Notes for George W. Catt:

George Catt of Knox County, Indiana, born-Virginia. Service--Pri., May 25 to July 25, 2 mos. 2 days. Pay per month, 6-2/8 S. Proof-From Pay Abstract of Capt. John Whitsell's Co. of rangers from Monogalia and Ohio Counties; in West Virginia. Archives and History, 3rd biennial report, p. 122. Died-Oct., 1816. Buried in Johnson Twp. Names of children taken from Will are: George; Elizabeth Pea; John; Catherine Johnson; Solomon; Moses; Mary; Susannah; Nancy Decker.

Early settlers of Johnson Township, Knox County, Indiana – "History of Knox County" page 80-81 - George Catt, grandfather of J.P. Catt, came from North Carolina to Virginia; thence to Knox County and settled on a old French claim, lying immediately east to Purcell Station. He came all the way from Virginia in a wagon, bringing his family with him. George Catt, son of the former, was born about 1800, and settled on a portion of the land owned by his father. He was a ranger in time of the Indiana war, but was not at the battle of Tippecanoe. He was a farmer and miller. Moses, brother of George Carr, was never the owner of land, was somewhat given to bibulous habits. He lived in the "barrens" in the western part of the township. "Boss" Catt went to New Orleans and was lost sight of his friends. Issaac Catt, brother of J.P. Catt, lived west of the railroad. He owned a small tract of land, but depended mainly on his gun for a living. He killed a great number of deer and turkey. Other of the Catt brothers were Solomon and Hiram, the former died in Harrison Township; the latter is still living near the old farm of the grandfather.

Early settlers of Johnson Township, Knox County, Indiana – "History of Knox County" page 82 – The first mill in Johnson Township was built by George Catt on his farm. It was a horse-mill, and by it he was able to make an indifferent flour or meal from ten or fifteen bushels of grain per day. This was built about 120, and was run for thirteen or twenty years. The flour was bolted by hand. It was no uncommon thing for persons to come to mill and have to wait two or three days for their grist, during which time they would either camp out, or would be taken care of by friends.

The next mill was built on the Deshee (Du Chein) by Jacob Pea. This was a water-mill, and was used both as a grist and saw mill. At a later date it was changed to a steam-mill.

Son of Michael Katz and Anna Maria Mohr. Born between 26 May 1747-25 May 1748. Died after 12 Oct 1816 and by 23 Oct 1816. - - - Will of George Catt - - - In the name of God, Amen. I George Catt of Knox County, Indiana, knowing that it is appointed of God for men once to die and being sick and weakly of body, but with sound mind, memory and understanding, make this my last will and testament in the form following Vis.

Proof-Pension claim S. 16072. Died-1844. Buried West Salem Church Cemetery, Johnson Twp. Married-Sarah. Had five daughters according to will, but no names were given.

On May 25, 1750, Phillip Catt was born to Michael Katz and Anna Maria Mohr. He was born in the colony of Virginia, near present day Hardy County, West Virginia. Five siblings have been identified in the records to this day: Ludwig, George, Michael, Anna Maria and John. Documentation indicates around 1770 the family crossed the mountains and settled along the southern branch of the Potomac River in what is now Fayette County, Pennsylvania.

At the time the Revolutionary War broke out, the area where the Catts resided was under a jurisdictional dispute as to which colony it belonged to—Virginia or Pennsylvania. When news of Lexington and Concord reached this frontier area, the border dispute faded into the background and residents came together in the fight against the British. This area was referred to as "old Monongalia County, Virginia". The four Catt brothers (George, Michael, John and Phillip) all served in the War in regiments from this area. Phillip, specifically, was in the Monongalia Militia. He served in several regiments under the direction of Captains John Whitesell, Kincaid, Wilson, Morgan and Jacob Tevebaugh, as well as Colonels Brodhead and Crawford on multiple campaigns.

About 1775, Phillip married Mary Magdalan ? and started a family, despite the War. Their first four children, Mary, Elizabeth, Phillip Jr, and Sebastian were born in Pennsylvania. In May 1785, they relocated westward and settled in Knox County, Indiana. Mary and Phillip added five more children to their family: John , Rebecca, Susannah, Daniel and Eutha Melinda.

Phillip's wife Mary died between 1815 and 1820. He remarried to Sally Kimmons on November 14, 1820 and they continued to live in Johnson Township in Knox County until Phillip's death on September 4, 1844.

12. She married Thomas Johnson in Louisville, Kentucky. He was born 28 May 1775 in Virginia, and died 1863.

Notes for Thomas Johnson:

Thomas Johnson was born on May 28, 1775 in the colony of Virginia. His parents were William Johnson and Hannah Sanderson from Lancashire, England. Thomas was one of the earliest settlers in southern Knox County, along with Frederick Mehl, George Catt, Anthony Cary and many others. He arrived in the area around 1800 and married George Catt's daughter Catherine. They cleared the land and took to farming as they grew their family as well as their farm. The children born to this marriage were Eleanor, Susan, Harriet, Payton, Fielding, Docia, Jane and Thomas Jr.

As did many of the early settlers of the area, Thomas fought under Captains Perry, Modrell, and Beckes during the War of 1812. Thomas was active in local politics, aligning himself with the Democratic Party of the time. As one of the most prominent residents and farmers of the area, the township, which is situated in the south central part of the county, was named after him. His family, especially the younger Thomas, went on to amass extensive land holdings throughout the 1800s.

Thomas and Catherine lived out their years on the family farm. Catherine passed away on August 15, 1862 and Thomas followed her a few months later on January 19, 1863. They were laid to rest in the Johnson Cemetery which still exists today, not far from the White River on Johnson Bend Road.

Early settlers of Johnson Township, Knox County, Indiana – "History of Knox County" page 81 –

Thomas Johnson settled in the township about 1800. He lived on the farm now owned by Noah Purcell. Later he moved to the south side of the township, where he died; his son, Thomas Johnson, still lives there. Jonathan Purcell, the grandfather of Purcell family of this township, came to the county from Virginia and settled near Bruceville. His son, John Purcell, bought the farm now owned by Noah Purcell over seventy years ago. He obtained it of Thomas Johnson.

"History of Knox County, Indiana" page 546 – Thomas Johnson, the leading farmer of Johnson Township, is the youngest child of Thomas and Catherine (Catt) Johnson. His father was one among the earliest settlers of this township, the township named in his honor. After remaining here a short time he returned to Louisville, Kentucky, where he married Miss Catt. Returning to this county, they settled in the woods, which were then full of Indians and wild animals. Here they cleared up their farm, and spent the remainder of their days in agricultural pursuits. He was always an industrious farmer, and a staunch Democrat. He died at the age of eighty-eight, and she at seventy-seven. He was of English descent and she of German.

The subject of this sketch was born in 1823, within a hundred yards of where he has lived every since. His early advantages for obtaining an education were very limited, the school he attended being four miles distant from his home. At the age of sixteen he commenced life on his own account, managing his father's farm for some time. He then bought a couple of small fields, and received a few acres from his father. Since then he has increased his possessions to over 2,300 acres of land. In 1848 he was married to Caroline Lane, born in Johnson Township in 1831.

They were the parents of four children: Abram, John, Clark, and Thomas. Mrs. Johnson died in 1854. He was married the second time to Frances Roderick, born in 1834. Five children were the result of this marriage: Paton and Victoria (twins), Riley, Bryant and Levi. His second wife died in 1866, and in 1868 he was married to Harriet Roderick, who was born in this township in 1835. To them has been born three children: Fannie, Harry and Commodore. Mr. Johnson has always been a Democrat, casting his first vote for John K. Polk for president. In 1868 his house and sex out-buildings were destroyed by fire, and on the ruins of the old house a fine brick one has been erected. Notwithstanding the losses by fire and flood, he has succeeded in rising to the ownership of one of the largest tracts of land in the county. For some years he has been a large stockholder in the Knox County Fair Grounds, and has held the position of director in the association. Mr. Johnson has been a citizen of Johnson Township for sixty-three years.

She married Luke Decker. He was born 1778 in Hampshire, West Virginia, and died 23 Mar 1835 in Gibson Co, Indiana.

Notes for Luke Decker:

Luke Decker, farmer, judge, and militia officer, owned and traded slaves in Northwest Territory, Indiana Territory, and the state of Indiana despite laws prohibiting such practices. As a member of the proslavery element in the Old Northwest, Decker encouraged the establishment of slavery in the territory, a plan that nearly succeeded under Indiana Territorial Governor William Henry Harrison. By the time Indiana Territorial was ready for statehood in 1860, however, settlers against slavery outnumbered those, like Decker, who supported it. The institution was outlawed by the 1816 state constitution, but slavery did not die out. In Knox County, where Decker resided and slavery did not die out. In Knox County, where Decker resided and slavery was concentrated, some slave owners continued to hold slaves, believing that the Constitution was not retroactive.

In July, 1816, barely a month after the Indiana Constitution was written, two of Decker's slaves – Bob, nominally an indentured servant, and Anthony, a slave for life – escaped from his possession and fled to Orange County, a Quaker stronghold in the southern part of the state. Deck pursued his slaves and had them captured. Confronted by the Quaker-influenced court in Paoli, he used al of his influence in his determination to regain possession of the two men.

Decker's cases were before the court for five years, from 1817 to 1822. Summaries of the court proceedings in yearly county histories and in other accounts attest to their importance. A study of these histories and of recently discovered documents related to the cases demonstrates their significance with regard to the history of slavery in early Indiana and corrects numerous misconceptions. Because Decker was a member of the proslavery element in the Old Northwest these histories and of recently discovered documents related to the cases demonstrates their significance with regard to the history of slavery in early Indian and corrects numerous misconceptions. Because Decker was a member of the proslavery element in the Old Northwest and because many citizens of Orange County were morally opposed to slavery, the cases, also exemplify the battle between the pro- and antislavery forces that divided Indiana Territory politically in its early years. Decker's attempt to regain possession of Bob and Anthony are among the first proceedings to challenge the legality of both indentured servitude and slavery after approval of the state Constitution. The lawsuits also demonstrate the legal tactics employed by pro- and antislavery attorneys as they defended the interests of their clients. Further, the cases reflect the decline of the once powerful proslavery element in Indiana.

Slavery had existed in the area northwest of the Ohio River almost from the beginning of settlement. The French had introduced slaves in their trading centers in the mid-eighteenth century. Following the American Revolution migrants from the South, especially Kentucky and Virginia, brought slaves and a tolerance for slavery with them to the Old Northwest. Many of the pioneers who owned slaves settled in and around Vincennes, the largest French community, and in settlements in the Illinois country.

To cope with the influx of pioneers Congress acted to organize a government for the burgeoning territory. Virginia was pressed to cede her western lands, including present-day Indiana and Illinois, to the United States government and did so with the Virginia Act of Session on December 20, 1783. The Northwest Territory was officially created by the ratification of the Ordinance of 1787. Article VI of the ordinance stated, "There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said Territory . . ." The ordinance also contained modification of an important clause from the Virginia Act of Session that protected the rights of the French and other original inhabitants of the territory. Those who owned slaves, believing their rights were protected, were angry and confused at Congress's failure to address the question of existing slavery. A loosely organized proslavery element emerged to eliminate Article VI and legalize slavery in the territory.

The Decker family was part of this early migration from the South, and, like many others settlers from the southern states, the Deckers had owned slaves before coming to what is now part of Indiana. John and Dinah (Kuykendall) Decker, Luke Decker's parents, had migrated with other Dutch families from New York in the mid-eighteenth century and settled in Hampshire County, Virginia (now West Virginia), where Luke was born about 1760. The family farmed and bought land near the upper reaches of the Potomac River. They also bought slaves. One was a woman named Rachel, whom the family called "Rach."

After the Revolution the Decker clan moved west, settling first in Kentucky, then near Vincennes, Indiana, about 1784. Claiming land near the Duchesne River, they began farming in what is now known as Decker Township. They brought their slaves with them and may have purchased more along the way. When John Decker died in 1790, he bequeathed four female slaves to his wife and children. Luke Decker inherited all of his father's lands, and tenements and, after the death of his mother, the slave "Rach."

Establishing his presence in Vincennes affairs, Decker served as justice of the peace for Knox County, as judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and as an officer in the militia. He forged ties with members of the French community, probably purchased slaves from them, and traded at posts organized by the French along the Mississippi River and in Louisiana. It may have been this association and a desire to continue trading slaves that led him to a position of influence in the effort to eliminate Article VI of the Ordinance of 1787 and to establish slavery in the Northwest, and later Indiana, Territory.

One of the first acts of the proslavery element in the Old Northwest was to petition Congress for suspension or repeal of Article VI. In 1793, as judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Decker received a letter from Arthur St. Clair, governor of the Northwest Territory, written in response to a petition from mostly French settlers who had requested interpretation of the article prohibiting slavery. St. Clair's response, that Article VI was not retroactive, gave settlers who had owned slaves before 1787 permission to continue holding them and gave slavery a firm hold in the territory. Even without St. Clair's encouragement slaveowners found effective ways to circumvent Article VI. Many entered into long-term indentures with their unwitting slaves or bequeathed them as property, as John Decker had, to the next generation.

Decker and the proslavery element sought William Henry Harrison as their ally when Harrison arrived in Vincennes in 1801 as governor of the newly created Indiana Territory. Originally from Virginia, Harrison wished to attract other wealthy settlers from the South and to please those in the territory who owned slaves. Claiming to represent a majority of settlers and encouraged by the proslavery element, Harrison sponsored a convention in 1802 to petition Congress, among other things, to repeal Article VI. In addition to himself, he appointed Decker, Francis Vigo, and William Prince to represent Knox County.

When Congress failed to act on the petition, Harrison and the territorial judges, acting under powers that granted them the right to use laws from the original thirteen states to govern the territory, adopted in 1803 a law from a Virginia code that required slaves brought into the territory to fulfill their contract.

In 1805, after Indiana moved to the second territorial stage of government, the first legislative assembly further legalized forced servitude by passing a law that permitted any person owning or purchasing a slave outside the territory to bring them into the territory and bind them into service. The terms of the indenture were to be recorded with the county clerk with thirty days. After sixty days any slave not agreeing to the terms could be sent out of the territory and sold. Slaves, then could either accept an indenture, usually lasting between twenty and forty years, or be taken out of the territory and sold for life. Decker must have availed himself of this legislation for he had at least one indentured servant, Bob, with whom he had made a contract in 1804.

Decker and General Washington Johnston were elected to represent Knox County in the second territorial legislature. In the first session, which met in the fall of 1807, the legislature adopted yet another resolution to Congress reiterating the slaves had existed in Indiana Territory before the Ordinance of 1787 and asking for a suspension of Article VI. Near the close of this session the governor approved the passage of a bill entitled "An Act Concerning Servants," a revision of the 1805 indenture laws specifying how servants were expected to perform. Decker probably concurred with this legislation also, for, during the second session of the legislature in the fall of 1808, he led a committee to amend the act by further defining and restricting servants' actions.

The proslavery element was powerful in Knox County, where Vincennes was located, and in the Illinois counties to the west. Opposition to slavery, however, was beginning to develop there and in the rest of the territory. After the turn of the century large numbers of Quakers had begun to emigrate from the South – many from North Carolina – in part to escape slavery. They settled first in northern Kentucky; many then moved to the Cincinnati hinterland in Ohio, then spread into the Whitewater valley and other areas in southern Indiana Territory. Strongly democratic and, of course, opposed to slavery on religious as well as economic grounds, they influenced political development where they settled. In addition to the Quakers, antislavery settlers from both northern and southern states arrived in the territory in increasing numbers. Many resided in Dearborn County on the Ohio border. In 1805 and again in 1807 citizens of this county petitioned Congress in protest of the territory's indenture laws and requested annexation to Ohio, a free state. No action was taken on the 1807 Dearborn petition, but Congress responded to a petition from residents of Clark County, to the south of Dearborn, assuring them that Article VI would not be repealed.

In the fall of 1808 Decker and Johnston served on a committee in the second session of the territorial legislature to report on these and other petitions for or against admitting slavery in Indiana Territory. In his report Johnston penned an impassioned plea urging his fellow legislatures to reject admission of slavery, stating that it was not expedient to petition Congress for repeal of Article VI and that a bill before the legislature to repeal the indenture laws should pass. The report stunned Johnston's colleagues; but when the bill, supported by the antislavery faction, came before the legislative council, it failed to pass the first reading.

In 1809 the separation of Indiana Territory from the Illinois counties to the west of Vincennes cost the proslavery element the support of slave owners there. Decker and two relatives were among the signers of a petition to President Thomas Jefferson in 1808 protesting the division. After reapportionment of the resultant smaller Indiana Territory, slavery was an important issue in the election on May 22, 1809, of new representatives, councilors, and delegate to Congress. An admirer of Harrison's won as representative from Knox County, and Decker and William Prince were elected as councilors to serve in the sump session of the legislature . . .

Notes for Jacob Pea Catt:

History of Knox and Daviess County, Indian published 1886 page 544 - Johnson Township - Jacob P. Catt, one of the early settlers of Johnson Township, is a son of George and Rebecca (Pea) Catt. The father was a native of Georgia, and when a mere boy came with his parents to Knox County, Ind. He followed the occupation of farming and in connection operated an old horse-mill. He was trustee of the township in early days, and after a long and well-spent life died at the age of seventy-six years, and the mother at the age of sixty-eight. Subject was born in 1819 on the old farm, and in boyhood attended the old subscription schools. At the age of twenty-two years he was married to Elizabeth A. Case, born in Dubois County, Indiana, in 1821.

To their union these five children were born: Martin, Amanda, Jacob, George W. and Rebecca J. Soon after marriage they located on their present farm, and here the father spent much of his time at milling. Politically the family are Democrats, and for over twelve years Mr. Catt served as township trustee and for sixty-six years has been a citizen of the township. In 1867 Mrs. Catt died. His son, George W., is one of the rising young farmers of the township, and was born in 1851. He secured a common school education, and at the age of seventeen began to battle his own way in the world. In 1873 he was married to Eliza A. Glass, born in Johnson Township in 1851. Her father, Joseph Glass, died of small-pox in the late war. George and his wife are the parents of these children: Etta, Ellis G., Royal E., Laura, Nora and Bertha. Mrs. Catt is a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Mr. Catt was elected to the position of township trustee in 1882, and has held the position with ability to the present time.

Notes for Sarah Burdlow:

Feb. 2, 1894 - No funeral occurred Saturday afternoon from the home of Jacob Kimmons, No. 1021 East Barnett Street as had been announced. Owing to the peculiar condition of the corpse, the friends of the deceased began to doubt whether she was dead or in a trance. Consequently, the obsequies were postponed until time can decide this all-important question. The hour for the funeral services had arrived and the friends of the family had assembled to pay their respect to the deceased. The minister, Rev. Smith, of Washington, was there to preach the funeral sermon. Wm. F. Goroner, the undertaker, was had to come to conduct the funeral, but there being considerable doubt whether she was really dead or not, the friends decided to postpone the services until today, Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Kimmons was t he wife of Jacob Kimmons. After a long illness which the attending physician pronounced "gall stone", she died Wednesday, January 24, 1894, at 5 o'clock p.m. Arrangements were made for her burial on Saturday afternoon, but the peculiar condition and the life-like appearance of the body forced her friends to think that Mrs. Kimmons was not dead, but was in a trance. Her body had lain all that time in a cold room, and still there was not that death-like, icy coldness, nor the ghastly look of a dead person about her face. Besides, he hands and fingers, and her arms, also her limb and toes, were perfectly limber. In fact, there was bit that rigidity of the body that almost invariably belongs to a corpse.

The undertaker at first pronounced her dead, but at last became doubtful and Dr. H.M. Smith, the physician who had attended her in her final sickness was called. Dr. Smith pronounced her dead, but, as a consolation to the bereaved family, advised a postponement of the funeral. At 5 o'clock p.m. Saturday - seventy-two hours after the supposed death of Mrs. Kimmons, a commercial scribe called at the house of mourning. The condition of the body remained unchanged, and the bereaved family in great suspense.

If it is found beyond a doubt that Mrs. Kimmons is dead, her body will be consigned to the grave this (Sunday) afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. If, however, no positive signs of decomposition have appeared the funeral will probably be again postponed until there is no more doubt about her death. Mrs. Kimmons was fifty-four-year-old and by her long illness had become greatly emaciated.

Indiana, and died 05 Apr 1852 in Vincennes, Knox Co, Indiana.

Notes for Michael Catt:

At the home of his son, Job Catt Esq., near Howard, on Sunday, November 19th, 1890, Michael Catt, aged 101 years. Mr. Catt was a native of Kentucky, where he first saw the light in 1789. While but a boy however, he removed with his parents to Knox County, Indiana. Here he grew to manhood married and raised a family of ten children; six boys and four girls. His sons all joined the union army and four of them laid down their lives to aid their country. The boys inherited their martial spirit from their father; Mr. Catt having served through the Black Hawk war in '32 with distinction. In 1854 Mr. Catt removed to Jefferson County this state, from hence to Crawford, and in 1873 to Elk. He endured the hardships of pioneer life without a murmur and preserved his faculties wonderfully well, nearly to the last. For several years he had been physically disabled from getting around very much, but came to town two years ago to vote for Cleveland. His reminiscences of his early life in Kentucky and Indiana were very interesting, and the last time we saw him he still took a lively interest in current events. To few men is it given to see more than a century of life and very few of this number retain their mental powers as well as did Mr. Catt.

Notes for Charles Catt:

Charles Catt was born January 6, 1826, and departed this life Thursday, March 11, 1897. He was first married in 1856 to Patsey Catt. To them five children were born, one of whom are living. He was next married to Nancy McNeely in 1868. To them were born nine children, six of whom are living. He joined the Christian church in 1883. Funeral services were conducted at the Shiloh church Friday afternoon by Revs. Parr and Neal, after which the remains were interred in the Shiloh graveyard. The funeral was largely attended. The community has lost a good neighbor and a friend to all. The church to which he belonged has lost one of its oldest members who will be greatly missed, but they have the assurance that their loss is his eternal gain, as he left a bright evidence of a hope that reaches beyond the grave. In his last hours as, anxious friends would gather round him he would say: "May God bless you. Be faithful." He was perfectly submissive to the will of God. He leaves a wife, seven children and 8 host of friends to mourn his death. Rev. Dobbs, of Springfield, Illinois, Preached at the Primitive Baptist church a part of last week.

Notes for Abner Decker Frederick:

Abner D. Frederick, 85, pioneer mining man died this morning March 3, 1944 at his home at 1400 Norton Street, following an illness of several months. Born Oct. 20, 1859, at Ottumwa, Iowa, Mr. Frederick came with his parents to California in 1865. The family settled in Sutter County where they lived until 1876. Then they moved to Bangor. In Sutter County, Mr. Frederick was a ranch foreman. After moving to Bangor, he worked at the Bangor mine, and from 1912 to 1916 was employed at the old Emma mine at Nimshew. Much of his mining experience was on hydraulic properties. Known as an expert in the construction of dams, he continued in that line until 1918, when he retired to his farm at Bangor.

He helped build the power plant dam near Dobbins in 1902, and worked as shift boss on the hydraulic line erection of the San Pablo and San Leandro dams near Oakland. He was employed for three years on these projects. For many years he and his wife were active in all civic affairs in Bangor. In 1941 they moved to Oroville. The Fredericks observed their 53rd wedding anniversary at a dinner party at their home here April 27, 1943. They were married in Bangor.

Mr. Frederick is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Frederick of Oroville; three half-sisters, Mrs. Laura Lambert of Stockton, Mrs. Mattie Emery of Sacramento, and Mrs. Etta Colby of Gridley; and two half-brothers, Samuel Hobbs of Hamonton, and Hyrum Hobbs of Oroville.

Funeral services, in charge of Hamilton and Riley, will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Bangor Church. Burial will be in the Bangor cemetery.

Notes for Albert (Bert) Frederick:

Jan. 23, 1911 - A Mason City dispatch, telling of a novel divorce suit in as much as the charges are concerned says: Mrs. Clara Frederick, wife of Bert Frederick, a well-known resident of this city, has too much taste for the reading of light literature of the hovel variety, according to the petition for divorce filed by the husband Saturday day. He alleges that his wife is a habitual novel reader and that when engrossed in a book of this kind, neglects her household duties so that the house "becomes untidy and unsanitary." It is also alleged by the husband that when Mrs. Frederick is deep in the midst of the latest story she refuses to get his meals and that he is compelled to cook and serve them for himself and children; that his wife will seldom come to the table, but will remain devouring the book.

When approaching the crisis of such literary productions, he declares, she will scarcely go to bed and when interfered with becomes irritable and abusive. Mr. Frederick asks for the divorce and the custody of three minor children.

219. Harmon Harrison¹⁰ Catt (Johannes P.⁹, Johannes (John)⁸, Michael⁷ Katz, Stephen⁶ Kaz, Martin⁵, Michael⁴, Sebastian³ Katz, Hans², Hans¹) was born 02 Feb 1833 in Jackson, Hancock Co, Indiana, and died 30 Dec 1915 in Scott Twp, Bourbon Co, Kansas. She was born 07 Oct 1837 in Jamestown, Mercer Co, Pennsylvania, and died 28 Sep 1912 in Scott Twp, Bourbon Co, Kansas.

Notes for Harmon Harrison Catt:

For the first time in 103 years relatives or descendants of Harman Catt do not occupy the historic family home, built in 1864. The home is located one mile south east of Fort Smith. Occupancy of the home has changed only three times in 103-year history of the structure. Last Occupant was the late Rufus Pellett, son-in-law of Harman Catt.

Catt came to Bourbon County before the Civil War and established a homestead. In 1864 he traded the homestead for the tract of land where the present structure stands. After making the trade, he returned to Iowa in a covered wagon and brought his family here. They lived in a covered wagon and a tent while the house was being built. It was a rugged experience for the family, which consisted of the couple and their four children, John, Luther, Mary and Pet.

The two-story rock house has been a Fort Scott landmark. The sandstone used for the window frames was hauled by wagon from Bronaugh. Four more children were born to the Catts. They were Maggie, Walter, Alice and Grant. In 1885 Harman Catt purchased an acre of adjoining land and built a schoolhouse. In July of that year, he deeded it to School District 44. The structure has been known as the Catt School since that time.

Mary Catt married John Carson, and in 1902 Carson purchased the home from Harman Catt. The Carson family occupied the home until 1942, when it was purchased by Rufus Pellett, who had married Lola Carson, and they remained until Jan. 2, 1967. About four years ago, Joe Richards, Fort Scott, purchased the home, with the stipulation that Pellett could remain there as long as he lived.

The Catt School, no longer in use as a school building has been converted into a community hall. It is there that five remtogether, for they are a closely knit family. They are Mrs. Bessie Hurtt, 118 Andrick; Gladys Carson Younger, 502 S. Crawford; and members of the Catt family still meet once a month. They eagerly await each get-; Pearl Carson Schoonover, 1105 S. Main; Lola Carson Pellett, 217 W. Wall, and Lowell Carson, Garland.

Oct. 1971 – It was almost like walking on sacred ground for three sisters and a brother of the John Carson family, formerly of the Catt community, as they stalked the premises of the old Catt School Wednesday. They came to see their old “run down” school auctioned off to the highest bidder, forever severing community ties. In the 1885 their grandfather, Harman Catt, built the school, deeding it and one acre to School District 44.

To hear Mrs. Bessie Carson Hurtt, the oldest of the four tell it “Grandpa Catt must have had his own family in mind when he built the school, for his eight children were educated there and so were the eight of us.”

August 1900 - Recites: “This contract made and entered into by and between Harman Catt, party of the first part, Margaret J. Catt, party of the second part, witnesseth: that whereas said Harman Catt, and Margaret J. Catt have heretofore been husband and wife, and whereas they have agreed in consideration of the premises of money, exchange of property between them, upon a separation, and have agreed henceforth to live separately, and not henceforth as husband and wife. Now therefore in consideration of the sum of $1,300.00 paid to said Harman Catt by said Margaret J. Catt, the said Harman Catt hereby sells, assigns, conveys, and sets over to said Margaret J. Catt the North-west ¼ of Section 10, Township 26, range 25, Bourbon County, Kansas, except about nine acres in South-west corner of said ¼ Section, conveyed to one Base and except a Mortgage of $1,300.00 to one Henry L. Page, which said Margaret J. Catt hereby assumes and agrees to pay,” etc.

“That said Harman Catt in consideration of the payments and concessions and agreements made, does hereby release and renounce all right to any of the property conveyed to said Margaret J. Catt or that she may hereafter own or acquire, and hereby releases and renounces all right he may have or may hereafter have to any of her property by being her husband, and hereby authorizes her to dispose of any property, real or personal, she now owns may hereafter own, free and clear from any claim, immediate and contingent which he may or might have in or to any of said property, and he hereby stipulates that he will never at any time claim any of said property.” etc.

Acknowledged, August 20th, 1900, by Norman Catt and Margaret J. Catt, before W.W. Padgett, Notary Public Bourbon Co., Kansas.

220. Solomon¹⁰ Catt (Michael⁹, Johannes (John)⁸, Michael⁷ Katz, Stephen⁶ Kaz, Martin⁵, Michael⁴, Sebastian³ Katz, Hans², Hans¹) was born 10 Oct 1818 in Mad River, Clark Co, Ohio, and died 15 Aug 1899 in Hancock Co, Indiana. He married Serena Pickering 29 Jun 1841 in Hancock Co, Indiana. She was born 18 Aug 1826 in Henry Co, Indiana, and died 19 Aug 1914 in Blue River Twp, Hancock Co, Indiana.

Notes for Solomon Catt:

The successful farmer and prominent citizen of Blue River township [Hancock County, Indiana] to whom attention is now directed, was for many years an honored resident of Hancock County and a representative of one of central Indiana's pioneer families. The paternal ancestors of Solomon Catt were North Carolinians and supposedly of English origin. His father was born in that State, but in an early day migrated to Ohio, where he bore a conspicuous part as a pioneer. The subject's mother was a native of Tennessee; but she also was taken to Ohio at an early age and it was there her marriage occurred and there most of her children were born.

Solomon Catt was born October 10, 1818, in Ohio, and when a young man came to Indiana, locating in Rush County, where for a number of years he worked at the cooper's trade, later engaging in farming in Hancock County. His wife, whom he married in Rush County, was Serena Pickering, whose birth occurred in the state of Ohio, August 18 1826. Her father, Benjamin Pickering was a native Tennessee and the mother, who bore the maiden name of Heaster McCool, came from Ireland.

Mr. and Mrs. Catt lived on a farm in Blue River Township until the husband's death and were numbered among the prosperous and highly esteemed people of the community. He was an industrious man, upright and honorable in all of his dealings and by judicious management acquired a competency, consisting mostly of real estate, which is still in possession of his children. His home farm consisted of one hundred and twenty of valuable land, was well improved and highly cultivated, and it was on this place that his children were reared to maturity and fitted for the duties of life. He was quiet and unassuming in demeanor, yet one of the best known and most highly esteemed man of his township, commanding the confidence of all by his manly course and honorable dealing and earning an enviable reputation as a useful citizen and upright Christian gentleman. He was wide-awake to the needs of the times and did much to promote the material interest of his community. He and his entire family became Friends 1862 and he remained true to the teachings of the society and during a long and useful life was accounted one of its zealous members in this part of the country.

In his vigorous years he was of striking physique, pleasing address and courteous in his intercourse with his fellow men and in view of what has been said it is needless to state that he had many warm friends who held him in high personal esteem. His life was very closely identified with the early growth and development of Rush and Hancock Counties and he performed will his part as a neighbor, friend and citizen.

He lived to a ripe old age, dying August 15, 1898. Mr. Catt, like thousands of good men, did not achieve what people call greatness. Nor was his name known far beyond the limits of the county in which he lived; yet he was a great man when measured by the true standard in that his career was marked by a conscientious adherence to the regards of others. He left to his descendants the memory of a long list of good deeds and the wise counsel, judicious advice and religious instruction received from him they prize as legacies.

Solomon and Serena Catt had seven children. The oldest, Nathan, was a soldier of the late Rebellion; he enlisted at the age of eighteen, without his father's consent, and made a creditable record as a soldier during the later years of the war. Benjamin P., born in September 1846, is a single man living on the home place, which he manages and looks after his mother's interests in her old age. Eli O. born January 2 1849, was first married to Lavina Osborne*, who died after a happy wedded life of six years duration. Subsequently he was united in marriage to Pheraba Anderson; Lucinda is the wife of Joseph L. Binford, of Blue River Township. Harvey J. married Abigail Henley and lives at Carthage. Mark A. married Charlotte Ann Binford, and resides in Center township. Rebecca Ann died at seventeen years of age, and Riley married Lydia Alice Beeson and lives on part of the old homestead.

Notes for Serena Pickering:

Serena P. Catt departed this life August 16, 1914, aged 87 years 11 months and 28 days. When 12 years old her family moved from Miami Couty, Ohio, to Rush County, near Raysville, Indiana. On July 1, 1841, she was married to Solomon Catt, and a few years later moved and settled on a farm near Western Grove, where she lived until here death. She was the third of a family of ten children, five girls, all older than the boys.

She is survived by two brothers, William Pickering, of Knightstown, Indiana, also by five children, Benjamin P., Eli O., Harvey J., Mark A. and Riley A. Catt; nineteen grandchildren, fourteen great-grandchildren. One son, Nathan, and two daughters, Lucinda and Rebecca A., are deceased; also her husband preceded her 15 years.

She was a faithful member of the Friends church, she, with her husband and minor children, having joined the church in 1865. She lived a faithful Christian life. She suffered much, especially in her last sickness, which was of five weeks' duration. The funeral was conducted from the Western Grove church. The pastor of the Friends church was in charge. Interment at t he Westland cemetery. Pasco & Morrison, directors.

Jacob Catt was one of the well-known men of the country. His first purchase of land in Center Township was in 1842. This was a forty-acre tract. From the time on he made money rapidly. He was a hard work, early and late. He was just a few years ago able to divide among his children more than one thousand acres of as good land as there is to be found in the county, and after giving them this land, he had a competency in land and money left.

He was born near Mad River, Ohio, October 5, 1821, coming to this county with his parents in 1830. His father, when not farming, was a shoemaker. His mother was a daughter of William Halton, a soldier of the Revolutionary war. He was the father of Mrs. Amos Parker Mrs. J. H. Fort, Mrs. W. M. Coffield, Mrs. George W. Gates and Mrs. W.F. Thomas.

Funeral services will be held at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, William M. Thomas, this afternoon by the Rev. Dr. C.E. Line, of Muncie, assisted by the Rev. Charles H. Smith, of the Bradley M.E., church in this city. The interment will be at the Hinchman cemetery.

Notes for Wesley Smith Catt:

Wesley S. Catt, a retired farmer of this county now living at Carthage and who is included among the old and honored citizens are now passing the evening of life in comfortable retirement, was born on a farm in the neighboring county of Hancock, a son of Michael and Matilda (Hatton) Catt, the former a native of Ohio and the latter of Kentucky. For the greater part of his life Michael Catt followed farming in Hancock County, where he was well known and highly esteemed. Wesley S. Catt received his education in the district schools of that county, after leaving which he worked on the home farm until reaching the age of twenty-one years. The call for troops for the Union army called him into the service at that time, and for three years he fought with the Ninety-ninth regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry, as a private of Company B, establishing an excellent record as a brave and faithful soldier. Returning from the service with his honorable discharge, he again located on the home farm, where he remained until the death of his father, in the meantime having married. After the elder man's death, Mr. Catt's brother, Jacob Catt, bought the home place, which in turn was purchased by Wesley S. Catt, who continued its successful operation until his retirement, when he located at Carthage. At this time Mr. Catt's son, Noble S. Catt, owns and operates this property, which consists of eighty acres. During his career as an agriculturist Mr. Catt proved himself a capable and progressive farmer and kept fully abreast of the various advancements made in his calling. He won the esteem and confidence of his associates, and these qualities he possesses in his full share in the community in which he now makes his home. On September 1, 1865, Mr. Catt was united in marriage to Mary L. Clark, who was born in Hancock county, a daughter of James and Mary (West) Clark, and to this union there were born four children, Pauline, wife of Hiram Weed, of Elwood, Indiana; Laura B., wife of Charles Benson, a farmer of Ripley township, Rush County; Noble S., who is operating the farm in Hancock county, and Albert, deceased, formerly a farmer of Hancock county, who married Katherine Beaver, and had three children, Irine, Dorothy M. and Mary E. Mr. Catt is a member of the Masonic fraternity, belonging to the blue lodge at Carthage, and in politics is a Democrat. He is a Methodist and holds membership in the church of that denomination at Willow Branch, Hancock County.

Charles Catt was born January 6, 1826, and departed this life Thursday, March 11, 1897. He was first married in 1856 to Patsey Catt. To them five children were born, one of whom are living. He was next married to Nancy McNeely in 1868. To them were born nine children, six of whom are living. He joined the Christian church in 1883. Funeral services were conducted at the Shiloh church Friday afternoon by Revs. Parr and Neal, after which the remains were interred in the Shiloh graveyard. The funeral was largely attended. The community has lost a good neighbor and a friend to all. The church to which he belonged has lost one of its oldest members who will be greatly missed, but they have the assurance that their loss is his eternal gain, as he left a bright evidence of a hope that reaches beyond the grave. In his last hours as, anxious friends would gather round him he would say: "May God bless you. Be faithful." He was perfectly submissive to the will of God. He leaves a wife, seven children and 8 host of friends to mourn his death. Rev. Dobbs, of Springfield, Illinois, Preached at the Primitive Baptist church a part of last week.

"History of Pike County, Indiana" page 443 – Charles J. Gladish son of Lowry and E.C.H. (Alexander) Gladish was born on a farm in Pike County, Indiana, December 5, 1885. He received a very fair education in the common schools and when about twenty-three years old went to Kanas, but remained only three months, when he returned home and engaged in farming on land which he purchased from his father. He owns eighty acres of very fine land, forty acres of it being in the White River bottom, and very fertile. On some of his high land he has a pecan orchard, something which is not commonly seen in elevated localities. December 4, 1879, he took for his life companion, Mry E. daughter of Bartlett and Elizabeth (Borders) Catt. They are parents of two children: Montgomery B. born May 17, 1991, and Richard L. born December 14, 1883. In politics Mr. Gladish has always been a Democrat. Mrs. Gladish's parents were very early settlers of the county. The father died when she was quite young, and the mother January 2, 1885.

Barrett 15 Aug 1901 in Indiana.

Notes for Daniel A. Lindy:

Daniel Lindy, one of the old residents of Clay township, died very suddenly last Friday June 14, 1907 of heart trouble. That afternoon he had been working in the garden and not feeling well went to the house and complained of having a severe headache. His wife went into the house to get some medicine while he sat down on the porch. When Mrs. Lindy came back he was dead, having been stricken with heart trouble. The deceased was about 65 years of age. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. William Roberts on Sunday and interment at the I.O.O.F. cemetery at Union.

Petersburg, Indiana, August 29, 1907 – Dan C. Lindy, a well-to-do farmer, living eight miles west of here, died several weeks ago and today a suit was filed in the Pike Circuit Court pending a settlement of his estate. Lindy was married a second time five years ago and at that time was nearly 70 years old. In order to get the woman's consent to marry him he promised her a widow's third of his estate upon his death, and with this understanding the couple married. Lindy at that time was worth $8,000. Since Lindy's death it has developed that just before his second marriage he secretly deeded all his property all his property with the exception of a few hundred dollars to his children by a previous marriage, and these conditions were only discovered on his death. Mrs. Lindy No. 2 has now filed suit to set aside these secret deeds, so that she can get the third of the estate promised her for the maintenance of her 2-year-old child.

Union, Indiana, May 21, 1917 - Frederick Lindy, one of the best known and retired farmers of this place, passed away at 2:15 o'clock Monday morning at his home here, following an illness of five weeks. Mr. Lindy had been afflicted with cancer of the stomach for several years, and it was the immediate cause of his death. Widely known throughout the county he was a man of ability, turning his attention to agriculture and stock raising until his failing health incapacitate him from work. Frederick Lindy was born November 19, 1843 at Pike County, and was in his 74th year at death. He is survived by his third wife, and one son, Fred Lindy, of Union. He is also survived by six children by his first wife, who are Frank, of Washington, Indiana; James, of Union; Henry, Neal, Charles, and Miss Rose Lindy of High Grove, Cal. One sister, Mrs. C. Elizabeth Fowler Lindy was born December 13th, 1855; died July 8, 1893; aged 47 years, 6 months and 25 days. She was married to Frederick Lindy November 15, 1866. She was converted to Christ in the spring of '71 and joined the Cumberland Presbyterian church of which she has lived a consistent member. She leaves a husband and seven children to mourn their loss. Like Paul she could say, "I am now ready to be offered," and like Job could say, "I know that my Redeemer liveth." Her suffering was severe and long, but she bore it calmly and cheerfully. We think of her as the righteous, "She rests from her labor, and her works do follow her."

Catt and Betsy Ann (Case) Catt, his father having died in November, 1902, on his mother In July, 1867. Our subject, was married to Miss Rebecca M. Madison Oct. 1st, 1863, by Squire Barekman. Ten bright children have blessed this union, six having died. Mr. Catt owns a fine farm of 240 acres, all under cultivation but 40 acres. Mrs. Catt is the daughter of Hugh and Sarah Madison; her father having died about 1849 and the mother 1843. Her father was a native of Ireland, and her mother, of England. Personally, our subject is a delightful man to meet, and is noted for his courteous manners towards all with whom he comes in contact.

"History of Knox County, Indiana" page 536-537 – James Dick was born in Princeton, Indiana, April 26, 1823, and is the eldest of six children born to the marriage of Alexander and Elizabeth (Buchanan) Dick, who were natives of Scotland; married in 1821, and the following year came to the United States and located at Princeton, Indiana. Here the father died when our subject was seventeen years of age, and he was then obliged to assist in the support of his mother and brothers and sisters. In 1846 the mother died, but the family continued together until our subject's marriage, May 22, 1850.

He took for his life companion Sarah, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Catt) Kimmons, who were born in Holland and Indiana respectively. To Mr. and Mrs. Dick's marriage thirteen children were born: Elizabeth (deceased), Joan (deceased), John A. (deceased), Thomas, James, Mary, John A., Henry, Wellington, Charles, David, Maggie (deceased), and one who died in infancy. Mr. Dick has always been a farmer with the exception of one year (1858) spent in merchandising in Decker Station. He owns 420 acres of land, 250 being under cultivation. Notes for Michael James Catt:

One of the best-known farmers of Decker Township is Mr. Michael Catt who has resided there for fifty-five years. He was born in Gibson County, Indiana, August 25, 1836, being a son of John and Sarah Catt, both of whom are now dead. The subject of this sketch is a man of broad and advanced ideas, and though denied the advantages of any better schools than those of early days, he had been a good, broad reader all his life, and he takes a great interest in education. His children are all well-educated, and progressive.

Mr. Catt married Lydia Morgan, in November, 1884, in Decker Township. He has three sons and a daughter living, and two boys dead. Michael Catt was a soldier in the Civil War. In August, 1861, he enlisted in Company M, 3rd, Kentucky Cavalry, and served four years and two days. He was engaged in many bloody battles. Among them were the battles of Shiloh, Corinth, Stone River, Siege of Atlanta. He went with Sherman from Atlanta to the Sea. Later he was captured at Buckhead creek, Georgia, and was taken to Savannah, where he was kept a prisoner for two weeks. He was taken to Florence, South Carolina, and then taken to Goldsborough, North Carolina, where he was paroled and went to Wilmington, North Carolina, thence to Annapolis, and thence to Camp Close, at Columbus, Ohio, there paroled home where he remained until Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox. Mr. Catt returned to Camp Close, and was sent to Washington City. Later he went to Fortress Monroe and to Goldsborough, where he joined his regiment and was mustered out with the rank of Sergeant.

He is a Democrat, and takes an active interest in politics. By occupation he is a farmer and a stock raiser. He owns 60 acres of land in Decker Township, all well improved.

Notes for Roda Catt:

Tuesday afternoon Sept. 1899 a fatal accident occurred at Red Cloud in which one brother killed another. Joseph Catt aged 14 and Roda Catt aged 18 years sons of John L. Catt a prominent farmer of Decker township were playing with a gun. Joseph playfully pointed the weapon at Roda pulled the trigger and his brother fell dead pierced with a leaden ball. It was a case of "didn't know it was loaded."

Mr. Catt and his wife were in this city spending the day. The three boys decided to go hunting and in starting out the younger boy, Joseph, had the gun. The old, old story, of a playful pointing of the gun which was not supposed to be loaded and pulling the trigger, was re-enacted. Joseph pointed the gun at Roda and said, "Look out!" He pulled the trigger and there came a flash and a roar, and Roda, who was just a few feet away, fell to the ground shrieking in agony. The charge of shot had entered the right side of his head, making a terrible wound from which the blood gushed in streams. Before the boys could do anything to assist the wounded brother the death angel stepped in and claimed another victim of the gun that wasn't loaded. Death resulted within five minutes after the shot was fired. The two remaining brothers were horror-stricken and were terrified with fear and anguish. The news of the horrible accident spread and neighbors came to assist in caring for the dead. One of the brothers wept to Hazleton and telephoned the terrible news to Josephs' of this city to notify the parents, who returned borne on the ft1-st train. The family is highly esteemed and the sad bereavement brings expressions of sincerest sympathy tram the many friends. Coroner Held went to Red Cloud last evening and held the inquest.

Notes for Harriett Elizabeth Catt:

June 16, 1933 - Harriet Elizabeth Catt was born in Knox County, Indiana, October 9, 1853, and came to Kansas in the spring of 1855, settled at Leavenworth and stayed there until she was about 4 years old, then came to what was then called Grasshopper Falls, later given the name Valley Falls, settling on a farm living in a log cabin. Her mother died when she was 10 years old – in October of 1863. Her father took the family back to Indiana in June of her 13th year, and lived there 4 years, then came back to Calley Falls, and she remained in the vicinity until her death.

On January 6, 1875, she was united in marriage to Schuler R. Green, who preceded her in death a little over a year ago. To this union was born 9 children, 3 of whom preceded her death, leaving six to mourn her death: Gertrude Myers of Scranton; Mary Bilger, Vida Lane, Charles c., Walter S., of Calley Falls and Mrs. Ida Knowlton of Topeka, 8 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren; one brother, Sim Catt, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Green celebrated their golden wedding in 1925. Shortly after their marriage, she and Mr. Green, with 11 men, sent to Colorado to work on the Santa Fe railroad, and at the present time only one of the company survives – Mr. Henry Senn.

Notes for George Washington Fithian:

George Washington Fithian was born on July 4, 1854, near Willow Hill in Jasper County, Illinois, to Glover Fithian (c. 1816–1861), a farmer, and Mary Ann (Catt) Fithian (1820–1904). The family resided in Willow Hill Township, a sparsely populated rural area where agriculture dominated economic life, with settlers relying on crop cultivation and livestock amid the challenges of post-frontier expansion in the mid-19th century. Jasper County, organized in 1830, featured small farmsteads averaging under 200 acres, underscoring the era's emphasis on manual labor and seasonal yields tied directly to soil fertility and weather patterns. Fithian grew up in this modest agrarian household, contributing to farm work from childhood, including plowing fields, harvesting crops such as corn and wheat, and managing livestock—tasks essential for household sustenance in an economy lacking mechanized tools or extensive rail infrastructure until the late 1850s. Such early immersion in rural productivity highlighted the causal dependencies of economic viability on land management, market access via nearby towns like Newton, and family labor pools, fostering a grounded perspective on self-sufficiency over distant institutional supports. Census records from 1860 confirm the family's residence in Willow Hill Township, with Glover listed as a farmer possessing real estate valued at $1,600 and personal property at $500, indicative of typical middling rural holdings amid Illinois's prairie expansion. Basic education came through attendance at local common schools, which offered rudimentary instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic, and moral precepts, often in one-room structures serving scattered farm children with sessions limited to 3–6 months annually due to harvest demands and scant public funding. This environment, marked by resource constraints and geographic isolation—Jasper County's population hovered around 3,200 in 1850, with low literacy rates outside towns—necessitated supplemental self-directed learning, reinforcing resilience through practical problem-solving rather than prolonged formal study. By age six, following his father's death in 1861, Fithian likely assumed greater responsibilities in the household, aligning with patterns of early adolescence in 19th-century farm families where survival hinged on collective effort.

George Washington Fithian was the son of Glover Fithian (c. 1816–1861), a farmer in Jasper County, Illinois, and Mary Ann (Catt) Fithian (1820–1904). Glover operated a family farm near Willow Hill, embodying the agrarian self-reliance characteristic of mid-19th-century Midwestern settlers who prioritized individual enterprise over external dependencies. The senior Fithian's death in 1861 left Mary Ann to oversee the household amid the immediate disruptions of the Civil War, including enlistments that strained rural labor and inflated commodity prices in Illinois agriculture. Fithian's immediate family included siblings such as Thomas J. Fithian (born circa 1857), who also pursued farming in the region, reflecting the generational continuity of land-based livelihoods in Jasper County. Extended kin, including uncles and cousins descended from earlier Fithians, maintained similar operations, fostering an environment where property stewardship and resistance to policies encroaching on local economic autonomy were ingrained through daily practice rather than abstract theory. The family's lineage connected to colonial-era settlers, with great-grandfather George Fithian (1761–1831) serving as a patriot in the Revolutionary War, which contributed to a heritage emphasizing state-level self-determination over expansive federal authority—a perspective sharpened by the war's aftermath on Illinois farming communities, where federal requisitions for troops and supplies highlighted tensions between national demands and regional viability. This background, grounded in verifiable records of familial occupations and migrations, shaped Fithian's early worldview without reliance on later political expressions.

Fithian received his early education at local common schools in Jasper County, Illinois, where instruction emphasized practical fundamentals such as reading, writing, arithmetic, and rudimentary moral and civic lessons tailored to the demands of rural agrarian life, rather than advanced theoretical pursuits. These institutions, typical of mid-19th-century frontier schooling, provided basic literacy and numeracy skills essential for self-sufficient farm management and community participation, without the structured curricula of urban academies or colleges. Lacking formal higher education or advanced degrees, Fithian supplemented his schooling through self-directed learning, initially applying these foundational skills to farming before turning to independent study of legal principles. This approach relied on direct engagement with primary legal texts and logical deduction, bypassing institutional dependencies prevalent in elite legal training of the era, and underscored a merit-driven progression grounded in practical application over subsidized credentials. His brief experience teaching school for one term further honed these self-reliant habits, bridging basic education with real-world empirical knowledge acquisition.

Fithian, born on a farm near Willow Hill in Jasper County, Illinois, spent his youth immersed in agricultural life, assisting with family farming operations typical of rural post-Civil War Midwest communities. Following completion of common schooling, he continued in these pursuits, managing aspects of land cultivation and livestock amid the volatile grain and livestock markets of the 1870s, which were influenced by national railroad expansion and recovering Southern competition. In his early twenties, Fithian transitioned to the printer's trade, apprenticing in Mount Carmel, Illinois, where the profession offered steady employment in a growing print industry supporting local newspapers and legal documents. This period marked his initial foray into skilled labor outside agriculture, providing financial stability while he pursued self-directed legal studies. Admitted to the Illinois bar in 1875 at age 21, this shift reflected pragmatic adaptation to opportunities for local professional service in Jasper County townships.

Fithian, having attended only common schools, engaged in self-study of law, reportedly while teaching school, before gaining admission to the Illinois bar in 1875. He immediately commenced private practice in Newton, the seat of Jasper County, a rural area dominated by agriculture. In Newton, Fithian established his early legal career handling matters suited to the local economy, including contracts, property disputes, and civil litigation among farmers and small landowners.

Fithian was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1875 and shortly thereafter elected as prosecuting attorney—commonly known as State's Attorney—for Jasper County, serving from 1876 to 1884 across two terms. In this capacity, he managed criminal prosecutions in a predominantly agricultural county. His role involved enforcing state statutes. This tenure bolstered his reputation and prepared the ground for subsequent electoral successes. Specific caseload statistics from the period are limited, but his re-election in 1880 indicates community approval of his handling of routine matters disruptive to rural commerce.

George Washington Fithian died on January 21, 1921, in Memphis, Tennessee, at the age of 66. His death occurred without noted public controversies or unusual circumstances, consistent with the natural decline observed among many of his generation in the post-World War I period. Fithian's remains were interred in Riverside Cemetery, Newton, Illinois, his longtime home base where he had resumed private law practice and agricultural pursuits after congressional service. The burial reflected the unpretentious values of rural Illinois life, with no records of elaborate public ceremonies or memorials.

George Washington Fithian (July 4, 1854 – January 21, 1921) was a U.S. Representative from Illinois. Born near Willow Hill, Illinois to Glover Fithian (1818–1861) and Mary Ann Catt, Fithian attended the common schools. He learned the printer's trade in Mount Carmel, Illinois. He studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1875 and commenced practice in Newton, Illinois. He served as prosecuting attorney of Jasper County between 1876 and 1884. Fithian was elected as a Democrat to the 51st, 52nd, and 53rd Congresses (March 4, 1889 – March 3, 1895); in the 53rd Congress, he served as chairman of the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. He was an unsuccessful candidate for reelection in 1894 to the 54th Congress. Railroad and warehouse commissioner of Illinois from 1895 to 1897. He resumed the practice of law and engaged in agricultural pursuits and stock raising in Newton. He was also the owner of an extensive cotton plantation near Falcon, Mississippi. He died in Memphis, Tennessee on January 21, 1921, and was interred in Riverside Cemetery in Newton.

Petersburg, March 31, 1928 – Walter B. Stewart, 45, married, killed himself here this morning at 9:30 o'clock. For many years Stewart was engaged in the insurance business here but recently moved to Indianapolis. This morning he drove to his home here where his wife had been living and after talking with her several minutes went into the bath room. She heard a shot and rushing into the bath room she found her husband lying on the floor.

He had shot himself just back of the ear and died instantly. Mrs. Stewart's screams attracted neighbors to the home. Financial worry is the only known reason for his act. He was prominent in Masonic circles here and a member of one of the most prominent families in Pike County.

He married Arvilla Alice (Allie) Morgan 13 Sep 1893 in Pike Co, Indiana. She was born 04 Oct 1876 in Pike Co, Indiana, and died 15 Apr 1961 in Kittitas Co, Washington.

Notes for Willard H. Catt:

Petersburg, Indiana, March 22, 1903 – Willard Catt, who divorced wife was shot and wounded last Wednesday night, was in town today and expressed a willingness to be arrested at any time. He declared he was ready and willing to do all in his power to ferret out the perpetrator of the crime. A detective has been employed to work the case. Mrs. Catt has rallied slightly. It is said Mr. Morgan, a half-brother of the woman, has declared his intention of filing an affidavit Monday.

April 2, 1903 – While Mrs. Willard Catt and her two sisters were singing at the piano in their home in Pike County a shot fired through the window fatally wounded Mrs. Catt. Early the next morning searching parties were organized, one of them being headed by Marshal Sumpter of Howell and accompanied by a bloodhound. Though no evidence existed to show who committed the crime, suspicion rested on Willard Catt, the woman's divorced husband, but he and his father joined one the parties. The bloodhound started on a trail leading to William Catt's home, and from there continued the trail to the searchers led by Catt. The dog attempted to leap upon Catt, but was held back. Catt was arrested at once and charged with the crime. He refused to make any statement.

Petersburg, Indiana, Jan. 26, 1904 – At Gladish Chapel, four miles west of Petersburg, Mrs. Lafe Deman was assaulted by five young men. Lafe Deman and his wife are half-witted people who spend part of the time in the county poorhouse and a part of it roaming over the county among their relatives. They were passing through Madison Township at night and stopped to sleep in Gladish Chapel. The scoundrels entered the church and held Dedman at the point of a revolver while they successively assaulted his wife.

Posses of officers and citizens were formed immediately upon receipt of Dedman's information, and a thorough search of the country near here was instituted. Deman charges Willard Catt with being the leader of the gang, and others are thought to be known. Catt was arrested and while trying to fix his bond, escaped and is again at large. An eighteen-year-old youth named Thomas and a fourteen-year-old by names Summer were apprehended by Clinton Thomas, father of the first, at Flora, Illinois, and were returned to Pike County. They are heavily guarded at a secret spot near Petersburg. Open threats of lynching have compelled the authorities to take every precaution against any outbreak.

Petersburg, Indiana, February 23, 1904 – A jury was impaneled today to try Carl Summers and Albert Taylor, charged with criminally assaulting Mrs. Lafayette Dedman in the White River Chapel Church on the night of January 16. Mr. Dedman testified that she and her husband while on their way to visit relatives in Clay Township entered the church where a debating society was meeting. They had given permission to remain in the church until morning. After the crowd had left some 10 men and boys returned, forced open the door, and while one of them held her husband at bay with a revolver seven men assaulted her.

Mrs. J.C. Garrett of 922 S. Horton Street, died today April 10, 1912 just before noon, following a protracted illness of creeping paralysis. She had just returned from the South where she went some weeks ago in the hope of bettering her condition.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral until the son can be heard from. For thirty years the deceased has been a resident of this county, having lived for some time in the Godfrey neighborhood. Before coming here, she lived in Missouri. She was a member of the Christian church and as long as her health would permit, was active in the church work. Her husband is a teamster, and Mr. and Mrs. Garrett went to Honey Island some weeks ago and were with their son there, until the early part of last week, when they decided to come home on account of the high water. Surviving Mr. Gates are his widow and five children, Chester A., Grover C., Nellie May, Elijah and Nolan, and four grandchildren, Charles Edwin Mary Margaret, Robert L., and Mildred Vivian; also, a host of other relatives and friends who mourned his sudden demise.

He was a large landowner and farm who kept actively engaged not only for the sake of his own interests, but as one who held the affairs of our government at heart. He was firm in his convictions of what was right on any question, and he was an unusually valuable, cheerful and ready counsellor to friends and relatives, who sought his advice. About twenty-four years ago he united with the Friends Church at Western Grove, but later moved his membership to the Bradley M.E. Church at Greenfield, and attended Sunday school and church services as faithfully as he could.

Notes for Samuel P. Reeves:

June 1, 1906 - Samuel P. Reeves, a wealthy and good looking, but withal a gay farmer, will have to dig up $1,000 or marry pretty Lydia A. Wood. The girl lives at Alexandria, and is a dressmaker, conducting a paying establishment there, and her modish shape gowns are the envy of her competitors. All the fashionable ladies of the Third city wear gowns shaped by Lydia's deft fingers. She likewise makes her own gowns, and in which her lithe form and looks like that of Juno.

Mr. Reeves who admires a fine form and likewise a pretty face, was smitten with Lydia when he drove into town from his farm up near Rigdon and encountered the Alexandria woman as she emerged from a store. It was a case of love at first sight with "Sammy." He managed to get an introduction and was soon plying his suit. Lydia proved a good wooer also, and soon the farmer asked her to marry him. She accepted and immediately got her trousseau ready. Then it suddenly dawned upon "Sammy" that those pretty glove fitting gowns which showed his fiancé's form off to such good advantage would be mighty expensive for a farmer, and he began to back track on his offer of marriage.

Lydia, however, had pictured life on the farm and she longed to lay aside the needle and loose sight of the sewing machine. She had hoped to drown its monotonous hum in the rustle of the corn and wheat, the lowing of the kine, the cackle of the hens, etc. She therefore insisted on Reeves carrying out his part of the bargain and make her his wife. "Back to the farm for Sammy," and he would have none of it.

Lydia now brings suit in the sum of $1,000, but agrees to drop the matter, if her quondam lover will marry her. The suit was filed in the circuit court yesterday and it's now up to Sammy to dig up one thousand plunks to soothe the pain in Lydia's wounded heart or takes her to his arms and flee to a county clerk where a license may be secured and the two made one.

- 2704 ii. Ava Letitia Bolton Brodie, born 28 Apr 1895 in Eureka Springs, Carroll Co, Arkansas. She married Thomas Barrett.

Notes for Thomas Barrett:

Nov. 12, 1912 - Ava Brodie-Barrett, 17 years old, accompanied her mother to police headquarter this morning ostensibly to see if further evidence had been found against her husband, Thomas Barrett, whose arrest she caused last night. But the bride's queries dealt with how the police were treating her husband and what he had for breakfast. Her mother, Mrs. Wilson C. Brodie, was unplaced. Bigamy was among the accusations made by the girl-bride at the prosecutor's office yesterday. A bigamy complaint, prepared, was held in abeyance, while a warrant was issued on a second complaint concerned with an operation. Barrett is a horse and mule dealer. He was arrested at his home, 112 Indiana Avenue.

Standing in the doorway of the police captain's office, the young wife saw Barrett step from the elevator cage into the yellow light of the "show-up" room. In the second before he presented himself to the peering hidden eyes of the concealed detectives Barrett caught a glimpse of his wife and smiled at her. The girl retreated into the office and seemed near tears. "If Tom had another chance?" she asked herself aloud. Then she added: "I am going to give him that chance if it is still in my power." "Oh, everything I have said was true." she continued. "But I went to the prosecutor's office yesterday because I wanted to make him suffer. He had made me suffer. But now he's in jail - and he smiled at me."

"You were a strong girl yesterday, but you are weak today," the mother said. "But to put in jail the only man you ever cared for - oh, you can't understand." Barrett apparently did not appreciate the seriousness of the charge until hit bond was placed at $5,000 by Justice Setzler. Barrett has many friends in the stock yards district and his attorney George F. Birmingham, said that little difficulty would be experienced in getting bond. His preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday afternoon. Barrett said that when he was married last August, he believed he had been divorced several weeks. The case was delayed by faulty service and Barrett signed a paper accepting service while in Los Angeles on his honeymoon. He denied the other charges "Nothing will come of this," Barrett said on his way to the county jail. "My wife left home after a quarrel. I may have been cross, but she will come back. She worships the ground I walk on." "And you?" "I worship the ground she walks on. All I fear is the notoriety these charges hold for her. As for me, my shoulders are broad."

Mrs. Ava Brodie-Barrett is a brunette, a pretty, slender girl, who met Barrett when she went to the stock yards district to buy a saddle horse. The courtship was on horseback. While the heart of Mrs. Ava Brodie-Barrett was torn by conflicting emotions, Mrs. Carrie Barrett, the first wife, evinced no concern over the affairs of her divorced husband. "Tom Barrett is no longer a part of my life," she explained simply. "I have forgotten him, forgotten everything, but my boy, and I cannot permit myself to be entangled in this. I have no interest in the prosecution. Mrs. Carrie Barrett lives with her parents in Argentine. She has a position of trust with the Roece Esterly Garment Company, 1204 Main Street. Cruelty and non-support were charged in her petition for divorce. In 1906 he divorced Barrett and then remarried him for the son's sake. The boy is now 18 years old. Mrs. Carrie Barrett, the first wife, is of an exactly opposite type from Mrs. Ava Brodie-Barrett, a slender, girlish brunette. And she also would be termed a decidedly pretty woman.

- 2709 v. Anna Belle Brodie, born 10 Nov 1905 in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma Co, Oklahoma; died 17 Apr 1993 in Eugene, Lane Co, Oregon. She married Edward Ziniker, Jr. 12 Feb 1940 in Yuma, Arizona; born 30 Mar 1899 in Lane Co, Oregon; died 03 Jul 1997 in Eugene, Lane Co, Oregon.

Notes for Edward Ziniker, Jr.:

July 4, 1955- Three-armed jail escapees who Saturday night kept a Crow Road family at bay for more than four hours still were being sought Monday by police, with the search centering in a remote area between Vaughn and Walton. The escapees Sunday eluded numerous road blocks and blood hounds after leaving the home they had used as a hideout. The fleeing trio – Alfred Peterson, 46, Raymond Lester Lowe, 22, and Burton LeRoy Bryson, 30 – at 9:30 p.m. Saturday night walked into the Edward Ziniker home without knocking and took over. They had escaped 24 hours earlier from the Polk County jail and had stolen a car which they abandoned near Ziniker home, located about seven miles west of Eugene near the Crow Road.

The men, all carrying pistols, told Siniker, his wife Anna Belle, and their five-year-old daughter Rose Ann that they wouldn't get hurt. Then the trio, keeping the family at gunpoint, watched television until about midnight. At one point the men looked out the window and saw what appeared to be men in the surrounding field. They barricaded the house and gave the Zinikers instructions on what to do. But the men in the field turned out to be nothing but bales of hay.

Later the Zinikers were allowed to go to bed – with one of the men guarding the bedrooms. About 2 a.m. Ziniker got up to find the house had been thoroughly ransacked, the pone pulled from the wall, and his car taken. The family then walked a mile to the nearest house and called state police.

Roadblocks were set up throughout western Oregon. Them, just after noon, a break came. Herman Hart of Rt. F called to say that while looking for a picnic spot he and his family had found a hidden car and three men sleeping in a secluded cabin. The cabin, Hart said, was six miles down the Penn Road from the Noti-Vaughn highway – and more than 40 miles west of Eugene. State police, who had been patrolling the general area, surrounded the cabin within minutes. But it was deserted. Then they called for the state's bloodhound team. Norm Wilson, Jack Vann and their three hounds late Sunday afternoon led state police from the cabin to the Southern Pacific's Coos Bay line, down it and through a half-mile tunnel and to the junction of the railroad with a county road a half mile from Vaughn. Twice they tried it, and twice the dogs lost the scent.

Three trains went through the area during the time. Two of them were checked near the search scene. One got to Eugene before being checked. Monday roadblocks still were up and officers were making a search of all cabins and homes in the area. Bryson has relatives in the Penn area, and Lowe's relatives live not far from the Zinikers home. Before his escape, Bryson was being held on a burglary charge. Lowe had been convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Peterson is a parole violator originally sentenced on a bad check charge.

Jimmie married the love of her life, Air Force Lieutenant Colonel Charles Joyce. They travelled extensively and were stationed at a variety of Air Force bases in the continental United States as well as overseas. She particularly enjoyed travelling in France, Spain, Portugal, and Germany. Jimmie took great pride in raising her children, and at her passing, she had seventeen grandchildren. In her younger years, Jimmie attended a business college and later studied Interior Design. She collected antiques throughout her life, and spent countless hours researching the attributes, origin, and era of each piece.

Jimmie had a way with children. She lived in Gulfport, Mississippi for many years, and Miss Jimmie's House was a favorite for the neighbor kids. She had a good sense of humor, and her southern accent made her deep laugh sound like a melody that was both welcoming and contagious. Jimmie dearly loved her mother, Reathe, and is survived by her brother, her two daughters, and three sons.

A celebration of life will be held for Jimmie, in October, at the Rutland family cemetery in Collins, Mississippi.

Notes for Eddeania Fae Davis:

Eddeania Fae Davis was born on July 18, 1933 in Wichita, Kansas to Lawrence and Thelma (Wagoner) Davis. She was the big sister of four children and aunt to many nieces and nephews. Edie was saved when she was 5 years old, and filled with the Holy Spirit at 11 years old. She always said how God has been faithful to her all of these years. Edie met Bob Briner in July of 1953 and knew right away that they would be husband and wife. She was actually on a blind date with another young man, but quickly set her eyes on Bob and proclaimed that evening that she would marry him. She was very taken with his thick black hair and his tattoo.

Bob and Edie married in December of 1954 and had two children: Sharon Fae and Robert Sterling. They also had five grandsons, two great grandsons and one great granddaughter, of which she was proud. Bob was taken from Edie in 2017 and she never fully recovered. She thanked the Lord for a wonderful husband of 63 years. Bob was the love of her life. He always encouraged her when she was down and prayed for her when she was ill. In her own words, "Love you sweetie." Edie prayed for her family right up until the time that she could no longer speak. She responded with rapid breaths when she could no longer speak – we just knew that she wanted to jump into the conversation.

Edie always professed God had been faithful to answer whenever she called on Him, maybe not her way, but He always knew what was best for her and it was more wonderful than she could imagine. She always said her Lord was so wonderful. He was her best friend, her Savior, and beloved Bridegroom. She was looking forward to seeing Him face to face and praised Him for everything He had ever done for her. Words cannot express how much she loved Him. Edie never stopped witnessing. One nurse in particular said that she wished she had known Edie five years ago because Edie's faith was so strong and contagious that the nurse would have been truly blessed by her. The family thanks Grace Assembly for keeping her in their prayers, and appreciates the visits she received while she was in the last days of her life. The family also wants to thank Serenity Hospice for their loving care – the nurses were so kind and loving to her.

A celebration of life will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 13, 2019 at Grace Assembly Church. Her final resting place will be next to her husband in the Kechi Township Cemetery. Memorials have been established with Grace Assembly Church, 796 N. St. Paul St., Wichita, Kansas 67203 and Serenity Hospice, 9415 E. Harry, Suite 306, Wichita, Kansas 67207.

Marriage Notes for Marie Peed and Chester Brown:

Colton, August 16, 1924 - The wedding of Miss Marie Peed, of Highgrove, and Chester A. Brown, of Grand Terrace, was solemnized tonight at 8 o'clock at the Grace Methodist church in Riverside before an assemblage of 150 friends and relatives. The church was beautifully decorated by a group of girlfriends of the bride. Hug baskets of garden flowers, representing every color in the rainbow, filled the spaces at the back of the platform, and the altar rail was banked with pink and white roses. After the singing of "Oh, Promise Me" by Miss Elta Ogden, Miss Elinor Oversmidt played the wedding march. The soft strains of this music the bride descended the stairs, attended only by the maid-of-honor, Miss Frances Osborn of Pomona, and approached the front of the church, where the groom and his attendant, John Brown, also of Pomona, waited. The service was read by the Rev. F.A. Leak, of Riverside, the young couple leaving immediately after the ceremony for Pomona. From there they will motor to San Diego and the beaches, making a trip of about 10 days.

The bride wore a white dress of heavy Canton crepe, accordion pleated, and trimmed with real old Irish lace, fitted in bands at the waist. A side panel was held in place by covered buttons. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Frances Osborne, the maid-of-honor, was charming in coral Georgette, with matching scarf of heavy Spanish lace. Mrs. Brown's traveling dress was of tan Canton crepe, with accessories to match. Mrs. Brown attended the high school in Union, Indiana, before she came to California to accept a position as bookkeeper with the High Grove Fruit Association. Mr. Brown is a foreman for the same company. Upon their return here they will erect a new home in Grand Terrace. The bride and groom are both well known in Colton, having spent some time here. Mrs. Brown is a cousin of G.C. Colvin and attended the Methodist church here.

John R. Catt, 67, operator of a boat livery at Thornport, died suddenly Monday afternoon Nov. 15, 1948, after spending the day hunting in Perry County. He was apparently in his usual health and was returning to where a car was parked accompanied by Charles Graham, who had hunted with him throughout the day, when he was stricken. At a location on the Starkey farm southeast of Thornville, Mr. Catt sat down to rest while Graham went after the car. When Graham returned, he found Catt in a state of collapse and he died in a few minutes. The Perry County coroner investigated the case and has not returned verdict. Catt, who spent many years as an oil and gas well driller, was a native of Homer, the son of the late Mervin and Sarah (Blaker) Catt. He was born May 31, 1881, and had resided at Thornport 29 years. He retired from work in the oil field six years ago.

Edna Ethel¹² Catt (George Jefferson¹¹, Joseph Michael¹⁰, Job⁹, Michael⁸, Michael⁷ Katz, Stephen⁶ Kaz, Martin⁵, Michael⁴, Sebastian³ Katz, Hans², Hans¹) was born 03 Sep 1890 in Scott Co, Arkansas, and died 30 Jul 1980 in Sulphur, Murray Co, Oklahoma. She married Marion Francis Williams 08 Sep 1907 in Latimer Co, Oklahoma. He was born 05 Sep 1879 in Texas, and died 21 Aug 1940 in Sulphur, Murray Co, Oklahoma.

Notes for Marion Francis Williams:

August 22, 1940 - M.F. Williams, 60 years old, Drake community, was killed and two others received possibly serious injuries in an intersection collision late Wednesday afternoon near Stratford. Rev. and Mrs. E.C. Mehagan, Sulphur, received severe injuries in the crash, which occurred when the car driven by Mehagan collided with an automobile driven by Jack Brundidge, Ada, at the intersection of highway 18 and 19 on the outskirts of Stratford.

The Mehagans were still in an Ada hospital this morning, and attendants were not sure of the extent of their injuries. Mr. and Mrs. M.F. Williams and the year-old baby of the Mehagans also rode in the Mehagan car. Neither Mrs. Williams nor the baby were injured badly. With Brundidge were Cleburne and Hollis Rowlett, both of Ada, none of whom received serious injury. Ralph Thompson, Ada, highway patrolman, said that the Mehagan car was driving south, the Brundidge car east, when the two collided at the intersection at about 5:30 o'clock. Blame for the accident has not yet been fixed, pending outcome of an investigation, the patrolman said. Williams' body was brought to Sulphur by a Dunn Funeral home ambulance, while the others in the accident were taken to an Ada hospital. Williams was the father of Finice T. Williams, an employee of the Hicks service station.

Rev. Mehagan was said to have been in Sulphur only a short time, and was reported to have been conducting a revival meeting south of Sulphur. Funeral arrangements for Williams had not been completed this afternoon. Williams, who lived in the Drake community, came to Murray County in 1929. He was born in Wise County, Texas, September 3, 1879, and spent his early life near Lubbock in west Texas.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Edna Williams; five sons, Joe and Gwin Williams of the home, Finice T. Williams, Sulphur; Paul Williams, Hermosa Beach, California; and Gene Williams, Oklahoma City; and three daughters, Ermalee and Patsy Williams of the home, and Mrs. Wilma Greenwood, Manhattan Beach, California. Funeral arrangements will be in charge of the Dunn Funeral home.

They took special delight in their great-grandchildren, Stevie, Ted, and Charlie. Bennie owned Linville Hardware in Maroa and together, with Wanda, ran the store for many years. After they sold it, he continued Myers Plumbing and Heating. After closing that business, he became a rural mail carrier in Maroa, driving over a million miles without an accident, retiring at the age of 84. He loved seeing "his kids" along the route. He was a long-standing member of the Maroa United Methodist Church and truly exemplified Christ by living with humility, loving others well and with generosity, and being a friend to all. Bennie loved sports of all kinds and was an athlete, himself. He spent many hours watching his kids and grandkids play in Maroa, Decatur, and Bloomington. He loved watching the Maroa-Forsyth Trojans play anything and particularly enjoyed watching and talking about the football program. Until they were unable, he and Wanda spent many Friday nights parked in their reserved spot watching the game. Notes for Everett Weller Snyder:

Alanreed, Sept. 30, 1943 - Decorated with the Silver Star for gallantry and the Air Medal for 25 of the 37 combat missions he completed in the Southwest Pacific. Tech. Sgt. Everett Weller Snyder has returned to the United States for pilot training. He was a noncommissioned bombardier assigned to a B-25 Billy Mitchell medium bomber, piloted by First Lt. Phil Hawkins of Panhandle, which went in alone to attack two Japanese cruiser and three destroyers near Finschhafen, New Guinea, last Dec. 14. Other plane in their formation were unable to reach the target, because of bad weather. Snyder and Hawkin both received the Silver Star for this mission. Their citations said: on the first run over the target the B-25 suffered a direct anti-aircraft hit, damaging an engine. One bomb was released and resulted in a near miss on the rear destroyer. Despite damage to the plane, two more run were made over the target. "On the third run the bomber was intercepted by eight Zero. In the running fight that ensued, one of the Zeros was shot down." For 25 combat missions completed between Aug. 24, 1942, and March 3, 1943, Snyder was awarded, the Air Medal. He passed his examination for aviation cadet last Feb. 24, but did not return to this country until last month. He is now at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, taking college work before entering preflight school at Santa Ana, California.

The son of Everett and Martha Snyder, he was born at Stratford April 9, 1919, the fifth in a family of six, two girls and four boys. He only has remained unmarried. He was reared here and was graduated in May, 1938, from Alanreed High School, where he played football and basketball. After obtaining his mother's permission, he enlisted in the Army Air Forces Sept. 27, 1939, and was sent to March Field, California, Oct. 3. He served for a time in the subsequently famous 19th Bombardment Group and became an armorer, after training at Denver. In January 1941, he was assigned to the 41st Bombardment Group and was sent to Tucson, Arizona. He was assigned to bombsight maintenance school and then trained as a bombardier. After the attack on Pearl Harbor, he flew as a bombardier on coast patrol duty until June 1942. He and Pilot Hawkins, volunteered for duty in Australia and flew to Sydney, landing there July 14. After four months in Australia, they were stationed at a New Guinea base. They took part in the Kokoda, Buna and Milne Bay operations, attacked Lae and Salamaua and participated in the March 2-4 Battle of the Bismark Sea and Huon Gulf, during which an entire 22-ship Japanese convoy was destroyed.

- 4806 v. Sr. Mary Elizabeth Conrad, born 06 Feb 1920 in Indiana; died 23 Oct 2019 in St. Mary-of-the-Woods, Vigo Co, Indiana.

Notes for Sr. Mary Elizabeth Conrad:

As today we gather to celebrate Sister Adrian Marie's entrance into the fullness of God's reign, we begin by recalling the many ways through which she gave so many a taste of the kingdom of God here on this earth, said Sister Maureen Abbott in her commentary for Sister Adrian Marie Conrad, who passed away on Wednesday, Oct. 23, 2019, at Saint Mary-of-the-Woods. She was 99 years old and had been a Sister of Providence for 76 years.

Sister Maureen continued: Sister Adrian Marie was born Mary Elizabeth Conrad on Feb. 6, 1920, in Bicknell, Ind., to Peb Conrad and Elizabeth Dueppe Conrad. She was their fifth child, joining Paul, Gabriella (Gabe), Frank, and Fletcher, later becoming "big sister" to her two younger brothers, Adrian and Charles. When the family moved to Vincennes, the children attended St. Francis Xavier School and the girls attended St. Rose Academy. After her 1938 graduation, Mary went on to study at Indiana Business College in Vincennes. With war on the horizon, Adrian and Charles enlisted while she contributed to the war effort by entering the work force.

On July 22, 1943, she entered the Congregation. It was a small band of only five until January when Sisters Michaela Galvin and Catherine Denise Duplace arrived from the eastern postulancy to join them. After professing first vows on Jan. 23, 1946, she moved across the state to Richmond and began her teaching ministry in the middle grades at St. Mary's. After professing final vows on Jan. 23, 1951, she taught seventh grade at St. John the Baptist in Fort Wayne, and two years later became eighth grade teacher at St. Joseph in Downers Grove, Ill. Since her brother Adrian had settled in Chicago, they were both delighted when he was able to introduce his children, John and Jan, to "Aunt Sister Mary" in the convent parlor, as visiting went in those days.

Adrian Marie's obvious capabilities were recognized when after four years, she was appointed principal of the school and superior of the house, meanwhile continuing her previous duties as eighth grade teacher. Apparently, she was able to handle these extra responsibilities well, because music teacher, Sister Lucy Nolan, remembers her as not only fair, but funny. After 10 years in Downers Grove, she welcomed her next assignment, to her home parish in Vincennes, as an opportunity to reconnect with her aging parents and the large contingent of siblings who had settled in Hoosier land. In 1965, she received an especially challenging assignment: Not only was she eighth grade teacher and principal at St. Jude in Indianapolis, but she was superior of a house of 18 sisters, most of whom taught at Chartrand High School, located on the same property. Six were still in their 20s, just starting out and full of mischief and practical jokes. And this was the 60s! Several sisters who were there at the time regaled me with tales of the good times they had even as they learned to drive, set aside their habits, and studied for master's degrees during the summers. Sister Mary Jo Piccione was a student at St. Jude and Chartrand during these years and fondly remembers the special Mass that Adrian Marie and the sisters arranged in the convent chapel to see her off when she entered in 1966.

It can't be overlooked that increased availability of TV at that time was the perfect way for Adrian Marie to indulge her passion for sports. Since her brother Frank had played basketball at Notre Dame and had gone on to coach high school sports, she became the resident expert as other sister fans followed their favorite teams. After earning her master's degree in education from Indiana State University in 1969, Adrian was assigned to high school teaching, first at Chartrand and then at Rivet in Vincennes before taking up duties as Campus Director at Ladywood-St. Agnes High School in Indianapolis for a year. Then, after four years at Sacred Heart in Terre Haute, she served as Administrative Secretary during the first years of Cathedral High School's operations.

In 1978, Adrian moved to California to take up duties as Director of Maintenance at Marywood, Orange. However, the year had barely begun when the announcement was made that this would be the last year of a full four-year high school. For Adrian, this was a moment to consider new possibilities. When a listing for the position of Director for a group home for teenage girls under court supervision in Henderson, Nev., came to her attention, she persuaded Sister Thomas Jeanne to consider taking on this challenge as a team. In this entirely new ministry, they were able to collaborate with specialized staff as they aimed to help the girls gain the skills and confidence they needed to return to a family setting rather than face incarceration. Their parish at this time was Guardian Angel Church in Las Vegas, known as "the cathedral on the strip." The pastor noticed how easily they were able to relate to members of the extremely diverse congregation and invited them to join the pastoral team, with Adrian Marie taking charge of the gift shop. Sister Thomas Jeanne recalls that parishioners ranged from the cocktail waitress who came to daily Mass to a shabby old man who liked to talk. She added that this gentleman turned out to be a very rich old man who became such a staunch friend that he insisted on arranging for them a tour of any three European countries they chose. These turned out to be Ireland, France, and Germany, with a memorable stop at Dachau.

It seems that no one place had a permanent attraction for Adrian Marie. The term "mobile ministerial lifestyle” was not yet in common use, but it seems she was creating it as she went along. Sister Josephine Bryan describes her attitude with a sports analogy: “Like golf, ‘fore’ meant get out of the way; direct concentration, aim, and swing for a hole-in-one. She knew how to direct love for growth and hope. Her life was directed by being Providence to others.” All along the way she kept up contact not only with former students and colleagues, but especially with her now widely scattered family. She made it a point to arrange vacations so as to visit family members in various locations. Her nephew John says the family adopted Sister Thomas Jeanne and regarded these visits as a family hub, prompting cross-country conversations to let everyone in on the latest hilarious and fun times.

Her next stop was in Sacramento, where she first served as executive secretary for Grace Day Home. She enjoyed working with little kids after years with teens and adults, but after two years, moved on to the post of editorial assistant at the diocesan newspaper, the Catholic Herald. These were the pre-LGU days when the sisters scattered across northern California would gather periodically as a mission group. The low hotel prices of Reno were a great draw, and the group did not scorn the nearby casinos. Sister Jeremy recalls being impressed to note that, unlike others clustered around the poker slot machines, Adrian Marie’s stack of quarters went up, not down. Adrian consistently kept in touch with her SP friends and could be counted on to supply the latest SP news at province gatherings and later with her LGU. They also appreciated her ability to boil down their wide-ranging reflections into a concise statement for their report.

Reaching retirement age didn’t slow her down, so when they moved to Bakersfield, she volunteered her services at the San Clemente Mission parish. Later, when they moved to Los Angeles, she volunteered at St. John Medical Center. Despite a cancer diagnosis and treatment, the southern California years were a time of forging strong friendships. Once again, their parish activities introduced them to a wide circle of friends who were involved in civic causes and the entertainment industry. A neighbor commented that, “We became fast friends over our shared love of L.A. Lakers basketball and shared countless laughs and wide-ranging conversations. Her grand-niece Nicole, who lives nearby, relates, “Aunt Mary’s youthful fun was infectious. That’s why she attracted so many people. She could talk about anything, and had a knack for finding common ground with anyone. People were shocked that Aunt Mary and Jeanne were not the stereotypical nuns like in the movies and on TV. They were hilarious, cool, social and the best storytellers ever!”

Sister Mary Jo Piccione also commented, “I think just about everyone in Hollywood knew the SP’s due to Sister Adrian Marie and Sister Thomas Jeanne.” Sister Mary Jo also recalled the care and support Sister Adrian Marie had offered her over many years, expressing her gratitude in this heartfelt tribute: “I want to grow up in community and be like you – a good and faith-filled servant and friend. God bless you, my friend! Thanks for your example of loving your Lord with all your heart and soul and being a faithful friend and mentor. You were a true Sister of Providence.” Services for Sister Adrian Marie took place on Wednesday, Nov. 6, and Thursday, Nov. 7, at Saint Mary-of-the-Woods. We welcome you to share your memories of Sister Adrian Marie in the comment section below. Memorial contributions in Sister Adrian Marie’s honor may be made to the Sisters of Providence of Saint Mary-of-the-Woods.

Marriage Notes for Helen Catt and Harry Murphy:

In a service marked by beautiful simplicity Miss Helen Catt became the bride of Dr. Harry E. Murphy Sunday morning June 1, 1941 at 9 o'clock at the Hopewell Presbyterian church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilham Catt of Hopewell. The Rev. Howard W. Stone of the First Presbyterian church, Franklin, read the single ring service in the presence of the immediate families of the couple. A background of palms and ferns against a white lattice and three large bouquets of Picardy and white gladioli and white snapdragon formed the setting for the ceremony.

The bride was attractively attired in a dusty rose jacket suit worn with a blouse of white mousseline de soie, white hat and accessories. She carried a white purse and white gloves and her shoulder corsage was of orchids and stephanotis. There were no attendants. Preceding the ceremony Miss Vera List, organist, played a program of bridal music including: "To a Wild Rose," "Berceuse" from Jocelyn, and "Salut d'amour." The bridal procession from Lohengrin was played for the entrance and the Mendelssohn Wedding March for the recessional. The "Liebestraum" was played softly during the ceremony. Mrs. Catt, mother of the bride, wore a printed sheer with white hat and accessories and a shoulder corsage of Briarcliff roses.

Dr. and Mrs. Murphy left immediately after the ceremony on a wedding trip. They will be at home on North Main Street in Franklin. Mrs. Murphy is a graduate of the Hopewell High School and he St. Vincent hospital school of nursing. She has been a professional nurse for the past ten years and has nursed in many homes throughout the county. She is a member of Hopewell Presbyterian church and has taken an active part in the church and social affairs of the community. Dr. Murphy is engaged in medical practice in Franklin with Dr. Oran A. Province at the Province hospital.

- 5376 ii. Sanford Richard (Dick) Hurst, born Sep 1893 in Kansas; died 24 Apr 1910 in Shelby Co, Tennessee.

Notes for Sanford Richard (Dick) Hurst:

Sanford Dickey Hurst, the 16-year-old son of Nelson A. Hurst, president of the East End Luber Company, was crushed to death yesterday afternoon Maril 24, 1910 at 2 o'clock in his father's mill near the Tristate Fair Grounds, on the Southern Road.

Young Hurst was operating a piece of machinery known as the "bull wheel," when his clothes became entangled in the shafting. The bid machine was running at a high rate of speed, and before the boy's plight was discovered he had been killed. Men working nearby heard his screams, but it was several minutes before the engine could be brought to a standstill and the mangled form removed.

The youth, up until several weeks ago, was a student in the Memphis High School. He wanted to enter the lumber business, however, and his father gave him a position in the mill of the East End Lumber company. He was a bright, energetic young fellow and his deep interest in his chosen business gave promise of a successful career.

Funeral arrangements have not as yet been made. The father and mother of this unfortunate boy will be remembered by many, who will greatly sympathize with them in the loss of their son.

Notes for Nathan Joshua Reed:

Nate J. Reed - The present sheriff of Jasper County, Indiana, was born September 3, 1845, in Springboro, Ohio, his parents being William and Mahala (Fox) Reed. His father was born in Kentucky and moved to this state in 1860, continuing his vocation of husbandry. His mother was born and reared in the state of Ohio. Five children blessed their union: Daniel Webster, a soldier in the civil war, now a resident of Warren County; Nate J., our subject; Jahu and Alonzo, both deceased; and William Wesley, a resident of Illinois. The family were brought up in the Methodist faith.

Mr. Reed came to Rensselaer, Jasper County, in 1871, from the county of \Warren. His early years were spent on a farm, where he was inured to the trials of country life, helping with the numerous chores during his spare time and attending the public schools, his opportunities for receiving a good education being first-class.

In 1862, when the dark cloud of discord overshadowed our land, and threatened her dissolution, he valiantly took up arms in her defense, and enlisted in Company F, Seventy-second Indiana Volunteer Infantry, with his brother Daniel. He fought in the Army of the Cumberland for three years, taking part in many engagements, among which were the battle of Chickamauga and the siege of Atlanta. He passed through many startling experiences and had marvelous escapes, his comrades being hewn down around him by shot and shell, while his own life was spared and not even a wound was received as a memento of those terrible times. He was mustered out of service at Edgefield, Tennessee, and returned home July 4, 1865, to resume his old occupation of farming.

Mr. Reed married a lady from Remington, this county, whose maiden name was Miss Maude Lally. She is a lady possessing many superior endowments of mind and heart, and is a zealous worker in the Presbyterian church, of which she is a member. Mr. Reed is a Republican. but had given his attention to farming prior to 1891, when his party elected him to the office of sheriff, and since then his time has been devoted to the duties of his office. He was renominated again in the fall of 1898, and was re-elected to the important office of sheriff. He is a genial, social gentleman, and everybody in the county knows and likes him. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias.

The Centennial History of Rush County, Indiana, edited by A. L. Gary and E. B. Thomas, Rushville, Indiana, Historical Publishing Company, Indianapolis, 1921, volume II, page 95-96.

Fred E. Catt, one of the best-known farmers and most successful veterinary surgeons of western Rush County, a resident of Posey township, is a native son of Rush County, having been born in Center township on August 23, 1879, and is the son of Harvey and Abbie (Henley) Catt, the former a native of Hancock County, Indiana, and the latter of Rush County. They were the parents of five children, of whom those now living are Frank, Fred E., Walter and Florence. The subject of this review attended the common schools of Ripley township and the high school at Carthage. He then entered the Indiana Veterinary College, at Indianapolis, where he was graduated, after three years' study, in 1916, with the degree of Veterinary Surgeon. After completing his professional course, he returned to Posey township and continued to farm and practice his profession. After his marriage in 1901 the subject engaged in farming on his own account, first renting land for about three years. He then bought his grandfather Henley's farm of eighty acres, which he operated for about three years, when he sold it and moved to Arlington, where he remained about a year. He then bought the splendid eighty-acre farm where he now lives in Posey township, and he has made many permanent and substantial improvements on the place, including the erection of new buildings, which have rendered the place very attractive and comfortable.

Mrs. Catt also inherited a part of the farm where they live, so that the place now comprises 170 acres of land. Doctor Catt carries on general farming operations and also raises from 100 to 150 head of hogs annually. As a veterinarian he has won an enviable reputation throughout this section of the county and enjoys a large and successful practice. On the 23d day of October, 1901, Doctor Catt was married to Nelle Sultz, who was born in Franklin County, Indiana, and is the daughter of Frank and Mary (Reeves) Sultz. To Doctor and Mrs. Catt have been born one child, Leroy S., who is now a farmer in Posey township and who married Ruth Handy, and has one child, Wilfred Nigh. Politically, Doctor Catt ties his support to the Republican party. Fraternally, he is a member of Beech Grove Lodge, No. 399, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at Arlington.
