

Hi All

Before I get more into the whole Steven Greer theory about the UFO phenomenon and cover up, I want to explore all of the beliefs about UFO's and aliens in a hierarchy of belief levels. This will take a couple of updates to cover and my next update will also incorporate more of the Steven Greer story.

I have discussed before how we all have belief levels which bias how we look at unfamiliar phenomena. Here is my take on how these belief levels relate to intelligent life in the Universe.

Belief Levels About Intelligent Life in the Universe

Belief Level 0

Humans on Earth are the only intelligent beings in the Universe

Supported by:

- Lack of concrete proof of any intelligence elsewhere in the Universe.

Comments:

- This must be a basic starting belief level unless you disagree that humans are "intelligent"

- disagree that humans are intelligent .
- This belief does allow for the possibility of non-intelligent beings elsewhere in the universe.

Belief Level 1

Humans on Earth are the only intelligent beings in the Universe beyond God and other religious/spiritual beings

Supported by:

- Same as level 0 and some religions .

Comments:

- Once your belief includes God and other religious/spiritual beings it is reasonable to assume that you may also believe that this other intelligence either resides on the Earth or somewhere else in the Universe including other dimensions of time and space beyond the 3D world on Earth. You also should accept that these other beings may be able to travel to the Earth at speeds faster than the speed of light. However, some may believe in the existence of these beings without even thinking about where they reside or how they travel.

Belief Level 2

Other advanced civilizations exist in the Universe

Supported by:

- The Drake equation.
- Common sense.
- Continuous new discovery of planets in the “Goldilocks

Zone” around stars.

Comments:

- Saying they exist but have not come to the Earth is basically saying that they are human-like at various stages of advancement including space travel within their own “solar system” but are not able to travel faster than the speed of light.
- If there are intelligent beings with human-like levels of intelligence then they too exist in a physical 3D world with the passage of time similar to what we observe.
- The reason they cannot travel at faster than light speed is that as a 3D object starts to accelerate and approaches the speed of light, it’s mass moves toward infinity and the relative passage of time stops. If you travel at the speed of light your mass is infinite and time stops.
- So if there are advanced civilizations who have not mastered travel at faster than the speed of light then it would seem impossible that they could ever travel to Earth, unless their life span lasts for hundreds or thousands of years and their access to energy sources is enormous.

Belief Level 3

Other advanced civilizations exist in the Universe and have visited the Earth

Supported by:

- All of the “evidence” of UFO’s and alien visitation with Earth going back over thousands of years. For some this evidence is not yet at the “concrete” level referred to in

belief level 0.

- The entire UFO phenomenon supports this belief.

Comments:

- This belief level is consistent with my belief.
- This belief level also implies that these alien beings can operate beyond normal 3D space and time.
- How do we believe that it is possible that aliens can operate beyond normal 3D space and time?
 - In the 1850's (only 170 years ago) if we were around then and I was stupid enough to write you a monthly letter that claimed: we will be able to talk on a wired or wireless phone to anybody else in the world, fly in the air for hours, land on the moon, drive cars at 200 km/hr, see the bones inside our body, (add dozens of other obvious examples) - you might say "no way, that is impossible, you are crazy".
 - Why would someone have that reaction? Well, Newtonian physics was what scientists back then knew about and Newtonian physics would say that these modern discoveries were not possible. However there have always been some scientists who although very good at understanding the current version of science were curious enough and open enough to consider other future possibilities with no guarantee that any of them would be true.
 - That is where we are today and, indeed, continually because knowledge always increases over time. As I have said before, scientists today know that the universe is 5% atomic matter, 25% cold dark matter and 70% dark energy. Let's assume we know everything about matter (I don't think we do) so that means we know 5% of the universe. We do know where dark matter is located but we have no idea what it is made of, so let's say we know 5% of that 25%. We know that dark energy causes the universe to expand but have no idea what it is so let's give ourselves another 5% on what we know. So, to be generous, we know about 15% of how our universe works.

- So as we learn more and start to get to a 100% understanding of how the universe works might we also discover that: yes, we can travel and communicate faster than the speed of light; yes, there are extra dimensions of time and space; yes, there are anti-gravity propulsion systems; yes, there are zero point free energy systems; yes, there is a non-local quantum field of consciousness that is everywhere; yes, ghosts, spiritual figures, other energetic types of beings exist; yes, time does not exist in the highest dimensions but is only perceived depending on your quantum state; and millions of other discoveries that we can't even guess at.
- Our ability to advance our knowledge may already be a direct result of our interactions with advanced civilizations who use "UFO's" and appear to us as "aliens". So a combination of what we do on our own and getting a "little help from our friends" will ultimately get us closer to 100% knowledge.

Belief Level 4

Advanced civilizations have not only visited the Earth but have also interacted with Humans

Supported by:

- Numerous historical stories, artwork and other evidence

- Numerous historical stories, artwork and other evidence of “gods descending from the skies in chariots of fire”. The Von Daniken books, Ancient Alien stories, Greek mythology, etc.
- Theories that even our major religions are really based on advanced civilizations coming to Earth. Are the Greek gods really that much different than other mainstream religions?
- In particular, there are many massive ancient stone structures where our current engineering technology could not have created the structures. Massive one piece stone layers or blocks which would require laser cutting technology and even the largest cranes in the world today could not lift. In this case the advanced civilizations built these structures or used their technology to help humans. Anti gravity and levitation technology is a frequent observation within the UFO phenomenon.
- In the 1940’s and beyond several live alien bodies were retrieved at UFO crash sites. They communicate by telepathy and it is claimed that some have lived for several years.
- In the 1950’s it is claimed that President Eisenhower met with several alien races who asked us to stop atomic bomb development and use and then they would share advanced technologies with us. Eisenhower declined.
- Many psychics have claimed telepathic communication with aliens as solid bodies or as ghostly apparitions.
- I have already told you about Steven Greer’s CE5 process for connecting with aliens using meditation (a way of sending telepathic messages).
- Lots of other claims about contact with us over thousands of years.

Comments:

- This belief level is consistent with my belief although I am very selective about which stories I have some belief in. I will have more to say about this after my CE5 event is done in July.
- I appreciate that for individuals who have strong religious beliefs in God, Jesus and other biblical characters that it may be offensive to suggest that these may just be examples of other advanced civilizations coming to Earth. Personally I can accept the concept of God being at the root of all consciousness in the Universe that connects God with everyone in the Universe and vice versa.
- Many claim that the human race was created by aliens adjusting DNA in other earthly primates. If that is true it does not bother me and it may make more sense than other evolutionary theories. If Jesus or other religious figures belong to that civilization then that does not bother me either.
- If the House of God is similar to increasingly advanced layers of civilizations I can accept this since I believe that advanced civilization are advanced both technically and spiritually. They already can coexist in many different dimensions of time and space and move between them at will. As I have said before it is this characteristic of UFO's and aliens that enables their ability to travel and communicate throughout the Universe.

Belief Level 5

A covert global group consisting of selected individuals who are part of a Secret Military Industrial Complex has retrieved and reengineered alien technology including consciousness communication since the 1940's

I will elaborate on this in a future update.

Belief Level 6

Humanity is facing future extinction events that will only be resolved by our advancement into a Universal state of consciousness

I will elaborate on this in a future update.

Belief Level 7 and beyond is a work in process.

Some of the more extreme comments above do come from Steven Greer. When I attended his week long seminar in March he disclosed how his evidence document archives works and just yesterday he provided access to the full database. I will review it and share with you some of the more compelling pieces of evidence.

In the meantime, despite some of Greer's more extreme claims, he has a very interesting way to describe what Unity means and the importance of "consciousness". I am currently reviewing a lot of material about what consciousness is and the scientific evidence that is now building up supporting the claim that consciousness is not just something that happens within the human brain but more fundamentally exists as a non-local (ie it is everywhere in the Universe) timeless dimension of space operating under the laws of a quantum physics where every sentient being is connected to it and has the capability to access it through mental processes.

The term extraterrestrial Intelligence (ETI), so curiously nondescript, wonderfully lends itself to these concepts of unity. Regardless of planet, star system or galaxy of origin, and no matter how diverse, ETIs are, essentially, intelligent, conscious, sentient beings. Humans are essentially intelligent, conscious, sentient beings.

We are, essentially, one. On this basis, we may speak of one people inhabiting one universe, just as we now envision one people as children of one planet. Differences are always a matter of degree, but true unity established in consciousness is absolute. The beings currently visiting earth from other planets, while no doubt different from humans in both superficial and more profound ways, are nevertheless conscious intelligent beings.

Consciousness is the basis for both human and extraterrestrial existence and is therefore the foundation for unity and communication between the various people of the universe. Beliefs may vary, biological processes may vary, assorted capacities may vary, social systems and technology may vary – but the simple thread of conscious intelligence which runs through all peoples elegantly weaves our unity. This essential unity is not subject to the trials of diversity, for it is pure, immutable and fundamental to the existence of intelligent life itself.

Janet and I will be on a cruise soon and back later in May when I will do another update.

All the best,

Alan
