Notes for Dr. Elizabeth Gable:

Dr. Elizabeth Gable died at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Gable, Stewartstown, yesterday May 7, 1897. After a lingering illness from consumption. The deceased, after having been educated in the Stewartstown academy, began her career as a teacher at the early age of fifteen. Her numerous friends in York will especially recall her as a faithful teacher of the Orphan's Home some years ago, which position she filled with much credit during a period of three years. About eleven years ago she began the study of medicine with Dr. J.D. Martin, of Stewartstown, and in the fall of 1887 matriculated in the Women's Medical College, in Philadelphia, from which institution she received her degree in medicine in 1890. After having undergone a successful competitive examination, she was appointed resident physician to Staten Island Hospital, New York. After serving her time of appointment at Staten Island, she was chosen physician at the Children's Hospital, at Palmer, Massachusetts, from which institution she resigned in 1894 and accepted the position as physician in chief of the female department in the Philadelphia Hospital, to which she was unanimously chosen three years ago. While rendering faithful hospital service to the inmates of the institution, Dr. Gable contracted that dread malady consumption, and was advised to relinquish her professional work and seek a needed rest and change away from the confines of the city. She came to York and for nearly two months, was the patient of her cousin, Dr. I.C. Gable, at his residence on South Beaver Street. She subsequently returned to her former home in Stewartstown, where death ended her protracted suffering, which she bore with Christian patience and great fortitude. Dr. Gable was the first female resident of this county upon whom was conferred the degree of M.D. She was a woman of more than ordinary talents and attainments, who was ever ready to relieve suffering, in whatever form it came under her observation, with the true spirit of loving kindness and Christian friendship.

She married John Wesley (Shaffer) Sheffer 22 Apr 1886 in York Co, Pennsylvania; born 22 Aug 1862 in Hopewell Twp, York Co, Pennsylvania; died 05 Dec 1929 in Red Lion, York Co, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Amanda Brenneman:

Two persons were asphyxiated and another was overcome, when coal gas filled their Red Lion RD 3 home, about a mile north of Winterstown, early yesterday morning Dec. 22, 1953. Dead are: Mrs. Amanda Brenneman Sheffer, 91, and her son-in-law, Emory Roy Shaffer, 59. The latter's wife, Lola, 58, was overcome by the fumes but is recuperating at home. Coroner Lester J. Sell listed the deaths as accidental.

Members of the family, quoting from the story told them by Mrs. Emory Shaffer, said the three were overcome as they were getting up yesterday morning. Shaffer arose about 6 a.m. but his wife remained in bed, saying she was "too sick" to get up. Members of the family said they have not determined whether Mrs. Shaffer was suffering from the effects of the gas at that time or was ill from a gall bladder condition, which she has. About 8 a.m., Mrs. Shaffer noticed the light on in the hallway of the two-story brick house and managed to make her way down to the living room. There, she found her husband dead, sitting in a rocking chair, fully clothed except for his shoes. Mrs. Shaffer tried to reach a door but collapsed across her husband's feet.

Meanwhile, Charles Seitz, a neighbor living across the Red Lion-Stewartstown highway along which the Shaffer home is situated, came to the residence to deliver a Christmas present. Hearing some noises, believed to be Mrs. Shaffer struggling to reach the door in her semi-conscious state, when he knocked on the back door, Seitz went to get help. Seitz returned with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charlotte Seitz. Mrs. Shaffer by that time had revived and crawled to the back door, opening it as the Seitzes arrived. They found the aged Mrs. Sheffer in her second-floor bedroom, fully dressed, "overcome by the gas. Dr. Grover Artman, Red Lion, and the resuscitator squad from Leo Fire company, Red Lion were called. Dr. Artman pronounced Shaffer dead. After the aged Mrs. Sheffer was revived by the resuscitator crew, she was taken to West Side Osteopathic hospital, York, in the Burg ambulance but died enroute. Mrs. Shaffer was treated at home by Dr. Artman and was reported yesterday as apparently having suffered no ill effects.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer and Mrs. Sheffer were the only occupants of the house, located between Red Lion and Winterstown, just south of Pleasant Hill park. Relatives said the house was heated by a hand-fired furnace, generally fired with anthracite coal. The front door of the furnace was found open and the cellar of the house was filled with gas, members of the family asserted. Seitz was quoted as saying that gas fumes were noticeable throughout the house when the tragedy was discovered. Mr. Shaffer was a supervisor for North Hopewell Township and was also employed as a fireman at the Red Lion Woodcraft plant. He was serving his fourth term as supervisor.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Lola (Sheffer) Shaffer, he leaves two sons, Arthur P. Shaffer, Red Lion RD 3, and Clair T. Shaffer, 234 East Lemon Street, Lancaster; a grandson, Larry A. Shaffer, Red Lion RD 3; a brother, Howard Shaffer, York, and a sister, Mrs. George Markey, also of York. He was a deacon of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, Red Lion.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Saturday from the F. B. Olewiler Funeral home, 145 East Broadway, Red Lion, by his pastor. Rev. Alexander Bibighaus, assisted by Rev. M. B. Heiland. Rayville, Maryland, former pastor of the Red Lion United Brethren circuit. Interment will be in Zion EUB cemetery, near Red Lion.

Mrs. Sheffer, wife of the late John W. Sheffer, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joel Brenneman. She was a member of Lebanon Lutheran church, near Felton. Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Emory Shaffer, Red Lion RD 3; two grandsons, and a great-grandson.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning with brief rites at the Burg Funeral home, 134 West Broadway, Red Lion, at 10 a.m. Concluding obsequies will be held in Lebanon Lutheran church. Rev. Charles Lady, pastor of Felton Lutheran charge, and Rev. Alexander Bibighaus, will officiate. Interment will be in Lebanon Lutheran cemetery, near Felton.

Notes for John Shenberger:

In 1949, John Shenberger, age 80, was still going strong in his blacksmith shop in Yoe, Pennsylvania. John did not, at first glance, appear to be the might man of Longfellow's poem, Village Blacksmith. He was slight of built, but his arm and shoulder muscles are more powerful than those of men half his age.

He was located in Yoe since 1902. His one room shop was well stocked with nails, rivets, various types of iron and machinery. His shop was heated by an old pot-bellied coal stove.

In 1948, his business consisted of repairing farm equipment, tools, toys, household items, or anything made of iron. Cars have long replaced the horse as a means of transportation. He gave up shoeing horses in 1928 when a particularly nervous animal kicked him in the chest. It was four years before he completely recovered. He then sold all his horse shoes so he would not be asked to do any more of that kind of work. At 80, his hearing was still excellent and his sight was good. He had given up sharpening saws. He found it difficult to tell which of the saw's teeth had been filed and which ones had not.

Farmers used to gather at the blacksmith shop to exchange the news in bad weather or to pitch horse shoes when work was slack. The shop was no longer the clearing house for news and the gathering place for men.

John received his early education in the country schools near Winterstown and Peach Bottom. He learned his trade during a three year apprenticeship under his older brother, Adam. Another brother, Albert, was his partner for many years in the Yoe shop. John and Albert used to make all the iron work for six-horse farm wagons. He remembers the covered wagons and folks moving to the west. The canvas-topped Conestoga wagons were used in his youth to haul produce from York county farms to Baltimore. Each spring the farmers drove the wagons to Havre de Grace, Maryland. They would bring them back loaded with fish which they dried and stored for winter.

John never married. He has made his home with his brother, Adam. He lived a simple life. He preferred to eat vegetables over meats. He was a religious man, seldom missing a Sunday at church; but he did not have any strong denominational ties. He went to the closet church. His formula for his good health at an advanced age was simple. According to John, hard work, never drinking intoxicating beverages, smoking a cigar occasionally, and a little chewing tobacco never hurt anyone. He didn't think that never being married had anything to do with it. He appeared on the census of 1900 at Windsor Twp and in 1910 at Yoe, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Major Thomas Crawford Thoburn:

Thomas Crawford Thoburn is gone. His work was well done. His was a true and helpful life. No better, no more faithful man ever bared his breast to defend the flag or endured the privation and vicissitude of pioneer life to make a home for wife and family. Mr. Thoburn was born Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, April 27, 1829. When but a few months old his parents emigrated to Belle Mont County, Ohio to where they engaged in farming. His parents were Scotch-Irish immigrants. The Thoburn family was large, five sons and five daughters. Two of the boys, older than Thomas C. had gone from the home before the father died and Thomas shouldered the responsibility of managing and tilling the farm, depriving himself of an education to educate the rest of the children and provide for the mother. This he did until the war broke out, and did it contentedly. His older brother enlisted on the first call for volunteers and reached the rank of colonel of the First West Virginia Infantry. Thomas C. remained on the farm until the summer of 1862, at the time when the outlook for the Union forces was very dark and discouraging. He then told the mother that the farm would have to be sold, that he desired to shoulder a musket in defense of the flag.

He enlisted in Co. F. 50th Ohio Volunteers, August 8th, 1862, and was made orderly sergeant. His regiment went to the front a few weeks later and just before the battle of Perryville, Mr. Thoburn was sent to the hospital with typhoid fever. While a patient in this institution the hospital was captured by Morgan, the raider, and Mr. Thoburn was paroled, reaching home during Thanksgiving, weak in body but courageous in spirit. At home, under the tender care of loving hands, he rapidly regained his strength and spent his time then in parole camp at Camp Chase, near Columbus, until exchanged at the end of nine months and allowed to rejoin his regiment and again face the music of the bullets that sang only of death and desolation. In the summer of 1863 his regiment saw active service and shortly afterwards he was attached to the Army of the Cumberland and commissioned Second Lieutenant and assumed command of the company during the Atlanta and Nashville campaigns. Early in 1865 Mr. Thoburn was commissioned major of the 198th O.V. Inf, and the war ended with the surrender of Lee within a few weeks after the regiment was mustered into service and saw no service more hazardous than camp and garrison duty at Baltimore and Winchester. For a time during the spring and summer of 1865 Major Thoburn served as president of the general court marshal board of Hancock's battery and reserve corps at Winchester, Virginia. He was mustered out and discharged at Columbus, Ohio, in September, and a few days later. (September 6th) was married to Miss Mary Eleanor Crozier, at Marlboro, Ohio, and settled at Bellaire, where he engaged in business for five years. In the fall of 1870 Thoburn made a trip to Kansas with a view of homesteading and after looking over the state, filed upon a soldier homestead of a quarter section in Catlin township, six miles northwest of Peabody, and brought his family to Kansas in March, 1871, making the first trip by rail from Emporia to Strong City accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Wheeler and H.H. Mitchell who also shared the trials of pioneer life in a new country with the Thoburns. Mr. Thoburn was one of the pioneers who took an active part in the bettering of church, school and social conditions and in 1872 he helped to organize and hold the first farmers' meeting ever convened in Marion County, and from that little organization grew the Marion County Agricultural Society, of which Mr. Thoburn was the first president, serving during the first two county fairs in 1875 and 1876. This county fair existed until 1888. He represented the agricultural society at the first annual meeting of the state board of agriculture in 1874. At this time Peabody and Catlin townships were one and Mr. Thoburn served as township trustee, a position that entailed unusual responsibility at this period by reason of the fact that he had charge of the distribution of food and clothing to those who were impoverished by the grasshoppers and people were desperate not hesitating to misrepresent and even steal. Married men could get support more easily than single men and it is related that one young fellow, rather than hustle, got married and asked for aid. Mr. Thoburn advised him that since he had married trouble, to care for it. And during his strenuous tenure of office as township trustee the board had the letting of the contract for the present Peabody library, the first ever erected in Kansas, for the free use of the public, and the supervision of the work. Mr. Thoburn's last official act was the dedication of this building, the opening ceremonies including speeches, banquet and a big dance. Mr. Thoburn was always interested in school work and a member of the board of education a number of years, finally moving closer to town so his children could have the benefit of the city schools.

At the age of twenty-one Mr. Thoburn united with the Methodist Episcopal church and after coming to Peabody, in the days when there were no preachers in town, was active in holding services for men of all faiths. In May, 1871, Mr. Thoburn took the lead in the movement that resulted in the organizing of the present Methodist Episcopal church here and served as Sunday School superintendent a number of years and had charge of a class in the school as long as he was here. Later in life he took greater interest in foreign missions and his brother, J.M., and sister, Miss Isabella, were the first foreign missionaries sent out by the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M.E. church, and they devoted their lives to their chosen vocation, being frequently called to deliver missionary addresses in neighboring towns. For many years Mr. Thoburn was president of the Marion County Bible Society and likewise president of the Marion County Sunday School Association. Mr. Thoburn represented the local congregation, in the quadrennial lay conference. In 1872-6-8 88 and 92 and was elected lay delegate to the general conference of the M.E. church from the southwest Kansas conference. As a matter of course Mr. Thoburn was a member of the G.A.R., serving two terms as Post Commander, and being member of the Masonic order. Mrs. Thoburn died at the family home in Peabody, April 20th, 1893. In 1902 Mr. Thoburn married Mrs. Mary Gabel Norton of Glenlord, Michigan, and on account of her failing health he disposed of his Peabody property in 1905 and went to Colorado and later to Texas, where his wife died in 1907. Since that time he had made his home with his children of whom he had four, and all survive him. They are Joseph E. Thoburn of Oklahoma City, John C. Thoburn, of Butler, Pennsylvania, Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Thoburn, of Erie Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Blanche I. Currie, of Hasbrouck, New Jersey. Mr. Thoburn's last visit with old Peabody friends was in November and December, 1909. For a year past he has been an invalid and though suffering much pain and being confined to his bed, yet he endured it all with patience and fortitude and died in his faith at the home of his daughter, September 19, 1911.

Funeral services were held at the Peabody M. E. church under the auspices of the G.A.R. Saturday, September 28rd, conducted by his former pastor, Harrison Walte of Wichita, assisted by Rev. W.G. Woodward, of Newton, also a former pastor, and Rev. Books. The pall bearers were his neighbors since 1871 being Mrs. R.B. Craw, William Fitch, A.S. Lowther, T.M. Potter, A.A. Wheeler and W.H. Traver. After the services the body was laid to rest in Prairie Lawn cemetery. Out of town people at the funeral, besides his children and relatives, were Mr. John Burgert of Canton, a former resident of Peabody, and Mr. Curtiss Chandler of Newton.

Sept. 20, 1911 – Word was received last night of the death, yesterday, Sept. 19, 1911, at Hasbrouck Heights, New Jersey, of Major Thomas C. Thoburn, in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Blanche Corey. Major Thoburn was born 85 years ago, in Belmont County, Ohio, and served in the Union army during the Civil war. Later he moved to Peabody, Kansas, where he resided for many years. He was a brother of Bishop James M. Thoburn, of the Methodist Episcopal church, and of the late Miss Isabella Thoburn, a noted missionary to India.

He is survived by his daughter and three sons, Joseph Thoburn, of Oklahoma City, former secretary of agriculture of Oklahoma; John C. Thoburn, of Butler, Pennsylvania, and Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Thoburn, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, of Erie, Pennsylvania. Rev. Dr. James M. Thoburn, of Ben Avon, superintendent of the Allegheny district of the Methodist Episcopal church, is a nephew.

The father, whose birth occurred in New York, on the 30th of January, 1813, followed the shoemaker's trade for a time and also drove stage out of Buffalo in the early days. Later he conducted a store at Mill Grove, a few miles from Buffalo, and there he remained until his removal to Vermont. He lived in that state in honorable retirement from business life for a number of years, dying on the 27th of October, 1858. He was survived by his wife until the 19th of July, 1882.

Frank A. Holley, is the third in order of birth in a family of seven children. At first attended school in Clarence, New York, and later in Mill Grove, New York, and in Vermont and Illinois. Following his father's death he made his home with a cousin of his mother and when about seventeen or eighteen years of age accompanied that family to Illinois, his mother consenting to his removal west. He spent one winter in Ripon, Wisconsin, working in the lumberyards for a time, and ran down the Mississippi river on a lumber raft as far as Hannibal, Missouri, the trip requiring nine weeks. He then returned to Illinois, but after spending some time with the family which had reared him he came to Lancaster County, Nebraska, and in March, 1869, homesteaded land on which he lived for about six years. He then traded that place for his present farm, going into debt for the difference in the value of the two properties. For a number of years he had to watch his expenditures closely as he desired to pay off his indebtedness as soon as possible and as the crops were sometimes poor. About 1877 he lost heavily owing to the grasshopper scourge, but he persevered and in time had his farm free of encumbrance. He has brought it to a high state of development, erecting excellent buildings and making other improvements upon the place which would now command a high price per acre if he desired to dispose of it. It comprises eighty acres and he derives a good income there from, although he is not personally operating the place now, having retired from active life. He might have become the owner of more land, but he preferred to give his children excellent educational opportunities rather than invest all of his capital in farms.

Mr. Holley was united in marriage on the 25th of February, 1875, to Miss Ella E. Gable, who was born at St. Charles, Madison County, Iowa. Her father, Enoch Gable, was born in York County, Pennsylvania, on the 21st of January, 1826, and followed the carpenter's trade in his native state and in Iowa for a number of years. In the fall of 1868, however, he took up his residence upon a farm in Waverly precinct, in Lancaster County, just across the road from Mr. Holley's place. After operating that farm for many years he removed to another tract of land which he cultivated for two years. At the end of that time he removed to Waverly, but is now making his home with Mr. Holley. Mr. Gable married Miss Martha Walmer, who was born in Wayne County, Ohio, in 1834, and who is now deceased. They became the parents of six children: Wayne, who is an employee of the Burlington & Missouri Railroad and resides at Lincoln; Mrs. Holley; George, who is farming in Mill precinct; James, who is engaged in the mercantile business in Geary, Oklahoma; William, who is engaged in the implement business in Waverly; and John, who is farming in Mill precinct.

To Mr. and Mrs. Holley have been born eight children: Lenora, the wife of Harry Stevenson, a farmer of Colorado; Gail F., who is a carpenter and contractor living at Waverly; Gertrude B., who is the wife of Arthur Anderson, a city employee of Los Angeles; Minnie M., who married Edgar Anderson, a mail carrier, living at Waverly; Georgia E., who is attending the Nebraska Wesleyan University at University Place, and is a teacher; Ruby B., the wife of Fred Malone, a farmer living south of Waverly; James E., who married Esther Hause, who is teaching in the Denton schools; and Muriel L., who is attending the Waverly high school.

Mr. Holley is an advocate of democratic principles, but at local elections votes independently, believing the qualifications of the candidate to be of greater importance than his political allegiance. He has always taken a keen interest in educational matters and was a member of the first school board in district No. 58 and was serving when the first school house in the district, known as the Jordan school, was erected. He served continuously on the board for more than forty years, filling all of the offices in that body, and in July, 1915, he refused reelection. During his connection with the board he did a great deal to promote the advancement of the schools and was highly esteemed by his fellow members of the board and by the teachers of the district. Fraternally he belongs to the Modern Woodmen of America and for three years held the office of venerable consul, for three years was banker and for one year was outside guard. His wife is identified with the Royal Neighbors. He has thoroughly identified his interests with those of the county and expects to continue to live here throughout his remaining days. When actively engaged in farming he ranked among the up-to-date and enterprising agriculturists of the county and the leisure which he now enjoys is well deserved.

Notes for Charles Franklin (Poppy) Harkins:

June 16, 1936 - A contest for the fancy roller skating championship of America will be staged at the White Rose Arena rink within the near future when Walter Laidlow, 81-year-old skater from Washington, D. C. and Fred Murree, Indian skater known here as "Bright Star" clash there. The contest grows out of a challenge published in a showman's magazine about a month ago by Laidlow and accepted through the same magazine by Murree. Five rinks, all located in large cities, are said to have bid for the match as an attraction but Charles "Poppy" Harkins, manager of the local rink beat them to the match by personally visiting and signing the two contestants to contracts.

Laidlow, despite his advanced age, is still one of the cleverest of men on roller skates. Murree is formerly from Boston but is now manager of the skating rink at Red Lion. Harkins will import three competent judges to decide the winner, of the contest. Since advanced age is to figure in the contest. Harkins will also import Col. Phillips, the 85-year-old Philadelphia skater, who appeared here in exhibitions about a year ago. Harkins, himself is quite a skater and no baby on the rink. He is 68 years and will don skates for the program supporting the contest. The combined age of the four skaters. Laidlow, Murree, Phillips and Harkin totals 311 years. All four of them have been figures on the roller-skating rinks for better than 50 years. The date of the event to be set in the near future will close the season at the White Rose rink.

Charles F. Harkins, 70, more familiarly known as 'Poppy' Harkins, died early this morning March 15, 1939 at his home, 407 North Beaver Street. As a youth, the deceased was identified with semi-professional baseball, later with roller skating, for which he was in demand for exhibitionist in many parts of the country. In recent years he was manager of the White Rose arena. Mr. Harkins was employed during the seasons of 1888, 1889 and 1890 by the Barnum and Bailey circus. He was a member of the Elliott family of bicyclists. being the trick roller skater in the act and also performed on unicycles. He was engaged in roller skating for approximately 44 years. Professionally, he was known as Jack Harkins. in the years 1891 and 1892 Harkins was the manager of Minnie Douglas nine-year old skating dwarf of Boston. Then roller skating became a national craze Harkins managed the pier rink of Captain Young, at Atlantic City, from 1894 until 1896. Thereafter he returned to York and remained out of roller skating for several year. When the sport was received in 1908 the Yorker opened the Peoples' rink, at Lancaster, but in 1910 he became manager of the rink at Highland Park, southwest of the city. It was then owned by Frank Hartley. The deceased was a member and one of the organizers of the Royal Fire company. A special meeting has been called by President George Garver for 7:30 o'clock this evening to take action on his death. He held membership in Trinity First Reformed congregation and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Surviving are his widow, Ella Stabley Harkins; three step-brothers, Norman, Luther and Wilbur Harkins, York, and a step-sister, Mrs. John Sohnleitner, York.

The family folklore is that Henry was not Calvin's son, but Henry used the Shenberger surname. When Calvin died, he did not name his son, Henry, or any of his grandchildren in his will. Instead, he left his estate to James and Rebecca Sentz.

Notes for Joseph Benson Gable, Jr.:

The Rhododendron Legacy of Joe Gable

Some of the most reliable rhododendron hybrids for the Middle Atlantic Region of the United States are the hybrids produced by Joseph B. Gable of Stewartstown, Pennsylvania. I have a 30 year old plant of one of his hybrids, 'Caroline', towering above azaleas and hosta in my own back yard.

Joe Gable was born in 1886 and grew up on the family apple orchard and farm near Stewartstown and by 1926 had started a small nursery business, and published his first listing of ornamental plants for sale. Originally offering a variety of young evergreens, trees and shrubs including some native azaleas and rhododendrons, Gable's primary interest eventually shifted to developing rhododendrons and azaleas that could survive the rigorous climate in central Pennsylvania.

For over 40 years, Gable experimented with rhododendrons and azaleas, trying to raise rare species and create new hybrids. He frequently corresponded with contemporaries such as Guy Nearing and other experts from around the world as he expanded his interest in rhododendrons. He obtained seed and pollen from many sources that he used when hybridizing rhododendrons on his farm in rural Pennsylvania. Gable did not pamper his rhododendrons, but planted thousands of seedlings in the woods and let the plants fend for themselves until he was ready to evaluate them, many years later. Although the Gable Study Group identified approximately 100 named rhododendron hybrids, another 100 rhododendron species Gable tried, and at least 90 different group crosses, Joe Gable's rhododendrons are still relatively scarce in the trade. The Gable rhododendrons are real survivors though, and many have proven to be among the most reliable rhododendron hybrids for our region.

The Gable Rhododendron Hybrids

Some of Joe Gable's rhododendrons were named for family members, such the pale lavender pink

"Caroline" for his daughter, Caroline Gable, who passed away not long ago. He named an evergreen azalea "Caroline Gable", too. Among his hybridizing triumphs is the ruffled, peachy pink and yellow rhododendron "Mary Belle", the plant he named for his wife, the former Mary Belle Dalton whom he married in 1919.

Some Gable rhododendrons have rather unusual names since Gable often named his hybrids by combining the first few letters of each parent. I have a pale pink show stopper in my back yard, "Cadis", a hybrid of Caroline and the species, R. discolor. I also have a blush white "Disca", reported to be the reverse cross. "Maxhaem Salmon" is a salmon selection from a cross of hardy R. maximum and the tender R. haematodes. There is also a "grex" or hybrid group he referred to as "Catfortcampy", a number of beautiful apricot pink hybrids from a cross of R. catawbiense, R. fortunei, and R. campylocarpum.

No matter what they are called, the Gable rhododendrons such as 'Disca' pictured to the left are fantastic garden plants that are not only beautiful as any hybrids on the market, but are as rugged as any rhododendrons for our region. Every year, I watch my Gable rhododendrons become more majestic with each season. If developers do not turn my garden into townhouses after I am gone, have little doubt that centuries from now "Caroline", "Cadis", and "Disca" will have grown together forming a fragrant rhododendron canopy that will rival the oaks that shade my garden now.

Joseph Benson Gable (1886-1972) Letter's:

During the period between the late 1920s and early 1950s Joseph Gable and Guy Nearing communicated with one another on a regular basis. This took the form of an extraordinary series of letters stimulated by their intense mutual interest in the genus Rhododendron. Most of their correspondence has been preserved and reveals that both were remarkable men, bringing diverse backgrounds and personalities to a discussion of their common interests. Some parts of Nearing's letters to Gable have been reproduced in the book Hybrids and Hybridizers edited by Livingston and West. The reciprocal letters, those from Gable to Nearing, were not available until just before the book went to press, but fortunately it was possible to include a sampling of Gable's letters in an eleventh hour supplement at the end of the book. The letters written by both men were the products of individuals who felt the need to communicate their thoughts to one another, beyond the opportunities provided by their occasional visits. These were the days when a national economic depression, followed by a world war, affected the lives of everyone. Communications by post were common and long distance calls by people who had phones in their homes were reserved for very important occasions. It was also a more formal era when reluctance initially to address one's peers by Christian names seemed natural and proper. It was after ten years and more than a hundred letters that Nearing suggested that they address one another by their three-letter names in the interest of "saving ink." The manpower shortage during the war, as well as the modest and irregular nature of their incomes, meant that each had to put in long hours of extensive labor without help. Both Gable and Nearing pursued their interests with a keen attention to the costs of everything. Most of the correspondence was attended to at odd hours, when bad weather prevented work out of doors or when Gable's volunteer service as a wartime aircraft spotter kept him awake at his post until the wee hours. The correspondence sheds light on their intellect and character, and their insatiable appetite for knowledge concerning rhododendrons.

Joseph Gable was a man who supported himself and his family in Stewartstown, Pennsylvania, with a nursery devoted principally to the production of ericaceous plants, as well as with orchards yielding an annual apple crop. As a "doughboy" in England during WWI, he had seen the rhododendrons at Hillier's Nursery and was immediately attracted to them. Guy Nearing had the benefit of the more impressive formal education, undergraduate and graduate studies from Ivy League schools, and a Phi Beta Kappa. Joe Gable had been a precocious child of surpassing intelligence and his intellectual interests flowed naturally in his family, particularly from his paternal grandfather. Joe's letterhead proclaimed that he was a "Nurseryman and Fruit Grower," with the added messages, "Specializing in Azaleas and Rhododendrons" and "Choice Apples in Season." The large body of preserved correspondence sometimes reveals personal glimpses of his life, but also presents the picture of a man driven to learn firsthand what he could about the many species of rhododendrons to hybridize and produce improved varieties and to communicate extensively with people of like mind. Without hesitation, Gable sought the opinions of the reigning experts in the field. His English correspondents included Lionel de Rothschild at Exbury in Hampshire and Edward J.P. Magor at Lamellen in Cornwall. These British experts generously provided seed and pollen for Gable's pioneering efforts in the United States. Magor was especially faithful in sending seed and pollen just about every year, but the benign Cornish climate allowed the production of plants usually unsuitable for inland Pennsylvania. Plants were also acquired from George Fraser and Endre Ostbo. Dr. Ernest "Chinese" Wilson and Professor C.S. Sargent also corresponded with Joe Gable, as did Theodore Van Veen, David Leach, Orlando Pride, Charles Dexter and many others. One of the important sources of plant material for Gable and Nearing was seed from the 1929 plant expedition of Joseph Rock. These were grown out and carefully examined by Gable and Nearing for taxonomic veracity, with the ultimate decision sometimes made that the label was incorrect. Although our modern judgment may lead us to consider that Gable was excessively optimistic in his efforts to grow tender rhododendron species such as Rhododendron griersonianum, R. decorum, R. arboreum, R. sinogrande, R. griffithianum, and others, it should be noted that both he and Nearing wanted to develop firsthand knowledge on hardiness for their region of the United States. They did not have the advantage of appropriate information that is so accessible now. Gable and Nearing expected that tender species might produce acceptable hybrids when crossed with R. catawbiense, R. maximum, R. dauricum, R. mucronulatum, R. brachycarpum and other hardy sorts. Thanks to these and other plantsmen who worked with new varieties in the first half of the 20th century, modern hybridizers have available an impressive rhododendron gene pool and a large supply of transcribed experience and data.

The preserved letters mailed from Stewartstown to Nearing total 642 pages, the first third handwritten, most of the remainder typewritten single spaced by Gable. Presented here is a balanced selection of Gable's unpublished observations on species, old hybrids, new hybrids, proposed crosses, theories of hybridizing, hardiness, cultural practices, etc. Occasionally other excerpts have been included only to shed light on the personality and character of the man and a flavor of the times in which the letters were written.

The British Influence - June 2, 1930

Dear Mr. Nearing, I only hope that they prove to be griersonianum since it is quite certain that they are not true to the names under which I bought the seeds. Mr. L. de Rothschild recommends griersonianum very highly and states in his letter that it will flower very readily at four years from seed. From England this season I have pollen of R. haematodes, 'Shilsonii', campylocarpum, campylocarpum x aucklandii, 'Loderi', augustinii, sulfureum, moupinense, 'Cornubia' x sutchuenense, sutchuenense, and a number of others and I have placed it on catawbiense and catawbiense hybrids instead of keeping it for maximum as I did last season...[Note: aucklandii is now known as griffithianum; by 'Loderi' Gable was referring to the Loderi grex, now known as Loderi Group.]

April 8, 1940

Mr. Magor has sent me again seven packets of seed and I am enclosing you a part. Sometimes I think I shall sow no more seed of these species of doubtful value but somehow I keep on. One of these sorts, brachycarpum x discolor, has much perplexed and aggravated me also. Mr. Magor has sent me seeds of this hybrid of his at least a dozen times and to show for them I have just two plants large enough to bloom and only one of them is really a healthy plant. It is very good in my estimation and I recall your admiring it... The other is a freak thing that dies back, does not look like it is true but occasionally succeeds in opening a few very lovely soft pink blossoms very early, whereas they should be late. [Note: discolor is now known as fortunei ssp. discolor.]

The Slings and Arrows of Outrageous Weather - March 8, 1932

Dear Mr. Nearing, We were below Baltimore on Sunday and battled snow drifts and icy sleet for the last 15 miles but succeeded in reaching home, though my fingers are frosted a little. Every house along the road here was filled with snowbound travelers, some of them only a mile or two from home. One neighbor tells me he kept seventeen and another, I hear, had the occupants of twelve autos all night. Here we had no one, but perhaps because we were away, as two automobiles were stranded out front when we arrived home. I had thought of going to the Philadelphia show this week and may, but I don't care to repeat the experience of Sunday...

May 4, 1936

A light rain is falling for which we are grateful but there was a little hail with it which wasn't so good so we have had more injury from falling ice than we can check up on so far. Flower buds that were not broken off were often bent and loosened, and are consequently not opening.

September 29, 1938

I was very apprehensive that the hurricane would do you damage from the reports we were getting on the radio, etc., that I knew were not far from your section. This storm never touched us as far as the wind was concerned but from half past one to five forty five on that Tuesday we had over five inches of rain. Of course that had to go somewhere and in doing so took some things with it but really the damage was negligible to what we had before. All the water could run down the same gutters that the first storm had made.

February 15, 1940

Finally I have gotten the seeds ready and here they are. Kept busy outdoors in all that good weather but took advantage of the blizzard to do this. We did not have much snow, but wind - about eighteen hours of hurricane and almost zero last night. I have not sown my seeds yet for we are out of water. Frozen up for the first time since before the war. Grave diggers say there is about two and one half feet of frozen soil so no wonder it reaches the pipes. It takes an hour or more every day to haul enough water for the day, except rainy days.

March 21, 1940

If patience and persistence have their reward, yours should certainly be an abundant one. I think I should have given up long ago if I had been afflicted by the floods in any such measure as you have been. There is absolutely nothing that worries me less here than floods on my rhododendrons. Sometimes my fields are washed a little but this year I had the place laid out on the contour by the C.C.C. lads. I am far from a New Dealer in toto but I do think this angle of the soil conservation idea is the only sensible thing to do where it can be put into practice. Perhaps if your drainage basin were so managed your floods would be much abated too.

Family Time - February 19, 1932

Have kept house this afternoon with the boy while my wife went out and I spent the time writing symposium, pressing a specimen of the s. for Edinburgh, etc., and now having the above on the road and junior interested for the moment, will try to write.

January 3, 1944

Thanks much for your Christmas Day letter and that bit of most intriguing verse... This is the first Christmas that our family has not been at home. Elizabeth is in Denver, a dietitian in the Fitzsimmons Army Hospital. In fact she is on army duty and subject to be sent anywhere. The rest of us were at home and had a very orthodox celebration. But so many of our close relatives are in the service that the visiting did not seem to have the usual pep. One of my wife's nephews has been a Jap prisoner since the sinking of the Houston, on which he was third in command, in the battle of the Java sea in February 1942.

July 13, 1944

Here things will have to be curtailed along most all lines. My boy who graduated from high school in June leaves in August for the University of Pennsylvania for a nine month course in preparation for army service. He is several inches taller than his dad and was 17 in February. He has helped a lot in his time out of school and the work will suffer another setback when he goes.

Hybridizing - March 16, 1932

A plant of R. racemosum x R. mucronulatum will be in full flower over the coming weekend. It will have 60 to 75 flowers in a well shaped plant and bears good foliage... The other plant I had forced of the same hybrid is now fading a little but both of these plants bear abundant pollen and I play bumble bee every morning.

March 24, 1932

I opened this letter again to tell you that as near as I can say I have 132 species a year old and older. Included in this number some ten or a dozen varieties of racemosum, oleifolium, obtusum, kaempferi, yedoense, poukhanense, etc. Also there are 107 hybrid sorts, of which 61 are of my origination. Now I'll leave this letter open until I finish cleaning up the desk. [Note: oleifolium is now known as virgatum ssp. oleifolium; poukhanense is now known as yedoense var. poukhanense.]

April 2, 1932

I must beg your pardon for bothering you so much with correspondence but often if I do not write what is on my mind, I forget. In the first place I would like to have a dozen prints of the photograph of the racemosum x mu-cronulatum hybrid you took up at the rock garden. I will gladly pay you for them and will not use them for publication without your permission. I just want to send them to some of my correspondents.

April 21, 1932

And a few flowers are out on racemosum. This last species has suffered the loss of many flower buds this season for the first time but there are many left to flower...racemosum x mucronulatum holds its flowers well outdoors, a temperature of 26 not effecting them at all when fully open, and which killed all flowers on racemosum 56363 Rock x carolinianum [Note: now R. minus Carolinianum Group].

April 6, 1933

I just had a letter from Professor Goodspeed [University of California Botanical Gardens] and unaccountably lost it. It contained a map of the sections where Rock collected for them... These seeds were collected from four different areas and in only one of them did Dr. Rock collect personally but from what I understand the native collectors sent their collection of flowers to him. He selected those desirable and sent them back in autumn to collect seeds from the numbers selected which were marked by the collectors when the flowers were taken. Lots of chances for a slip up but perhaps all right. Forrest did a lot of this kind of collecting seeds too and some of Forrest's best introductions were never seen in the wild by Forrest himself, by his own admission.

June 10, 1934

I think there should be some chance of getting a hardy yellow rhododendron by crossing maximum with some of the yellow flowered sorts, as quite a few maximum tend toward a cream color and I am working toward that end. If brachycarpum ever flowers and some of them prove to be cream, as sometimes described, or fauriei, we will have there another good foundation plant for breeding a hardy yellow variety. R. chrysanthum also sounds good but I fear that is farther in the future. [Note: fauriei is now known as brachycarpum ssp. fauriei; chrysanthum is now known as aureum var. aureum.]

April 8, 1940

Just as soon as it gets fit to plant I will be so busy I will only get to see my plants sometime before seven in the morning and it seems to be harder all the time to get up at five after a hard day's work. So I make less and less crosses which is probably all the better if those that I do make are the best that offer. I have made a lot that are not worth anything but I seemed to have no other way at the time to learn better.

Caroline is in the Maryland General Hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis and one of her girlfriends was operated on just a day earlier. There seems to be an "epidemic" of it around here at present.

Opinions and Observations - May 19, 1935

I want to go on record as saying that R. glaucum has the loveliest flower I have yet seen in lepidote rhododendron species. Its pink is absolutely pure and the texture of the flower gives it a waxy appearance. And the next loveliest lepidote species that has flowered here is our old chartophyllum praecox. I no longer wonder why the Chinese cultivate no other species. [Note: R. glaucum is now known as glaucophyllum; chartophyllum praecox is now known as yunnanense.]

January 12, 1936

Our R. chrysanthum has aroused my suspicion more because it seems so amenable to cultivation than because of any other one character I know, though I am aware that its leaves are larger than the description given by the botanical authorities. I have wondered if it might turn out to be R. fauriei...Also I have wondered if the line of demarcation between the three species, brachycarpum, chrysanthum and fauriei is really well drawn in Nature and if they do not merge gradually with more or less intermediate forms. R. chrysanthum var. niko-montanum, the erect growing form, may represent one such intermediate form. [Note: chrysanthum var. nikomontanum is now believed to be a cross of aureum x brachycarpum.]

August 5, 1936

When I reached home I found that many of my plants too had suffered from sunburn, decorum being the worst offender, followed closely by 'Loderi' and fortunei, while discolor, vernicosum 18139R and oreodoxa seem quite unharmed in this series. I notice wild azaleas and maples, yews, firs, and spruces also burned.

June 10, 1940

Well, the two starred 'Gomer Waterer' has come along at last and how it rates two stars is beyond me. One way I judge the named hybrids is by thinking what I should think of that plant if it occurred among my own seedling hybrids. 'Gomer Waterer' should certainly fall in the discard if so judged.

April 18, 1943

I am writing from an airplane observation post where I spend the lonely hours from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Sundays, mostly trying to stay awake. A most petulant spell of spring weather has done a lot of damage to early flower buds, mostly last Wednesday night when we had about ten degrees of frost and high winds. R. keiskei was showing a lot of buds with the florets peeping from the bud scales. Something over 90% are killed. R. racemosum was in the same condition showing color in many buds. It is injured very little if at all. R. racemosum x keiskei is intermediate in injury but some plants of this are about as bad as keiskei while others will apparently be quite unharmed as racemosum. These are of course F2 seedlings from Magor.

April 8, 1951

Right here I want to ask you something I have been meaning to ask for years and always forget while I am writing. How do you label your crosses, seed parent first, or the opposite? George Fraser and Magor both stressed to me the importance of placing the name of the seed parent first but I have never read anything about it from authoritative sources. What makes me ask is that some of your labels name combinations of which I believe I sent you pollen but if so, you have placed the pollen parent's name first in your combination? I have always placed the seed parent name ahead, except when I made an unintentional slip, which I know happened with some seedlings of discolor x 'Caroline'. I have a hundred or more plants with this tagged in reverse which would be impossible as 'Caroline' blooms almost two months before discolor. [Note: This statement by Gable suggests that the commonly accepted parentage of 'Cadis' and 'Robert Allison' is incorrectly reversed, that they are in fact the same breeding as 'Disca'. I have seen nothing in Gable's many comments about pollen sources indicating that he saved pollen from one season to another.]

April 7, 1952

Am enclosing a print of 'Cadis' though I think you got slides of it yourself last year. I regard it as a hybrid of promise. It is extremely floriferous but we cut so many scions it hurts the show. Sometimes it has three trusses on one terminal.

Well I must get to bed. Tomorrow starts this crazy daylight saving. We have it here but so many communities do not change that that we never know if we are going to get there before we start, wait an extra hour for an appointment, or in case we go to Dauphin where they say the borough council came to a tie vote and decided to move the clock up a half hour, well it is just an uncalled-for mess.

An Inexperienced Typist - April 5, 1937

No I have not hired a stenographer. I am doing it all myself (Columbus System, i.e., explore until one finds the proper key, then land on it). Business is so good this spring that I do not seem to get time to do anything for myself. There is such a lot of transplanting and repotting to be done around here that I don't like to look around too much for fear that I may find something to do that I hadn't seen before... This is not a remarkably long letter but it has taken a remarkably long time to write it so I must sign off. [Note:

Gable's first typed letter was also his shortest, one half page in length.]

Hardiness - April 18, 1936

I think it is unfortunate that R. decorum was used in 'Decatros' but to be sure it was all I had at the time. So many seedlings inherit the bud tenderness of that species. But by far it is the most floriferous lot of broad leaf seedlings I ever grew and some clones may prove bud hardy as some buds seem quite unharmed even above the snow line... In the spring of 1929 I sowed seeds of catawbiense x haematodes, catawbiense x 'Loderi', catawbiense compactum x 'Loderi', and catawbiense x 'Cornubia'. There seems to be no doubt that some of these constitute most of the batch of seedlings I have raised under catawbiense x haematodes, through some mix up. But what pleases me is that this lot of hybrid seedlings are the hardiest broad leaf hybrids I possess, surpassing in this respect some of our named "ironclads" such as 'Amphion', 'Chas. Dickens', et. al... [Note: It is now uncertain whether catawbiense compactum is a compact selection from catawbiense or a hybrid.]

This question of hardiness is enough to drive one crazy, truly if a person who devotes too much of his time to growing and hybridizing new rhododendrons in this part of the world can be driven any farther in that direction...It is unwise, unethical and unfair to knowingly grow and sell a thing that is not hardy, we are taught. But when red maples and young cottonwoods have their bark peeled by frost shall we call them tender ? Obviously there is a certain amount of liability to frost damage in this and other unusual circumstances that must be tolerated even in the subjects that we advertise as hardy.

Then there is a little town of Felton only nine miles from my home where it seems impossible to grow any azaleas and very few rhododendrons. It is located in a hole in the York County hills which rise all around it from 200 to 300 feet. Shall we call only those things hardy that are uninjured in these frost pockets ?

I am well known in Felton. The old original Gable homestead is there from which my grandfather and his sixteen brothers were apprenticed out to their different callings - my grandfather to a charcoal burner. He only went to school two months in his life but when he died he willed me his books, among which are Rollins' Ancient History, Clark's Commentary on the Bible, Lamb's Tales from Shakespeare, The Works of Lord Byron, Original and Unabridged, a work on raising trout from the spawn, a three volume treatise on blacksmithing, an Encyclopedia Britannica, etc., all of which show unmistakable signs of much use. So I have many friends in Felton but I have not sold an azalea to anyone who lives along Main Street in many a year.

Cultural Practices - August 26, 1936

Should have written you before but this drought requires my presence among the plants almost every daylight hour. I have had some trouble with chlorosis with both rhododendrons and azaleas and tried the ferrous sulfate treatment recommended in the National Nurseryman. It seems to help a lot. I raised a fine lot of seedlings this season and have already potted up some thousands of this year's cuttings. Azaleas, yews, rhododendrons, hollies, 'Rachel Biggs', dogwoods (double white), blueberries, put in in July are now mostly rooted and many are potted.

August 9, 1937

In my opinion the ferrous sulfate treatment can be overdone so perhaps it would be well not to use too much of it. The fact that it is sometimes used as a weed killer would seem to be enough to indicate that caution should be used in its application to living plants. But I did try to kill a few azaleas that I cared nothing for and it only made them look better than their healthy appearing neighbors, so I believe that azaleas at least can take a lot of it. I gave one eighteen-inch plant a soaking with about three gallons and that plant looks fine now though it was so near dead with the "yellows" that I had no hope for it. This treatment is best in early summer and is not nearly so effective when the leaves get old and hardened.

September 7, 1937

I tried indol-butyric acid on some rhododendrons and my experience was the same as yours. The cuttings would have been better off without it. It helped blueberries, killed dogwood, concolor fir, walnut (black), hurt hemlock, gave amazing results with some number of my azalea hybrids and negligible or negative responses in others, but of all things I tried it is best with the hollies. I confess I did not try many but wish I had put in more. It really seemed to work wonders...However it may be that when we learn how to treat these different subjects just right we may derive some benefit from it in all cases.

January 25, 1945

R. brachycarpum x 'Essex Scarlet', which has grown into wonderfully nice shaped plants has some buds on one and 'Atrosanguineum' x thomsonii at last shows signs of maternity, or perhaps better, puberty, this coming season. In both cases I had removed a plant or two to new locations in more sun and a few twigs were wrapped with wire too. This last hurries flowering but one must be quite careful not to leave the constriction so long as to impair its vitality to the extent of inhibiting seed production, as I did on wardii this season.

May 21, 1952

Was down to Koster's yesterday. Saw immense beds of cutting grown rhododendrons, mostly common kinds but they are building up stocks of some. newer ones too. Like you, they like stem cuttings best. Van Veen uses all leaf cuttings and sends out beautiful plants and I think it would be an advantage with scarce stock.

Finances - July 13, 1944

As with you, business correspondence is piled high and gaining on me and I am refusing all orders for this fall [if] this ceiling on apples is so low I cannot make personal wages picking them. We have a splendid crop. The ceiling already set on peaches of $2.16 per bushel is going to leave a lot of growers in the red. And are they seeing red! A large grower talks of quitting right now and getting out from under his 6-800 dollar a week payroll. His help are German prisoners which he pays the government 60 cents per hour for and the government allows the prisoners up to 80 cents per day for cigarette money. On two to four hundred prisoners a right good rake off every week? The employers paid all expense of building the camp etc., some $12,000 dollars and all the government pays are the M.P. guards.

September 18, 1945

This wet summer has so adversely affected my farm crops I am sure to be in the financial doldrums before the winter ends, unless some unforeseen windfall bursts loose...I have been out of debt, for the third time in 26 years of married life, since last June. Soon it is borrow again. Last winter and spring I made the resolution, within hearing of wife and some of the youngsters, that I was going to take care of my apples this season if I did nothing else. This resolution was kept faithfully and fully, and after the April 6 freeze, most foolishly. Now I harvest a few apples that it keeps me busy to make fifty cents an hour to pick and sell, and which have cost me in spray material, gas, and machine repairs, several times what they will bring. But I have gone through the same before and no doubt have the same experience again. But you know I believe it is worse to be so hard up in times like this, when everyone else is piling up his bank account, than it was some of the other times when one had most of the world for company.

January 25, 1946

Also had my worst season financially. My spray material alone cost more than the apple receipts and my little nursery business had to carry things, which it did not quite do. At least I had no income tax to pay. And listening to all this strike business when I would like to work so well if I could! I am just as disgusted with labor as with management. But it seems like these infantile psychologists have things under control, the President, Congress and all the people.

Reflections on Mortality - July 2, 1945

It is too bad about your father for the real tragedy of life is not death, but growing old. And little do we know where we shall end up ourselves. Sometimes I think I shall not wish to live too long but then I wonder if it will ever happen that one will care to give up. However such things are generally solved for us and we take what comes.

October 29, 1943

Your last letter went rather strangely astray. Louise somehow got it into her belongings when she was leaving for school and she just came across it and returned it. So only today I opened yours of October 6th. And I sincerely agree with your philosophic observations concerning making more hybrids at our age being unlikely to do any real good, but it is so interesting that I don't see how one can quit it either...It is too bad that when folks get old, as all folks must, and one would like to be more kind and helpful to them than ever before, so many of them suffer those relapses of temperament that repel us from our intended good intentions toward them. It is not generally willful on their part I think but just a combination of the physical and mental twinges incident to age that is hard on their disposition. It is a problem that one has to deal with the best he can according to the circumstances. I have had to live with a lot of old people in my younger days as my mother died when I was four.

January 26, 1952

As with you I have reasoned for several years that it would be better for me to concentrate on growing on what I already have and in taking care of them, than to continue my crossing and starting new things. Then I generally think of an old lady customer out in Eureka, California, who was one of my first. She wrote she was nearing eighty then and was always in the market for seeds and seedlings. She said she was not doing it for the results but because she enjoyed doing it, and when she was done she was not going to give a d- "who got 'em or what happened to 'em anyhow," she was having her fun.

Then I go off and make a lot of crazy crosses again myself for her logic is about as helpful, or perhaps more helpful, than that which pretends to be more profound.

Notes for Anne Marie Boyd:

Franklin and Marshall College - Four years after Ann Boyd Barshinger W'43 permanently endowed the Ann Boyd Barshinger Scholarship Fund, the results are clear; investing in bright students of modest means is a gift that keeps giving. Mrs. Barshinger established the fund in 2010 with a $4 million gift, providing financial aid to students from central Pennsylvania, the first of whom graduated in 2014. Mrs. Barshinger's generosity empowers talented students to elevate their lives and, in the process, has strengthened the College's fabric. Barshinger Scholars play football and rugby, achieve dean's list honors, participate in student government, and are quoted in The New York Times. They are artists, psychology majors and future business leaders.

Mrs. Barshinger and the late Richard Barshinger's legacy at Franklin & Marshall also includes leadership in funding the Ann & Richard Barshinger Life Sciences & Philosophy Building and the Barshinger Center for Musical Arts. In addition, Mrs. Barshinger supported the creation of an ecumenical College chaplain position, a spiritual resources for all Franklin & Marshall Students. And she has made it a point to provide ongoing care to her scholars, noting, "It is a very enriching experience to know that, in giving to financial aid, I'm helping support the future of talented young students who are our neighbors and friends."

Hallam - The marriage of Linda Marie Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy E. Peters, 410 Arnold Lane, here, to Terry Lee Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Keller, Hellam RD 2, was solemnized Saturday evening August 26, 1967 at 6:30 in St. Mark's Lutheran church, York. The bride was given in marriage by her father at the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Herbert G. Kline of St. Mark's church, and Rev. Charles F. Glass, pastor of Canadochly United Church of Christ. The bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie styled with long tape red sleeves, a sculptured neckline, a fitted bodice with natural waist line and a full skirt which was completed with a wattleau-effect full sweep chapel train. Alencon lace motifs and scattered seed pearl detail adorned the gown. Her headpiece, a cluster of matching petals with jewel trim, held her multi-tiered illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded with stephanotis on a white Bible with white streamers.

Maid of honor for her sister was Cheryl Peters of 410 Arnold Lane. Bridesmaids were: Mary Keller, Hellam RD 2, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Sheila Leader, Hengst Court, Hallam, and Susan Poff 251 Beaver Street, Hallam, both cousins of the bridegroom. Two cousins of the bride, LuAnn Peters and Susan Peters both of 563 Pennsylvania Avenue, York, were the junior bride maids and flower girl, respectively. All of the attendant's gowns and headpieces were hand made by the bride. The gowns, alternating between mint green and shrimp colors, were floor-length A-line gowns of peau de sole with empire waistlines. Their headpieces were small rosettes of peau de sole with shoulder-length veils. Each attendant carried a bouquet of daisies and a chain of daisies was connected from one to the other.

The mother of the bride chose a gold shantung straight dress with panel front and a small embroidered flower at the top. Her hat was cocoa brown and gold tulle, her accessories matched the color of her dress and her flowers were white gardenias. Mr. Keller's mother wore a turquoise blue crepe dress, A-line style with lace top, also a matching hat and white and black accessories. Her flowers were yellow roses. Gene Keller, Hellam RD 2, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The ushers were: Chris Peters, 410 Arnold Lane, brother of the bride; Steve Herman, 65 North Warter Street, Spring Grove; Paul Buser, Hellam RD 2, and Dennis Sipes, Airville. Notes for Dr. Martin Luther Black, Jr.:

Martin Luther Black, Jr., Ph.D. Of Ann Arbor, Michigan, died on April 23, 2011 at University Hospital after a long illness. He was born May 5, 1921, in Knoxville, Tennessee, the son of Dr. Martin Luther Black, Sr., of Medford, Tennessee, and Roxie Belle Bayless Black of Knoxville. He was preceded in death by his parents, sister Myra Anne Black Overcash, and his first wife of 24 years, Cornelia May Perry. After graduation from Knoxville High School, Martin earned a B.S. (1944) and Ph.D. (1949) both in chemistry, from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. He also studied at the Detroit College of Law and at the University of Michigan. Martin joined Parke, Davis & Co. as a research chemist in Detroit in 1944, and continued in various capacities through, and after the firm's acquisition by Warner-Lambert & Co. in 1977. At the time of his retirement, he was the longest-tenured member of the Parke-Davis research staff.

In 1944, Martin became a member of the research team engaged in the search for drugs effective in the prevention or treatment of malaria, which was a major obstacle to operations in the Pacific theater during World War II. The most original, productive and satisfying research for him in later years were those based on mathematical models devised by him for several important biochemical processes. Martin retired from Parke-Davis in 1986 after 41 years of service. By that time, he was the author of numerous publications in journals within his field and was a member of several scientific bodies, before whose gatherings he was sometimes an invited speaker, including the American Chemical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Martin also had an insatiable love of music, especially classic jazz. His interest began in the 1930s in the foothills of the Great Smokies where he played string bass with Harold Underwood's Commanders, the Louis Chesney Orchestra, the Bob Lavin Orchestra, the Coy Tucker Sextet, and the Swingsters at radio station WNOX. Years later in the 1960s his musical activity included improvisational gigs in the dark catacombs of Ann Arbor's Del Rio Bar.

Martin married Cornelia May Perry of Chambersburg, Pennsylvania in 1944, and had two sons. After Cornelia's death in 1968, Martin married Mary Caroline Greene Exelby of Northville, Michigan in 1973. They shared a love for science, music, and travel. She and Martin traveled together to many countries in Africa, Europe, Asia, and South America.

Martin is survived by his older son, Evan Garth Black, married to Jane Carol Kreski of Iron River, Michigan, and grandsons, David and Tyler. He is also survived by his younger son, Alex Mark Black, married to Rita Anne Desmond of Swords, County Dublin, Ireland, and granddaughter, Laura. Also surviving him are his stepsons and their families: Curtis LaVerne Exelby and Louise Arlene Hayward, their children, Neil and Jessica, Kyle Greene Exelby and Andrea Lee Sanderson, and their children, Kendal, Austin, and Palmer, as well as nephews Wendell Overcash, his wife JoAnne and daughters Holly and Erin, of Goshen, Kentucky and Whitney Overcash of Louisville, Kentucky.

Notes for Edith Joan Perry:

Winter Haven - With sadness and appreciation of a long, well-lived life, the family of Joan Perry Murphy announces her passing at home in Winter Haven, Florida, on November 28, 2017 at 91 years old. Born May 6, 1926 in Mont Alto, Pennsylvania, she spent the first years of her life living on the campus of the Pennsylvania State Forest Academy, where her father was a professor. The family moved to Knoxville, Tennessee in the early 1930s, and she graduated from Knoxville High School (Class of 1944) where she played leadership roles in the Thespians, Top Hat, and Hiking Clubs. In her senior year, she was awarded Honorary Major in the Junior Unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, a role she continued into college at the University of Tennessee. At UT, she joined the Delta Delta Delta Sorority, remaining active as an alumni through most of her life. After marrying Alvin R. Murphy, Jr. in 1947, her young family moved to Winter Haven, Florida, where she worked as a medical stenographer for 5 years.

An avid member of the Lake Region Country Club Women's Golf Association, her strategy placed accuracy above distance and won her admiration from her friends, which resulted in a hole-in-one before her powerful driving husband could make his. After the kids left the nest, Joan and her husband took many trips, exploring several countries in Europe and the British Isles. Summers were often spent in Knoxville where she enjoyed gardening, more golf, and family. After her husband's retirement, the couple maintained a summer residence in Blowing Rock, NC in close proximity to many of their friends.

She is predeceased by her parents, George Sargent Perry and Edith May Barshinger, and her siblings Mary (Clifford) Wayland, Katherine (Robert) Newton, Cornelia (Martin) Black, and Robert (Nancy) Perry. Fondly referred to by the nickname she called her mother, 'Munno' will be lovingly remembered by her surviving husband of 71 years, Alvin R. Murphy Jr., children Michael Murphy and Catherine (John Manuel) Murphy, grandchildren Kevin Murphy, Steven (Amy) Murphy, Jackson Manuel, and Allison Manuel, and great-grandchildren Jacob and Emma Murphy.

A Celebration of Life service has been set for Saturday, December 16 at Ott-Laughlin Funeral Home, 645 W Central Ave, Winter Haven, Florida, beginning at 11:00 AM. The family will have a time for visitation starting at 10:00 AM until the service begins. Interment will be at a later date at Greenwood Cemetery in Knoxville, Tennessee. Joan loved hiking in Tennessee, so in lieu of flowers, memorials may be given in Joan Murphy's name to the Smoky Mountains Hiking Club, P.O. Box 51592, Knoxville, Tennessee 37950-1592. As Joan would say when asked if she'd like chocolate for dessert, 'You'd better believe it!'

She married Robert Allen (Bob) Williams 17 Jun 1965 in Waverly, Lancaster Co, Nebraska. He was born 14 Oct 1944 in Hastings, Adams Co, Nebraska, and died 15 Jan 2021 in Montrose, Montrose Co, Colorado.

Notes for Robert Allen (Bob) Williams:

Robert Allen Williams, passed away on the morning of Friday, Jan. 15, 2021, at San Juan Living Center, in Montrose, Colorado, with his wife at his side, Bob slipped his earthly bonds, as Jesus opened wide the gates of Heaven and escorted him to Glory. Robert Allen Williams was born Oct. 14, 1944, in Hastings, Nebraska, to Clarence Alton and Doris Eleanor (Moyer) Williams, the second of four children. Bob grew up in Waverly, Nebraska, where he graduated from Waverly High School in 1962. In 1964, he received an associate degree in electronics from (then) Nebraska Vocational Technical School. In 1966, he enlisted in the Nebraska Air National Guard, and was honorably discharged in 1972. On June 17, 1965, he married his high school sweetheart, Marilyn Elaine Whyman, at First United Methodist Church in Waverly. They celebrated 55 years of marriage last June.

Together they had two children, a daughter, Emily Ann, in 1967, and a son, Ross Andrew, in 1969. The family made their home in Lincoln, Nebraska, where Bob was employed as a metering technician for Lincoln Electric System. In Lincoln, they were members of First Baptist Church, where Bob first accepted Jesus as his Savior in 1974. The family enjoyed their many trips to Colorado for summer vacations and winter skiing. In April, 1979, they achieved their dream of moving to Colorado when Bob was hired as a substation technician for (then) Colorado Ute Electric Association in Montrose. He retired from Tri-State Generation and Transmission in 2008.

Bob and Marilyn enjoyed nothing more than hooking up the travel trailer and heading into the mountains for camping, 4-wheeling, hiking and biking. These were Bob's happiest memories. After he retired they traveled a little farther afield and spent several winters in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, until Bob's declining health kept them home. He was eventually diagnosed with Parkinson's Disease and vascular dementia. Marilyn took care of him at home until September 2018, when he became a resident of San Juan Living Center. They had dinner together every evening until COVID-19 brought it to an abrupt halt. Even then, in the warm months of 2020, they had dinner together, Bob dining inside the patio window and Marilyn dining outside the window. Bob was preceded in death by his two grandsons, Robbie Williams and Will Patterson; as well as his parents; and parents-in-law, Collins and Marion Whyman.

He is survived by his wife; his beloved dog, Lucky; his son, daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Ross, Christie and Minta Williams, of Colorado Springs; his daughter, Emily Basham, of Lincoln, Nebraska; his granddaughter, Erin Williams Smith (whom he helped raise) and her husband Zachary Smith, of Delta; his brother and sister-in-law, Steve and Jeri Williams, of Mountain Home, Arkansas; his sisters and brothers-in-law, Shirley and Don Ensminger, of Massilon, Ohio; Pam and Dave Johnson, of Mountain Home, Arkansas; his in-laws, Russ Whyman, of Westcliffe; Roger and Roxy Whyman, of Parker; Georgia and Bill Niemeyer, of Waverly, Nebraska; and Lori Lamb, also of Waverly. He is also survived by 12 nieces and nephews and numerous cousins.

At Bob's request, there will be no services. Cremation has taken place, and this coming summer, his family will gather to scatter his ashes at Lake San Cristobal, near Lake City. Also, Bob has requested that memorials be sent to the Montrose Animal Shelter, 3383 N. Townsend Ave., Montrose, Colorado 81401. The family would like to thank the staff of San Juan Living Center for the loving care they gave him at the end of his life. Crippin Funeral Home is assisting the family with arrangements

He married Barbara Ann Smith 09 Dec 1967, daughter of Rexton Smith and Ruth Balcam. She was born 26 Jun 1947.

Notes for Frederick William Stabley, Jr.:

Many of Sports Information Director Fred Stabley's stories start out "Did I tell you the time I...?" The answer to Stabley's question is probably yes, according to Associate SID Don Helinski who has worked with Stabley for about 10 years. "He always tells the stories over and over and over again," Helinski said with a laugh. "The fact is he has been at Central for 23 years and has a lot of stories to tell."

Stabley has many memories in his time as SID and will take them with him when he retires in July. He estimates he has been to about 42 states and to 75 to 80 percent of all major universities as SID. "There are always funny and crazy things about this trip or this trip that happen," he said. "I can tell you about a bus going the wrong way down a highway in California, or a plane being forced to land in Detroit and the team had no way to get home."

Rob Kaminski worked in the Sports Information office from 1986-92 as an assistant. He recalls a trip to a retirement party for the SID at Toledo. On the way back, in the dead cold of winter, Stabley's car got a flat tire on the highway near Brighton. They spent the night in a cheap hotel with little heat. "I remember sleeping in the same bed with Fred with our winter jackets and gloves on," Kaminski said. "Fred joked that we would never go to another retirement party again."

Stabley came to CMU to become the SID in August of 1982. He had previously worked at the Lansing State-Journal as a sports reporter for 12 years. He also had a two-year stint as an editor of a magazine dedicated to Michigan State University athletics. During his time at the Lansing State-Journal, he covered Masters' golf tournaments, Rose Bowls and many local high school sports. He is most famous for coming up with the nickname "Magic" for Earvin Johnson, who attended Lansing Everett High School.

After covering a game, Stabley referred to the young star as "Magic." The name stuck.

Still, Stabley is humble about the name. "I always tell people someone else would have came up with the nickname if I hadn't," he said. "He was already going to be a special, magical person." His father, Fred Stabley Sr., was the SID at MSU for 32 years and was one of the position's pioneers.

"Sports information came into its form after World War II," Stabley Jr. said. "Athletics had become pretty big on the college scene and the media started to come onto college campuses." He spent many hours with his father, sparking his interest in the business. One of the things Stabley learned from his father was not to have an ego. "There are too many egos you have to deal with," Stabley Jr. said. "You deal with coaches; you deal with athletes. You are going to be in for hard times on the job if you have an ego."

Stabley traveled mainly with the football, basketball and baseball teams during his tenure. Being gone all of the time took him away from his family. "There is no question the best thing and the worst thing about the job is the traveling," he said. "You are basically working everyday from September to April. I was gone a lot."

May 09, 2013 — Fred Stabley Jr., retired sports information director for Central Michigan University, will be inducted into the College Sports Information Director's Hall of Fame in June. Stabley, whose career at Central Michigan University began in 1982 and continued through his retirement in 2005, is perhaps best known for tabbing a young high school basketball player named Earvin Johnson with the nickname Magic when he was a sports writer for the Lansing State Journal.

The Stabley name is well regarded in the world of Michigan sports as the family spans three generations in sports information. His father, Fred Stabley Sr., also a member of the CoSIDA Hall of Fame, and his daughter Amy complete the trifecta. "I guess you could say I was born to be an SID," Stabley said. "My father, Fred, was the SID for 32 years at Michigan State University, and my daughter Amy served as a full-time assistant as the baseball SID at The University of Texas at Austin before taking the head job at Oakland University."

Stabley will be enshrined in the CoSIDA Hall of Fame at the organization's annual convention June 13. He has been a CoSIDA member for 30 years, serving on the organization's board of directors in the mid-1990s and becoming president in 2000-2001. He continued his service on the board through 2004.
