

Date: July 14, 2017 at 8:24 PM
Subject: Fw: Work Party

---

Yes Guys it's me. All the way from Indianapolis, Indiana. I'm begging and pleading for you to join the next work day at the Beta Psi house on Thursday July 20. We (or those that show up) will be replacing some of the floor boards on the front porch. Both ends of the side porches are rotted. You may remember that we already replaced the boards by the front door. Dave Martin and Ron Steckel will be there at 9 AM to begin the construction/ demolition process (not necessarily in that order). We need your help!!!! No, I will not be there, but these two guys are more than capable of supervising the job. We need your hands and the rest of your body to complete this task in one day. The actives will be painting the porch upon completion. Look, I'm not asking for a monthly work party (although it would be nice). So drag your butt down, over, up to the Beta Psi house on Thursday. The beach can wait until Friday. Remember Santa is checking his list---and maybe twice, so be there.

Thanks,

Bill Buggy Horvath
Hoosier Land