

GARDENER'S TRANQUILITY

ABOUT

This mix of sunflower chips, peanuts, white millet, hemp seeds, and raisins creates an enticing and nourishing banquet, promoting health and vitality for your feathered friends.

Consider planting staghorn sumac, Virginia creeper, black-eyed Susan, or wild grape into your garden to invite a diverse array of avian visitors to your backyard.

Enhance their dining experience by offering a spacious medium/large port tube feeder or a charming platform feeder for optimal results

Typical visitors encompasses a variety of species such as finches, chickadees, nuthatches, cardinals, and sparrows, among others.

Contact Us

P: 1.888.835.6351

www.turtlemountainseed.com

info@turtlemountainseed.com

Turtle Mountain
Seed Co.