SUMMARY OF MY EXPERIENCE AND QUALIFICATIONS

I am a British Criminologist and former senior police officer with over 30 years' public service experience, for most my career I worked as an operational detective and Senior Investigating Officer (SIO), specialising in the investigation of Major and Specialist Crime. In the past, I have led investigation teams investigating high profile complex cases and been commended for my detective abilities and leadership by various Chief Constables, Judges and Public Safety Charities.

In 2006, I founded the Behavioural Analysis Unit (BAU) for the UK Child Exploitation Online Protection Centre (CEOP). I ran the unit for 5 years promoting and expanding the use of Behavioural Analysis techniques within law enforcement and child protection agencies worldwide. During this time, I consulted on hundreds of serious sexual crimes against children many of which were high profile cases. I have also worked with Interpol, Europol, American Department of Justice (DOJ), Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the United States Marshall's Service (USMC) as well undertaking work for the British Foreign and Commonwealth Office in Southeast Asia and Eastern Europe.

Since 2012 I have worked independently as a Criminologist and as a subject matter expert in relation to the behaviour of adult perpetrators of child sexual abuse. My knowledge and expertise concerning the behavioural aspects of perpetrators has developed over the course of my policing career and the specialist roles I have held together with my academic research. I regularly, deliver training internationally to a multidisciplinary audience on various aspects of my work. (See details of large-scale conference and training presentations for details shown below). I also regularly contribute to the media and as a TV presenter.

I am a member of the British Society of Criminology and a Visiting Research Fellow at Leeds University School of Law; I hold a PhD in Criminology/Applied Social Science and a Post-Graduate Certificate in Forensic Behavioural Psychology. My PhD research was at Durham University and focused upon the behaviour of male non-familial child abductors that sexually abuse and murder their victims. My research interests also include the behaviour of adult men and women who sexually abuse children.
