

SHOWCASING HIGH SCHOOL FILMMAKING

2020 Sponsorship Information

The Inaugural Doko Film Fest will be held on MARCH 13-14, 2020 in Blythewood, South Carolina. Our mission is to: provide a public festival showcase for films produced by high school aged film makers in South Carolina and Beyond, to develop the skills, knowledge and confidence of these young film makers, whether they be rich or poor, connected or remote, we want them all able to tell their stories and to promote South Carolina as a hub for young film making talent.

The festival gives students the opportunity to not only share their creative talents but also gives them the chance to hone their public speaking and leadership skills. It connects students to like-minded peers around the state, nation and world and professionals they otherwise would not be able to network with, while opening up awareness of possible career opportunities.

The Doko Film Fest is an annual event that draws entries from across the South East and beyond.

This is your opportunity to get involved with the arts community. By becoming a sponsor, you will be investing in the future talent development of these young storytellers, communicators, film makers and media production people and to the film making industry here in the south.

Doko Film Fest is a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of film making talent amongst high school aged students.

Doko Film Fest looks like something I really would have been into, if it had been available when I was in high school, I am very happy to add my support to it.
