

SCHOOL Farm Tours

Learn about regenerative agriculture and minimising food waste through farming

Educational Tours

Kids are able to learn about where their food comes from, how regenerative agriculture is better for the soil and land than traditional agriculture and how food waste from humans can be minimised through farming.

Hands on experience

We believe in letting the kids get their hands (and boots) dirty feeding the animals and walking through the paddocks in a fun, interactive learning experience they won't be able to forget.

Fun for all ages

Whether you're in day care, kindergarten, year 6 or in your 30s, this experience will be fun and informative for everyone involved!

Typical activities

Depending on when the visit is planned, activities can include feeding cows, chickens, pigs, and rabbits, watching a cow be milked, collecting eggs, viewing farm machinery, learning about different food sources, picking berries or fruit/vegetables from our garden, petting baby animals, watching chickens hatch, watching a hay baling demonstration and much more.

What to expect

- Depending on the amount of students present they may be split into groups for the tour
- Before the tour starts we go through safety procedures and risks with all the kids and ask questions about what they think the dangers are on the farm
- Kids will then get up close and personal with our cows, chickens and pigs during feeding and egg collection time.
- After the tour there will be time for morning tea (from their lunchboxes or supplied depending on package)
- Before going back on the bus the kids will all get a care package to take home with them to remember us by

Cost

Our school tours are $15 per student without morning tea, or $25 per student including morning tea. We really value our educators and supervisors/parents and because of this they are welcome to attend free of charge.

What to wear

Walking through paddocks and around animals can get pretty messy so appropriate footwear like gumboots would be ideal. It's also advisable to bring a raincoat and hat.
