A MESSAGE FROM OUR TEAM

We are delighted to welcome you to a journey where we unite birds and community through high-performing products and passionate people. Whether you're nurturing pigeons, attracting vibrant songbirds to your yard, or in need of some orni-therapy, we're here to support your flock with the finest products and expert advice. Feeding birds is not just a simple act of kindness; it's also an activity that can greatly benefit your mental health and well-being. Watching birds flock to your feeders, hearing their cheerful songs, and observing their unique behaviors can bring a sense of peace and joy. This connection to nature has been shown to reduce stress, anxiety, and depression, fostering a sense of calm and mindfulness. Birding is an activity that the whole family can enjoy together. It provides a wonderful opportunity to bond with loved ones, teach children about wildlife, and create lasting memories. Through bird feeding and observation, you and your family can deepen your connection to the natural world, developing a greater appreciation for the beauty and diversity of the environment around you.

WOODPECKER, NUTHATCH AND FLICKERS

Bring the backyard to life with these amazing birds. Adapted to be excellent climbers these species are acrobats to watch as they hang to get better access to your feeders. With strong beaks that are able to break into whole nuts and peanuts. These species are a joy to watch as they diligently work away at your suets. Choose a feeder that has a cage for gripping, a platform or suet cage for the best results.

ORNI-THERAPY

TMFORN3 - 3.18 KG

UNIQUE BLEND

This protein packed blend of in shell black oil sunflower, sunflower chips, peanuts and succulent raisins gives your woodpeckers and nuthatches the variety they need in their diet.

FINCHES

Some of the most beloved “little beaks” are members of the finch family. To attract finches to your yard, focus on offering their favorite seeds, Nyjer® (Guizotia Abyssinica) and sunflower seeds. Tube feeders are ideal for Nyjer, with small ports that are perfect for finches and keep larger birds out. Mesh sock feeders also work well, allowing finches to cling and feed through the mesh. Enhancing your yard with seed-bearing plants like coneflowers and sunflowers will provide natural food sources and attract more finches.

WILD BIRD FINCHES

FINCH FESTIVAL

TMFFINF3 - 3.6 KG
TMFFINF9 - 9.07 KG

This blend of fine sunflower and nyjer seeds is a top pick for finches, especially Goldfinches. Packed with essential nutrients, sunflower seeds support overall health, while nyjer seeds contribute to plumage and energy.

LITTLE BEAKS

JAYS

To attract Blue Jays, Grey Jays, and Stellar Jays to your yard, provide a variety of food sources and create an inviting environment. These intelligent and strikingly beautiful birds are known for their vibrant plumage and fascinating behaviors. Offering a mix of high-energy foods, such as peanuts, sunflower seeds, and suet, will appeal to Jays. Platform or tray feeders work well, allowing them to access larger food items and forage comfortably. Adding features like large trees or open areas for foraging will further enhance their habitat. By catering to their dietary preferences and environmental needs, you can enjoy the lively presence of these charismatic Jays in your backyard.

CARDINALS AND JUNCO

Northern Cardinals and Dark-eyed Juncos are often seen in backyards year-round, as many of them do not migrate. Northern Cardinals, known for their vibrant red plumage and melodious songs, typically remain in their territory throughout the winter, adapting to colder temperatures and making frequent visits to feeders. Providing platform or tray feeders filled with seeds like sunflower and safflower will attract Northern Cardinals throughout the colder months. Dark-eyed Juncos, with their subtle beauty and cheerful calls, prefer seeds like millet and cracked corn. They are comfortable with ground feeders or tray feeders that offer these seeds. Their presence during winter adds color and activity to your backyard, making them reliable and delightful visitors throughout the colder seasons.
