

Run Report 23/02/2025 The Cross Keys

11am on a mild breezy day the entire pack of 9 including the hare assembled in the carpark. The hare, Pulled Out, informed us it was going to be wet and shiggy underfoot. Off we set, the main pack being The Count, Lunchbox, AGO, Vicky Vomit and the hare. The remainder followed the "in trail" to the beer stop with the beer. It quickly became apparent that The Count was the only runner and therefore was way ahead and ended up sorting out all the checks. Well done Count. The trail was all countryside and the beer stop was reached without any fallers despite the slippery conditions. After the beer the next hazard was reached, a ford with a flour arrow directing the pack through not over. Despite this Pulled Out was the only hasher to go through the water.

Back at the pub a few beers were enjoyed with choice of 4 on offer, it was decided that there were so few of us, and most were driving, that down downs would be postponed until next week. However, 6 of us stayed on for Sunday lunch which was a great feast and very good value. Well done hare for a great trail and finding a welcoming pub with good beer and food.

LUNCHBOX

R*n 2078 – SUN – 23.02.25 - The Cross Keys, White Notley Hares: Pulled Out & Sucked In

What a great r*n today. Select pack of just 9 of us. Pulled Out, Sucked In, Corpse, The Count, Vicky Vomit, Sooty, Lunchbox, Heap O & AGO.

The weather held beautifully for a muddy and puddled r*n along a few roads and over fields and small bridges together with a ford towards the end that helped to clean some of our muddy shoes. The Knitters took themselves off with Heap O who did in fact meet up with the runner (The Count) and the walkers, as he had waited at a nicely placed Barn with the beer and sweets. The Hare did a great job with the trail and we all successfully made it back to the pub.

As most of us were driving we raised a glass to the Hash and decided against a circle although there was some confusion with Vicky Vomit who had been trying to get on to the pubs Wifi and missed the discussion about no circle.

Great company and lots of chat and the 6 of us who stayed for lunch were in for a treat. The food was very, very good and all credit to Pulled Out for sorting out this weekend's Hash.
