Artist/Band Name: Mari Cornell

Genre: Rock, Alt. Rock, Blues

Hometown: Virginia Beach, VA

Introduction/Bio: Mari' Cornell is a Nashville-born musician whose upbringing in churches, honky-tonks, and blues bars across the country deeply influenced her musical journey. Immersed in live performances by artists like the Wooten Brothers, Michael McDonald, and Chris Stapleton during her childhood, she developed a distinctive style that blends blues, rock, and soul. Her authentic and confident vision shines through in every measure of her music.

In February 2025, Mari' Cornell and her band, Mari And The Flow, delivered an exciting performance at Zeiders American Dream Theater in Virginia Beach, Virginia. The show featured a mix of ballads, easy-listening soft rock, and alternative blues fusion songs, culminating in a set of six surprise tracks from her original catalog.

Mari' Cornell's music has garnered critical acclaim, with her song "Pulling Me" being described as a unique blend of lo-fi '70s rock with a modern groove, featuring melodies that keep listeners singing along. She was also honored with a nomination for Alternative Rock and Pop Artist of the Year at the Veer Awards for "Pulling Me. Her authentic and confident vision shines through in every measure of her music, making her a compelling presence in the contemporary music scene.
