What Are Cookies?

As is common practice with almost all professional websites this site uses cookies, which are tiny files that are downloaded to your computer, to improve your experience. This page describes what information they gather, how we use it and why we sometimes need to store these cookies. We will also share how you can prevent these cookies from being stored however this may downgrade or 'break' certain elements of the sites functionality.

For more general information on cookies, please read "What Are Cookies".

How We Use Cookies

When you visit our website, we want your experience to be as simple, helpful, and as consistent as possible. To do this we track anonymous usage behaviour about visits, pages, and the services people are using to further improve your experience.

We do not use cookies to collect any personally identifiable information about you, or any marketing information without your explicit opt in consent. We use cookies for a variety of reasons detailed below.

Unfortunately, in most cases there are no industry standard options for disabling cookies without completely disabling the functionality and features they add to this site. It is recommended that you leave on all cookies if you are not sure whether you need them or not in case, they are used to provide a service that you use.

Disabling Cookies

You can prevent the setting of cookies by adjusting the settings in your browser. You can find comprehensive information on how to disable or manage cookies across the most popular web browsers from the UK Information Commissioner's Office at: <https://ico.org.uk/your-data-matters/online/cookies/>

To find out more about cookies, including how to see what cookies have been set, you can visit www.aboutcookies.org or www.allaboutcookies.org.

Be aware that disabling cookies will affect the functionality of this and many other websites that you visit. Therefore, it is recommended that you do not disable all cookies when using this site.

If the site does not function as expected after disabling cookies in your browser, or you don't consent to the site setting any cookies, then please leave the site immediately.
