

I Wrote This Song

What if this is all that there is?
What if this is the best that it gets?
To spend my life looking
Always a mess

I need to consider
Have to accept
That this might be
All there is left

Then a strange thing happened
A weird event occurred
Hard to explain
Peculiar, for sure

I wrote this song
I wrote these words
About how I've been lost
And found in these verses

I wrote this song
In my own way
Go ahead take everything
But you just can't take this away

I wrote this song
Now, I'm singing these words
About how I've been lost
And found in these verses

Yeah, I wrote this song
Took me all day
No, it took half a century
So you can never, ever take it away

Been trying to fill some needs
Who I'm supposed to be
Wanting to find my place
Trying to sow some seeds

But I couldn't quite get it
Couldn't really see
Just couldn't grasp
What any of it means

Then a miracle happened
A phenomenon occurred
Not easy to explain
Serendipitous, for sure

I wrote this song
And I wrote these words
About how I've been lost
And found in these verses

Yeah, I wrote this song
In my own way
Go ahead take everything
But you just can't take this away

I wrote this song
Now, I'm singing these words
About how I've been lost
And found in these verses

I wrote this song
Took me all day
It actually took a lifetime
So you can never, ever take it away

It feels too good
Means so much
You just can't take it away

Go ahead and laugh
Ya'll can kiss my ass
You just can't take it away

I hike my own hike
This is my life
You're never going to take it away

And go ahead, scoff
You can fuck off
Because you'll never, ever take it away

I wrote this song