Letter from Our CEO

Shanise
Hart- LaShelle

Founder & Executive Director

In 2025, Three Hart Connection experienced one of the most transformative years in our organization's history. Through change, growth, and refinement, we remained grounded in our mission: to break the cycle of violence by restoring confidence, strengthening prevention, and cultivating pathways to stability and opportunity.

This year required resilience. It required discernment. And it required a renewed commitment to sustainability, not just of our programs, but of the people who lead and participate in them. Through intentional restructuring, focused programming, and strengthened partnerships, we reached our largest number of participants to date and deepened our regional presence as a trusted prevention and survivor-led organization.

What follows is a snapshot of the impact made possible by our community (participants, staff, partners, funders, and supporters) who believe that confidence is safety and that education, connection, and dignity change lives.

Company Overview

About Us

We are a veteran 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization advocating for survivors of domestic violence, and violence prevention for youth in the Antelope Valley.

Our Mission

To transform the Antelope Valley into a community where hope replaces fear and silence—ensuring every youth has the opportunity to live free from domestic violence.

Our Purpose

Three Hart Connection is an organization attacking domestic violence by breaking the cycles of violence, poverty, and the school-to-prison pipeline. Offering a culturally centered and affirming approach to benefit the entire family, we provide DV prevention and intervention services to disrupt the next generation of victims and perpetrators. Specifically, our services include Violence Prevention, Youth Development, Survivor Empowerment, Resource Support, Life Skills, and Scholarship Opportunities.

Team Growth and Capacity Building

To strengthen organizational sustainability and program excellence, Three Hart Connection expanded capacity through strategic contractors and emerging leaders:

- Vanessa Butler, Butler CFO & Tax Services - CFO/Tax Contractor
- Emani Thompson - Executive Assistant, Adult Thrive Programs
- Danielle Ross - Fall Collegiate Intern, CSU Bakersfield (Oct-Dec 2025)

This team growth allowed us to stabilize financial systems, strengthen adult programming support, and invest in workforce development aligned with trauma-informed practice.

Programs & Impact

Adult Thrive Programs

Our Adult Thrive programs support survivors and community members through trauma-informed healing, education, and leadership development. Participants build confidence, safety, and independence through advocacy training, peer support, and practical life skills that strengthen stability, agency, and long-term pathways forward.

Youth Thrive Programs

Our Youth Thrive programs equip young people with the knowledge, confidence, and skills needed to navigate relationships, education, and life safely. Through internships, mentorship and prevention-centered programming, youth learn boundaries, communication, and leadership while building protective factors that support healthy development and future opportunity.

2026 Vision

In 2026, Three Hart Connection is committed to restoring confidence in youth and families as a pathway to safety, prevention, and long-term stability. We believe that when people feel confident in who they are, what they deserve, and how to protect themselves, they are better equipped to make healthy choices, seek support, and build thriving futures.

We also believe that education and life skills are essential tools for safety. When people gain knowledge, credentials, and practical skills, they reduce their dependence on others for their basic needs—creating freedom, choice, and stability. Confidence fuels the courage to pursue education, and education strengthens the confidence needed to break cycles of harm and reliance. Together, they form a foundation for independence and opportunity.

Our work is grounded in the understanding that confidence and education are not built in isolation—they are cultivated through intentional programming, meaningful connection, and a strong sense of belonging. Across every program and department, we create spaces where participants can safely explore their identities, develop life and leadership skills, and define their pathways forward.

Through our Adult Thrive Programs, we focus on healing, advocacy, and skill-building—supporting survivors and community members as they gain confidence, leadership capacity, and tools for independence. Participants move from healing to action, becoming advocates, peer leaders, and community changemakers.

Through our Youth Thrive Programs, we invest in prevention by preparing young people with the knowledge, boundaries, and life skills needed to navigate relationships, education, and career pathways safely. By prioritizing organization, preparation, connection, and community, we empower youth to thrive academically, socially, and emotionally.

Our Marketing and Outreach efforts serve as the connective tissue that amplifies our impact—sharing authentic stories, growing community engagement, increasing participation, and strengthening trust with funders and partners. Through a cohesive, story-driven ecosystem, we ensure our work is visible, credible, and accessible.

Together, these efforts form a unified system of prevention, empowerment, and transformation. Three Hart Connection is not simply delivering programs—we are building confidence, cultivating skills, and creating pathways to safety, independence, and opportunity for generations to come.

Closing

As we close 2025, we do so with deep gratitude for every young person, survivor, partner, funder, volunteer, and community member who trusted Three Hart Connection with their story, their time, and their hope.

This year reminded us that healing is not linear, prevention is not passive, and confidence is built through consistent care and connection. Every workshop facilitated, conversation held, and life skill practiced moved us closer to a future where safety is expected...not negotiated.

Thank you for walking alongside us through a year of growth, learning, and impact. Because of you, youth are more prepared, survivors are more supported, and our community is stronger.

We look ahead to 2026 with clarity, commitment, and heart, ready to continue building confidence, cultivating safety, and creating pathways forward together.
