

H. J HARRIS

AUTHOR & PUBLIC SPEAKER

When America twice elected Barack Obama as the first African American President, many Americans thought that the cancer of racism was healed and its creed of equality and justice for all was a reality. The 2016 presidential campaign and current events have shown that the cancer of racism and hate that has festered since the birth of this nation is alive, well and growing more blatant every day.

The question still remains: what must we do to solve the race issue in America?
