

The Massachusetts Psychiatric Society in collaboration with the Massachusetts Medical Society presents

2019 Disaster Readiness Conference Preparedness, Response and Recovery After Disaster

The collaboration of mental health professionals with their medical peers in the face of disaster is vital for the health of the community. This program will provide medical and mental health professionals with a unique opportunity to focus together on how the combination of their skills can greatly enhance preparedness, response and recovery from disaster. Psychiatrists will get a sense of how one can use psychological understanding and skills in a more supportive and compassionate way to reach out to people who do not necessarily think they need a psychiatrist.

Program Highlights include:

Preparedness and Response to Disasters in a Hospital Setting by Eric Goralnick, MD, MS

Role of the Red Cross by Wendy Grolnick, PhD

Guns as a Public Health Problem by David Hemenway, PhD

Experience and Mortality in Puerto Rico after Hurricane Maria by Lisa Fortuna, MD and Satchit Balsari, MD

Children and Families by Frederick Stoddard, Jr, MD

Legal and Ethical Considerations by James T. Hilliard, JD
