rapids, November 4, 1881 - At about 2:30 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the brewery of M. D. Kusterer, the largest of the several lager beer manufacturing institutions of this city. The fire was not subdued until nearly morning, and the better part of the brewery was gutted. The loss is estimated at nearly $15,000, with an insurance of $12,000. There are some in the city, superstitiously inclined, who connect the present casualty with the drowning of the founder of the concern, Christopher Kusterer, on the Alpena, something over a year since, and think there is something a little out of the ordinary line in it. These, people, however, are the same who see the supernatural cropping out in every mishap that occurs. The fire was one of the most exciting that the city has seen for some time.

Notes for Johann Georg (Brand) Brandt:

HISTORY OF KENT COUNTY, MICHIGAN, Chicago – Charles C. Chapman & Company, 1881. Page 956:

J. George Brandt (deceased) was born in Wurtemberg, Germany, Dec. 21, 1834. His parents were John and Mary (Hurt) Brandt. Mr. Brandt resided in his native land until 18 years of age, receiving a good common-school education. In 1852 he decided to visit America, and, if pleased with the people and the manner of doing business, to make it his future home. He had learned the brewing business in the "Faderland," but upon arrival at New York, went immediately to Ann Arbor, Mich., residing on a farm near the city with an uncle, until 1855. At the latter date, he came to Grand Rapids, and soon after engaged his services to Christopher Kusterer, in the brewing trade. He remained there six years, and at the end of that time, having saved a little capital, and a vast amount of experience, decided to embark in business for himself. He established Brandt's Brewery, on South Division Street, in 1863, which he operated until his death. Mr. Brandt was considered a very healthy man, but was much troubled by a nervous sick headache for six years previous to his death. He had been unwell for 14 days, and on the morning of July 11, 1880, had a stroke of apoplexy, which resulted in his instantaneous death. Mr. Brandt was a man possessing excellent business qualifications, and his untimely death was mourned by all. In 1879 he purchased a fine residence on the southeast corner of Lagrave and Oak Streets, where his widow and family now reside. After Mr. Brandt's death, Mrs. Brandt sold a third interest in the brewing business to Julius Peterson, who now has the supervision of the business. A sketch of this business will be found in the section on manufacturing industries. Mr. Brandt was married Oct. 20, 1844, to Elizabeth B. Fluhrer, a native of Bavaria. Eight children were born to them—George W., who is learning the brewing trade; Adolph H., Carolina C., Ernest J. and Frank W. Louisa C., Mary E. and Dora B. are deceased. Mrs. Brandt is a member of the German Evangelical Lutheran Church, on whose service Mr. Brandt was a regular attendant.

Albert Praetorius, the clerk at the brewery, was born in Prussia, Nov. 19, 1843. He came to America in 1868, and since 1871 has occupied his present position, and had almost the entire management of the business.

Notes for Adolph Heinrich Brandt:

Grand Rapids and Kent County, Michigan, Volume 2. By Ernest B. Fisher, Chicago: Robert O. Law Company, 1918. Page 56:

Adolph H. Brandt.—In studying the lives and characters of successful men of business, it is but natural to inquire as to the contributing sources of their success and the motives which actuated them. Success in business is not a matter of genius, but the result of experience, industry and sound judgment, in the majority of cases, and the careers of those who stand highest in position and public esteem prove that in nearly every circumstance they are those who have devoted their lives to effective study and close application to business, and have risen gradually, fighting their way against all opposition. Thorough training in the school of practical financial experience, hard and constant endeavor, and the following out of honorable policies have placed Adolph H. Brandt among the leading business men of Grand Rapids, where he is now vice-president of the Grand Rapids Savings Bank and connected prominently with a number of other institutions which contribute to the prestige of the Furniture City. He entered upon his career in a humble capacity, and the success which he has won has been attained without outside aid or adventitious circumstances.

Mr. Brandt is a native son of Grand Rapids, and was born July 8, 1870, his parents being George and Elizabeth (Florey) Brandt, natives of Germany. His father came to the United States as a lad of sixteen years, locating shortly thereafter in Grand Rapids, where he was employed for a time and later entered business on his own account. He was an industrious and capable man, but did not live to see prosperity crown his efforts, as his death occurred in 1879, when he was but forty-nine years of age. Mrs. Brandt died in Switzerland, about 1912, in the faith of the German Lutheran church, of which her husband had also been a member. They were the parents of the following children: George W., who is now deceased; Adolph H.; Ernest J. and Frank W., residents of Grand Rapids; and Caroline, who is the wife of Henry Herpolsheimer, of this city.

Adolph H. Brandt secured his early education in the parochial schools of the German Lutheran Evangelical church, later attended the public schools, and completed his preparation for his career by taking a commercial course at the Swensberg Business College. After one year in that institution he secured employment with the Grand Rapids Paper Box Company, with which concern he remained three years, then becoming associated with Mr. Rosenthale, in the Tower Clothing Company, for one year. At the end of this period Mr. Brandt became office boy under J. A. S. Verdier, in the Kent County Savings Bank, and during twenty-five years remained with that association. He was quick to learn as a youth and soon won promotion to bookkeeper, where his fidelity and industry made him a favorite with his employers and gained him further advancement. He was duly made assistant cashier, and at Mr. Verdier's death assumed the duties of cashier, which he discharged with ability until 1912, when he resigned his position to become vice-president of the Grand Rapids Savings Bank. He has been identified with a number of other important business institutions, and at present is treasurer of the Grand Rapids Trust Company, secretary and treasurer of the Investment Realty Company, secretary and treasurer of the Grand Rapids Bread Company and treasurer of the Lindquist Company. In the working out of his business destiny, Mr. Brandt has not allowed himself to become merely a business drudge, although daily active in a hotbed of industry. He enjoys the companionship of his fellow-men, and holds membership in the Peninsular and O-Wash-ta-nong clubs, and in the local lodges of the Masons and Elks, and also belongs to the Chamber of Commerce. His religious connection is with St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church. Public-spirited and charitable, he always finds time for studying and fostering movements which aim to improve the public weal. Mr. Brandt was married Oct. 23, 1891, to Mathilde, daughter of George and Louisa (Lang) Stengel, of Saginaw, Michigan.

Mrs. Adolph H. Brandt, wife of A. H. Brandt, vice-president of the Grand Rapids Savings Bank, died last evening after a lingering illness that has made her an invalid for the past two years. The beautiful family residence on Plymouth Road has been closed since Mrs. Brandt's illness became acute. She was 53 years of age at the time of her death. She was formerly Miss Matilda Stengel. Mr. and Mrs. Brandt have lived their entire 31 years of married life in Grand Rapids. Besides her husband, surviving are her mother and a sister, Mrs. Dr. Durham, of Muskegon.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home on Plymouth Road, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Services at the grave will be private. A request is made that flowers be omitted.

Page 95:

Second Lieutenant Frederick Karl Hirth - Aerial Observer for Heavy Artillery, 9 1st Aero Squadron. Killed in action near Metz, on July 16, 1918. Lieutenant Hirth was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan, on July 10, 1891. After a public school education he entered the University of Michigan, graduating in 1916. He then was employed by the City of Flint, Michigan, as an engineer, which position he resigned in order to enter the Second Officers' Training Camp at Fort Sheridan. After six weeks' instruction at Fort Sheridan he was transferred to Fortress Monroe, Va., where he was commissioned and ordered overseas, sailing on December 10, 1917. Arriving in France, Lieutenant Hirth received further instruction in A. E. F. schools, and also served two months with a French Escadrille. He was then assigned to the 91st Aero Squadron as an observer. While flying over German territory, near Metz, his plane was shot down and he and the pilot were instantly killed. He was awarded the Croix de Guerre with Palm for bravery. Lieutenant Hirth was unmarried. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hirth, 140 Twenty-first Street, Toledo, Ohio, and a sister, Miss Mary Hirth, of the same address.

Frederick Karl Hirth - Aerial observer for Heavy Artillery. KIA. Shot down near Metz; his pilot was also killed. Unmarried son of John S. Hirth of Toledo, Ohio. Born in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Enlisted in Ohio.

Frederick Karl Hirth, b.10 Jul 1891 in Grand Rapids, Michigan, was a 2nd cousin once removed of Marjorie Wall. His father was John S. Hirth, who was a descendant of Christina Maier, our Catherine Maier's sister. Frederick attended the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor to study engineering. After graduating in 1916, he became a civil engineer for the city of Flint, Michigan. His family was in Ohio, so he was drafted there. His draft registration card, signed 5 Jun 1917, describes him as tall & slender with gray eyes & brown hair.

The US entered WWI on 16 Apr 1917. Frederick trained at Ft. Monroe in Virginia in the Officers Reserve Corps &, by 10 Dec 1917, was a 2nd Lt in the Coast Artillery Corps. The 91st Aero Squadron was organized in May 1917, & at some point Frederick became part of it. The Squadron sailed for Europe on 27 Oct 1917, arriving at Le Havre on 13 Nov & then spending several months in more training. By Nov 1917, the Russians had signed an armistice with Germany, & Germany was moving its troops back from the eastern front to the western front in France. France had been badly beaten in an April offensive, & Britain was shouldering the major burden of the war while the French reorganized.

In March 1918, the Germans began a series of 5 offensives that left the French staggering. General Pershing sent in American troops to help. By 24 May 1918, the 91st Aero Squadron was in Gondreville, France, assigned to the American First Army Observation Unit & expected to help with the fighting in the Toul Sector.

The men of the 91st flew the French Salmson 2A2, a French biplane designed for reconnaissance, observation, photography, & artillery spotting. It was about 9ft tall & 26ft long with a wing span of about 36ft. It had a maximum speed of 116mph, a ceiling of 20,500ft, a range of 310 miles, & an "endurance" of 3 hrs. It was armed with a forward Vickers machine gun & 2 Lewis guns in the rear. It also carried a wireless set but no parachutes. (Parachutes were for cowards.) Fully loaded it weighed 2900lbs. Of the 3200 built, none survive. The plane held a crew of two. Frederick was the "aerial observer," so he sat in the back & manned the twin Lewis machine guns, if needed. One of the bigger problems with this model was that the pilot & observer were so far apart they had trouble communicating.

When the last German offensive began on 16 July, the combined American & French armies drove them back. That very day, July 16, Frederick & his pilot, Lt. John W. Van Heuvel, were flying reconnaissance (along with another plane carrying Capt. Guilbert & his observer Alonzo M. Seymour) when they were attacked at an altitude of 4800 meters by six Fokkers. Frederick was shot through the heart & killed immediately. Van Heuvel was knocked unconscious by a round but recovered at 800 meters & managed to land the plane safely. Two days later, the Army began a counter-offensive at Soissons, which became known as the Battle of the Marne.

The 91st Aero Squadron continued to serve in France until the end of the war. They flew 360 missions, were involved in 139 combats, & shot down 21 enemy planes (confirmed). Eleven men were killed in action & 13 wounded. Capt. Guilbert was awarded the Croix de Guerre with Palm for bringing back valuable information. Two sources (University of Michigan & Ohio Military Men) say that Frederick received the same award posthumously, but he is not listed on the official Croix de Guerre website as a recipient.

Frederick was buried in the American Cemetery in Sebastopol, Toul. At the end of the war, his body was moved to St. Mihiel Cemetery near Thiaucourt along with over 4000 other American soldiers. His mother (who was living at 140 21st St in Toledo) was notified of his death. In 1930 she joined the Mothers' Pilgrimage to visit his grave. This was a government-sponsored voyage to Europe. The US Army led them on a month-long trip that sailed from New York City on luxury liners, toured Paris & the French battlefields, & then visited the cemetery over 3-4 days. Each woman was given a wreath of flowers & a photo of her beside her son's (or husband's) grave. Given that this was at government expense during the Great Depression, it was not without controversy back in the States. But it continued for three years.

They came to Lincoln in 1880 and operated a store here until 1931, being located for many years at 12th and N, now the site of the Dee Eiche company. Mr. Herpolsheimer died Aug. 6, 1934.

Notes for Heinrich Herpolsheimer:

LANCASTER COUNTY, NEBRASKA:

H. Herpolsheimer, wholesale and retail dry goods and notions. Business established in 1880, by Mr. Herpolsheimer. He carries a stock of about $20,000; employs twelve clerks, and does the leading business in Lincoln. He was born in Prussia, November 28, 1844. He came to the United States in 1849, with his parents, and located in New Carlisle, Indiana. From there our subject of this sketch moved to Buchanan, Michigan, where he learned his business. He then removed to Grand Rapids, Michigan, where he carried on a very successful business for a number of years. From there he removed to Nebraska, in 1880, and opened the present business. He was married in Ann Arbor, Michigan, June 19, 1873, to Miss Krause, of Ann Arbor. They have six children - - Hattie, Ida, Albert and Alfred, twins. Oscar, who died in May, 1880, at the age of seven months and twenty days, and Walter, who died May, 1882, at the age of nine months and twenty days. Mr. Herpolsheimer is a member of the German Lutheran Church.

Lincoln, Nebraska - H. Herpolsheimer, retired department store owner, died at 12:30 a.m. Monday August 6, 1934 at his home, 24th and Van Dorn, after an illness extending back to January of 1933. His wife and his five children were at the bedside as Mr. Herpolsheimer grew weaker, during the night He had been bedridden several weeks." He would have been 91 next Nov. 28. Mr. Herpolsheimer was born in Prussia on Nov. 28, 1843, and six years later came to America with his parents, who settled in Milwaukee. The trans-Atlantic trip was made in a sailing vessel which encountered unfavorable winds and took several weeks longer than the usual time for the voyage, resulting in hardship to the passengers who lacked enough food and water. The family later removed from Milwaukee to Carlisle, Indiana, where Mr. Herpolsheimer continued his education.

As a youth he enlisted in the Third Indiana cavalry, under Gen. Henry B. Carrington and served for a year in Company M, which was the general's body guard and often referred to in his writings as his "Noble Scouts." Returning from the war, Mr. Herpolsheimer went to Buchana, Michigan, and then to Grand Rapids where he joined his brother, William, in business. In 1873 he married Caroline Krause and in 1880 they came to Lincoln. He started a mercantile business near 11th and O, probably the infant city's first department store. During his ten years in that small building Mr. Herpolsheimer introduced many innovations to Lincoln and was credited with bringing the first Christmas tree to the city. In those days Christmas was celebrated without the gaily decorated evergreens which now distinguish the holiday season. He sent to Michigan for the trees and Christmas shoppers were treated to the sight of trees strung with tinsel and lighted with candies.

In 1890 Quarters were secured in the Exposition building which still stands at 12th and N. The building was purchased in 1895 and many improvements were made. He continued actively to manage the store until his retirement in 1931 at the age of 88. The unusual architecture of the building was an attraction to shoppers from many miles around. Older persons who in those days were youngsters living in small towns out in the state still recall that it was a treat to come to Lincoln once or twice a year and see "Herpolsheimer's new building."

Besides his wife, Caroline, Mr. Herpolsheimer is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. G. Barker and Mrs. William Lamprecht, and three sons, Albert, Alfred and Ervin, all of Lincoln. There are five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mr. Herpolsheimer was the youngest of five brothers, all of whom are dead.

Funeral arrangements will be made after the family hears from Mrs. Herpolsheimer's brother in Michigan. Few Lincoln business men have been better-known than Henry Herpolsheimer, for half a century leading merchant in Lincoln. Therefore, the news of his death brought a feeling of personal loss to the many who knew him and the thousands who had for many years regarded his establishment as one of the interesting show places and one of the busiest marts of the city. The city mourns with his family at his passing. Half a century in business in Lincoln means a great deal when the age of the community is considered. It is a large part of the city's past existence.

Lincoln, Feb. 14, 1999 - Visitors to downtown Lincoln were greeted with an unusual peek into the city's past during the summer of 1998 when the old Firestone Tire Store on the southwest corner of 12th and N Streets was razed. The stone walls of a huge basement, covering nearly a quarter-block and extending to and even under the sidewalk and parking lot in front of the building, were exposed as the site was cleared. This was the basement of what was, for many years, Lincoln's largest department store. Henry Herpolsheimer was born in 1844 in Prussia. When he was 5, his parents emigrated to the United States and settled in New Carlisle, Indiana. After he completed school, Herpolsheimer moved to Buchanan, Michigan, where he entered the retail dry goods trade and married. In 1880 he moved his family to Lincoln, acquired a house at 1213 M Street and introduced himself through a newspaper ad as "having for years been engaged in purchasing dry goods in the eastern markets." Before opening his first store, he sought Otto Mohrenstecher as a partner already familiar with the area. Mohrenstecher had moved from Missouri to Nebraska City in 1867 and became a clerk at McConnell's Store on Lincoln's O Street in 1870. Mohrenstecher became a junior partner of Herpolsheimer's, and that year the pair set up shop as Herpolsheimer's & Dry Goods House at 1109 O St with $20,000 of inventory. The growing Capital City was good to the enterprise, and within a year, the firm boasted $108,000 in goods and fixtures while employing 12 clerks. They added notions to their inventory and engaged in a wholesale operation.

The store was in the heart of Lincoln's retail business district, but Herpolsheimer was intent on expanding and was certain the city's future lay to the east. The site he selected for their new building was on the south side of N Street between 11th and 12th streets. He purchased Odell's Restaurant and Dining Hall, five residences and the medical office of Dr. Bartlett L. Paine, who would soon join forces with J.E. Miller in their own store at 13th and O streets. Paine then moved his office to South 12th Street, just north of St. Paul's Methodist Church on the site of their old parsonage. The spectacular new Herpolsheimer Store in the Exposition Building opened in 1890, and the now-prosperous Herpolsheimer moved to 1245

E St. The facility was a modern wonder of its day, 150 feet wide and 142 feet deep with three floors and 63,000 square feet of sales floors. There were two electric passenger/freight elevators in the southwest corner of the building with power furnished by their own generating plant in the basement. The brilliantly lit store had 300 incandescent lamps and 20 2,000-candlepower arc lights, giving the store the nickname the "Daylight Store," which was supplemented by the virtual all-windowed north facade, which added the name "The Glass Block."

The 150-plus clerks sold goods from massive quarter oak fixtures trimmed in oxidized saver. In place, of cash registers, the store used a 34-station railway cash system connected to the central office. ' The first floor featured dry goods, sewing, art and crockery; furniture and imports were on the upper level. The store said it "proposed to have a bazaar the year around." In 1903, a two-story frame building was built to the west as a furniture annex. With municipal electricity then available, the two 45-horsepower basement generators were put on standby.

By World War I, Mohrenstecher was gone and C.H. Hathaway became the vice president. In 1923, Herpolsheimer's added toys, shoes, mantles and ladies underwear to the advertised stock while claiming to be Lincoln's oldest department store with more than 200 employees. Unfortunately, the Great Depression was silently waiting in the wings and although an early 1931 ad said, "Our mail order department will shop for you," in May the store quietly closed. Like many Lincoln storefronts, the building was empty during much of the 1930s. Late in the decade, much of the building was razed, leaving the basement south and west walls, standing as D. Eiche's Firestone Service. The basement was used as a parking garage, entered from the southeast corner by way of a ramp. During 1998, the art deco metal-clad building, its stone first-floor walls and immense basement were removed and filled in for the new; smaller concrete block structure occupied by Firestone, leaving no visible remnants of the one-time retail giant.

He married Elizabeth Kirm 08 Apr 1875 in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw Co, Michigan, daughter of Johann Kirm and Dorothea Keppler. Notes for Gustav Adolph Krause:

For more than a century, Wolverine has been relentless in its pursuit of providing comfortable and innovative footwear, apparel and gear for consumers. Founder G.A. Krause and his sons built a shoe factory shortly after organizing the Rogue Electric Light and Power Company in Rockford, Michigan. In 1903, quality craftsmen made 300 pairs of tough, dependable work shoes each day in the shoe factory, setting the stage for what would become a standard of excellence in footwear. In 1908, Wolverine opened a tannery next to their shoe factory, supplying the factory with durable leathers. In 1914, the Wolverine brand name was created from the type of tough, durable Wolverine horsehide leather used for its popular "1,000 mile boot." In 2008, Wolverine will celebrate its 125th anniversary in many ways.

1883 - Gustav Adolph Krause owner & president Hirth, Krause & Co with Fred & Edgar T. Hirth & Adolph, Samuel & Otto Krause wholesale shoes 16 S. Ionia Grand Rapids, Kent Co, Michigan & Rockford, Kent Co, Michigan. G.A. Krause founded the company that would become Wolverine World Wide. He is believed to have said, "There is some opportunity here."

1901 - First, G.A. organized the Rogue River Electric Light and Power Company and brought electricity to Rockford, Michigan from 5:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. daily.

1903 - Then G.A. and his sons built a shoe factory in Rockford, Michigan. It made 300 pairs of shoes each day.

1908 - Next, G.A. and his sons built the Wolverine tannery and began supplying their shoe factory with tough, durable horsehide.

1914 - The Wolverine brand name was selected for shoes made of Wolverine horsehide leather. They were called "1000 Mile Shoes."

1919 - Wolverine began national advertising: Wolverine work shoes were sold by one of the earliest national sales forces, and became very popular.

1921 - Flush with success, the Hirth-Krause Company changed its name to Wolverine Shoe and Tanning Corporation and began to grow ever more quickly.

1928 - Wolverine began selling shares of the company to its own employees - a part of one of the nation's first profit sharing plans.

1931 - The Great Depression came, and although sales were down factory lines were kept running and shoes were warehoused for better times.

1941 - During World War II the Wolverine Shoe & Tanning Company went to work for the U.S. Navy, developing pigskin gloves.

1946 - By the end of the war, Wolverine engineers had created a new leather: pigskin suede, and built a factory to produce it.

1952 - With horses disappearing from the American landscape Wolverine searched for new ways to use pigskin suede. G.A. Krause's son, Victor led the race.

1957 - A breakthrough came; the creation of soft, suede casual shoes. America would not be the same. Hush Puppies was born.

1958 - Hush Puppies shoes got their name from a treat Southerners used to quiet their barking dogs.

1959 - Wolverine launched the Hush Puppies brand with a heavy marketing and advertising campaign. V. Krause is believed to have said, "There is some promise here."

1959 - Hush Puppies signed its first licensee: Greb Shoes, Ltd. of Canada. Plans for international expansion were under way.

1963 - Sales of Hush Puppies shoes went through the roof. One in ten American adults now owned a pair of "Hush Puppies".

1964 - The company chose a more fitting name, and Wolverine Shoe & Tanning Company became Wolverine World Wide, Inc.

1965 - Wolverine stock went up on the "Big Board" and was traded on the New York Stock Exchange for the first time.

1976 - Wolverine World Wide began laying the foundations of its brand family and leading technologies.

The Late 19th and Early 20th Centuries

Wolverine was established in 1883 by G.A. Krause and his uncle, Fred Hirth, and named the Hirth-Krause Company. The son of Prussian immigrants, Krause brought a two-century heritage of leather tanning to the enterprise. The company originally sold leather, buttonhooks, lacing, and soles at wholesale, and purchased finished shoes for retail sale.

Krause began to consolidate vertically after the turn of the century, placing his sons in independent, but related, shoemaking and leather tanning businesses. In 1903, he established a shoe manufacturing business in Rockford, Michigan. His eldest son, Otto, who had a degree in engineering from the University of Michigan, operated this arm of the family enterprise, which supplied finished footwear to the Hirth-Krause retail outlets. Five years later, G.A. and younger son Victor created the Wolverine Tanning Company, also based in Rockford, to supply leather to the shoemaking business.

Victor, whose postsecondary education had included apprenticeships in tanning, would be a driving force behind Wolverine's establishment as a premiere American shoe company. In 1909, he traveled to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to study a chrome tanning and retanning process developed by master tanner John Pfingsten. By 1914, Victor's own experiments had resulted in a tanning process for "shell horsehide," a cheap, durable, but heretofore unworkably stiff section of hide taken from the horse's rear. The company soon stopped using cowhide in favor of their unique new material.

Promoted as "1,000 mile shoes," sales of the heavy-duty Wolverine boots helped increase corporate earnings almost 700 percent from 1916 to 1923. A centennial company history noted that "Wolverine boots and shoes became one of rural and small-town America's most popular brands."

In 1921, Hirth-Krause and the Rockford shoe factory--which had previously merged under the name Michigan Shoe Makers--were united with Wolverine to form Wolverine Shoe and Tanning Corporation. The company acquired a glove making business that same year and began manufacturing horsehide work gloves. Over the course of the decade, Wolverine built its first warehouse, created an employee profit-sharing plan, launched a nationwide advertising campaign, and erected its first consolidated headquarters.

He married Mary Michterlein 16 Apr 1885 in Grand Rapids, Kent Co, Michigan. She was born Mar 1863 in Roseville, Macomb Co, Michigan, and died Aft. 1940.

Notes for George Wilhelm Brandt:

Grand Rapids Press Newspaper on Wednesday December 9, 1914 page 1:

"Motor Upsets in Hodenpyl Par; Two Men are Killed and One Hurt - Lives of George Brandt and William Veit Crushed Out"

"Meet Death When Their Roadster Overturns on Way Home From a Party at Martini's - Kusterer is Injured - Pinned Under Machine All Night Beside Bodies of Companions - Found By Iceman at 7 a.m. Today"

When John VanHorn, an iceman, was driving along the boulevard in the Hodenpyl woods north of Reed's Lake about 6 o'clock this morning he heard a muffled cry for help. Looking down a 10-foot embankment he saw an overturned automobile, a Kissel roadster. Under it he found Gustav Kusterer. "Get someone to help you and raise this car," Kusterer said, "I'm pinned under. George Brandt and Will Veit are under here with me. They are dead. We've been here since 11 o'clock last night." The iceman ran to the Blacklock home and told Robert Robinson and Orville Laidlaw. The three soon raised the car and liberated Kusterer.

"We were over to Herman Martini's last night," Kusterer explained, "and were on our way home. Mr. Veit was driving. I don't know how he happened to take the road through the woods. Ordinarily he took the cutoff to Robinson Road. "We were going along at just a fair rate of speed when, suddenly, I felt the rear wheels start to skid. Before I could say a word and before any of us realized what had happened, the car lurched, overturned and landed upside down at the bottom of the 10-foot embankment.

"Mr. Brandt and Mr. Veit must have been killed instantly. I did not lose consciousness and I remember that I didn't hear a sound after the car settled. My legs were caught in such a way that I couldn't move. My head was out from under the side of the car, though, and I began to yell for help. I must have called for a half hour, but no help came so I stopped, deciding that I simply had to wait until we were discovered."

"I was there all night long, knowing all the time that my two friends, crumpled under the wreckage near me, were dead. Finally I heard the crunch of wheels on the roadway. I renewed my cries then and an iceman heard me. He went away for a few moments returned with several other men and liberated me. That's about all I can say except that I cannot understand how the accident happened. It occurred on the inside of a curve in the road and it must be that Mr. Veit steered the car a little bit too close to the edge. Then we went over."

Mr. Kusterer's life probably was saved by the windshield and the fact that the bodies of Brandt and Veit were large enough to hold the overturned car about eight inches from the ground. Kusterer's legs were pinned against the back of the seat by the bodies of the two dead men and there he was held until liberated this morning. He knew, during all that time, while conscious, that his friends were dead, yet he was helpless to extricate himself from the position. The thoughts which besieged him during the seven hours of gruesome confinement nearly unnerved him and when the machine was finally raised it was with great difficulty that he staggered to his feet.

At his home, after he had told the story of the night several times, he requested his friends to ask no questions which would serve to keep the memory of the horrors fresh in his mind. Dr. T. R. O'Keefe of the Reed's Lake sanitarium was called by Mrs. Blacklock and went to the scene of the accident in his automobile. He assisted Kusterer at once and took him to his home, 440 Livingston Avenue N.E. It was found that he had suffered several broken ribs and internal injuries, but was in no serious condition. The shock of his long exposure to the cold, cramped under the overturned machine, was severe, but it will have no ill effect.

The bodies of Brandt and Veit were taken from under the machine by Mr. Robinson and Mr. Laidlaw and were later removed to Metcalf's morgue, 916 Cherry Street S.E. Coroner J.B. Hilliker was called and he made a thorough investigation of the wreck. Then, after examining the bodies, he decided that an inquest, in all probability, would be unnecessary. No arrangements for the funerals of the accident victims have been made. Pending the arrival of Mrs. Brandt and her daughter from Chicago the remains of Mr. Brandt will be held at the Metcalf morgue. The remains of Mr. Veit were taken to the Alt morgue, 343 Bridge Street N.W.

Mr. Brandt and Mr. Veit and Mr. Kusterer were numbered among about twenty guests of Herman Martini at the hasenpfeffer supper. After the meal all sat down to cards and played until nearly 10:30. Then Mr. Veit announced that it was time for his party to leave and he ordered his automobile. At 10:50 they departed. "I think Mr. Veit must have taken the wrong road," said Mr. Martini this morning. "He always took the cut-off road to Robinson road when he went back to the city and I think he made a mistake last night. Then too, all three were riding in the one seat of the roadster and it was very crowded."

A pathetic feature of the accident is the fact that Mrs. Brandt and her daughter, Elizabeth, will not know of the death of husband and father until noon today. They have been visiting relatives for several days in Chicago and will receive word of the death there. It is expected that they will return to Grand Rapids tonight.

The car which was responsible for the accident was a big Kissel six roadster, weighing fully a ton. Tracks in the roadway show that Mr. Veit drove the machine very close to the edge for some distance and it is thought that he misjudged the breadth of the top of the embankment. At a point about a quarter of a mile from the main boulevard which branches off the Robinson Road at the Blacklock home, the accident occurred. The car evidently skidded off and turned once in the fall down the embankment. The weight crumpled the windshield and the steering wheel and the upper parts of the car instantly and crushed out the lives of Brandt and Veit. According to Dr. O'Keefe, who was one of the first persons on the scene, the conditions of the bodies indicated that death was instantaneous. This theory is also borne out by Mr. Kusterer's statement that neither man uttered a cry after the crash came and the car had settled.

William Groskopf, 433 Livingston Avenue N.E., was invited by Mr. Veit to enter the ill-fated automobile as the party left Martini's last night and had he accepted, three deaths might have been the toll of the accident. Mr. Groskopf refused to take a seat when he found three persons in the car, declaring that he would rather ride home in a street car, than crowd the machine over capacity. He refused to ride even after Mr. Kusterer had offered him his place in the car.

George W. Brandt, president of the Grand Rapids Brewing Company, was born in Grand Rapids and early became associated with his father in the old Brandt Brewing Company on Division Avenue. In 1892 the amalgamation of the various breweries in Grand Rapids under the name of the Grand Rapids Brewing Company, was effected and Mr. Brandt became a director. In 1912 he was elected president succeeding Jacob Veit, who died.

Notes for Henry Bremer Herpolsheimer:

Henry B. Herpolsheimer was born in Michigan City, Indiana, November 8, 1868, and was about two years old at the time of the family removal to Grand Rapids, where his early educational advantages were those of the public schools. When fifteen years of age he became a clerk in his father's store, and through natural aptitude and the able preceptorship of his father he developed admirable business and executive acumen. His advancement was rapid, and he early began to take upon himself much of the responsibility of the business, he having been made general manager of the establishment in the early nineties and having been largely influential in developing the same into the leading store of its kind in Grand Rapids. Though Mr. Herpolsheimer ever counted the mercantile business as one of paramount interest, he did not confine his activities to this alone. He became a director of the Wolverine Brass Works, the Globe Knitting Works, the Kent State Bank and the Grand Rapids Savings Bank. He was a man of highest civic loyalty and liberality, and was a sincere worker for the good of his home city and state, the while he was never deflected from his high standard of honor and business integrity. Like his father, Mr. Herpolsheimer was a staunch advocate and supporter of the principles of the Republican Party, and an earnest communicant of Immanuel Lutheran church, as is also his widow. Mr. Herpolsheimer survived his honored father by less than four months, and his death, on June 5, 1920, took from Grand Rapids one of its leading business men and most influential and highly esteemed citizens.

On August 23, 1888, was solemnized the marriage of Mr. Herpolsheimer to Miss Caroline K. Brandt, daughter of George J. Brandt, of Grand Rapids, who survives him, as do also their three children – Henry W. G., Arthur B. and Caroline B. Upon the death of her husband Mrs. Herpolsheimer became president of the Herpolsheimer Company, and her son, Arthur B. left his studies at the University of Michigan to take an active interest in the business. December 27, 1923, the Herpolsheimer Company was incorporated under the laws of Michigan, Arthur B., of the third generation of the family being made president of the company, with which he is well upholding the honors of the family name, and his mother, Caroline K. Herpolsheimer, becoming the vice president of the company. He is also a director of the Grand Rapids National Bank.

She married Phillip Roger Wanroy 23 Jun 1956 in Munith, Jackson Co, Michigan; born 15 Dec 1923 in Grand Rapids, Kent Co, Michigan; died 16 Apr 1983 in Billings, Yellowstone Co, Montana.

Notes for Kathleen Janette Ford:

Kathy's prayers were answered as she was called home to be reunited with her beloved husband, parents, sister and other dear friends on May 26, 2012. Kathy Wanroy was born Jan. 6, 1926, in Munith, Michigan, to parents Harold and Ruth Hirth Ford. She was the second of four daughters born to the Fords and grew up in a loving and nurturing family. Kathy was a graduate of Stockbridge, Michigan, high school and received her teaching degree from Michigan State University. She taught elementary education for a number of years in several states. Her life changed when she met her best friend and soon-to-be husband, Phil Wanroy. They were married in 1956 and began a life of companionship, camping, love of dogs, and relishing in the beauty of nature.

Phil and Kathy built a campground from the ground up and soon joined Kampgrounds of America with a franchise in Michigan. Since Phil was a technician, KOA, Inc. soon called them to be part of the KOA, Inc. family in Billings where Phil eventually became the Vice President of Technical Services. The KOA family meant much to them and lifelong friends were formed. Phil passed away suddenly in 1983 and Kathy's heart was broken. Kathy remained in Billings and was a prayer warrior for her family, friends and church. She became a Stephen's Minister, thoroughly enjoyed her Tuesday morning Bible study, met with special friends in the Graduates, enjoyed music, studio theater, gardening, and her poodles. Kathy was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church in Billings until health issues intervened. She enjoyed living the past few years at West Park Village and the friends met there. Kathy was a loving friend and was loved.

Kathy is survived by sisters, Joan (Arthur) Gibbs and Beth Grosshans, sister-in-law Eleanor Wanroy, cousin Julia Mae Ford, and aunt Pauline Hons, all of Michigan. She is also survived by many nieces and nephews, cousins, and her "adopted family" Harry and Judy Cuff, Mandy and Katie and their families, and her very special friend Marilyn Beth Hughes Pinkerton.

She was predeceased by her parents, Harold and Ruth Ford; sister Virginia Smith; brothers-in-law Chuck Smith and Rich Grosshans; and Phil's twin Paul and Dorothy Wanroy. Special thanks go to Lynette and the West Park Village staff and Journey Hospice for their care and help.

Cremation has taken place and Kathy's memorial service will be held at West Park Village on Tuesday, June 5, at 3 p.m., with the Rev. Dave Thompson presiding. Graveside services will be held in Stockbridge, Mich. Memorial may be directed to First Presbyterian Church of Billings or the charity of your choice. Michelotti-Sawyers Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Notes for Huldah Gertrude Huber:

Huldah G. Hirth, age 104, passed away peacefully on April 1, 2011 at The Chelsea Retirement Community. She was born in Ann Arbor on May 24, 1906 one of three daughters to Gottlieb and Lydia Huber. She was married on July 10, 1941 to Fred Hirth, who preceded her in death. She is survived by her son, David (Barbara); and daughter, Carol (Tom) Hanselman; as well as six grandchildren, Scott (Rennae) Hirth, Mark (Lisa) Hirth, Julie (David) Corrin, Jill (Steve) Dunham, Todd (Nichole) Hanselman, and Amy (Brian) Morse; as well as 14 great- grandchildren.

Her life centered on her family and serving her church, Salem Evangelical Lutheran. She much appreciated the many friendships forged during her 25 years of living at Lurie Terrace. Always an intrigued mind, she lamented the late arrival of the computer age so late in her life. The Detroit Tigers have lost one of their most loyal fans, the score of every game being meticulously recorded. All who love her are thankful for the quality of life she enjoyed to the very end. We thank Arbor Hospice and The Chelsea Retirement Community for the loving care. Funeral service took place Tuesday, March 5, 2011 at Salem Lutheran Church. Memorials may be made to Salem Lutheran Church 7474 Scio Church Road, 48103.

Notes for Joy Ann Van Gelderen:
 In Loving Memory of Joy Hirth

The Lord took our pastor's wife, Joy Hirth, home to Heaven on Friday, February 19, 2010. She was diagnosed with cancer eight years ago. At that time, the doctors said she had six months to a year. The Lord has graciously done many miracles in the last eight years to give her more time with us. She has lived the last eight years vibrantly and full of life. She always had a sweet spirit and never complained. Even though we will miss her, we are rejoicing that she is with the Lord and we will see her again someday. Please keep our Pastor and church family in your prayers during this time. The funeral service will be at our church on Saturday, February 27th at 11:00 a.m.

Joy Ann Hirth of Ann Arbor, Michigan, beloved wife, sister, and aunt, went to be with her Lord on February 19, 2010, with her loving husband at her side. She was 53 years of age. Joy was born on July 5, 1956 in Miami, Florida, the daughter of the late Martin Wayne Van Gelderen, Sr. and Tirrell Lyman Stoutenborough. Joy is survived by her husband Gary O. Hirth and brothers: Wayne Van Gelderen, Jr. (Beverly) and their five children, Jim (Rhonda) and their three daughters, John (Marylynn) and their son. She is also survived by her sister Joanna Gillmore (Mark) and their nine children as well as by her Aunt Elinor Van Gelderen, Uncle James Stoutenborough, and several others.

Visitation will be held at Ann Arbor Baptist Church, 2150 S. Wagner on Friday, February 26, 2010, 6-8 p.m. and Saturday, February 27, 2010, 9-10:45 a.m.. Ninety friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Lindemann, R. 2, Saline gathered at the American Legion Hall, Saturday evening Feb. 22, 1947 to help them celebrate the 25th anniversary of their wedding day. The evening's entertainment started with all playing games. Prizes were awarded to those winning high and low scores. Rev. H. L. Engel gave a reading of a Jewish wedding, which was followed by group singing. A mock wedding caused much merriment when the bride appeared with all male attendants and the bridegroom was escorted by girls, dressed in funny costumes. A lovely four tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom and served with refreshments. The couple received many, lovely gifts of silver, also a purse of silver.

Notes for Helene Rosina Weber:

Helen Hirth has retired (Oct. 1968) . . . but life is still exciting. Helen, who lives at 309 N. Harris, had worked at Universal Die Casting Division for 24 years, ever since the plant included only one room with two die-casting machines "and a couple of pressers and a couple of tappers". Before she left, in mid-September, her fellow employees gave her "a wonderful, wonderful party and lovely gifts". Since then, lots of things have happened. First, she spent a week with her son. Dale, in Plymouth, and his family . . . then, on Friday night, she went to Saginaw to see her granddaughter, Sherry Lee (Dale's daughter) take part in Homecoming ceremonies. Sherry Lee, a student at the Michigan Lutheran Seminary in Saginaw, was chosen as junior class representative in the court of the Homecoming Queen. There was another big event for Helen last week. She had let her driver's license lapse 22 years ago ... so, on Thursday, she gathered her nerve, went over and took the test, passed with flying odors . . . and got her license back. Yet, even with all this going on, she misses the girls at UDC . . . and habit wakes her up every morning at 5:30 a.m. She stays in bed, visualizing the scurry of her old friends to get to work . . . "I know just what each one is doing" . . . and in her mind's eye she gets them all safely to the plant and checked in. A 7 a.m. bell rings, at the plant . . . and then, and only then, Helen turns over and goes back to sleep.

Grand Rapids and Kent County, Michigan: historical account of ..., Volume 2. By Ernest B. Fisher.

Arthur E. Kusterer.—Grand Rapids figures as one of the most attractive, progressive and prosperous communities of the State of Michigan, justly claiming a high order of citizenship and a spirit of enterprise which is certain to conserve consecutive development in the material up building of the city. In this development, civic, business and personal interests are affected by many factors, one of the most important of which is that represented by the investment banking and brokerage business. In this field it is necessary that there be men of judgment and foresight, in order that the communities investing capital can be placed in a legitimate manner and that it not be diverted from the channels that make for strength and stability in our institutions. Of the men engaged in this line of business at Grand Rapids, one who has met with success is Arthur E. Kusterer, president of the firm of Kusterer, Hilliker & Perkins. He is still numbered among the younger business men of the city, but has already made a name and reputation for himself in his chosen field. Mr. Kusterer was born at Grand Rapids, April 4, 1883, son of Charles F. Kusterer. He was educated in the graded and high schools of the city and at the University of Michigan, in which institution he was graduated in 1905, with the degree of Bachelor of Science. After graduating he returned to Grand Rapids to enter his present field, the investment banking and brokerage business. The first five years were spent in the employ of local investment banking firms, after which the investment banking firm of A. E. Kusterer & Company was formed, which was succeeded after several years by Kusterer, Hilliker & Perkins, of which firm he is president. He has been a participant in a remarkable success that has attended this firm's operations and has qualified unreservedly as a business man of marked energy, great capacity and thorough knowledge in his special line. In the affairs of the nation, as expressed by political matters, Mr. Kusterer is a non-partisan voter, and in local matters he is guided by the man rather than the party, preferring to use his own judgment rather than to follow blindly the choice of the organization. He belongs to the Park Congregational church, and his social connections include membership in the Peninsular Club and the Kent Country club. Mr. Kusterer was married, Oct. 3, 1908, to Miss Emma Foss, daughter of Willis O. Foss, of Auburn, Me., and of this union have been born two children, twins—Virginia and Elizabeth.

Arthur E. Kusterer, 68, retired investment broker, died yesterday April 14, 1951 at his home, 919 Napoli Drive, Pacific Palisades. He started in the investment business 40 years ago in Philadelphia and later was with J. P. Morgan & Co. For many years he headed his own concern, A. E. Kusterer & Co., Grand Rapids, Michigan. Mr. Kusterer, who moved to Santa Monica 20 years ago, was a member of the Los Angeles Country Club. The body will be sent by Pierce Bros. Santa Monica Mortuary to Grand Rapids for funeral services. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Florence Kusterer.

He married Emma Katherine Schlicht 12 Jun 1924 in Sharon Twp, Washtenaw Co, Michigan, daughter of Johann Schlicht and Christine Schaible. She was born 11 Apr 1900 in Sharon Twp, Washtenaw Co, Michigan, and died 11 Oct 1972 in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw Co, Michigan.

Notes for Nathanael Oscar Alber:

Alber's Cider Mill

Sippin' sweet cider in the fall was one of the fancy festivities back when grandmother was a girl, and still is. It is just as American as Thanksgiving Day and pumpkin pie—and every bit as delectable. The Alber' cider mill, last one in the Manchester area, is still grinding out apples every fall. The farm, owned and operated by Nathan Alber and his son, N. Allen Alber is at 13011 Bethel Church Road, about four and a half miles northeast of Manchester. If the weather stays mild the Albers plan to operate for several weeks in December.

The mill is part of a typical American farm—with a large white frame house—which Michael Alber, Nathan's father built 68 years ago. All of the other buildings are painted red and trimmed with white and neat as wax. The cider mill was built in 1870 as a barn and converted to a cider mill in 1890. It is part of the 217 acre farm. There are about nine acres of apples with about 300 apple trees, which are graded and sold by the peck and bushel.

Alber will tell you the best cider comes from the presses late in the fall—when the apples are good and cold. If the apples are good, you can expect about four gallons from bushel (50 pounds). Crates hold more than bushel baskets.

When Michael Alber first had his mill, there were many others in the area. All of the farmers had at least a few apple trees and there was a real demand for cider mills. They first had a steam engine for power for the presses. This gave way to the gasoline engine. And in 1928, when electricity first went through on Bethel Church Road, they immediately changed to electric power. When Albers grind their own apples—they do custom work, two-pickers in the orchard load the apples for cider on a truck which holds about 200 bushels of apples. They are taken to the mill, where they are put on a conveyor and carried through a water tank and washed. Then they are put in a grinder, which is electrically operated. The ground apples are carried down a chute to a hydraulic press, where the juice is squeezed out and pumped through a screen. The clear juice runs through a conductor to the mill basement and into waiting barrels.

Alber says the most cider he has processed is about 3,300 gallons a day. The average is about 2,000. They do a lot of custom grinding for orchards and customers who bring in tons of apples, such as a concern at Michigan Center which sells to the Jackson area. Work begins at sunup and takes until sundown to complete. Nothing is added to the pure apple juice. The farmer gets back the cider from the apples he brings and Alber can remember when he did it for 2 cents a gallon.

Patrolman Douglas D. Downing had been gunned down. Downing, an Ann Arbor native, was killed as he stepped through the rear door of the National Bank of Ypsilanti branch at 200 E. Downing, a seven-year veteran of the Ypsilanti police Department who just turned 37 Thursday, was responding to a silent alarm triggered during a robbery at the bank about 1:40 p.m. Friday. He was shot three times in the chest from close range. Downing is believed to be the first Ypsilanti police officer in recent history killed in the line of duty.

Herbert Adolph⁸ Diuble (Adolph Friedrich⁷, Abraham⁶ Daeuble, Johann Georg (Diuble)⁵, Maria Catharina⁴ Hirth, Johann Christoph³, Abraham², Ulrich¹ Hirt) was born 14 May 1916 in Lodi Twp, Washtenaw Co, Michigan, and died 27 Aug 1998 in Tecumseh, Lenawee Co, Michigan. He married Louisa Barbara Herter 28 Jan 1939 in Lodi Twp, Washtenaw Co, Michigan, daughter of George Herter and Laura Zahn. She was born 06 Mar 1916 in Lodi Twp, Washtenaw Co, Michigan, and died 09 Feb 2000 in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw Co, Michigan.

Notes for Herbert Adolph Diuble:

Herb and Louisa Diuble began ambitiously when they married, back in 1939. They rented three farms on Waters Rd. and began the beef and dairy and crop operation that has been their living. They also built a family; four daughters and two sons. Now, looking back through the years, it must seem that they built a Diuble dynasty, based on good Washtenaw land, and good Washtenaw stock. By 1946, the couple had done well enough with their three rentals that they were able to buy the one they were living on. That spread, on Waters Rd., was the place where the young Diuble's were raised. Arlene, Ralph, Donna, and Donnie, the twins, and Nancy and Sharon. They all came up on the land, working alongside their father and mother—learning all about farming and livestock the “hands-on” way. They got their formal education in the Saline Area Schools. But they learned lots about life, and the rewards of hard work, on the farm. The Diuble’s started building their beef and dairy herds at the very outset. They began with Hereford and Angus crossbred, buying calves and feeding them for market. Their dairy herd grew to 45 head of Holstein milkers. Then, in 1953, young Ralph earned Grand Champion honors with his Hereford entry in Steer Club competition at the Saline Community Fair. His animal sold at a really exciting price: 60 cents per pound! Ralph did it again in '54. Another Grand Champion Hereford, and another 60-cent bonanza for the young livestock feeder. Arlene followed in 1955. Grand Champ steer at the Fair. A few years later, in 1960, Nancy had her turn in the spotlight. Her beef entry took the winner's trophy as the best in the Steer Club Show. Donnie went the 4-H route, with the same results: A Grand Champ steer at the Washtenaw Achievement Show. A short horn Hereford cross took the trophy. Sharon followed in 1972. Another Saline Fair Grand Champ.

Donna went into sheep—and her Southdown entries were top winners or contenders on the Fair and 4-H circuits. The children’s success at raising premium animals had a strong impact on the family. In 1968, the Diuble’s sold off their dairy herd and moved into beef feeding all the way. Instead of going with the crossbreds, they concentrated on purebred Angus, the breed that Nancy and Sharon had scored with. They’ve prospered—but possibly their greatest satisfaction has come from the winning ways of their children—and now their grandchildren. This year, Ralph’s son and daughter, David and Sally, mopped up top honors in beef competition at the Washtenaw 4-H Show, and then added more ribbons and trophies in the Steer Club judging at the Saline Community Fair. David had done well in 1984 with Reserve Champ at the Fair and in '85 with Reserve Champ steer and Grand Champ Market heifer at the County 4-H Show. There was one basic difference between their 1986 success story and that of their father back in the early '50s. Remember the 60-cent price that Ralph was paid? David's 4-H Grand Champ brought a cool $1.15 per pound. Sally's Saline Steer Club Grand Champion went for $3 per pound.

And the Dynasty will surely live on. Nancy, married to Steve Thelen, a businessman, in the Olivet area, has a career herself, as 4-H extension agent for Eaton County. The two of them have a two-year-old daughter, Renee. “Whenever we see her,” says Herb proudly, “she tells me, “Grandpa, I want a black cow!”” Sharon and her husband, Dan Vassen, make their home on the original Diuble spread on Waters Rd. They’re expecting their first child next February, and the elder Diuble’s won’t be too surprised if the child grows up in the family fashion, working the farm and concentrating on beef cattle. Meanwhile, Herb and Louisa have moved to another farm home on Scio Church Rd. They continue to prosper—but occasionally they’re reminded that livestock farming is a gambler’s business, with a dash of danger thrown into the mix for excitement. In the midst of David’s and Sally’s triumph at the 4-H Fair, one of David’s prize animals, the Grand Champion Market heifer, broke loose. Herb, holding the trophy for his grandson, tried to stop the animals. “It knocked me down and jumped right over me,” Herb recalls. “I got a few aches and bruises, but at least I hung onto the trophy, and it didn’t get a scratch.” Herb and Louisa don’t push themselves quite as hard as they did when they were a little younger. For almost a quarter-century, for instance, Herb has been pretty much the judge of which animals to buy in the cattle yards at Gaylord, for Saline Steer Club members’ projects each year. “I may have to give it up,” he says now. “It’s getting awfully hard to choose good feeder stock.” But he’s out in his fields every day. Although he turned 70 last May, he’s not about to stop farming. “good exercise,” he says. “I wouldn’t dare quit.” He wants to be ready, when Renee and her young cousin come around for help on their first project animals!

Marriage Notes for Herbert Diuble and Louisa Herter:

Herbert A. Diuble, 22 years old, of Ann Arbor, came to the County Courthouse Tuesday morning Jan. 17, 1939 to get a marriage license and immediately was given a chance to work out its cost. Attorneys trying a case had exhausted a panel of 30 jurors, with three places still to be filled. As Deputy Sheriff Erwin Klager went in search of a fresh supply of talesmen, he saw Diuble and drafted him along with five others. Conscripted into the jury box before he even had a chance to get his license, Diuble slatted earning an unexpected $4 a day. It was the first time in a year and a half, court officials said, that the regular panel had been exhausted. Diuble got his license at the jury's noon recess. He will marry Louise B. Herter, 22, of Route Four, Ann Arbor.

Miss Louisa Herter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Herter of Scio Church Road, and Herbert Diuble, of Ellsworth Road, were united in marriage by Rev. Arthur Wacker at a double ring ceremony at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon January 28, 1939, at the Scio Lutheran Church.

Miss Herter chose a white embroidered marquisette frock with which she wore a short tulle veil and carried Johanna Hill roses. She was attended by Miss Erma Luckhardt of Lodi Township as maid of honor, wearing pink taffeta, and by two bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Diuble, a sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Margaret Larmee of West Liberty Road, both wearing aquamarine net. All carried harmonizing noses. Katherine Gartman of Freedom Township as flower girl wore aqua blue taffeta and carried a basket of rose petals. Elmer Diuble assisted his brother as best man and the ushers were three cousins of the bride, Walter, Paul and Erwin Herter, and a cousin of the bridegroom, Raymond Diuble.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herter after the ceremony. The couple will live on and Waters Road.

Louisa and Herbert Diuble of Ann Arbor will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at a special buffet reception this Sunday, Jan. 29, 1989 at Salem Lutheran Church in Ann Arbor. The event will be hosted by the couple's six children; Arlene and Lloyd Grau of Chelsea; Ralph Diuble of Ann Arbor; Donna and Jim Guenther of Ann Arbor; Donald Diuble of Manchester; Nancy and Steven Thelen of Olivet; and Sharon and Dan Vaassen of Ann Arbor. Notes for Steven Lee Diuble:

Sept. 9, 1994 - Trigger is at the top of his game. No Australian terrier has won more in the United States this year than he has. Champion The Farm's Trigger Happy, a 3-year-old owned by handler Steve Diuble of Saline and breeder Sheila Dunn of Grass Lake, beat 14 champions in breed at the Westminster Kennel Club Show at Madison Square Garden in February. Trigger, who stands 11 inches tall and weighs 18 pounds, is competing Saturday in the Saginaw Valley Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show & Obedience Trial and Sunday in the Livonia Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show & Obedience Trial. Diuble can't say enough about the blue and tan terrier: "Trigger's an ambassador for the breed. He's got a wonderful temperament. He's very loving and affectionate, outgoing and sensible. He's a fun show dog. He's very animated in the ring, but not hyperactive." Trigger's also being worked in obedience by Dunn, and Diuble said he will compete for a Companion Dog obedience title next year.

Diuble and Dunn also own Trigger's dad, Champion The Farm's Free Style, the nation's top Australian terrier in 1989-90. Freebie, 9, has sired 25 champions. "This is a big dog in a small package," Diuble said of the breed. "They're very adaptable. They can live in an apartment or on a farm. They require minimum grooming and are a very sturdy, healthy breed on the whole. They live 12 to 16 years." The standard was established in 1896 in Australia, where it is a working breed. "They controlled rodents and killed snakes there," said Diuble, who is publicity chairman of the Ann Arbor Kennel Club and the accounting manager for First of America Bank. Australian terriers were recognized by the American Kennel Club in 1960 and are judged in the Terrier Group. American Kennel Club statistics show only 36 dogs and 17 litters were registered in 1994.

Marriage Notes for Esther Caddes and Alexander Watzulik:

Miss Esther Caddes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Caddes 140 Crater Ave, Dover, was united in marriage with Alexander Eugene Watzulik, at a double ring service performed Saturday afternoon June 30, 1951 at 2 o'clock at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church in Dover. The Rev. Reinhard Krause impressively read the ceremony in a setting of candelabra, palms and two altar bouquets of white delphinium and roses. Rings used were heirlooms in the Watzulik family. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Margaret Watzulik of Woodbill Road, Cleveland, and the late Richard M. Watzulik.

Escorted to the altar by her father, who was giving her in marriage, the bride was dressed in a gown of imported Chantilly lace in antique ivory, draped over a matching slip and lined in silk net. The off the shoulder effect neck-line was yoked in silk illusion and a silk ruffle extended below the full chapel-length skirt. Her headpiece and gauntlets were of Ivory satin and her veil was of shoulder-length. She carried white roses and ivy on a white Bible. She also wore an antique gold necklace which was made by the bridegroom.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Austin Gale of Boston, Massachusetts, matron of honor. She was attired in delicate lavender with short white mitts and carried a basket of deep purple carnations. White carnations were in her hair. The bridegroom's brother, Richard Watzulik of Columbus, was best man and Valdon Lang of Cleveland and Austin Gale were ushers. A black and white two-piece silk dress with white accessories was worn by the bride's mother and Mrs. Watzulik was dressed in natural colored two-piece suit with natural and yellow accessories.

A half hour recital of nuptial music was played before the ceremony by Mrs. Gerald Winkler, this city. Included were "Poeme", "Cantilena", "In Summer", "Angel's Serenade", "Romance" and "On Wings of Song". She also played the traditional wedding marches. Clarence Tarris, Cleveland, college classmate of the couple, was soloist and sang "Thine Alone" and "The Lord's Prayer".

An outdoor reception was held at the bride's home and her cousins, Misses Margery and Wanda Jean Mizer, this city, were hostesses. For traveling, when the couple left for a motor trip East, the bride wore a white summer suit with gold and gray accessories. They will reside in Cleveland. Mrs. Wataulik, a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Art, is a member of Beta Gamma Art Sorority, Textile Arts Club of the Cleveland Museum of Art, and is now a commercial artist at the Ditchfield Studio in Cleveland. Her husband attended the same art Institute and graduated this Spring from the New Castle Jeweler's Training School in New Castle, Pennsylvania. John Marshall (Jack)⁹ Frey (Otto Joseph⁸, Dorothea (Dora)⁷ Brandt, Anna Maria⁶ Hirth, Johann Georg⁵, Johann Georg⁴ Hirt, Johann Christoph³ Hirth, Abraham², Ulrich¹ Hirt) was born 10 Nov 1928 in Grand Rapids, Kent Co, Michigan, and died 02 Jan 2003 in Naples, Collier Co, Florida. He married Mary Ethel (Pepper) DeYoung Dec 1951. She was born 25 Aug 1927 in Boston, Massachusetts, and died 25 Sep 2016.

Notes for John Marshall (Jack) Frey:

John Frey age 74, of Naples, Florida, died Thursday, January 02, 2003. Born and raised in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Jack attended Cranbrook Academy, the US Navy and Harvard Business School, Class of 1955, during which he married his sweetheart, Pepper, in December 1951. Through his indomitable patience and doubly dry sense of humor, Jack lovingly fathered his three precocious daughters in Wellesley, Massachusetts during the raucous 60's and 70's. He successfully built Wellesley Volkswagen, Mazda & Buick, Inc. and ran it for 23 years with great pride in his dedicated team. He was an avid golfer and tennis player and he treasured his membership at the Wellesley Country Club and the Mid Ocean Club in Bermuda. Since retiring to Naples, Florida back in 1993, he made his mark on the tees at Grey Oaks Country Club, then at Bentley Village in 2001.

He is survived by his wife of 51 years, Pepper Frey, and his "gaggle" of girls: Pam Frey of Naples, Florida, Wendy Caswell of Boston, Massachusetts, Cindy Perry of Oakland, California, his granddaughter, Cara Caswell of Boston, Massachusetts and his two brothers, Robert Frey of Southport, Connecticut and Thomas Frey of Sarasota, Florida. A devoted husband, extraordinary father and family man, Jack was loved "a bushel and a peck" and is missed as much as he was loved. Funeral Services were held privately. Donations may be made in his memory to Alzheimer's Association, 919 N. Michigan Av, Suite 1100, Chicago, Illinois 50611. Arrangements by Fuller Funeral Home, Naples, Florida.

Notes for Mary Ethel (Pepper) DeYoung:

Mary Ethel DeYoung Frey, best known as Pepper, born in Boston on August 25, 1927, passed away Sept. 25, 2016, with her devoted daughters and animals by her side. A remarkable woman who redefined the art of waitressing by adding song and dance, became a champion tennis player in Massachusetts by practicing in-between school and jobs, then barreled her way to top golfer at Wellesley Country Club. In mid-life she rose to premier Real Estate Broker in Wellesley, Massachusetts. Later, she became a tenacious Bridge whiz among her Bentley Village friends in Naples, Florida. A firecracker personality and a tiger to the core, Pepper infused her daughters with a can do spirit and an unswerving work ethic, along with a deep respect for all people---from sipping coffee with Joe the mailman at her kitchen table to connecting with the cooks at Grey Oaks---everyone was welcomed. Above all, Peppers generosity knew no bounds. She lived to ease her daughters burdens, delighted in helping her friends, and surprised new inductees to her circle with unexpected acts of kindness. To say she will be missed seems insufficient yet we already feel her spirit tugging at our heart strings whispering just do it and yes you can.

Pepper is survived by her daughters, Cindy Perry and Pam Frey, her grandchild, Cara Caswell and great grandchild Sawyer Jack Caswell. In lieu of flowers, Peppers family asks that you give freely and have one last dance for her.

Marriage Notes for Perry Tenney and Frances Bourke:

June 15, 1942 - Accenting her striking brunette beauty with a wedding gown of white silk jersey fashioned on fluid lines, Miss Frances Elizabeth Bourke became the bride of Lieutenant Perry Goodrich Tenney, of Quantico, Virginia, and East Lansing, Michigan, at a ceremony taking place at 8:30 o'clock last evening. Rev. William V. Gardner officiated at Winship Chapel of the First Presbyterian church, and following the nuptials, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bourke, parents of the bride, entertained at a reception at their home on Huntington road in Brookwood Hills.

Vows were spoken in a setting of palms, white gladioli, feverfew and white larkspur, and branched candelabra held white tapers. Musical selections were played by Charles Sheldon. Lieutenant Harold Stege, of Oak Park, Illinois, was the groom's best man, and groomsmen were Joseph Horacek Jr., Haines Hargrett, Dr. Hoyt Simpson and Clark Gager. Miss Jo Besancon, of Detroit, Mich., was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a gown of white starched chiffon inset with bands of eyelet flowers, and carried a bouquet of coral gladioli to match the coral velvet bow worn in her hair. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her distinctive beauty was offset by her white silk jersey wedding gown fashioned with a train several yards in length. Her veil of heirloom Princess lace fell from a cluster of white violets atop her head, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Assisting in entertaining at the wedding reception were Mrs. May Gilfillan, Mesdames Joseph Horacek, Charles Harvey Kersey, Kiser Stephenson, W. L. Iriglis and Miss Dollie Evins. Mrs. Bourke, mother of the bride, wore a stunning gown of white lace accented by a shoulder cluster of deep purple orchids. Mrs. Perry L. Tenney, of East Lansing, Michigan, wore for her son's wedding a modish gown of rose crepe with orchids. The home was adorned with a profusion of pastel flowers, and in the dining room the bride's table was centered with a wedding cake and overlaid with a cloth of Venetian lace. The cake was posed on a mound of valley lilies. For traveling, the bride donned a beige suit trimmed with brick red and black, and designed by Adrian. Her hat was a black toque, and her shoulder spray was of white orchids. Out-of-town guests were Miss Jo Besancon, Detroit, Michigan; Miss Sue Barlow, River Forest, Illinois; Lieutenant Harold Stege, Oak Park, Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Maxon, Bradley, South Carolina and Mrs. Perry L. Tenney, East Lansing, Michigan.

934. Nathan Allan⁹ Alber (Nathanael Oscar⁸, Mary Christina⁷ Diuble, Abraham⁶ Daeuble, Johann Georg (Diuble)⁵, Maria Catharina⁴ Hirth, Johann Christoph³, Abraham², Ulrich¹ Hirt) was born 19 Mar 1930 in Freedom Twp, Washtenaw Co, Michigan, and died 21 Jan 2007 in Freedom Twp, Washtenaw Co, Michigan. He married Ann Iona Way 23 Aug 1952 in Manchester, Washtenaw Co, Michigan. She was born 31 Mar 1930 in Pittsford, Hillsdale Co, Michigan.

Notes for Nathan Allan Alber:

Nathan A. (Al) and Ann Alber, Manchester: The Alber family settled in Freedom Twp. in June of 1855. Being of German heritage they were farmers who grew grains, forage and raised livestock. They also managed an orchard and cider mill. Horses powered the mill. In 1881 John M. Alber, my great grandfather purchased 75 acres from Jason Gillet. This was sold to my grandfather Michael P. Alber in December of 1887. He then installed a (modern) cider mill powered by a steam engine in 1890. This was replaced by a gasoline engine in 1911 and electricity in 1927. The 75 acres was then passed down in turn, to Nathan O. in 1938 to Nathan A. in 1973 (was certified a centennial farm in 1987) and to Michael A. Alber in 1992. Michael A. in 1998 chose to pursue other interests and sold the property. Ann and I still live on the farm by Silver Lake that was purchased by my grandfather in 1901, (certified a centennial farm in 2001). We have enjoyed our life together here. We have seen many changes over the years, perhaps the most significant of which was the transition from horses to the tractors of today. The advent of hybrid seeds and the use of chemicals for weed and insect control also made life on the farm easier and more profitable. I regret the seeming necessity of government farm subsidies and believe that they are destroying the values that were so prized by previous generations.

Alber, Nathan A. (Al), Born March 19, 1930 in Freedom Twp, Washtenaw County, MI passed away January 21, 2007. The son of Nathan O. and Emma K. (Schlicht) Alber. Al married Anna I. Way on August 23, 1952 and she survives, also survived by two children, Pamela S. Hughes and Michael A. Alber, as well as six grandchildren: Daniel, Andrea, Michelle, Emily, Alisha and Philip.

He was a life-long member of the Emanuel United Church of Christ, life member of the NRA. He lived and worked until retirement in 1992 on the family farm in Freedom Twp. Al also owned and operated Alber Orchard and Cider Mill, first with his parents, then with his wife and children. Al served on the board of directors of Union Savings Bank and Freedom Twp, board of review. After retiring Mr. Alber also was a part-time hourly employee of Pioneer HI-BRED Inc.

Cremation has taken place. A memorial service will be held on May 12, 2007. Private interment Oak Grove Cemetery, Manchester. Memorial donations may be made to "Dutchmen fire-fighters". Arrangements entrusted to Borek Jennings Funeral Home, Jenter Chapel.

She married (1) Stanley Dyer, Jr. 26 Jul 1963 in Chelsea, Washtenaw Co, Michigan; born Aft. 1935. She married (2) William Ronald Prather 06 Apr 1968 in Arizona; born 14 Nov 1942 in Arkansas.

Marriage Notes for Nancy Carter and Stanley Dyer:

Nancy Lee Carter and Stanley A. Dyer, Jr., exchanged wedding vows during a candlelight service at St. Paul's United Church of Christ at 7 o'clock Friday evening July 26, 1963. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Pau M. Schnake in the presence of approximately 150 guests. The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Carl Mayer. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blaess of N. Fletcher Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Dyer, Sr., of E. Summit St. The bride's floor-length gown was of white silk organza with a slightly scooped neckline and long sleeves. Lace was used for a yolk on the bodice and front panels on the skirt. The lace was trimmed with iridescent sequins. Wide folds at the back of the skirt gave a bustle effect and extended to form a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a small crown trimmed with seed pearls. The bride carried a white Bible with a flower arrangement which included a white orchid and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Patricia Carter, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her street-length- dress was of mint green taffeta with white lace covering the entire bodice. Back interest was provided by a large bow at the waistline. Her head-piece was fashioned of matching taffeta to simulate flower petals and secured her tiny circular veil. A bouquet of white roses and white baby carnations completed her ensemble. Carol Dancer and Linda Koengeter, former classmates of the bride, were bridesmaids. They were gowned like the maid of honor, their bouquets, however, being of all white baby carnations. Judith Blaess, sister of the bride, and Vickie Sager, a niece of the bridegroom were flower girls. Carrying out the green and white color theme of the wedding, they wore white organza dresses with mint green, sashes.

The bride's mother wore lime colored silk sheath dress with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The bridegroom's mother, in royal blue chiffon, chose black patent accessories. She also had a corsage of gardenias. Tim Whitesall of Chelsea and Jim Millis of Webberville, served as usher, while Jerry Abdon, also of Chelsea, assisted the bridegroom as best man.

At the reception which followed in the church hall, the bride's cousin, Linda Blaess, cut the wedding cake; Mary Ann Hanson poured punch; Sue Lofquist poured coffee; and Linda Jacob was in charge of the guest book. Following the reception at the church, a party was given by the bridegroom's parents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lake. When the couple left for a week-end trip to the western part of the state, the bride was wearing a coral linen suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. They are now residing at 233 Jefferson St. The bride is a graduate of Chelsea High School and attended Michigan State University at East Lansing. She is employed at Chelsea Drug Store. The bridegroom who is manager of the Sun Oil Co. service station at Fleteher Rd. and 1-94, is also a graduate of Chelsea High School and attended Michigan State University. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Ann Arbor, Jackson and Lansing and from points in Ohio and New Jersey. Pre-nuptial parties for the bride included two-showers, one given by Mrs. Beverly Sager and Mrs. Ernest Norman and one by Carol Dancer.

Notes for Ronald Elmer Diuble:

Lodi Twp, Michigan, Jan. 27, 2002 - The guys at Diuble Equipment and Peg Diuble, too don't feel like they're on the endangered species list. Yes, in 1940 there were 14 farm equipment dealerships in Washtenaw County, and now there are three left the kind that sell big tractors and harvesting equipment, not just suburban lawn mowers. It's true that 24,049 acres went out of agricultural production in Washtenaw County between 1987 and 1997. But those statistics don't spell doom to three generations of Diubles (pronounced "Di-blees"). With a ready grin, a Diuble Equipment cap pushed slightly back over his white hair, Elmer Diuble, 80, leans on the counter inside the Lodi Township store and repair shop. He looks forward to dozens of familiar faces and the chance to chew the fat about good hay-baling weather, the relatively poor soybean crop, or his view that the U.S. needs to rely on its own farmers for food considering the recent terrorist attacks.

He founded the company 34 years ago. Now his son Ron Diuble, daughter-in-law Peg and three grandsons, Scott, Mike and Kevin Diuble, run the business. And business is good, they say. Judging by loyal customers such as George Schnierle - he's stopped by to check on the new $135,000 combine he ordered - area farmers, along with more recent country dwellers, are buying enough to keep this venerable family business a going concern. Used tractors in faded oranges and reds stake out the boundaries of the gravel lot around the business. But the gleaming Agco tractors with 6-foot wheels and air-conditioned cabs near the door tell you this place is headquarters for 21st century farmers, not a sentimental resting place for vintage machines.

Looking beyond the tall signs announcing that Bobcat, Hesston, Simplicity and six other lines of agricultural equipment are sold here, you can see the neat white farmhouse where Elmer Diuble has lived and farmed since 1956. He still goes to work daily. Richard Miller stopped in recently to buy $61 worth of baler twine. He lives in Dexter and farms near Grass Lake, but he'll often swing south to the big steel building. "I'll go out of my way to come here for parts, because they'll usually have them," he says. Schnierle's new combine is the fifth he's bought from the Diubles. At 69, Schnierle farms 380 acres and does 900 acres of custom work around Washtenaw County. "They always keep you moving," he says. Take the day he called Diuble 40 minutes before the store's closing time when his equipment broke down. "They brought me the gear to the field," he says. Past filters, oil, generators and riding mowers, customers swivel on three padded stools at the counter, where they can josh with one another as they look for parts in catalogs or plunk down a mower blade needing repair. A lot of information gets swapped here. "I really like these guys," says Mark McCullough, who has a tractor from his landscaping business being repaired. "I don't go anywhere else for the services and products they provide." On this day, he's giving the staff a good-natured hard time: His tractor's not ready. The Diubles are giving him a loaner. "It's like a small-town type of atmosphere," says McCullough.

"We've got over 100 years of experience, total," Elmer Diuble says. He's got 61. In 1940, he began selling farm equipment at Ann Arbor Implement. "I helped sell horse-drawn equipment when I started," he says. Now his youngest grandson, Kevin Diuble, 27, is Diuble Equipment's resident electronics technician for complex, versatile tractors and harvesters' farmers now use. Agco's biggest combines list at $235,000. Diuble sells about four a year. The company also gets an important chunk of its income from the increasing demand for smaller equipment: riding lawn mowers, Bobcat snow sweeper-road scrapers and the like. But its core business still is with farmers. Some come from Lenawee and Monroe counties. Ron Diuble heads the operation. But you'd never know it, says his dad, because he's not tucked away in his cramped office. "We have no dead wood here," Elmer Diuble says. Peg, Ron's wife, has kept the books for the business for nearly a dozen years. But Elmer Diuble says he left it up to his offspring to decide whether they wanted to work in the family business. "They all had a trial job elsewhere," he says. Customers can order "Field-star" on-board computers that measure yields from different parts of the field during harvesting and record differing moisture levels. The information helps farmers tailor fertilizer amounts for next year. Mike Score thinks he knows why the Diubles' business is surviving.

"They focus on building relationships with customers and then maintaining them." Score, the agricultural agent for Washtenaw County-Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, says Elmer Diuble is one of a handful of veteran farmers who know the farms and families of the area. "He is a walking history book of farming in Washtenaw County." Elmer Diuble was raised about a mile from the business he founded. On the farm that his great-grandfather bought in 1835, Elmer grew up speaking German at home. Almost everyone he knew was part of Lodi's German farm community. "I can speak German even today," he says. He learned arithmetic at Blaess School, the one-room schoolhouse that still stands, which the Saline Area Historical Society plans to move and preserve. Diuble enjoys the status of wise community elder, talking at the store counter to sons and grandsons of people he's known all his life. "We talk about anything and everything, the crops and the yields," he says. "We talk about the good and the bad." He comes most days to the dealership because otherwise, he says, "I get bored. The only time I don't get bored is when I'm working on the farm." Soon he'll be harvesting soybeans on his farm next door and on land he leases, except for some help hauling from his 75-year-old brother. Washtenaw County has 150,000 acres in agricultural production. Those acres have soils that won't perk for septic fields, Score says, so they're likely to remain crop and grazing land. "We're not on our deathbed as an agricultural economy, and that's why Diuble is still selling farm equipment."

He was born 1930 in Courtenay, Stutsman Co, North Dakota, and died Sep 1972.

Notes for Betty Carolyn Zeilstra:

Our mother, grandmother and friend, Betty Carolyn Zeilstra Stachlowski passed away Saturday, Dec. 1, 2007, after six weeks of intensive care at St. Vincent's Hospital in Billings. Born April 11, 1940, to Martha and Frank Zeilstra of Miles City, Betty grew up outside Miles City at Fort Keough and was the second oldest of five children. Driving into Miles City always evoked strong memories of a happy childhood as she often reminisced about the things she and the neighborhood children would do while growing up there. Although a happy childhood, it was one filled with various illnesses, of which multiple episodes of rheumatic fever would cause her the most lasting impact in the form of a damaged heart.

After graduating high school in 1958 from Custer County High School in Miles City, she moved west to Portland and eventually settled in Seattle. She married her first husband, Bob Thompkins, and soon after they had a son she called "Little Tom." Tom passed away a few short weeks later from complications of a heart ailment.

Later they divorced, and Betty met and married Bernard Stachlowski in January 1964. Bernard worked for Boeing and Betty worked for a finance company in Seattle. In October they welcomed Sharon Rae, their first daughter, and Bernadine "Dina" Kay followed in June 1970.

After the sudden and shocking death of her husband in September 1972, Betty felt it best to move her two young girls out of the big city and "Home" to Miles City, as she knew what a great place it was to grow up. Betty was a stay-at-home mom so her girls would never come home to an empty house. Her devotion to raising her two daughters became her passion, and she would attend every event her two girls were involved in, until her health once again became an issue.

Her heart started to fail her, and in 1984, at the young age of 44, she underwent open heart surgery to replace two of the malfunctioning valves in her heart. The surgery was a huge success and Betty was a new person with a new heart, and she got back to enjoying life. One of her proudest moments was getting her associate's degree from Miles Community College.

Her passion and love of reading and books eventually prompted her to start her own new and used bookstore in Miles City called The Book Mark. Later she sold the store and moved to Bozeman to be closer to her two grown girls and her grandchildren. Grandma could often be found waiting in front of the grade school an hour early, sitting in her car reading a book waiting for her grandkids to get out of school.

Betty loved to read and to crochet; she did beautiful embroidery work, played board games and cards, and watched NASCAR racing. She was an eclectic woman full of life and humor. It was this humor that resonates with most everyone she knew, from the casual acquaintance at a grocery store, to her doctors and nurses, and especially with all of her friends and family. Her infectious laugh had an intensity and warmth that no matter where you were, you could recognize it immediately and know it was her. Her physical heart may have been weak and damaged, but her true heart in her spirit could never have been any bigger or stronger. In many ways Betty was larger than life itself. She was a walking icon of medical miracles over the years, but it wasn't through medicine itself that she continued to endure and live, but through her own strong will within in her mind and spirit, she was a fighter and giving up was just simply not an option. Although she lost this last battle in a physical sense, she definitely won the war in truly living this life as good fun-loving person and giving it her all.

Betty was preceded in death by her husband, Bernard; and her father, Frank.

Betty is survived by her mother, Martha Zeilstra of Miles City; two sisters, Judy Cartwright and Bernice Charley; two brothers, John and Tom Zeilstra; daughters, Sharon Stachlowski and Dina Ganser; and three grandchildren, Colton, Danyelle and Olivia; along with many nieces, nephews and extended family.

She carried the following newspaper clipping around in her purse for many many years, and it truly reflects her thoughts on life and death: "At a certain moment a doctor will determine that my brain has ceased to function and that, for all intents and purposes, my life has stopped. When that happens, do not attempt to instill artificial life into my body by the use of a machine. And don't call this my 'deathbed'. Call it my 'bed of life', and let my body be taken from it to help others lead fuller lives. "Give my sight to a man who has never seen a sunrise, a baby's face or the love in the eyes of a woman. Give my heart to a person whose own heart has caused nothing but endless days of pain. Give my blood to the teenager who has been pulled from the wreckage of their car, so that they may live to see their grandchildren play. Give my kidneys to one who depends on a machine to exist from week to week. Take my bones, every muscle, every fiber and every nerve in my body and find a way to make a crippled child walk. "Explore every corner of my brain, take my cells if necessary and let them grow so that someday a speechless boy will shout at the crack of a bat, and a deaf girl will hear the sound of rain against her windows. "Burn what is left of me and scatter the ashes to the winds to help the flowers grow. If you must bury something, let it be my faults, my weaknesses, and all prejudice against fellowman. Give my soul to God. If by chance you wish to remember me, do it with a kind deed, or words to someone who needs you. If you do all I have asked, I will live forever." - Robert N. Test, author.

We love you so very much, our lives are richer for knowing and sharing it with you, you will be missed terribly so, but never ever forgotten.

Cremation has taken place and her wishes fulfilled. A "Celebration of Life" will take place at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 15, at the Methodist Church in Miles City. In lieu of flowers, donate a toy to Toys for Tots, do a good deed, or better yet become an organ donor in her honor. Although her organs had failed her and were of no use to another, perhaps she can still save someone simply by reading this and honoring her wishes.

Notes for Wendy Anne Frey:

Wendy Anne Frey Caswell, born November 27, 1957 and entered into eternal peace on September 19, 2015. Wendy left our physical world to go talk sports and play golf with her father Jack Frey in heaven. She was survived by her mother Mary "Pepper" Frey, her daughter Cara Caswell, her grandson Sawyer Jack, her sisters Pam and Cindy, her cousins Marc and Chris, and her Uncle Bob.

Wendy grew up in Wellesley, Massachusetts and raised her daughter in Bolton, Massachusetts. She eventually found herself in Boston, Massachusetts, a city that she loved dearly for its beauty and culture. She traveled the world and loved to share that joy with the ones she loved. Wendy was an avid Boston sports fan. She loved going to games and was generous in sharing those experiences. Wendy was a hardworking, successful business woman. During her time at Digital, Compaq and Zink her hard work, dedication and drive was always evident. She left a mark on everyone she worked with, as she was full of kindness, humor and high expectations. Pepper will forever miss her daughter, her best friend, and their special bond. Her sisters Pam and Cindy watched her grow from a free-spirited wild child into a fierce and loving mama. Their love for her has been and always will be everlasting. Wendy has left some of her dearest friends, Susan, Kathy, Leah and Liz with beautiful memories of love, laughter and friendship to cherish forever. Wendy has left Linda, Alyssa and Julia with a lifetime of memories and a motherly influence that will forever be impactful. Wendy cherished her dear friends Stephen and Pat, whose long-time dedication to her was full of love and commitment. Wendy's love and generosity knew no boundaries. She will forever be in the hearts of all her family and friends that she loved. Anyone who was blessed enough to cross paths with her was impacted for the better, her kind aura was radiant and contagious. Wendy (Nana) loved her grandson Sawyer Jack with her whole heart and soul. She showered him with wisdom, kindness, lessons of sportsmanship and countless M & M's. Wendy was a mother beyond compare. She modeled how to be a strong, loving, kind and compassionate woman. She taught Cara the value of love and the importance of celebrating life. Wendy embodied strength and determination in everything she did, spreading her wings with grace and love, keeping Cara close while allowing her to learn the ways of the world. She told Cara to laugh hard, love hard, play hard and try hard at everything you do. So that is what shall be done with gratitude and love, as she would want. Mom, you will be forever missed. May you rest in peace and may your soul be free for all of eternity. Sleep in the stars our angel. There will be a celebration of her beautiful life at a later date. An avid baker, Karen enjoyed trying out new recipes and frequently brought her questions to the King Arthur Baker's Hotline, where they probably knew her by name. Her loved ones were lucky to be the recipients of her finished baked goods, which were always perfectly packaged, never a detail amiss. Gifts were also expertly selected then wrapped in coordinating ribbons and stickers, and to her grandchildren's displeasure (and her delight!), not a single inch was without tape. Her love was always evident. We will cherish the hours (and hours) spent chatting on the phone, and the countless conversations we were blessed to have.

An ever-present and playful grandmother/great-grandmother (and self-proclaimed "Nana-Banana"), she made donut deliveries, visited lemonade stands, attended sporting events, and school concerts, procured kitchen gadgets, joined in cooking classes, generously used emojis in her messages, and never, ever missed a birthday. She taught us to be thoughtful and curious, and for that we will always remain grateful.

Private family services will be held. Church & Chapel Funeral Service Serving the Family Milwaukee.

1199. William Leroy¹⁰ Laubengayer (LeRoy Henry⁹, Katharina Maria Dorothea⁸ Hirth, Martin Heinrich (Henry)⁷, Abraham D.⁶, Johann Georg⁵, Johann Georg⁴ Hirt, Johann Christoph³ Hirth, Abraham², Ulrich¹ Hirt) was born May 1934 in California. He married (1) Judith Rae Blaisdell 06 Dec 1958. She was born Aft. 1932. He married (2) Lynn Susan Halliday 01 Sep 1984 in Wood Co, Ohio. She was born 19 Feb 1940.

Notes for William Leroy Laubengayer:

Sept. 12, 1996 - He creates piece of air-mail history - Giant model plane hangs in Marshall Postal Museum - William Laubengayer would love to fly planes. He can't though, because he has epilepsy. But ever since the Battle Creek resident was 6 years old, he has gotten as close as he can to flying. Over the past 56 years, Laubengayer has made hundreds of model airplanes, the latest and biggest of which is now on display at the Marshall Postal Museum. This (model-building) is my outlet for not being able to fry," Laubengayer said.

After a trip to Smithsonian Institution's National Postal Museum in Washington, D.C., where he saw a huge model air mail plane on display, Marshall Postmaster Mike Schragg decided the Marshall museum needed one. Every year he adds something new to the museum. "My dream was to get an airplane," said Schragg, who then asked Laubengayer to build it. In April, Laubengayer began work on the model 1918 de Havilland DH4 air mail plane. A hip replacement set him back a little, but Laubengayer finished the plane last week. Overall, it took Laubengayer, who worked from design plans of the actual plane, about three months to complete. Schragg paid for the materials while Laubengayer donated his labor. The plane was hung from the museum's ceiling just in time for the 1996 Marshall Home Tour, the only time the museum is open to the public. (Other times, by appointment) The bright yellow model, which has two sets of wings and an open cockpit, is one-fourth the size of the actual plane. Its wingspan is 10.5 feet and the plane's body is 8 feet long. It weighs about 25 pounds, and could be flown by remote if Schragg wanted. It won't be, though, for fear of harming it, he said. The U.S. Postal Service bought the DH-4 planes after they were used in World War I. It marked the beginning of U.S. air-mail service. The planes, 4,800 of which were built, were flown up until the 1930s, Schragg said.

Laubengayer said building the plane was special for him because he worked for the Postal Service in Ann Arbor, spending five years as a mail carrier while attending Eastern University. The retired chemist said it that was his favorite job. "I love the post office. I should have stayed with the post office instead of going to these other jobs. They are never as satisfying as the post office."

Laubengayer, 1400 Normandy Rd., Ann Arbor, were united in marriage at lovely early winter wedding Saturday noon Dec. 6, 1958 at the Salem Lutheran Church. The Rev. Earl G. Gustafson performed the nuptial ceremony. The bride was escorted to the altar and presented in marriage by father. She chose a Directoire wedding gown of lustrous silk brocade in a warm candlelight hue. The sculptured bodice was designed a band of self-fabric which defined the crescent neckline. Her fitted sleeves tapered to a graceful bracelet length where they were accented by the tiniest of covered buttons. A small bow emphasized the empire line where inverted pleats fell gently into a belled skirt, covered buttons held the patterned brocade in a chapel train that created aisle resplendent beauty mantilla of imported Belgian lace, webbed in a delicate floral pattern, fell gracefully to a length. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Jann Trethewey was the maid of honor. Colleen Blaisdell, sister, of the bride, and Miss Karen Laubengayer, sister of the groom, Ann Arbor, served as the bridesmaids. Their identically styled ballerina length gowns were an iridescent jewel green taffeta. The bodices were designed with soft folds which enhanced the scooped necklines. Their sleeves tapered to a becoming bracelet length. Pert empire bows held the contoured center princess panniers which held the waist encircling midriffs. Self-cording caught the lustrous silk in deep bouffant folds that added to their recessional charm. They wore ivy garlands in their hair.

James Johnson, Ann Arbor, Dr. A. Trethewey and LaVerne Tattersall, Owosso, were the best man and groomsmen respectively. Serving as ushers were Richard Amdahl, Eau Claire, Wisconsin, of the bride, and Dennis Gates, Big Rapids, cousin of the groom. The acolytes were James Williams and Robert Anderson.

A reception and dinner for 250 guests was served at the National Guard Armory following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. William Laubengayer will reside at 602 E. Main St., Owosso.

Notes for Darcy Kortz:

Darcy Kortz Krause of Rockford, Michigan, age 75, passed away Monday, March 2, 2020. Darcy was born October 31, 1944 in Grand Rapids, Michigan to John and Dorothea Kortz (Pitcher). She spent most of her childhood living on beautiful Silver Lake in Rockford, Michigan. Darcy received her Master's Degree in Counselor Education and Counseling Psychology from Western Michigan University. Additionally, she completed coursework at Chicago Theological Seminary as she felt it was important to incorporate spirituality into her counseling practice. She held several counseling positions, but she was most proud of how she developed her own private practice, counseling seniors, adults, late teens and couples over the past two decades. Darcy enjoyed participating in interfaith groups and Bible study, most recently at Central Reformed Church in Grand Rapids, MI. Her spiritual journey never really ended, but she felt that she found her spiritual home base at Central Reformed Church. Darcy had so many creative talents and hobbies, some of which included home decorating, landscaping, antiques and knitting. Many of these hobbies impacted her family as she helped decorate their homes and yards and took grandchildren still in strollers out on antique hunts. Out of all of her hobbies, knitting was her passion and along with her private practice, displayed her entrepreneurship. She set up her knitting booth many weekends at Fulton Street Market and sold her hand-knitted dog cowls to a dog boutique in Portland, OR. Darcy was an independent soul and a fighter to the end. She struggled with health problems in the past year, but was able to continue to work and do all the things that she loved, despite doctors predicting that she would slow down. She was comforted these last days by being surrounded by family, friends and her pastors, so she made God wait a little longer for her.

Darcy is remembered in love by her son John Krause (Ashley), daughters Kenyon Krause, Carrie Krause Stahl (Bruce), Megan Krause; grandchildren Alex Krause, Emily Gaskin, Curtis Stahl, Ethan Stahl, Ella Krause, Owen Krause, Olivia Krause; mother Dorothea Pitcher; sister Kristy Kortz, brothers Jonathan Kortz (Diana), Steve Kortz; father of her children, John Krause. She was preceded in death by her beloved father, John Kortz.

In respect of Darcy's wishes, there will not be any public memorial service as she preferred for us to gather together as a family while she was still with us. Those wishing to offer expressions of sympathy are encouraged to make a memorial contribution in Darcy's memory to Central Reformed Church, 10 College Avenue NE, Grand Rapids, Michigan 49503

Notes for G. Clay Hollister:

Jaffrey — As the rain pitter-pattered on the deck of Clay Hollister's 134-year-old home Wednesday morning, he tried in short time to recount the colorful stories of his past, highlighting memories featuring the likes of Martin Scorsese, Richard Nixon and friends of Sesame Street. To say Hollister, 74, has lived an extraordinary life is an understatement; his rich past could fill volumes on the wooden bookshelves of his stately home, where he has a sweeping view of Mount Monadnock.

"We fell in love with it the second we saw it," Hollister said of the place he and his wife, Caroline Hollister, have called home since 2001. "It needed new plumbing, new electric, and a new roof at the time. ... It sits on just 3.6 acres, but who cares." It's the only house built in the town at an elevation of 2,200 feet, with the majestic mountain, which crests at 3,165 feet, in its backdrop. The Hollisters retired in Caroline's hometown of Jaffrey roughly 15 years ago, but remain active in the Monadnock Region. The two were college sweethearts who once traveled the world together — and then some.

Clay Hollister, the son of a U.S. Navy man, was born in New York City and grew up in Greenwich, Connecticut. He went on to study English at Duke University in North Carolina, where he met Caroline, a beautiful young actress with whom he was in the university's drama society. "Meeting her was a game changer," he said with a smile. The two married in 1967, just six months before Hollister deployed to Vietnam. He landed there in February 1968 on the heels of one of the largest military campaigns of the war, the Tet Offensive, and served a total of 14 months as a cameraman, forever preserving an infantry's operations.

Hollister received his draft notice while studying film at New York University Tisch School of the Arts. He enrolled at the university after returning from Nigeria as a U.S. Peace Corps volunteer. In Nigeria, he developed an interest in educational films, which he used as a teaching tool in his English classes in the early 1960s. "It was very challenging for a kid from Greenwich to be pushed into the bush of Nigeria, but it was also a phenomenal experience," Hollister said of his volunteer work abroad. When he returned home to America, he realized he wanted to make films like the ones his students valued, and believed film school was a gateway to realizing that dream. Hollister, though, completed only the first year of the two-year program before he was drafted into military service. But the stories from his film school days live on, including the one about his now-famous classmate Martin Scorsese. Hollister recalled that Scorsese — whose work as a director, producer, actor and screenwriter spans more than four decades — excelled at a young age. Students were required to produce a three-minute short film for class, and Hollister said Scorsese's was "terrific." "I don't remember the topic, but I'm sure he was given an 'A.' He received all kinds of applause." Hollister isn't an Oscar or Golden Globe winner, but he did leave his mark on the film industry before a lengthy career in U.S. government.

One of his early gigs was for The November Group, which served as Richard Nixon's private advertising agency during the 1972 presidential campaign. That group of skilled advertisers and producers was a wing of the Committee for the Re-election of the President. The job worked out well at first, but then Nixon's second term quickly unraveled in the Watergate scandal, Hollister said. The dominoes fell with the June 1972 break-in at the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee at the Watergate office complex. And so did the credibility of those employed with The November Group. "I knew a lot of people in the industry, but they were reluctant, if not somewhat hostile, to work with us," he said.

Hollister struggled to find work, but he had a family to support, including newborn daughter, Gambrill, and so he couldn't give up. On a bit of a whim, he decided to accept a job offer in 1974 at the International College, a secondary school founded in Beirut, Lebanon. The college's president wanted to partner with one of the television stations in Beirut to provide educational programming like that offered in America. At that time the Middle East was "booming with oil money" and "buying up television stations all over," Hollister said. The family's first year in Beirut was good, but during year two a civil war broke out. Consequently, no one cared anymore about producing educational programming for kids — and rightfully so, Hollister said. "It was dangerous, a very unnerving time. We evacuated to Greece twice. We thought it was over, and then in 1976 we were captured by the Palestine Liberation Army," he recalled.

He was living with his wife and two daughters, Gambrill and Sarah, in the village of Damour, 12 kilometers from Beirut. The army had fired directly at homes in the village and so the expatriates there retreated to the college, Hollister said. The Palestinian fighters, though, didn't realize the people were educators and not village natives, he noted. When the army surrounded the college, Hollister chose to open the door and let them in. The alternative was death. His family was arrested at gunpoint and held for two weeks. Their captors fed them food ransacked from the village. "We did finally get out, with the clothes on our back and our children," Hollister said. Immediately after his release, he traveled to Beirut to tell his boss he'd had enough and was going home.

The Hollister family flew back to Jaffrey and took refuge in a cottage Caroline's family owned on Harkness Road. As she and the two girls took needed time to heal, Hollister traveled back and forth to Washington, D.C., where he had professional connections, in hopes of finding more permanent work. And after a few months, he did. Hollister landed a job in media education with the National Fire Protection Administration, later called the U.S. Fire Administration. His proudest achievement was working with The Children's Television Workshop, which created Sesame Street, to teach preschool children fire safety. The project encouraged children to "stop, drop and roll" and "crawl low in smoke." "I can say I brought Sesame Street into the fire world," Hollister said with delight. "The biggest issue at that time, and still is, is children and fire safety. That program made a huge difference." Hollister's story could easily end there, or years earlier, but it doesn't. In fact, some of what he calls his most meaningful work was with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), where he was employed for 27 years.

He held various positions within the agency and worked his way up to the very top, retiring as associate director and acting chief of staff after Sept. 11, 2001. Today, FEMA is not an independent agency; rather it is one of more than 20 different federal departments that operate under the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Following the 9/11 terrorist attacks, FEMA's focus shifted from responding to natural disasters to preparing for man-made ones, Hollister said. And it was at that time, he chose to bow out. "9/11 was not my kind of disaster. I didn't want to work in that world. I'm glad, though, and thankful, that there are people who do."

Until that September morning, the Oklahoma City bombing was the worst terrorist attack to take place on U.S. soil. More than 20 years later, Hollister remembers the home-grown attack all too well; he responded in its aftermath. Hollister led the search and rescue teams, including the dogs who he said were psychologically traumatized after not finding many people alive in the rubble. Hollister had responded to places throughout the country after hurricanes, tornadoes and earthquakes, but Oklahoma City was unlike anything he had ever experienced before. "It was intentional; it wasn't an act of God. It was just malicious and evil," he said. "That gave us a taste of 9/11 in the emergency world."

Although retired, Hollister hasn't left his work entirely behind; he is Jaffrey's emergency management director. In the administrative role, he works closely with the town's first-responders to develop and update emergency plans that can be implemented in a moment's notice. Hollister, who previously served two terms as selectman, said he was recruited by Mike Hartman, then Jaffrey's town manager. His work at the national level didn't go unnoticed by those in the small town, who believed he was most qualified for the position.

But those same people, including his wife, tell him he should set aside time to reflect and write an autobiography. After all, his stories could fill volumes. "Maybe one day I'll stop being an emergency manager and become an author," he said with a wink. "One day."

Keene -- Stephen Holden Krause, 56, died Oct. 12, 2009, in Peterborough. He was born on Sept. 23, 1953, in Washington, D.C, moved to Jaffrey when he was a year old and lived at what is now Match Point. He was the youngest son of the late B. Leonard Krause and Helen Frances Bean and grandson of the late Ellen Holden and Delcie David Bean. He attended Jaffrey Grade School, was a member of the town's Boy Scout Troop, the Babe Ruth League and the United Church of Jaffrey. For several years he played the echo to the ceremonial taps at Veterans' Day and Memorial Day observances in Jaffrey. He attended St. Paul's School in Concord from 1966 to 1972, where he played ice hockey, soccer, and tennis and continued his musical studies. Notes for Lillian Diuble:

June 10, 2019 Diuble sisters have a spring filled with honors. Congressman Tim Walberg was in Manchester last Monday to present a special commendation to Abigail Diuble for her work with the Diuble Family Vision Foundation to provide bed-shaking alarms for children with visual or hearing disabilities, during an emergency such as the family experienced when a tornado struck their home in 2015.

Abby and Lilly Diuble, ages 15 & 17, have received multiple awards and recognition this spring for their community service. Abby, who is finishing her freshman year at Manchester High School, and Lilly, who will be a senior at Manchester next fall, are the daughters of Angela and Scott Diuble of Manchester. Abby and Lilly Diuble joined eight other Washtenaw County high school students in being celebrated for outstanding community service as finalists in the 21st annual Young Citizen of the Year scholarship competition. The Robert Bruce Dunlap Memorial Fund, administered by the Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation, provides a $2,000 college scholarship to the Young Citizen of the Year, and nine finalists, including the Diuble sisters, received $1,000 scholarships.

As two of the founders of the Diuble Family Vision Foundation, the girls have both been involved in community service through the school's Leo Club, as Sunday School teachers at Bethel United Church of Christ, and primarily via their extensive involvement in the Foundation Fighting Blindness' annual Vision Walk. Lilly has personally raised more than $200,000 total for the VisionWalk; Abby has also raised $50,000 for her special project, "Warning Hearing Impaired People (WHIP)" that distributes an alarm system to wake hearing-impaired people, especially children, in case of an emergency during the night hours. To date, more than 40 alarms have been distributed through Abby's WHIP program. It was the WHIP program that attracted the attention of Congressman Tim Walberg, who visited Manchester High School on Monday morning to present Abby with a special commendation. He spent time visiting with Lilly and Abby one-on-one about their accomplishments and also conversed with parents Scott and Angela Diuble about insurance issues.

"Not only is Lillian Diuble hard of hearing, she also has low vision," wrote Diuble Family Vision Foundation board member Kelli Ripple in her nomination letter. "She likely has a condition called Usher Syndrome, which is a progressive loss of hearing and sight. Currently there is no treatment or cure for Usher Syndrome; but instead of feeling sorry for herself, Lillian — at the age of 7 — decided to do something not only to help herself, but to help others too," describing Lilly's involvement in the VisionWalk over the past 10 years. Fellow board member Katelyn Schaible stated, "I am impressed with Abigail's maturity, organization, and people skills; and her willingness to improve the lives of others within our community and the world beyond." Abby also serves as Class President of her class of 2022.

Finally, Lilly, a charter member of the WISD Leo Club, the Lions Club youth service branch—which now meets at Manchester High School thanks to Lilly's efforts—received a prestigious award from the Lions' Michigan District 11 and the state of Michigan. "Lilly was nominated to be the club 'Leo of the Year,'" said Barry Allen of the Manchester Lions Club. "This went to our District Governor, along with nominations from the other Leo Clubs, and she was chosen to represent our six-county District. That selection also put her in the running for the Lions Leo of the Year at the state level, and the Council of Governors selected her above the other entries."

Allen introduced Lilly and briefly described the evening the tornado ripped through their rural farm house, then Lilly provided a few words of thanks. As the Michigan "Leo of the Year," Allen explained, Lilly is also in the running for the Lions Clubs International "Leo of the Year" and those results have not yet been announced.

Lillian Diuble, age: 16, Manchester High School junior, parents: Angela Diuble and Scott Diuble. Community service: fundraiser for Foundation Fighting Blindness, including involving her class in her first VisionWalk team and raising more than $200,000 total for the foundation; youth chair on the VisionWalk board of directors; public speaker for Foundation Fighting Blindness, which aims to find cures and treatments for blinding-eye diseases; fundraiser and youth chair of Diuble Family Vision Foundation; founder of scholarship funded by her family's foundation to recognize community service by a Manchester High School graduating senior; charter member of Washtenaw Intermediate School District's Leo Lions Club, who helped move the club to her school this year; and Sunday school teacher.

Nominated by: Kelli Ripple, member of Diuble Family Vision Foundation board of directors "Not only is Lillian Diuble hard of hearing, she also has low vision. She likely has a condition called Usher Syndrome, which is a progressive loss of hearing and sight," Ripple wrote in her nomination letter. "Currently there is no treatment or cure for Usher Syndrome. Instead of feeling sorry for herself, Lillian -- at the age of 7 -- decided to do something not only to help herself, but to help others too."
