

"Amrish pulls you into the heartland of Punjab, immersing you in a tale of love, brutality and crime told with great finesse."

—MADHAV DHAR
Bestselling author of Sniper's Eye

In the midst of the mustard fields of Jalandhar, there is love, secrets, betrayal and blood.

A British journalist, Jannat Gill, finds herself out of her depth and away from home on an assignment to investigate and report on the increasing number of NRI murders in the heart of Punjab, including her best friend, Preet's. As she dashes into Rajveer, the flamboyant Punjab-da-puttar taking over the reins of the family business, she finds herself distracted and far from uncovering the truth. But, in the deep end again, of love, it may not be a grim assignment after all, if only...

"Intricately weaving the transcendental essence of love, loss, intrigue and the apparent frailties of the human psyche into a fast-paced narrative that rivets, Rose Bullet is one of the few novels that must make it to the big screen."

—NIRAL ADAMNATH
Author of Victims for Sale

tara

India Research Press
www.indiaresearchpress.com

Fiction-Thriller

ISBN 978-81-8384-179-3

₹299 $10.95 £8.99

cover design by deepa kumar

ROSE BULLET

Amrish Shah

tara

tara

Rose Bullet

"An explosion of daredevilry"

ARUNIMA SINHA

World's first female amputee to climb the Mount Everest

AMRISH SHAH