

RelateAbility, PLLC

Strengthening Relationships One Experience At A Time.
Your Team. Our Purpose.

End of Year Team Reflection

What's an interesting or funny memory you have about working with a teammate in the past year or so?

Many ways to use this prompt but here are a couple of suggestions:

- During an end of year meeting with your team, or at the first one of next year, ask your team to answer the question in a large group setting. Or, break your team up into smaller groups of about 5 or 6 people and ask them to reminisce together.
- Encourage your team to share stories informally with one another over lunch or when visiting with one another at work before they leave for the holidays.
- Ask your team to write stories on an index card and collect the index cards. Read the cards and share those stories at an end of the year gathering or holiday party.

RelateAbility.org

However you decide to use this, remember to enjoy your time together with your teammates.