KEY TERMS

Baltimore Colts, Baltimore Ravens, Cleveland Browns, John Unitas, National Football League history, NFL Network, NFL Top Tens, Steve Sabol, Super Bowls

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Compilation of the NFL Network series NFL Top Tens from 2007-2017 highlighting the Baltimore Colts, Baltimore Ravens, and Cleveland Browns.

I. INTRODUCTION

NFL Top Tens debuted on NFL Network in 2007 as a feel-good stab at popular history created by the league.

Countdown The NFL's Top Tens. The Greatest Players. Best Teams. And Most Unbelievable Moments. Breakdown Everything In The World Of Football.

My original intent was to use the series to document the status of John Unitas and the Baltimore Colts at NFL Films. But the first run of NFL Top Tens also involved a tremendous amount of work, knowledge, and love for the game that should be recognized and celebrated. As such the series stands as a fitting tribute to Steve Sabol, who died in 2012. Unfortunately, this document may be the only compilation of the first decade of the series.

The essential background is that Robert Irsay relocated the Colts from Baltimore to Indianapolis in 1984. The NFL never did create episodes titled “Most Buffoonish Owners” or “Cities that Don’t Belong in the NFL,” but NFL Top Tens captured the staying power of the Baltimore Colts and the Cleveland Browns in NFL lore into the 21st century.

I recorded NFL Network broadcasts of NFL Top Tens until my DVR crashed in 2017. I have made no attempt to track subsequent episodes or revisions available from the NFL’s various platforms. The NFL did not provide footnotes or bibliographies to the original Top Tens, and neither do I. Rather, I hope this document gives fans enough detail to jar the memory or search out more information on their phones and computers.

Color Highlights and Key Teams

John Unitas/Baltimore Colts

Jim Brown/Cleveland Browns

Ray Lewis/Baltimore Ravens

Peyton Manning/Indianapolis Colts

A few notes are in order. The first note involves Don Shula, the longtime coach of the Miami Dolphins. NFL Network routinely used clips of Shula coaching the Baltimore Colts before they went to Miami, including the infamous Super Bowl III loss to the New York Jets in January 1969. Shula appears in blue in such cases. The second note involves Joe Namath of the New York Jets. NFL Network often set clips of Shula against a triumphant Namath wagging his index finger as he exited the field after Super Bowl III. Namath is just as big a part of Baltimore Colts history as Alan Ameche, who barreled in for the winning touchdown in the 1958 NFL championship, or Jim O’Brien, who leapt into the air after his game-winning field goal against the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl V in 1971. I have thus colored Top Tens entries that feature the Namath “Finger” blue to capture the importance of agonizing defeats in the history of the Baltimore Colts and their fans. The third

---

note involves individuals who played for different teams. If an episode showcased Peyton Manning as a Denver Bronco, for example, then I did not color Manning green. The fourth note involves dates. NFL seasons have overlapped calendar years since the 1960s. The lists below report the roman numerals of Super Bowls and the calendar year that a playoff game took place rather than the year a particular season began.
