Meet your Abercrombie & Kent Private Label Safari Guide: Albert Mitcho who will be our host and guide for the duration of your trip.

The Norfolk is Nairobi's grandest and oldest hotel. Set in mature gardens in the center of the city, it has been a meeting place and first port of call for generations of travelers to East Africa's spectacular game parks. The Norfolk has 165 rooms set around a central garden area, which despite being in the center of downtown Nairobi has a wide variety of bird life. Close to the National Theatre and the Central Business District, the Norfolk has all the amenities of an international hotel but retains an intimacy that others lack.

All the rooms have en-suite bathrooms and satellite television. There is a choice of four restaurants at the hotel; they range from the grandest in Kenya to casual. All have very good food, as does the Delamere Terrace where city businessmen still meet for a drink after work and from where many a safari has set out in the hundred years since the Norfolk first opened its doors.

Amboseli National Park, at the foot of snow-capped Kilimanjaro, Africa's highest mountain, lies 240 kilometers (145 miles) south-east of Nairobi. Years ago, this place formed the backdrop to the stories of famous novelists, Ernest Hemingway and Robert Ruark. For centuries, it has been the home of the celebrated Maasai, a proud nomadic people, famed for their courage and traditions. More than any other community in Kenya, they have learned to live in harmony with their environment and its resident wildlife. The Park, almost 400 square kilometers (154 square miles), lies within an ecosystem ten times that size which spans the border with Tanzania and is host to dozens of species including big cats. Kilimanjaro can look like a mirage above the hot plains, so much so that early explorers wondered if they were seeing things and local chiefs sent their servants to the top to gather the silver, they imagined they saw when the sun glistened on the ice.

The ice, with no value to the chiefs of course, melts and becomes the precious resource upon which the game here relies, feeding rivers and swamps that sustain life during the long dry season. At this time the elephant appears ghostly white because of the pale dust they toss on their skins. Amboseli showcases Africa at her big, beautiful best, the mountain, endless skies and sprawling plains. It is also home to plenty of smaller wildlife too and is one of the few places where the rare and beautiful Taveta Golden Weaver can be seen.

The 24,000-acre Sweetwaters Reserve is situated within the sprawling OI Pejeta ranch with magnificent views across the plains to the peaks of Mount Kenya. A variety of plains game is found within the reserve and the big cats may also be seen. As Sweetwaters is a private reserve, you can enjoy activities such as escorted bush walks, night game drives and camel riding. Orphaned rhino and warthog (one of which was the model for Pumba, from the movie the Lion King), which have been reared by hand, provide a wonderful treat for children, as does the chimpanzee sanctuary. The sanctuary homes chimps mainly from the Jane Goodall Institute in Burundi, where a great many were placed after being rescued. The sanctuary is a non-profit venture, which aims not only to cover the investment and operating costs of the sanctuary, but also to channel funds into the Jane Goodall Institute for conservation projects for chimpanzees in the wild throughout Africa.

Situated between the foothills of the Aberdares and the picturesque Mount Kenya in Laikipia, Ol Pejeta is a private wildlife conservancy located on 90,000-acre ranch in Central Kenya. The conservancy has a strong commitment to endangered species and boasts of the largest black rhino sanctuary in East Africa. Ol Pejeta is also home to all the members of the Big 5, the endangered white rhino, the Jackson hartebeest, the spotted hyena among many other wildlife species. It also plays host to the largest chimpanzee sanctuary in Kenya.

Apart from visiting the rhino and chimpanzee sanctuaries, there are plenty of activities for you to enjoy at Ol Pejeta. Go in search of nocturnal animals on night drives, get close to nature on a guided bush walk, monitor collared lions during a lion tracking expedition, spot resident and migratory birds on a bird walk, or learn about the local culture during a community visit.

Governors - the first tented camp in the Mara - was opened in 1972 in a spot so special - on the banks of the Mara River - that a century ago it was reserved exclusively for Kenya's colonial governors - hence the name.

All 37 big, bright tents have their own verandahs, and all enjoy an extraordinary view - either of the river or of the never ending Mara plains. There are no fences at Governors - animals are free to roam through the camp in their search of water and grazing, it's not unusual to find them feeding on the camp's lawns.

Come nightfall, the place is bathed in the atmospheric glow of hurricane lamps - just as it would have been back in the governors' day - candles light dinner tables and invisible game serenades you with wild calls and clicks.

Tuesday, 9 August 2022

Spend full day in Masai Mara National Reserve

You have today to explore Masai Mara National reserve.
All meals and overnight at Main Governors Camp

The jewel in Africa's crown, Maasai Mara is host to the most spectacular array of wildlife. Her 1,510 square kilometres of open savannah, woodlands and tree-lined rivers creates an eco-system which supports huge numbers of bird and mammal species. The western border of the park is the spectacular Siria Escarpment, and together with the acacia dotted plains, creates scenery of stunning beauty.

Lions are found in abundance throughout the park as are elephants, giraffes, a variety of gazelle species and zebras. Cheetahs and leopards are also regularly seen and, if lucky, you may also find a rhino. Game viewing is never dull in the Mara, and patience is often rewarded with unique sightings: a pride of lions stalking their prey; a solitary leopard retrieving its kill from the high branches of an acacia tree; male wildebeest sparring to attract females into their harem; or even a herd of elephants protecting their young from opportunistic predators. The annual wildebeest migration traditionally is present in the Mara from July-September and at this time nature's dramas unfold before your very eyes at every turn. As well as wildlife, the Maasai Mara is also home to many members of the colorful Maasai tribe who may be seen around the borders of the park - morans (warriors) loping across the plains, young boys herding goats, or elders grouped under a tree discussing matters of the day.

Wednesday, 10 August 2022
Spend full day in Masai Mara National Reserve

You have today to explore Masai Mara National reserve with game viewing and cultural interaction
All meals and overnight at Main Governors Camp.

There will be a bush dinner on the last evening. A great way to end this adventure!

VISIT TO A MASAI VILLAGE FOR CULTURAL INTERACTION

A trip to the Maasai Mara is never complete without a visit to a cultural village. The colorful and vibrant Maasai people are one of the few communities in Kenya to retain their culture and traditions. Their history is fascinating, and their way of life never grows old. Clients will be welcomed by traditional dancing followed by a guided tour of the village by the chief. He will also give a brief talk to the group, and you will have a unique opportunity to experience their nomadic lifestyle as you are introduced to the Maasai families and welcomed into their homes. Learn from the women how to make their beautiful bangles and bracelets that have been a symbol of the community for centuries. This intricate beaded jewelry is almost as amazing as the height that the men can jump or how easily they make fire using just 2 sticks and grass. Their iconic red blanket always comes in handy on a cold night.
