

EH3 Xmas Dinner 18/01/2025 at The Oakwood Eastwood

It was a cold dank winter's night so it was just as well there was no trail involved. We all arrived in our finery some like Compressed Fart and Dog's Bollocks entering into the faux spirit of the occasion with Christmas outfits on.

The pub had ensured that there were two real ales on (Timothy Taylor's Landlord and Fuller's London Pride), so there was no excuse (unless you were a driver), to get well oiled. Everyone appeared to be happy with the food they had pre ordered and Sooty's idea of personalised little boxes of odds and ends with our meal choices on worked well. Just a couple of hiccups when it came to the sweet trolley when AGO seemed a little confused. I think she was having a bad night as she was also a little confused when it came to claiming raffle prizes, (she tried to claim Blowdry's prize). I suspect the empty bottle of red wine on the table may have had something to do with it. The RA did a great job ensuring everyone got a down down and the club ensured he got one as well.

There were several quizzes on the tables to stop any boredom that may have occurred including a quiz about EH3 from The Count and a ding bat and a geography quiz from Sooty.

A big thankyou to all those that donated raffle prizes, especially as I won one of the star prizes. The raffle made a profit which Sooty will be giving to Hash Cash.

All in all a great evening had by all and a big thankyou to both the pub staff who looked after us and Sooty who single handed organised the whole event.

On On LUNCHBOX