FROM THE FOUNDER & AUTHOR

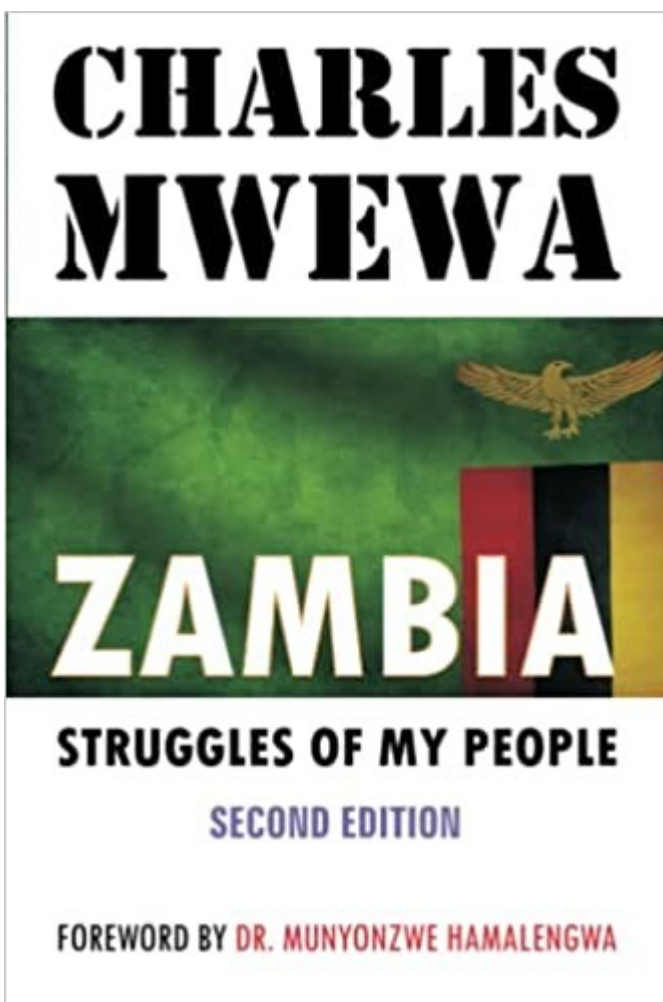

We live in interesting times. Never in the history of the known and accessible world has knowledge tramped everything we know, think or envision. A combination of factors – ranging from technology, the Internet, social media, Artificial Intelligence, including Intelligence Quotient (IQ), Emotional Quotient (EQ), Social Quotient (SQ), and Adversity Quotient (AQ) to glocalism – are rapidly exploding, many times, at a pace faster than time can process. As a result, self-awareness, interpersonal interactions and international synergies are expanding at astronomical speeds.

We, and for good reasons, have begun to realize that the world is smaller than the ideas imbedded divinely into our brains can spawn. We are on a conquest trajectory, in science, economics, politics, literature, mathematics, cybernetics, law, philosophy, and even our view of the metaphysical (religious) world is expanding. Africa is no longer a Dark Continent, and the West do not monopolize the cycles of knowledge and innovation any more. The world is slowly but surely morphing into a unitary geopolitical bloc. We are in to dominate everything, except death, perhaps.

But you may want to pause and ponder and ask yourself: What is my place in this dynamic trend? I believe that the continuation of knowledge and discovery shall not cease. What will cease is the tolerance for ignorance. My books are a small contribution to that knowledge quest and explosion. And I submit, that in content and research, my works do not lack. Let us explore together, and in the process, influence our time and leave a mark that will survive time.

Charles Mwewa (LLB; BA. Education; BA. Legal Studies; Cert. Law; DIBM; LLM Cand.) is a Dad, author, lawyer, educator, and moral and social influencer. Mwewa is the author of 33 books and counting in all genres – fiction (novels), non-fiction and poetry. In this catalog, the SPRINGOPUS, 28 of Mwewa's books are showcased. Mwewa, his wife, and their three girls, reside in the Capital City of Ottawa, Canada.

ZAMBIA: STRUGGLES OF MY PEOPLE, 2nd Edition

This is the everything-Zambia magnum opus, dubbed the most comprehensive book ever written on Zambia by a single author. It covers history, the economy, politics, law, culture, education, religion, the military, presidential politics, the diaspora, regional and international affairs, and the place of Zambia during and in the post-Covid-19 era.

The book is now in both paperback and hardcopy formats. The hardcopy format is divided into two volumes. Volume 1 contains chapters 1 to 20; and Volume 2 contains chapters from 21 to 40.

Praise for this tome includes: “Compelling, stimulating and provoking,” (Dr. Dickson Mwansa – Vice-Chancellor, Zambia Open University); “This book has been evaluated as the best book ever written on Zambia and it is the most inclusive of all books that have ever been written on Zambia. It covers history, economics, politics, law, religion, biographies, culture, book commentaries, and comparative analysis of other African and Western countries and so on,” (Dr. Munyonzwe Hamalengwa – Dean, School of Law, Zambia Open University); “This book is truly informative,” (Sibanze Simuchoba – Prominent Zambian lawyer); and “This book will remain a national asset and treasure for Zambia, and its future generations,” (Dr. Nevers Mumba, Former Zambian Vice-president).

In its first edition, published by Maiden Publishing House, Lusaka, Zambia in 2011, all the copies printed were sold.

The book is available for reference in universities and colleges, including in the National Assembly and government house.

LAWS OF INFLUENCE: Seven Lessons in Transformational Leadership

“Charles Mwewa has written this inspirational and motivating book which is a ‘must read’ for everyone from all walks of life. His ideas are holistic and well-rounded as he discusses the ‘Laws of Influence.’ He has captured vividly leadership and other principles which he elaborates and makes situational for his readers. This is a non-traditional approach, and one that can be attributed to the positive feedback from across three continents – North America, Europe and Africa”

Hon. Jean Augustine, P.C.
Ontario’s Fairness Commissioner
(Former Deputy Speaker of Canada).”

THE SYSTEM: How Society Defines & Confines Us: A Worksheet

Life is organized as a System (The System). Although all human beings are born equal, they immediately discover that there are structures in society which define and confine them. In this life, there are quadrants – from the highest System-Makers to the middle System-Maintainers, to the lowest System-Grinders. This systematic evolution is embedded into every society, career, profession, politics, academia, economy, science and technology, arts, religion, law, or order. It is the same pattern everywhere; no matter the continent or region. Everyone belongs to one of these quadrants, or by default, in the Grinders. This book defines and shows you how to belong or relocate from one quadrant to another. It is designed as a workbook, with 31 daily activities (one regular month) based on the content of the book as well as one's general experience in the sphere of life.

MY MUSLIM FRIENDS LEARN ABOUT JESUS

The author has helped many people successfully defend their refugee claims at the Immigration and Refugee Board (IRB) of Canada, Refugee Protection Division (RPD) based on religious grounds. This book is the publication of the materials I have used, and also the responses my clients have elicited at the RPD that have resulted in favorable outcomes. This is a practical tool; it has been tested and verified.

ALLERGIC TO CORRUPTION: The Legacy of President Michael Sata of Zambia

Michael Chilufya Sata was born in Mpika in 1937 and was brought up there, in the then Northern Province, a rural district of the British Protectorate of Northern Rhodesia. The New African magazine described him as “The son of a cook, he came from humble beginnings and his career includes being a police constable, and then porter and taxi driver in London, before returning home to go into business and politics.” This book is a story of President Michael Sata’s remarkable rise to power in Zambia, and the passion he exemplified in a slogan he coined, “Allergic to Corruption.”

*HH IS THE RIGHT MAN FOR ZAMBIA: And Other
Acclaimed Articles on Zambia and Africa*

The purpose of compiling this book is not only the celebration of democracy and the election of Hakainde Hichilema (HH), but also to demonstrate how prescient this author's articles on Zambian politics have been during the past over 14 years. The author believed in HH from the moment the now-president of Zambia inherited UPND from Anderson Mazoka.

The author reviewed UPND's platform and manifesto and listened intently to HH's vision and love for Zambia. Indeed, HH is the man for Zambia. HH means well for the poor and for the image of Zambia at home and abroad. This book showcases the prescience of HH's election and a hope for a successful presidency.

WEALTH THINKING: And the Concept of Capiolism

In Wealth Thinking, the idea of a healthy, wealthy and liberated mindset is set in brief and succinct quotes for everyone to master. It is not by accident that children who come from wealthy families or backgrounds end up being wealthy and rich; and most of those from poor families and backgrounds end up being poor. A wealth-mindset can be acquired, just like humans acquire mastery of other disciplines through learning. People and nations that enjoy wealth do so partly because they or their ancestors were exposed to wealth thinking at some point. Money or wealth is good – because with it one can do a great deal of good for themselves or the world around them. Poverty has never been a desirable quality in almost all known cultures because it mostly brings shame, lack, hardships and suffering. The world is full of wealth, and all such wealth is meant for all human beings to enjoy. Learn and acquire the necessary mentality to think wealthily through the quotes contained in this book.

100+ Reasons to Read Books

Knowledge is never centralized. It comes in snippets and clips from different people. Progress means three things: Learning, believing and acting. All of these are triggered by reading different topics and interests. You can't succeed beyond the knowledge you currently have. You can't be better than what you don't know. Those who read widely, will eventually be better prepared, better informed and will be more decisive. Invest in books and actually read. The wisdom of God and of humans is transmitted in these pages. Don't depend on anyone to read for you - it's they who will grow and make progress, and NOT you. Good readers make better leaders. Read, read, and read - all the time.

In this 140 page-motivational, Charles Mwewa provokes those who desire to reach further than time and tour the minds, through books. These illustrious quotables are provocative, inspiring and wholly revolutionizing.

CHAMPIONS: Application of Common Sense and Biblical Motifs to Succeed in Both Worlds

The Bible, and Jesus in particular, dealt with everyday social realities in a manner that confounded even the best and brilliant minds of the time. Common-sense is very much at play in most of the biblical themes, stories and encounters. The unified consensus of the Scriptures points to the same conclusion: That God wants us to win in both worlds, in this, and in the one to come. This book captures some of the following themes: Attracting promotion; balance; investing in talent; position and possession; preparation; ranking and profitability; and etc.

All those who desire to be champions, to win, to excel, in this present world and to be welcomed with admiration in the next, will have found their match through the contents of this book.

A CASE FOR AFRICA'S LIBERTY:
The Synergistic Transformation of Africa and the West into First-World Partnerships

[Written exclusively in poetry]

The past of Africa is known.
The present is developing.
But the future is anybody's guess. Admittedly, Europe and America combined attempted to cut
Africa's throat with a blunt sword.
The pain is excruciating. The wound unhealing. And the remedy is anyone's guess. Resources – both natural and human – left Africa for Europe and America. The scale of trade has always tilted against Africa. The shambles thereby bequeathed to Africa are anyone's guess. But until historical injustices levelled against Africa are addressed, its pain soothed, and its wound bandaged, it will remain anybody's guess how the 21st Century will look like for Africa.
The conversation begins here – truth, nothing but truth, shall liberate Africa. Meanderings, diplomacy or calling the elephant in the room by another name, only serve to limit Africa, and continuously pour scone on its potential, peoples and practices. The facts are set, evidence is complete, and all that now remains – is to make A Case for Africa.

LOVE IDEAS IN COVID PANDEMIC TIMES: For Couples & Lovers

Indeed, the Covid-19 pandemic has not been about the saddest period of modern human history, but also the loneliest for couples and lovers. Each day, all they read, hear and listen to, are sad stories and bad news of rising infections and death. And in such times, love may be thrown out of the window. But it shouldn't. Lovers and couples can live these moments in bliss. They can love more, feel for each other more, and give more to their relationships. This little book is for all lovers and couples in the Covid-pandemic times. It will stimulate them towards increased desire for one another, and it will give them the encouragement to continue to live and love. There is no balm as healing as love, and no antidote most effective against death as love.

QUOT-EBOS:

Essential. Barbs.

Opinions. Sayings

The quotes presented in this book have changed lives, livened dreams and recharged potentials. Most, if not all, of them speak for themselves. They invigorate thoughts readers have already entertained; they rekindle mental forces readers have shunted; and they introduce new options of viewing life, endeavors, dreams and visions, experiences and skills and knowledge. At times, they challenge status quo and propose alternative approaches to life.

RESURRECTION: (A Spy in Hell, novel)

Kirl was a quintessential spy master destined to marry two sisters separated by the vagaries of a marriage of convenience, themselves two daughters of a recanted priest and her adorable nanny. He was a Casanova – a lady’s man, then he went comatose, and he, literally, died. In Hell, he has a make-over – misses his initiation and survives every attempt to roast his soul and turn him into food for worms. Amazingly, he weathers all the storms of purgatoria, he resurrects – into a totally new man. But his living nightmare just begins – he has to decide which of the two blood-sisters will be his legal wife. In a historic trial that pits him against his hoodwinked nemesis, Satan himself, he survives yet another onslaught. There is so much of Hell, and every bit of grace.

POETRY: The Best of Charles Mwewa

This book of poems is unique and comprehensive. It covers a period of 30 years of selected poems. All the published and unpublished works of Charles Mwewa are compiled into this one collection, earning the title, The Best of Charles Mwewa. Mwewa's style is Charsian – styled in a mixture of rhythmic verse and iambs, where desired, creating a mixture of sound and sense that captivates the mind/reason, engages the soul and records or reshapes history.

PANDEMIC POETRY (COVID-19)

Indeed, Covid-19 pandemic has devastated the people of the world. Within a span of one year (between March 2020 and March 2021) about 112 million people contracted the virus, with approximately 2.5 million deaths from the virus. Life as the world knew it came to a stand-still – masks replaced facial make-ups, and social distancing became a new social routine. Nations and cities closed, so were companies and businesses.

In these poems, Charles

Mwewa brings the vagaries of the time to note and provides the hope for tomorrow.

*SAIL WITHOUT SHIP:
Poetry of Post-
Independence Africa,
the Case of Zambia*

In these moving poems on Zambia and Africa as a whole, we are presented with a vivid, compelling and masterful account of the realities of post-independence African life. The picture that emerges from this poetic drama is a people destined to remove themselves from the clutches of colonial domination and in simple terms come to grips with their way of life. What ingredients could have sailed the ship of Africa and Zambia in the right direction? Sit down and take a flight.

LAW & GRACE: An Expository Study in the Rudiments of Sin and Truth

The Law was given through a human agent, Moses. But God brought us Grace by Himself. And we see the glory of His Grace in operation: Forgiving sins unconditionally, healing the sick, raising the dead, comforting the weak, cheering the weary, calling the feeble and the nonentities, speaking to and dining with sinners, washing His own servants' feet, loving the unloved, breaking bread with His disciples, praying for His enemies, rebuking the hypocrites, sharing food with the hungry, paying taxes, breaking tribal lines, and even dying for those who did not deserve it – all of us. That is the beauty, the power, and the glory of Grace. In this 381 page-treatise, Charles Mwewa uses scripture to prove scripture that Grace ended the Law Dispensation and has bequeathed to New Testament believers pleasant and awesome benefits incomparable to anything in life or in nature.

*THE GRACE
DEVOTIONAL: Fifty-
Two Happy Weeks
with God*

This book is to be used primarily for the purposes of devotion by any Church or individual who believes in the power of prayer. It is compiled as a litany for conducting group or personal worship services or exercises for prayers and invocations. Its secret is in the reading of the confessions deliberately selected to equip the soul and inspire the spirit. People have wondered why they pray and don't see results. The answer is partly due to negligence in confessing the portions of the Bible relevant to their situation.

SERMONS: Application of Legal Principles and Procedures in the Life and Ministry of Christ

Indeed, ethics or moral judgment is at the center of Biblical interpretation. Jesus Christ is said to be the lawyer of lawyers, in the sense that, no-one had ever propounded the legal efficacy and representation of Scriptures more than Him – and no-one has, ever since. Jesus Christ is the quintessential jurist. In these sermons, Charles Mwewa expostulates on both the legal efficacy and representation central in the Gospels, in particular, and the Bible, in general. Written from a rare legal dynamic, these sermons evoke a sense of responsibility for those who are impacted by its truths. The content can be used by ordained Ministers, the lay people, and for reference. The authority comes from the Scriptures, highlighted throughout the book in footnotes. Those who seek judicial justice and those who cleave for spiritual ascendancy, are united in the topics selected for this purpose.

*WORTHY! Deepest
Praise to the Highest God*

Belief in God is not enough. But loving and praising Him everyday and throughout our mortal lives should be our goal. Praise rings eternal. It's the only thing not even God can take away from us. Don't praise to live; live to praise.

*THE PATCH THEOREM:
A Philosophy of Death,
Life and Time*

In the Patch Theorem: A Philosophy of Death, Life and Time, the author introduces a third dimension (trimention) of explaining birth, death, life (and even life after death) and time. The elements of the Creationist Theory are recognized, and the postulations of science are affirmed. However, both religion and science cannot explain life and death from the realist point of view. The creation or experience called humanity is trimentional; it exists at the subconscious, subcortical and subphemeral layers.

*PRISONER OF GRACE:
An 'I Saw Jesus at Milton' Testimony*

Around 2:00 a.m. on June 4th, 2013, Charles had a morning vision. In it he saw the Lord Jesus Christ. It was a remarkable trance that kept him fixated on a self-managed divine video screen. This little book is the description of that vision, and more.

BOOK IN FOCUS

Bemba Dynasty (a trilogy)

The trilogy reveal Zambia's history before pre-colonialism, and covers a period from 1800 to 1911. The aim is to help the reader appreciate the past in order to curve the future. The novels introduce six brilliant matriarchs, Mumbi Lyulu Mukasa, Bwalya Chabala-Chilufya Mulenga, Lady Chancellor Kasuba Mwewa (later Queen Bwalya Chabala III), Queens Matanda, and Esther "Lute" Chileshe.

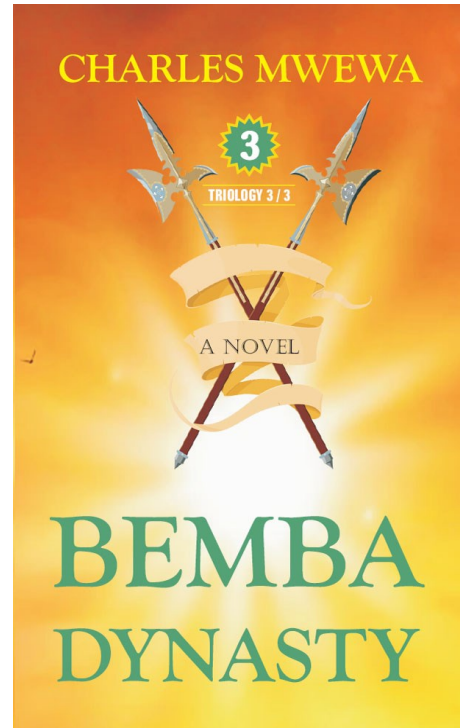

It introduces the reigns of Chileshe Chepela to Chitapankwa, to Sampa and to Chimfwembe Makumba, to Mutale Chikwanda. In the novels, you will meet the barrage of heartbreaks, the dance with nature, the rise from raiders to empire builders, betrayal in their ranks, the intrigue and calamitous reception of Europeans into uLubemba, the excursions of Dr. David Livingstone, his retinue's déjà vu, the Bishop-King "Motomoto" Dupont's extra-religious undertakings, the intrusion of the BSA Company into what became known as Northeastern Rhodesia, the brace with Arab gun traders, the massacre of African tradition and culture, the double-impact of the Christian missionaries, the illustrious “James” Chuma and how he was one of the first Africans to reach Europe and return.

You will sigh to the politics of succession from baChilolo to shiMwalule (Lord of the burials) and the frenetics of unsorted deaths, how Generals Kalyata and Mporokoso shaped uLubemba’s army and the battles between “Ifita fyabasumina” (or armies of God) and imipashi (ancestral spirits), the Christo-political machinations of Julizya “David” Kaunda, political agitations from Livingstonia Mission to Lubwa Mission, and the sheer pleasure of love affairs, military incursions, and, finally, you will meet Mukonde and Elizabeth (a kidnapper and the kidnapped, the first White-Black love affair that began in the midst of bigotry and antagonism).

This trilogy has them all. Suddenly, the story of the lost history of Zambia comes to life.
