

SHOWCASING HIGH SCHOOL FILMMAKING

2019 Sponsorship Information

The Inaugural Doko Film Fest will be held on April 26-28, 2019 in Blythewood, South Carolina. Our mission is to: provide a public festival showcase for films produced by high school aged film makers in South Carolina, to develop the skills, knowledge and confidence of these young film makers, whether they be rich or poor, connected or remote, we want them all able to tell their stories, to provide film making equipment to communities where none may be currently present, to promote South Carolina as a hub for young film making talent, and to create a network event for young film makers to meet their peers, professionals and explore college level courses in the Media Arts.

Film Festivals offer a wonderful opportunity, not only for film makers to showcase their films, but also for others to be entertained and informed by them.

The Doko Film Fest will be an annual event that intends to grow and expand to include students from NC and Georgia. Currently, there are:

- 81 school districts in South Carolina
- 223,793 high school students in school. Most of those high schoolers will be living with other family members. Assuming they are four people households, we are reaching approximately 670,000 people across the South East

This is your opportunity to get involved with the arts community. By becoming a sponsor, you will be investing in the future talent development of these young storytellers, communicators, film makers and media production people and to the film making industry here in the south.

Doko Film Fest is a part of Bravo Blythewood, a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the promotion of arts in the area.

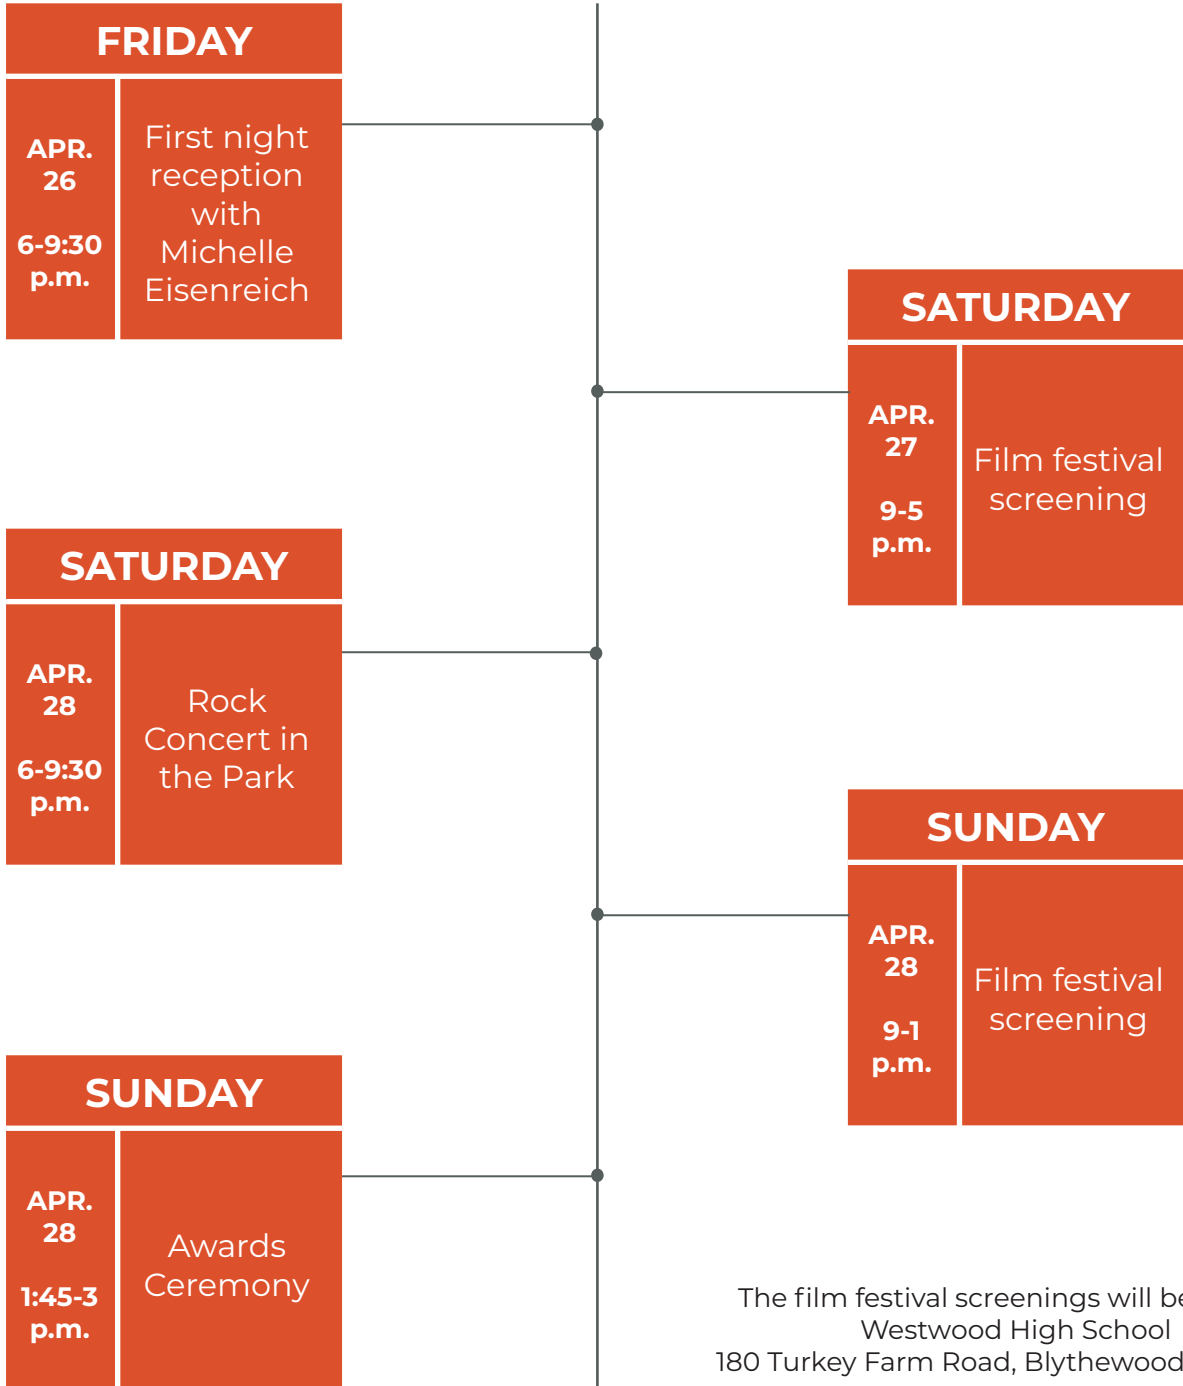

Doko Film Fest looks like something I really would have been into, if it had been available when I was in high school, I am very happy to add my support to it.

-Michelle Eisenreich. Oscar and BAFTA award winner 2018 (best visual effects) for Blade Runner 2049 and former resident of Blythewood.
